Questions

How important is your town to you? What value or position do you give to those duties of citizenship which are present in the form of public service? Is the place where you live any more than just that, a geographic location where the house is located, where you lay your weary head at the end of the day, where you eat, where Mom and the kids are? Do you tear it down frequently, criticizing what is done - or what isn't done - by neighbors, by the hometown merchants? Do you do anything yourself to build it up, whether it be by word of mouth or sweat of brow? Do you go along with the feeling that it's a pretty dead burg except for the "excitement" the late-wandering kids create by their occasional pranks - some unreasonably destructive? Do you know where your kids are tonight, or will be tomorrow night? Do you think there is no connection between a couple of kids' prank of hauling around a hundred pound wagon wheel on Saturday night and somebody hauling off a four or five hundred pound safe the next night? If your son or daughter - or the neighbors' - has money to spend, do you think it's nosey to inquire where it came from? Do you think it's fine that so many young people have their own transportation and plenty of gas to operate it and plenty of time to enjoy their travels even until the late hours of night? Have you contributed anything to your family's enjoyment to make a night at home an occasion to look forward to rather than a punishment? Is it unnecessary to be disturbed at the broken plate glass window, the broken lunch stand windows, the beer cans tossed into the streets and on the lawns, the loitering at the water fountain, the destruction and stealing at a country home, the breaking into and entering of a home by kids just reaching their early 'teens, the insults hurled in material and word at those who seek to maintain discipline, the foul language, the screeching driving some of which is just showing off, sure, but some also is plain reckless? Do you think it would help to have local law enforcement in facing the problem - that is, if you think it is a problem? Have you made an effort to investigate the possibility and advisability of such a move? If you think it should have been done before, have you said so loud enough to be heard? Is it important enough to find out which of the town board candidates in the coming November 8 election say they will bring law enforcement to this town? Do you know if any of them have said they will? Indeed, do you know who the candidates are? Is there anything else any one of them is "in favor of", such as perhaps street improvement? Have you complained about what the board did last summer, or last year, or two years ago, or what they didn't do? Do you think they spent money foolishly on this or that project when you have a better idea of what should have been done? Are you one of the local citizens who, when asked to be a candidate for election to the board, said no? Are you one who says "I don't want it; let somebody else have it," then when somebody else has it and in your opinion errs in judgment, you know how it should have been done; then you turn around and say again, "I don't want it" when asked to produce, when given the opportunity to exercise your judgment officially? Have you listened to the other fellow's story and given it consideration as being as reasonable and fair to him as your side of the story is to you? Have you listened to the other side, or is it more enjoyable to be a griper? If you think you are a good citizen, can you show evidence of that conviction? Is there anything you have done, or tried to do, or want to do, for your community? Or do you think it is a hopeless case, not worth the effort? Is it good enough just as it is? Does that complacency effect you, for instance, when voting time comes? Do you plan to make your mark in the voting place November 8 when the very root of our good life and good country asks you to help it survive? Will you pass off these little town elections as just a matter of form, nothing important, second rate? What value or position do you give to those duties of citizenship which are present in the form of public service? How important is your town to you?

The average city dweller, working in an office, department store or industrial plant, may rebel a little about paying 60 cents a dozen for eggs and 70 cents a pound for sliced bacon. And yet perhaps bacon and egg prices wouldn't seem to be too high if the city family's bread-winner had to himself tend the laying flocks, raise the hogs and process them, and at the same time wrestle with the unending problems of farming.

The average farmer, when he comes to town, may gnash his teeth about paying $3.25 for a good axe to clear his uplands; and he may explode in dismay over the $2,000 price tag on a tractor with which he could raise more corn, to produce more bacon hogs at lower cost. And yet he might have a different attitude if he visited a foundry and tractor factory and saw the huge investment necessary in tools and operating capital; and if he understood the multitude of problems facing today's highly competitive business and industrial management.

If the farmers and the city folk could swap places for a little while, no doubt mutual understanding and respect would improve. But I'm afraid the public as a whole would be seriously dislocated for the short time. Something, however, is being done. An ambitious human relations program is being conducted throughout the nation this week. It is spearheaded by the several thousand local clubs of Kiwanis International, a civic organization dedicated to community service for God and country. The program is the first nationwide observance of "Farm-City Week." It is bringing together rural and urban people for the specific purpose of achieving a better mutual understanding.

All over America 4-H and F. F. A. boys and girls are seeing—many for the first time—the inner workings of industries and retail establishments, and the cultural and economic life of the city dwellers. At the same time Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and other urban youth groups are touring the farm lands around their cities; and the businessmen are taking a day or two off and, in many cases, are having lunch or dinner with farm families and then touring a farm to see how it is operated.

Every segment of the American public is being drawn into this effort to establish acquaintanceship and understanding between rural and urban America. Actively participating are the American Farm Bureau Federation, the National Grange, the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives, the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, the American Medical Association; and, in fact, virtually a Who's Who of American industry, business and commerce. Employee groups, both organized and unorganized, are active in the programs. Public and private schools and colleges, and P. T. A. groups, are participating.

The Kiwanis International office in Chicago states the fundamental purpose of "Farm-City Week" as follows: "To bring about better understandng of, and appreciation for, the American way of life." This is a great objective. It is inspiring to see the highly respected Kiwanis International take the initiative in helping bring about this better understanding, and to note the splendid response from so many other great organizations.

"Farm-City Week," the Kiwanis International officers told me, "is designed to create an impact in every home, rural and urban. Through that impact should come better understanding between farm and city; realization of the fact that neither is self-sufficient; that interdependence between them is essential. It should make abundantly clear the fact that this interdependence is a primary source of wealth and national strength."

The most important result of such mutual understanding and respect among farm and city people, at least at the moment, is that it defeats one of the chief strategies of the Communist Fifth Column in America. The Reds and their helpers are trying to divide the people of America, pit group against group. Their tactics are to create confusion, and promote jealousies and hatred between groups. Thus the Kiwanis-sponsored "Farm-City Week" is strengthening America, striking a blow against the Red tyranny.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday-School Lessons

Background scripture: Luke 4:16-44.

Devotional reading: James 1:22-27.

SELF-PORTRAIT

Lesson for October 30, 1955

There are people who don't care how they look to other people; they have no particular long-range plans or pattern of life, they live (as they might say) by ear. We call such persons extroverts; they never stop, so to speak, long enough to look into a mirror.

There is an opposite kind of person who is painfully interested in himself. He is forever looking into a mirror, as it were. He makes the most careful and detailed plans and is quite upset when a detail goes wrong. We call such persons introverts. In between these types is a more balanced sort of person. If one could "'type' Jesus of Nazareth, he would be the balanced sort, by all means. He was self-conscious enough to know and care what he was doing, but not in the least self-centered.

Action Portrait

Jesus once had the opportunity, which to some young people is a rather frightening thrill, of speaking to a crowded audience in his own home town. He knew what was in nearly everybody's mind: "Give an account of yourself. Who do you think you are and what do you think you are doing?" To them he was just a home-town boy; but they had heard of strange things he had said and done, and they wanted to hear him talk. So he had the opportunity on a Sabbath Day of speaking in the synagogue. As he read the Scripture for the day, from Isaiah 61, Jesus stopped in the middle of a sentence, and sitting down (as teachers did in those days) he said, "Today this Scripture has been fulfilled . . . " In other words, as Americans would put it, this is it. This is my plan of life. This prophecy, hundreds of years old, describes what I am and what I am doing. In short, Jesus took this prophecy to himself, as a self-portrait. It is more like a motion picture than a still picture; it expresses what he was, in terms of what he did.

For Others

That, by the way, is typical of the Bible way of describing people. Adjectives like "good," "merciful," "truthful," always have verbs behind them. Adjectives describe actions. A man does not have one kind of character and another kind of action. His actions are his character — not his external actions alone, but together with the motives and intentions which are a true part of every act. Now Jesus describes himself and his plan for life not only in terms of action, but of action in relation to other persons. John Wesley says somewhere that when Christianity ceases to be social it is not any longer Christian. The idea that any one can become a higher type of Christian by retiring permanently from the world, devoted exclusively to prayer and contemplation, is a notion not derived from Jesus. For him the meaning of life is in contact with other persons. But note the sort of person Jesus mentions: the poor, the captives, the blind, the bruised . . the very people so many of us avoid. Most people jump at the chance to get their pictures taken with famous people. Jesus' self-portrait was a picture of him with obscure people, people in trouble. What would happen in a community if every church member became more interested in doing something for people than in "doing" people?

For All Others

What really enraged those churchgoers of Nazareth was not that Jesus was dedicated to helping others. That was fine. They were all in favor of it. The thing that raised them to murder-heat was that he drew no lines. He was for helping one and all, yes even Gentiles. What Jews of that day thought of Gentiles is expressed in a passage from a popular book written about the same time as the New Testament: "For our sakes you (God) made this first-born world. But as for the rest of the nations which are sprung from Adam, you have said they are nothing and are like spittle." (II Esdras 6:56). So when Jesus made it clear that he (like Elijah and Elisha before him) would draw no race or national lines, that he intended to carry God's love to the last and least of men, these race-proud Nazarenes threatened to lynch him.

You who stayed home missed a great and powerful lesson that you need very much. Those that came will never forget what they saw and many a heart was stirred to make a greater use of the privilege of Bible reading and prayer. Lack of Bible reading and prayer in the home is one of the major causes of teenage gangs and resulting crimes committed every day. Come and bring your children to church Sunday. Better be disturbed by their restlessness now when in church than later in life be disturbed by their restlessness when not in church during their teen-age.

Riverdale School News

The school in general—

The floors drum and the lights burn in both gyms these days as the basketball teams, "A", "B" and Junior High, go into the third full week of practice. The cheerleaders have been chosen, the season tickets are selling and Indiana's favorite HS sport will soon get under way between schools.

The last talent program featured vocal and instrumental numbers in addition to three excerpts from the Senior play. The Seniors are admitting that not everything that happened during their play was rehearsed. They averaged one scenery collapse per performance, but none on Friday night as scheduled. They ate three pounds of shell peanuts, two packages of cookies, and drank two gallons of cider (to stifle coughing backstage) during the play.

Absences due to illness on the faculty have included Mrs. Cleland and Mrs. Fleck. Mr. Stackhouse is preparing a series of articles for the News on items of parental interest. They could include students' health, the value of education, methods of instruction and courses of study.

The classes in particular—

The Seniors profited financially, in experience and in figures (there were at least 6 different rehearsals attended by refreshments, including Doris Kruse's party, Andrea Carr and Mary Beckman's party and Mr. Stackhouse's after-rehearsal snock) from their play. Biggest house, Saturday night. Most noise and accidents, Saturday night. Most fun, a couple of times during rehearsals when some lines were fluffed. Senior committees now in action, Yearbook Selection (all editors and manager), Trip Itinerary, Post-game Canteen, Yearbook Advertising.

Two big guns in the Junior fund raising campaign are due soon. Saturday, the 29th, they are scraping and scrapping for scrap, paper, metal, etc. On November 5th, they are having a community car-washing project in both Spencerville and St. Joe. Get your appointments from any Junior.

The ninth grade class is opening up cornfields and picking up corn to raise money. Anyone interested in securing their services is asked to call St. oe 2875.

Coming events on your calendars:

Teachers' Institute, this week, Thursday and Friday.

Junior Scrap Drive, Saturday, the 29th .

DEAR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS

Our unusual automobile plan originated five years ago when our company president, Mr. Dallas E. Winslow, adopted the plan of giving each associate of our different companies a new automobile each year. Our companies are located at Auburn, Indiana; Springfield, Ohio; Cleveland, Ohio and Detroit, Michigan.

The automobiles that have been driven by our associates have never been traded in on the new cars we purchase. Previously we sold these cars in quantity wholesale to automobile dealers. Due to so many requests from our friends and customers to sell them cars, we decided to offer these select automobiles for sale to our many friends and neighbors.

We now have available a fine selection of low mileage 1955 FORDS and OLDSMOBILES. These cars with certain extra equipment and practically new cars can be purchased at a substantial savings. At the present time, we have a wide selection of colors and body styles.

You will be interested to know we are now in a position to accept your automobile in exchange for one of our nearly new automobiles. This policy has made available a few select used cars of various makes, such as FORDS, DODGES, CHEVROLETS, BUICKS, PLYMOUTHS, OLDSMOBILES and other makes at very attractive prices and liberal terms.

We like to think of our terms as "terms with a heart". By this, we mean any reasonable terms you desire will be considered up to 36 months to pay. Your payments may be made direct to us and you may be assured of our co-operation in case an extension of a payment is needed as we do not sell your note.

The cars are being displayed in the factory showroom here in the plant and, for your convenience, we are open evenings during the week until 9:00 P.M. We cordially invite your inspection of them without any obligation whatsoever. Our telephone number is 113.

Assuring you of our friendship and co-operation,

Sincerely,

Around the Town

With the Editor

Say, that sure was a nice big party the firemen put on Monday night, wasn't it? And I know they appreciate all the help that was given in presenting it, including the swell response from the grown-ups who turned out in large numbers to get in on the costume contest.

With that gang of around six hundred people in the gym and the biggest bunch of Halloweeners in costume yet to take part in the party, the poor judges had a dickens of a time picking out the winners. There were really more "winners" than were picked with all of those good jobs of masquerade and make-up. But there were only so many who could finally be selected. There was one little boy of about five in a clown costume with polka-dotted face, long pointed hat and ruffled collar. And not the lady in red but the seniorita in black with her fan fluttering before her face.

Some of the grown-ups seen joining in the fun in costume were Wayne Smith; Pete Akey in quite an alluring outfit; the two "burlap beauties," Helen Hoffer and Doris Yeiser; the two big Bills, Beebe and Sible, with their prize-winning cop and jailbird outfits; Tillie Monroe and her winning witch costume; Melba Chapman, the senorita; Roy Chapman who was in a witch's costume; Ethel Wineland who was the oldest person in costume; and others whom I didn't happen to see.

The entertainment was well-received, especially the "cowboy" singer who got a big hand from the young ladies present. Some of the entertainers were handicapped by the stage floor, it in need of a good dentist to fill some of those cavities.

Betty Newcomer related one of the tribulations of her family's life Monday afternoon. She mentioned that her daughter, who plans on saying "I do" come next June, fell down and skinned herself a bit recently and it was all because of the men in the family who had rolled a barrel of cider, we understand, into the basement with the assistance of a board placed on the stairway. They left the board in the basement.

Well, Sis went skipping down to the freezer to get a package of peas for supper and was on her way back when - whoops. - it happened. Down she went, tripping over that plank. Her glasses broke, she skinned both her knees, she banged up her wristwatch, her diamond got scraped along the floor, and I don't know what all. Anyhow, the men decided very soon thereafter that they might as well get that plank out of there.

Betty said what made it worse was that "Sis went down to get a package of peas and here she grabbed a box of gooseberries instead!"

Whenever there's a meeting of some sort and a few of the oldtimers get together, it's real interesting to hear about the good old days in these parts and of some of the things that went on in the now-a-part-of-the-past buildings - and some, come to think of it, are still here.

There's one building that isn't around any more and I'd like to have seen it in its heyday. That's the old opry house.

At a short recreation club meeting here at the News Office this week Ralph Sechler was telling about some of the activities of yesteryear. Joe Robinson was recalling some of the past, too, but he can't quite reach back as far as Ralph can. Butch Dunten and I just took it all in, including the fact that there are a couple or three or four blacksmith shops in town now serving as the nucleus of someone's house. Then there was a place to go roller skating where you walked between a couple of buildings across the street from here on a wide walk to get to another building where the skating was held. Later skating was held at the opry house, where also were presented various dramatic productions and entertainments. Then the story about the building between the News Office and the Lutheran Church burning down without any damage to those two adjacent edifices.

Then another story about somebody setting fire to a restaurant because they couldn't buy it out, or something like that. I guess Les Meek remembers the details of that one from what I hear.

If any of our old settlers have some good listening tales to relate, it would be interesting to get them for publication. And maybe there are some old pictures that could be reproduced in the paper for the fun of it. I know Harvey Hull has some of them. How about you???

Don't forget to vote next Tuesday, St. Joe.

'Biggest Crowd Ever' Attends Party At Gym

A gathering estimated at 600 persons enjoyed the Hallowe'en Party and entertainment presented Monday evening by the St. Joe Fire Department.

The largest group of spectators and costumed figures since the annual party was begun attended this year's program.

Activities began at 8:00 p.m. with the parade from the downtown area to the local school house. The fire truck cleared the way for the procession and the Riverdale High School Band led marching with muscial selections.

At the gym winning costumes were selected from the long procession of contestants.

Miss Betty Boggs then led the band numbers before Derwood Ridgway, master of ceremonies for the evening, introduced the entertainment for the evening, "The Juvenile Troopers."

Letters to the Editor

October 16, 1955

Dear Mr. Haberkorn

I thought I would drop you a few lines of thanks for sending your paper. I really enjoy reading it and catching up on the home news.

Just last Sun I was fortunate to see Norman Weible from Spencerville.

The ship he is on stoped here at Pearl Harbor Hawaii and we had quite a get together.

We took in some of the sights that Hawaii is named for.

Right now the ship I am on is getting ready to go to the Phillipines for 6 mo. so I'll probably get a chance to see quite a few of the oriental cities.

Thanks again Ted for sending your papers. I know that every serviceman from home stationed over seas feels the same way.

Sincerely

Ronald E. Dwyer EM3

c-o FPO, San Francisco, Calif.

I always thought that stuff about "join the Navy and see the world" was just sales talk, but it sounds like the real thing here - Hawaii, the Phillipines.

The servicemen on our mailing list is another important reason for our readers to "use the News." Their servicemen like to read about them in the paper.

And again a reminder to our readers that their serviceman can receive the News free of charge, compliments of The News, by just furnishing us with the latest correct address.

Thanks for the "thanks," Ron. We appreciate hearing from you. —Ed.

A Concrete Problem

If you have tried to purchase some cement recently for use around the home or farm, you know that that commodity is almost impossible to obtain, at least from the usual local sources. The reason given for the scarcity of cement for public purchase has been given as the great amount of construction going on, presumably by contractors and large-scale users. This would include the construction of the various toll roads and any other new road construction.

In the past week it was announced that the Indiana toll road possibly would be a "blacktop" because of the difficulty in obtaining a large enough supply of cement for the job. This possibility seems a bit puzzling.

With the concern for public safety on the highways, with the desire to make the roads as safe as possible, with the setting of speed limits, with the innovation of safety belts and padded panels in the new automobiles, with the safety slogans read and heard daily through newspapers, radio and television, isn't it a bit contradictory to settle for a blacktop superhighway when the cause of safety would be aided immeasurably by the insistence upon a highway of concrete?

Those who drive automobiles are aware of the warning signs on blacktop highways saying "slippery when wet." Most of them are also probably aware of the diminished reflecting qualities of that type of surface at night when the headlights just don't seem to light up the road as they do on concrete. And on rainy nights visibility is cut considerably on a blacktop road, even to the point that in some instances it seems the headlights are not turned on. Recent tests of a coating for blacktop roads to cut down the slippery characteristic of that surface showed that the coating failed to stand up under normal weather conditions.

So, here the Hoosier state goes into a controversial project involving public transportation with voices all around crying "be careful," only to take a step not considerate of the public safety - because there isn't enough cement available for the job. And "you and I" can't get cement for the home or the farm because "they're using it for the superhighways"!

Who's kidding whom?

For Someone Else

People are funny.

They know that medical surveys indicate the relationship between smoking and the occurrence of lung cancer. Yet, they go on smoking heavily.

They "tsk! tsk!" at the high-powered automobiles now being produced and shake their heads. Yet, they get a kick out of bragging about the zip their own buggy has.

They can't understand what's gotten into the kids nowadays with all the juvenile delinquency. Yet, they matter-of-factly read their newspapers containing, for instance, reports of violence at New Castle, Indiana, where grown men "reason" with bullets.

They recognize that they never lose their need for milk, "nature's most nearly perfect food." Yet, they prefer a ground bean that hinders restfull sleep and offers no nutritional value. Indeed, in this rural community where the producers reside, socials and suppers give milk a back seat to such things as "kool-ade" - and the producer sips his coffee wondering, perhaps, why there isn't a better market for his product.

People are, oh, so funny.

President Eisenhower's illness should not silence disclosure of information or comment on the political meaning of that information. Already there has been too much censorship by persons who nevertheless cry out against suppression and brain-washing. It is no mere contention of mine but a provable fact that Eisenhower was chosen to be the candidate of the Republican Party by persons who never were even nominal Republicans themselves, such as Barney Baruch and Sulzberger of the New York Times. His defiant choice of two declared Democrats for his cabinet and other manisfestations proved that he was not a Republican but at best a mugwump. Further developments, each small in itself but massive altogether, show that we have a coalition government devoted to the Roosevelt-Truman program in most important phases.

I have touched upon the continuing Roosevelt-Truman character of the huge American library in Rome, supported with the taxes of Republicans who can go to prison for failure to pay for the support of this political agency. This library has not changed character in the four years since I last looked at the index files and the books on the shelves. Magazines published by Henry Luce, whose wife sits in the embassy just across the street, are prominently displayed, but I found in the card index no mention of Eugene Castle's book, "Billions, Blunder and Baloney," which thoroughly exposed this very library among other defiant outposts of the American squander-bund which Paul Hoffman organized at Truman's request. There was no mention of this book nor of many other factual works, but the large window display in one of the most prominent positions in Rome continues to favor the other side.

The chief of the information service in Rome is Ned Nordness but he was put out of action soon after I landed by a pet dog which bit him rather badly. Nobody else could answer questions for him. Who gets up these window displays which constantly give the Italian public a false account of the position, function and character of unionism in the United States? These union racketeers are Democrats all and they have contributed millions to the Roosevelt-Truman-Stevenson campaign funds, wrung from unwilling but helpless American subjects of these three bosses.

Why doesn't Nordness ever put on a display apprising the Italian public of these facts?

These frauds do not just happen. They take thought and work and they are a clever imposition on the ignorance of the Italians who believe them. I tried to find someone who could speak for Nordness but nobody had authority.

The next display after the great Labor Day tribute to George Meaney, Walter Reuther, Dave Dubinsky and others who never were Republicans and two of whom, Reuther and Dubinsky, are Socialists and formerly ran with the Communists, was a plug for the paper-bound book-trade.

That might be regarded as unfair treatment by the publishers of hard-back books, who also pay taxes. But worse than that, this display was a studied, brazen ballyhoo for the Saturday Review of Literature whose literary camouflage is only a disguise for its political policies. Those policies are as radical and anti-Republican as those of any other American publication this side of the Communist party organs. Its founding fathers included Tom Lamont, of J. P. Morgan, who ran with Reds all his life and sired Corliss Lamont.

Even while Nordness was laid up, someone, possibly himself, cooked up this display in the ballyhoo frames on a building supported with the taxes of Republicans, including me.

There were four presentations of the Saturday Review without the slightest warning to the Italians that they were reading ballyhoo for a radical political organ rather than a strictly literary publication.

There was also a plug, inevitable in these European propaganda shows of ours, for the New York Times which has a confirmed record of political discrimination and sly deception of the public in its treatment of American books.

Of course Clare's little husband, Henry Luce, is a political enemy of Joe McCarthy for many reasons including the fact that McCarthy personally defeated Luce's friend and business associate, William Benton, Democrat, for re-election as Senator from Connecticut.

Nordness formerly worked as Clare's official press agent at the embassy a hundred yards away.

In Geneva, I found an old-time New Dealer, David Morse, living on the fat of the land at $20,000 a year, exempt from income tax, with free car, driver and fuel, as chief of the International Labor Office. And Frank P. Graham, of similar politics, turns up as "representative" of the United Nations to India and Pakistan, a fat subsidy, also tax-exempt, for another left-wing Democrat.

Certainly Paul Hoffman is no Republican except possibly by registration. And now, as another nail or plank in this edifice of deceit, comes word that, by Eisenhower's selection, one Laird Bell, a Democrat and supporter of Adlai Stevenson and a frank admirer of Robert M. Hutchins, associated with Hoffman in Ford's left-wing Fund for the Republic, has been appointed alternate American delegate to the United Nations.

Eisenhower simply is not a Republican President.

—Westbrook Pegler.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Background Scripture: Luke 5:1-6; 16.

Devotional Reading: Matt. 25:31-40.

FRIEND OF MAN

Lesson for November 6, 1955

People describing themselves have a tendency to paint themselves handsomer than they really are. They do not like candid camera shots of themselves. Even when a man has to admit that he has committed a sin or made a mistake, he will try to tell himself his motive was good, anyway. Now Jesus' self-portrait was extremely impressive; but nobody ever called him a hypocrite or a show-off. What Jesus had said of himself in the Nazareth synagogue was just the simple truth: he was indeed the same kind of Friend of Man that God is. He made humanity his business.

Healing Bodies

One fact stands out, and Luke makes a great deal of it. Jesus was a healer. He never assumed that sickness or physical disability "is bound to be." He thought people's bodies were important enough to be sound and well. He never thought of himself as so "spiritual" he could be indifferent to people's physical needs and pains. Wherever he went, he brought health with him. We do not fully understand how he did this, but the Christian church has taken the cue from Jesus here. The tremendous development of hospitals in America and over the world is not today all in the hands of Christians or religious people; but it was religious people who started this kind of thing. The church of today is beginning to see how much harm another kind of illness does, and to work at curing mental diseases. Compare a Christian country like ours with a non-Christian country like Korea where the total Christian population is less than six per cent. There a cripple has ordinarily been something to laugh at. No one would give him a job, no one bothered with him. All he could do was beg, as he crawled or sat in the dust. Now, Christian hospitals there have been doing a work the heathen world never thought of—rehabilitating amputees, making it possible for them to be self-respecting persons again. Christianity is teaching Korea a lesson. Where once diseases of all sorts were taken as a matter of course, Christian doctors and hospitals have shown the way to national health.

Healing Souls

Some people think that if a man is healthy that is enough. If a man's body is all right, he is all right. Christians know better — because Christ has shown us. Jesus did not think he had done all he could for a man if he got him on his feet, literally. Long before modern medicine rediscovered the fact, Jesus knew that men's most serious diseases are in their souls. He was the Friend of Man—but not Friend of their bodies alone. Hospitals today are more and more making use of chaplains, of counselors—and that is another Christian idea. In every mission hospital the medical missionary is an evangelist.

What Friendship Means

To Jesus, friendship meant something deeper than what often goes by that name. How many people are "friends" only with the strong, the successful! How many people will be friendly only to those who can give them a lift up the ladder of ambition! This is the friendliness of a mosquito, who will stick close to you, but not with any notion of doing you good. Then again, a common idea of being friendly is to take other people without criticism, take them as they are. A word much in use with psychologists, psychiatrists and counselors nowadays is "acceptance." Now Jesus accepted all kinds of persons who were by everyone else rejected—lepers, tax collectors, the "lower classes," foreigners. But while Jesus opened his heart to these people, in the very act of acceptance he changed them. Some "friends" are like chameleons that take the color of whatever they lie on. Jesus never changed his own colors. He was the friend of sinners, indeed; but by being their friend he led them out of their sins. To be Christlike in friendship is to have a goodness that is contagious.

Eighteen members answered roll call with "a Halloween prank I remember." One new member, Maxine Studebaker, was added to the roll call.

The lesson, "Quick and Easy Meals," was very ably given by Alice Kagey.

Arminta Steward had the recipe of the month, carmel whip. Winifred Hart read an original poem, "Truth Seekers," which all enjoyed.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE CABLE ADDRESS—ACDCO

DEAR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS

Our unusual automobile plan originated five years ago when our company president, Mr. Dallas E. Winslow, adopted the plan of giving each associate of our different companies a new automobile each year. Our companies are located at Auburn, Indiana; Springfield, Ohio; Cleveland, Ohio and Detroit, Michigan.

The automobiles that have been driven by our associates have never been traded in on the new cars we purchase. Previously we sold these cars in quantity wholesale to automobile dealers. Due to so many requests from our friends and customers to sell them cars, we decided to offer these select automobiles for sale to our many friends and neighbors.

We now have available a fine selection of low mileage 1955 FORDS and OLDSMOBILES. These cars with certain extra equipment and practically new cars can be purchased at a substantial savings. At the present time, we have a wide selection of colors and body styles.

You will be interested to know we are now in a position to accept your automobile in exchange for one of our nearly new automobiles. This policy has made available a few select used cars of various makes, such as FORDS, DODGES, CHEVROLETS, BUICKS, PLYMOUTHS, OLDSMOBILES and other makes at very attractive prices and liberal terms.

We like to think of our terms as "terms with a heart". By this, we mean any reasonable terms you desire will be considered up to 36 months to pay. Your payments may be made direct to us and you may be assured of our co-operation in case an extension of a payment is needed as we do not sell your note.

The cars are being displayed in the factory showroom here in the plant and, for your convenience, we are open evenings during the week until 9:00 P. M. We cordially invite your inspection of them without any obligation whatsoever. Our telephone number is 113.

Assuring you of our friendship and co-operation,

Sincerely,
M. J. Klinger

Riverdale School News

The week has been very busy for the upper classmen in RHS. The Seniors have, since a week past, chosen their yearbook publisher, Myers of Topeka, Kansas, their announcement firm, Herff-Jones of Indianapolis, their name cards, Printcraft, Inc., and had their pictures taken by Jefferson Studios of Fort Wayne. Some of them looked just a couple of degrees short of glamorous on Tuesday when they went for prtraits. They swing into full action now with yearbook work to meet their first deadline in late November.

The Juniors held the first half of their scrap drive last Saturday and will take the last half this coming Saturday. They are also washing cars in Spencerville and St. Joe tomorrow. They will begin concessions work at our first game (home) at Waterloo on December 3. November 12 sees them picking fallen corn at Jerry Dilley's. Their tentative plan include a skating party in Janaury.

The Sophomores are waiting for the 20th of November and their dinner-class party at Chaney's and the Coliseum.

In the classrooms, the chemistry class is getting into lab work with the new equipment. So far, just distillation and oxygen-hydrogen experiments, although some hydrogen-sulphide gas (rotten egg) could be smelled in the halls not too long ago.

Arvanced algebra students still go-a-seeking for Mr. Simpson to solve their mysteries.

The shorthand classes begin to show their knowledge of that elusive subject by writing it on almost any surface available.

The typing classes clatter at an increasing rate, and students are even seen to be working on typing in their free periods, a sure sign of progress.

Among the staff members, Ray Means is back from his tour of the Smokies, and, after a siege of illness, Mrs. DeLong is back in the cafeteria.

ST. JOE VALLEY HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB

The St. Joe Valley Home Demonstration Club met Friday, October 21, at the home of Ethel Wineland.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Edna Kaufman. The club collect was repeated in unison.

Devotions were by Norma Gustin. The history of the song of the month was read by Elizabeth Shull, then all joined in singing, "Hail Purdue."

Part one of the lesson "Meal Planning" was given by Melba Chapman. Response to roll call was "a Halloween prank I remember." There were 23 members, one guest and two children present.

During the business meeting the president appointed the committees that will work with her during the coming year.

Myrtle Pugsley reported on Fashions and Laura Washler on Poultry. Audra Walters held a Halloween contest and a corn guesssing contest.

Lunch was served by the hostess assisted by co-hostess Mabel Baker.

The next meeting will be a pot luck dinner Friday, November 18, at the home of Doris Yeiser instead of at the home of Iva Yeiser as previously announced.

LADIES LITERARY CLUB

The Ladies Literary Club met at the home of Mrs. Charles Krise on Wednesday, October 26.

Mrs. Harold Baker led the collect and the pledge to the flag.

Eighteen members responded to roll call. Mrs. Fred Hart, an honorary member, was also present.

After the business meeting, Mrs. Frank Shull presented the lesson, "Growth of American Literature." Sketches from the lives of Washington Irving, Edgar Allan Poe, Henry David Thoreau and Ralph Waldo Emerson were given. "Thanatopsis," "To a Waterfowl," "The Devil and Tom Walker," and "The Little Old Sod Shanty" were included in the lesson.

Mrs. Carl Carpenter gave the critic's review.

Mrs. Don Burley conducted the entertainment.

The meeting was adjourned and light refreshments were served by the hostess.

Around the Town

With the Editor

Along about 9:30 Friday night our cheerleaders were having difficulty getting the cheering section's vocal chords to function. With two games already lost and the third one fairly well beyond reach, those three hard-working gals had a job trying to work up some enthusiasm.

But don't you worry—that was only the first game. Our coach is a pret-t-t-y sly one. He's just lulling the other teams into a false sense of security. Then later on in the season—BOOM!—whatta surprise they'll get—won't they, coach? ?

"You know how we feel about it; we don't care who wins, just so it's the Cubs!"

Those words, familiar to Chicago Cub fans, like me, have been heard for the last time from the lips of Bert Wilson, for many years announcer for radio broadcasts of Cub games. He died Saturday at a hospital in Mesa, Arizona.

He was criticized by some for his partisanship in obvious support of the team whose games he described for his listeners. But for all his "faults" in that respect, he gave a more detailed account of baseball games than other announcers. If the ball took three hops to get to the shortstop, you knew it. If the runner was called out, you knew it—right now — none of this deciphering of colorful descriptions was necesary in understanding his descriptions.

He picked a team—and that was his team.

—Just a small tribute to a sports personality whose presence,—or absence— like that of so many others, doesn't seem too important, yet suddenly becomes so very, very significant.

Good Turnout For Town Election

Voters in the town of St. Joe turned out in numbers Tuesday to select those who will conduct the business of the town for the next four years.

Selected at the polls were three persons to serve on the town board and one to serve as clerk-treasurer. All offices were won by candidates on the Republican ticket, with a close race recorded in the contest for the office of clerk-treasurer. Willard Hurni, incumbent, was elected by a narrow 57-55 margin.

Other vote totals indicated selection of office-holders rather evenly along party lines.

The results were as follows:

Trustee Ward I

Lester Pugsley (R) 59, Albert Wade (D) 49.

Trustee Ward II

Derwood Ridgway (R) 57, Parlia Hull (D) 44.

Trustee Ward III

Orville Coburn (R) 64, Donald Kinsey (D) 46.

Clerk-Treasurer

Willard Hurni (R) 57, Loretta Musser (D) 55.

LOYAL WORKERS CLASS

The Loyal Workers Class of the Lutheran Sunday School at Spencerville held their monthly meeting in the church basement Sunday, October 30.

A pot luck dinner was enjoyed at noon with Mrs. Flossie Rhoades, hostess. A very interesting program was held in the afternoon with Mrs. Alma Hart and Miss Fern Walter, chairmen. Miss Walter gave a very inspiring talk on her recent all-day visit to the Mulberry Home, the Lutheran home for the aged.

GIANT TURNIP GROWN LOCALLY

A giant turnip, grown by Postmaster Ed Storer in his garden plot, is on display in the window of the News Office. Mr. Storer presented the turnip for exhibition last Friday morning, commenting that he had been "feeding it for the last couple of weeks."

The turnip weighs just under 8 pounds. It measures 28 inches around and has a large diameter of 9 inches.

The turnip stands six inches high and had five "tops."

Comets Drop Opener To Butler, 71-38

Butler's Windmills had an easy task disposing of the Riverdale Comets Friday night at the Butler gym in the opener of the 1955-1956 basketball season for both schools.

The local squad managed to keep within striking distance in the first three quarters, but their opponents finished strong to post a 71-38 final score.

The Comets suffered from "missitis," an ailment characterized by failure to score field goals. Their shooting eyes seemed to be somewhat out of focus as frequent shots barely came within striking distance of the back-board. This was coupled with several turns of luck in which the ball rolled off the rim when it appeared headed on through for a score.

The only scoring punch for the losers came from Dave Walters who received credit for 23 of his team's 38 points. Meanwhile, Butler presented a balanced attack with Hathaway and Nichols dumping in 13 points each.

The score at the end of the first quarter was 19-11. At the half it was 29-17 and at the three-quarter mark it was 46-30.

Butler hit 24 of 67 field goal attempts while Riverdale sank only 12 in 57 attempts.

The preliminary games of the junior high and reserve teams also were taken by Butler.

SPECIAL FEATURE

The Student And Health

(First of a series of special articles of interest to parents of school students, prepared and written especially for The News by Hubert Stackhouse of the Riverdale High School Faculty.)

According to a recent high school press survey, student health is the facet of the school-home relationship that interests parents most. The teacher and the school, although they would seem to be primarily interested in classroom activities, are affected by and know of the health of your child.

In considering matters of this nature, illness usually receives the greater amount of attention even though sight and hearing will have a more pronounced effect on a child's education than will a transitory ailment. Regarding these less stressed impairments of the student's faculties, the following might be of interest. Recent tests, administered by Purdue University personnel, reveal that about 3 percent of Riverdale students have hearing deficiencies. A check of those who wear glasses would reveal between 15 and 20 per cent of your children have sight corrections. The results of the Purdue tests, coupled with the teacher's observation of the ability of the child to see the blackboards, will usually result in a placement of the child toward the front of the room. These tests, both hearing and sight, are repeated periodically to detect any new impairments.

All students are permitted four years of "gym," and the corporation employs three licensed instructors in this field for the student's benefit. Where the student has a physical deficiency that prevents participation in physical education activities, he may be excused entirely upon a physician's request, or, if possible, deferred to activities that do not require strenuous exercise.

In addition to actual participation in health building and corrective courses, the school offers health and safety courses at least twice above the 7th grade level. Students, as a matter of state law, are required to take such a course on the high school level. Girls may gain additional training dealing with health problems through home economics courses, such as home nursing.

The illness of a student is, of course, of immediate concern to both the parent and the school. The school will wish to be sure that a disease or a condition which has resulted in the absence of one of its students will not be transmitted to others. Parents are urged strongly to retain the student at home in illness, however mild. The school, in turn, will insist that the student who has been absent for over three days consecutively due to illness must be accompanied by a doctor's statement that he or she is not the bearer of a contagious disease.

When the student is absent, he has missed not only textbook materials studied, but also the classroom discussion. He can usually repair the former state; never the latter. The teacher finds such absences a minor inconvenience through having to supervise the same work again and in the disruption of routine while making the assignments again and in supervising and grading the work. For this reason, the school insists upon speedy make-up of missed work that the burden is not increased by lapsed time.

A third result of illness, or any absence for that matter, is that it has an adverse financial result. Schools are paid state support on the basis of their average daily attendance. The illness, and especially if of an epidemic nature, can result in loss of support running even into thousands of dollars.

When a child is taken ill at school, one of two courses will be followed. If the illness is thought to be mild, he or she will be placed in the librarian's room, where a cot is kept for this purpose, and asked to remain there until normal school dismissal occurs. If seriously ill, the child will be returned home, post haste, either by parents' or school's transportation.

If the child has an accident of a minor nature, the school can provide first aid of the iodine and band-aid sort. If not minor in nature, the school will take the injured to a doctor as quickly as possible. Financial responsibility for accidents is borne by the parent unless insurance is carried by the student. Injuries in athletics are paid for by insurance paid for by the school's athletic department revenues.

At the present time, there is no way that the school can lessen the parent's burden with the sick child at home. The county does not maintain a school nurse. The school will provide assignments for the convalescing student if parents so desire, or see that opportunity is given to make-up missed work and by either, lessen anxiety on the student's and parent's parts.

Within the school, rules are made and maintained to protect the child from accident. Students are supervised in halls and upon staircases to prevent running and jostling. Students are forbidden the right to manipulate ventilation in classrooms. School sanitary facilties are cleaned and kept in a reasonable state of repair.

School health is, in the final analysis, a co-operative effort. The parents' end includes recognition and retention at home of illness, providing the child with adequate medical care and corrective devices, and forcing a sensible observance of rules of health, particularly dressing warmly enough in marginal weather. The school's end includes providing health education, maintaining adequate facilities for education, recognition and co-operation in lessening deficiencies, and demanding the student's observance of health precautions in school life. The result, when we observe our duties, or privileges, in these matters, must be the continued good health of the school.

Deputy Sheriff Resigns Post

Kenneth Sebert, second deputy of the DeKalb County sheriff's department, has resigned from that post to devote more time to his other business and other employment, according to sheriff Frank Carpenter's announcement of last week. The resignation became effective immediately.

The former deputy served in that position for five months. He advised the sheriff that he wanted to devote more time to his other business, operation of a 40-acre chicken farm in Richland Twnship, and also said that he was interested in other employment.

An appointee has not yet been chosen to fill the vacancy.

THE GOLDEN RULE

Lesson for November 13, 1955

Living is an art, not a science. Jesus did not come to give us a heavenly rule-book. On the other hand he did not live and die merely to provide us with tickets to heaven. For others, as for himself, he felt the tremendous importance, here and now, of this present life. He left behind him, not rules, but general broad principles for living in this world as sons and daughters of the Most High God. Jesus' principles were not the stuffy sort of thing that only philosophers can understand. His disciples, we know, were all men of limited education, the plainest of plain people. If Jesus had tried any theological gobbledygook on them, it would have gone clear over their heads. What he said sould have been carved on short tombstones, written on a postcard,—any one sentence of his teachings. The one the church has nicknamed the "Golden Rule"—short, sharp and in Jesus' own view very important—is alone worth long study.

"It's Too Hard"

Luke's version of the Golden Rule (6:31) is clear enough: "As you wish that men would do to you, do so to them." Words of one syllable, but what words! It is saddening to see how many efforts have been made to by-pass this Golden Rule. One kind of by-passer will tell you this is much too hard. Some very religious people have fancied that Jesus did not mean this for here-and-now, but only for some "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," sometime after Judgment Day. Other religious people have said that Jesus really meant to say, "You can't possibly do this—don't you feel ashamed?" Now we can be sure of two things. One is that Jesus was (to say the least of it) a man of common sense, an honest man. And honest men do not deliberately tell their friends to do what they know is impossible.

"It's Too Easy"

An opposite way of by-passing the Golden Rule is to think it is too easy—that it is just a nice-sounding bit of advice that is not only easy to do but which won't do much good. Fr example: a little girl cries for candy. The mother thinks: What would I want her to do for me? Why, I'd want her to do as I say. So I'll do as she says—give her the candy. (And make her sick, of course.) Or again: a wife's birthday is coming along. Husband thinks: What would I want for MY birthday? New power saw, of course. So he gets his wife a power saw, which she certainly does not want. . . No, the Golden Rule is not as easy as all that. It calls for imagination, for a wide vision, for a Christian spirit. It is indeed all too easy —for fools and knaves. But Jesus assumed that his friends were neither knaves nor fools. The Golden Rule is not something to save any one the trouble of thinking. It simply points out the direction in which our actions and decisions ought to go. It often means not what does this person want me to do now, but what will this person at last wish I had done for him? In other words, if we are to apply the Golden Rule, we have to look at it in the light of eternity.

"It Won't Work"

Another way of by-passing the Golden Rule is to say simply that it won't work. "It is a lovely ideal, the world would be much pleasanter to live in, for all of us, if we could live by it; but we can't, so let's get on with the practical business of dog-eat-dog, every man for himself and the devil take the hindmost." Again let us remember that if Jesus had not lived by his own rule, every listener would have known him for a hypocrite and the Golden Rule would have perished in a blast of cynical laughter. It worked in Nazareth, it worked in the carpenter shop. To bring it down to our own times in America, and to take the hardest of applications of the Golden Rule —loving your enemies. Will it work? Well, who are today the leaders in the War of the 1860's who are most widely and gratefully remembered on both sides of what once was a battle line? Lincoln and Lee, beyond much doubt. And these are the two men who most undeniably loved their enemies. The Golden Rule, in a life devoted to God and man, will work.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE CABLE ADDRESS—ACDCO

DEAR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS

Our unusual automobile plan originated five years ago when our company president, Mr. Dallas E. Winslow, adopted the plan of giving each associate of our different companies a new automobile each year. Our companies are located at Auburn, Indiana; Springfield, Ohio; Cleveland, Ohio and Detroit, Michigan.

The automobiles that have been driven by our associates have never been traded in on the new cars we purchase. Previously we sold these cars in quantity wholesale to automobile dealers. Due to so many requests from our friends and customers to sell them cars, we decided to offer these select automobiles for sale to our many friends and neighbors.

We now have available a fine selection of low mileage 1955 FORDS and OLDSMOBILES. These cars with certain extra equipment and practically new cars can be purchased at a substantial savings. At the present time, we have a wide selection of colors and body styles.

You will be interested to know we are now in a position to accept your automobile in exchange for one of our nearly new automobiles. This policy has made available a few select used cars of various makes, such as FORDS, DODGES, CHEVROLETS, BUICKS, PLYMOUTHS, OLDSMOBILES and other makes at very attractive prices and liberal terms.

We like to think of our terms as "terms with a heart". By this, we mean any reasonable terms you desire will be considered up to 36 months to pay. Your payments may be made direct to us and you may be assured of our co-operation in case an extension of a payment is needed as we do not sell your note.

The cars are being displayed in the factory showroom here in the plant and, for your convenience, we are open evenings during the week until 9:00 P.M. We cordially invite your inspection of them without any obligation whatsoever. Our telephone number is 113.

Assuring you of our friendship and co-operation,

Sincerely,

FELLOWSHIP DINNER ATTENDED BY FIFTY AT SPENCERVILLE

Fifty members of St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran Church enjoyed a Fellowship Dinner in the church dining room following services Sunday, November 6. The dinner was sponsored by the Booster Class.

The group also honored Eck Hursh, who observed his eighty-second birthday that day. Mr. Kenneth Norris, president of the Booster Class, pinned a golden mum on Mr. Hursh's coat lapel, after which all sang "Happy Birthday."

Pastor Barnhart gave thanks after which all did justice to the bountiful dinner. Mr. Hursh, the honored guest, and members of his family, including Mr. and Mrs. George Doll and Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Hursh and Linda and Tommy, were seated at the head table which was decorated with a large centerpiece of golden and white mums.

While the group remained seated at the tables, group singing was led by Dorothy Smith. Mr. Norris gave each person a number which aroused curiosity. However, a little later when the TV show "The Name's the Same" was put on, it was found that the number designated the panel on which each took part. Everyone enjoyed the show.

More group singing was followed by prayer by Pastor Barnhart dismissing the group.

The French nurse who was present at the death-bed of Voltaire, being urged to attend an Englishman whose case was critical, said: "Is he a Christian?" "Yes," was the reply, "he is—a Christian in the highest and best sense of the term—a man who lives in the fear of God. But why do you ask" "Sir," she replied, "I was the nurse that attended Voltaire in his last illness, and for all the wealth of Europe I would never see another infidel die."

Around the Town

With the Editor

That warm Sunday a couple of days ago sure didn't do much to get us accustomed to the prospect of cold weather, did it? In fact, it kinda made me "homesick" for spring - already.

Bill Beebe is always giving me a hard time about not having anything good about the Beebes in the paper. The last time he did so was Saturday night when they had several people at their place for a social gathering. So this is as good a time as ever to say something good - but it isn't exactly about Bill, if that's what he's looking for. It is about those de-e-e-licious chicken sandwiches Annie served at snack time that evening. There were other good things, of course, but those chicken sandwiches were really chicken sandwiches.

For some reason I got a chuckle from a list of "fillers" (those little paragraphs of information used to fill out a newspaper column when there's just a little bit of space left) sent out from the Fleet Hometown News Service. I flipped open the envelope and the first thing I read was this happy thought:

"Scientists say that if the ice melted from the Antarctic continent, the world's oceans would rise 105 feet."

Hank Markle, Jr., brought over a clipping from one of the Fort Wayne papers of January 11, 1941, found when doing a little "cleaning up."

Here 'tis:

"Disputed Field Goal Causes Tie Cage Game

"St. Joe, Ind. Jan. 11.—A misunderstanding between referees and timekeepers brought about the rarity of a tie basketball game here Friday night as Pleasant Lake and St. Joe each scored 32 points. Yockey, Pleasant Lake forward, tossed the ball in the basket just as the third quarter ended. Officials Smuts and Woods thought he had shot before the end of the period but both timekeepers ruled that time had run out before he fired.

"Floor officials ruled Pleasant Lake the winner, 34 to 32, at the close of playing time and the teams left the floor. After checking with timekeepers and consulting the rules book, the decision was changed to a tie game. Pleasant Lake had some consolation, winning the prelim, 19 to 17.

Stopped in at the Conleys' store at Spencerville Monday while making the rounds and found one of the TV's tuned in to a cops and robbers thriller - from 'way back when. That TV - once you start watching it you can't stop. I had to stay until the "Malaya Queen" (a boat) was overtaken by the U. S. Navy and the hero and heroine rescued from the villains.

—Incidently, they've got a big string of TV's on display over there, little ones to big ones. And you know what there aren't many shopping days until.

Then across the street at Fisher's, Bob Hollabaugh and little son were making a few purchases. The young man was inspecting the merchandise when an elderly lady customer came in and handed him a penny. You know how it is, you walk in some place and there's a cute little boy or girl and you just want to give them something. After a "thank you" (from a reminder from Dad) he went to the front of the store to look over the candy and made his selection. Bob told him to "give Lynn the penny." But Dad was just a step behind Son because the penny was already deposited on the cash register.

These kids—before we know it, they know what they want and what to do to get it.

Norman Morr was nervous enough as it was last week end with the prospect of getting married. But when best man Forrest Reasor slipped and fell the morning of the wedding day and put a gash in the back of his head, Norman was really beside himself. But everything went along without a hitch - well, it wasn't really without a hitch because Norman and Joan got hitched. But everything went along okay without anymore difficulties and the best man functioned as desired.

—See, here's one of those spaces at the end of the paragraph for one of those "fillers." If I had one I'd—well, f'goodness sakes, the space is filled up!!

Waterloo Downs Comets, 39-30

The Riverdale Comets suffered their second setback of the current basketball campaign Friday evening at the hands of the Waterloo Wildcats. The game, played at the Waterloo gym, was a low-scoring contest with the final tally reading Waterloo 39, Riverdale 30.

The Comets led 10-9 at the end of the first period with Phil Carpenter leading the scoring. Waterloo went into a 17-12 lead at the half-way point of the second quarter. But the locals trimmed the lead to 21-18 at the half.

Waterloo outscored Riverdale in the third quarter, 8 to 6, to post a lead of 29-24. The final period was again low on good shots, contributing to the final 39-30 score.

The Comets took 70 shots in sinking only 13 field goals. Waterloo shot only 49 times to score 15 field goals.

Harvest Home Service Sunday In Lu'n Churches

Special Harvest Home Festival services will be held in St. Peter's Lutheran Church at Spencerville and St. Mark's Lutheran Church in St. Joe on Sunday, November 20, according to an announcement made by Pastor Philip Barnhart.

The special services will follow a Thanksgiving theme, in which people will show their thanks and gratitude to God for His blessings by sharing their bounty with those who are less fortunate. Two programs will be combined in the one Harvest Home Festival. Old clothing that is still usable will be brought to the churches where they will be sorted and transferred to shipping points for overseas shipment to the needy. The clothing drive is an annual program of Lutheran World Relief and is conducted by the National Lutheran Council through its member churches.

The other program consists of collecting canned foods and groceries for the Osterlin Children's Home of Springfield, Ohio, one of the welfare children's homes of the United Lutheran Church in America.

During the service, the clothing and the food will be brought forward and will be blessed by the pastor as part of the regular service of worship. The public is invited to attend this special Harvest Home Festival, which is expected to become an annual highlight in the Lutheran churches in St. Joe and Spencerville.

Nov. 27 Set For Honoring Korean Vets

The DeKalb County Korean Veterans Appreciation Day ceremonies will be held at the Garrett High School gym at 3 p.m. Sunday, November 27.

Certificates of appreciation from the people of Indiana, signed by Governor George N. Craig, will be presented to the 721 veterans who are eligible from this county and to the next of kin of those 13 DeKalb County young men who were killed in action.

John McIntyre of Auburn, chairman of the event, announced Tuesday that the invitations have been sent out from the office of the chief clerk of the Selective Service Office in Auburn.

The Rev. J. Harlan Wright is chairman of the finance committee of the appreciation day group. Donations are now being accepted from individuals and social, business and fraternal organizations of the county.

Goal of the finance committee is a fund of $150 to cover rental of the gym, printing of programs and letters of invitation, postage, etc.

Rev. Wright is being assisted by W. E. Walter of near St. Joe and Bernard Brennan of Garrett.

Masons Hold New Building Dedication

Approximately 250 persons attended the formal dedication of the new Spencerville Masonic home at Spencerville Friday evening, November 11.

A banquet was served in the dining room of the building at 6 p.m. by members of the Order of Eastern Star at Spencerville.

The dedication ceremony began at 8 p.m. The worshipful master of the lodge, Frank Laub, gave the welcoming address and introduced the various Grand Lodge officials present.

The Grand Master, Joseph A. Batchelor, of Bloomington, gave the principal talk. He told of the accomplishments of the lodge at Spencerville and of the principles of Masonry.

Roscoe Walter, a past master of the lodge, read the history of the lodge. Louise Zimmerman and Lois Fisher presented special music.

The new building, a two-story cement block structure, is 66 feet long and 36 feet wide. Construction was begun in 1951. All work was done by members of the lodge.

The building contains the lodge hall on the second floor and dining room, kitchen and rest rooms on the first floor.

The lodge has spent approximately $11,000 in erecting the building, valued now at $25,000.

The Spencerville lodge has 102 members at present and was organized in 1880. The new building replaces the Masonic home at Spencerville which burned down in January of 1949.

No indebtedness has been incurred in achieving the construction of the new building. While it was in the process of construction, meetings were held at the Spencerville fire hall with degree work being given at the Masonic lodge in Auburn until the completion of the new building.

With the Seniors:

Proofs have arrived and orders will be taken Monday, the 21st.

Yearbook work proceeds apace, the cover color is chosen, the theme also. The advertising section goes in first, on the 30th. The Riverian is big, almost 100 pages. It will have color, bigger sections for everything almost.

With the Juniors:

Plans are afoot for the four Waterloo home games that RSC has the concession. Pop by the dozens of cases, ice cream by the hundreds of pieces, popcorn by the hundreds of sacks are being contemplated.

With the Betas:

The one day convention in Indianapolis Saturday, the 12th, was a success. Riverdale Betas, following instructions by their sponsors, "socialized." The girls, Kathleen Anthony, Mary Beckman, Andrea Carr, Fletta Griggs and Doris Kruse, attended the banquet and dance in formals. At times, one or another could be seen on the floor, and not with old acquaintances, either. Mr. Stackhouse was elected to the State Beta Council as the only sponsor. Mr. Simpson is already a member and currently secretary. The trip home was by way of Manchester College where the group wished one of its members a happy birthday. It was enjoyed enough to cause members to plan to return next year as alumni. Those not mentioned, also on the trip, were Tom Hart, Beta, and Mrs. Simpson.

TRIP NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. George Beams returned Thursday from a 1,500 mile motor trip to the south central west where they spent a part of two days at the Land of Lakes in the heart of the Ozark Mountains. Mr. Beams has contributed the following observations of the trip:

"The color scenery was surely at its best with the beautiful Oak Forest leaves ranging from brown to green and all the colors in between. The beauty can hardly be described but imagine looking from the picture window of the restaurant at the entrance of the "Bridal Cave" near Camdenton, Missouri, where the owners say you can see 40 miles of scenery. Sounds impossible.

"Leaving the Ozarks north through central Missouri to Iowa where we visited friends at Cedar Rapids. Then to 'West Branch,' Iowa and the birthplace of 'Herbert Hoover,' a small two-room house located at the entrance of a 15A park being used as a picnic area and recreation center. Now being landscaped into a shrine honoring the only U. S. President born west of the Mississippi River.

"Then on across Illinois to Indiana on U.S. Route 6, calling on Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ebert at Ligonier. The Ebert's are the parents of Mrs. Richard Calbeck.

"We also visited with the Weningers, a former elevator man at Spencerville. Found them selling out their grocery store at 'Reynolds, Ind.,' and moving to 'Roachdale, Ind.,' where Bill is back in the elevator business.

"Visit the Ozarks for scenery, fishing, hunting and 69,000 acres of lake."

In South Africa, in looking for diamonds, they often find a substance that is half charcoal and half diamond. It was intended to be a diamond, but it stopped short, and it is only diamondiferous; it is partly a cinder and partly a jewel. It stopped short, and will never get into the king's crown. Do not be content by stopping half-way. Go all the way with the Lord Jesus Christ, and He will go all the way with you. Remember, He will stop just where you stop. We are still wondering just where a lot of our folk stopped last Lord's Day. Do not stop short of both church services, come Sunday.

DEAR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS

Our unusual automobile plan originated five years ago when our company president, Mr. Dallas E. Winslow, adopted the plan of giving each associate of our different companies a new automobile each year. Our companies are located at Auburn, Indiana; Springfield, Ohio; Cleveland, Ohio and Detroit, Michigan.

The automobiles that have been driven by our associates have never been traded in on the new cars we purchase. Previously we sold these cars in quantity wholesale to automobile dealers. Due to so many requests from our friends and customers to sell them cars, we decided to offer these select automobiles for sale to our many friends and neighbors.

We now have available a fine selection of low mileage 1955 FORDS and OLDSMOBILES. These cars with certain extra equipment and practically new cars can be purchased at a substantial savings. At the present time, we have a wide selection of colors and body styles.

You will be interested to know we are now in a position to accept your automobile in exchange for one of our nearly new automobiles. This policy has made available a few select used cars of various makes, such as FORDS, DODGES, CHEVROLETS, BUICKS, PLYMOUTHS, OLDSMOBILES and other makes at very attractive prices and liberal terms.

We like to think of our terms as "terms with a heart". By this, we mean any reasonable terms you desire will be considered up to 36 months to pay. Your payments may be made direct to us and you may be assured of our co-operation in case an extension of a payment is needed as we do not sell your note.

The cars are being displayed in the factory showroom here in the plant and, for your convenience, we are open evenings during the week until 9:00 P. M. We cordially invite your inspection of them without any obligation whatsoever. Our telephone number is 113.

Assuring you of our friendship and co-operation,

Sincerely,
M. J. Klinger

POWERS OF GOD

Lesson for November 20, 1955

Jesus no doubt did many ordinary things, such as paying his bills and eating his breakfast. It may well be that he "never did an ordinary thing in an ordinary way." (How would he pay you what he owed for lumber for his carpenter shop? How would he be as a breakfast companion?) But it is also true by all the records that he did some extraordinary things, so extraordinary in fact that no one word could quite describe them. The Gospel writers, all of whom of course used Greek, used sometimes a word meaning "Sign," sometimes one meaning "wonder, miracle," and sometimes one that means "power." The same Greek word is translated in different ways. For example: the Greek word "dynamis" (power) is translated in the old King James version "power" in Luke 5:17, "virtue" in 6:19, "mighty works" in 10:13, "miracles" in Acts 2:22.

No Show-off

You can get into all kinds of stupid and endless arguments over the "miracles" of the New Testament. They are not always labeled as such, or labeled with any word. The Gospels will just tell what Jesus did, and let the reader draw his own conclusionr. What they all agree on is that Jesus performed acts of power which no one else could match. He did these things as naturally as you would pick a blackberry—as naturally but perhaps not so easily. As he himself expressed it, he could perceive "power" going out of him. (Luke 8:46, R.S.V.) However hard it may be to understand Jesus' miracles, we can confidently say three things about them. One is that he did not do them "just to be doing them." They were never aimless, or at random. Further, they never had the aim of showing off. To the end of his days Jesus was beset by demands from the Pharisees and others, to show "a sign from heaven." One of his early temptations was to cast himself down from a pinnacle of the Temple and expect God or his angels to see that he did not get hurt in the fall. But he did not yield to that temptation.

Never Too Much

Another striking fact about his miracles is that he never wasted power. He never did what others could do. When he fed the five thousand, he got the people to sit down in orderly fashion and got his disciples to help distribute the food. One would suppose it would have been just as easy for him to arrange for every person present to find a loaf and a fish suddenly in his hand; but Jesus did not work that way. Or again, after the tremendous miracle of restoring to life the little daughter of Jairus, Jesus—instead of producing lunch for her himself by a miracle—gives orders to the family to get the little girl something to eat. When he healed the paralytic, he told him to pick up his pallet and go home.

He Went About Doing Good

Simon Peter, who was far more impressed by Jesus' miracles than by what he said, summed up a great deal when he said that Jesus, endowed with divine power, "went about doing good." (Acts 10:-38.) Our Lord's acts of power were always done for the help of other persons. This is the great distinction between Christ's miracles and those done, or allegedly done, by magic. Your typical magic-worker makes a doll and sticks pins in it, hoping by this means to inflict pain or death in some one. Whether or not magic is anything real, magic is malicious by intention. Jesus' miracles on the contrary were never malicious, but the exact opposite — they were acts of goodness and generous help. Jesus never called up genies out of bottles, he never created fire-breathing dragons, he never produced potions of love or death. All his miracles simply restored health, life, strength, gave food to the hungry, eyes to the blind . . . yes, and good news to the poor. For in listing for John the Baptist's benefit the acts of power he was doing, he names as climax not the raising of the dead, but the coming of good news to the poor. That is a miracle we still too seldom see!

According to plans currently afoot in the Riverdale Senior Class, the Riverian, the 1956 yearbook, will be a bigger and better annual than ever before. The book is projected for 96 pages, a 12-page increase over the largest previous volume. In plans jointly conceived by Fletta Grigggs and Tom Hart, editor-in-chief and business manager, respectively, this year's school-history-in-pictures will feature larger sections for seniors, new photographic presentations of the underclassmen and faculty to bring them to life (instead of the "rogue's gallery" type), larger activity and sport's section, some limited use of color (for the first time ever), a custom made cover, and better and livlier advertising sections.

The book is currently on a subscription campaign under the direction of Dorothy Smith. Ten members of the Senior Class are acting as salesmen. Those in charge of the towns are: for St. Joe, Andrea Carr and Sandra McCann; for Spencerville, Mary Beckman and Kathleen Anthony. Each class has an individual senior assigned exclusively to it. Price of the annual is $3.00 with a down payment of $1.50 and the balance payable at delivery during the first week of May. Printing is by Myers of Topeka, Kansas; photography by Rex Conn of Jefferson Studios in Fort Wayne.

Comets Win 1st; Drop Two In Week's Activity

The Riverdale Comets have been busy during the past few days what with games played last week on Wednesday and Saturday evenings and another on Tuesday of this week. The results were: one win, two losses.

Last Wednesday's game was played at the Waterloo gym against the Ashley Aces who took a 60-44 win from the Comets.

The Aces led at each quarter, 12-11, 36-23 and 47-36.

Saturday's contest with Wolf Lake was a thriller with Dave Walters sinking the winning free throw after time had run out.

Leo won its first game of the season Tuesday evening on its home court walloping the locals by a 67-45 score.

The Comets scored the first basket, but Leo soon outdistanced the Comets to take a 30-19 half-time lead.

In the third period the Comets kept whittling away and pulled up to 40-33 at that rest period. But the Lions roared back from the very tip-off of the final period, scored eight straight points to take a 15-point lead before the Green and White could dent the scoring column again. Leo went on to build its lead to the twenty-point mark and held it through the final minutes.

The second team fared better in its three games, dropping a close 43-42 game to Ashley but wining from Wolf Lake by a 38-35 score and taking an easy 39-21 win from Leo.

Literary Club Observes 60th Anniversary

Thirty-four guests and members attended the sixtieth anniversary meeting of the Ladies Literary Club on Wednesday evening, November 16, at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Wilbur Yeiser.

The president, Mrs. Weldon Shafer, called the meeting to order and gave the welcome.

The club collect and the pledge to the flag were led by Mrs. Carl Carpenter, the club critic.

The lights were dimmed and a lovely candlelight service followed in which the president presided for this evening of memories with the theme, "Let your light shine."

Mrs. Wilbur Yeiser, vice-president, read a paper on the first meeting and early years of the club.

The first candle was lit by Mrs. Louis Kern, the newest member, for the emeritus members, Mrs. Lillian Buckingham, Mrs. O. K. Shull, Mrs. Lora E. Leighty, Mrs. Belle Woodcox and Mrs. Inez Hadsell. Mrs. Kern pinned corsages on the two emeritus members who were present, Mrs. Leighty and Mrs. Woodcox. Both of these emeritus members responded by recalling club memories and congratulating the present active club members and officers for the continued high standards of the club. These talks will always be treasured by the people present as well as will the letters sent by Mrs. Buckingham, Mrs. O. K. Shull and Mrs. Hadsell.

Mrs. Maurice Kline, corresponding secretary, lit the next candle for the honorary members. Mrs. Roy Baker, Mrs. Alfred Bartholomew, Mrs. Charles Bishop, Mrs. C. R. Baumgartner, Mrs. Walter Ferris, Mrs. Fred Hart, Mrs. Arnold Link and Mrs. Winifred Shook were present to answer roll call. Letters were read from Mrs. Mary Bartlet, Mrs. O. L. Hansen, Mrs. Fred High, Mrs. William Hough, Miss Janalyce Rouls and Mrs. Mabel Thornton.

Mrs. Frank Shull, recording secretary, lit a candle for the active members and called the roll. Twenty-one members responded with "club memories."

Mrs. William Staman, club historian, read the list of members who now "live in deeds, not years," Mrs. Hurley Saylor, Mrs. George Swineford, Mrs. W. C. Patterson, Mrs. M. E. Olds, Mrs. Frank Benninghoff, Mrs. Roland Bearss, Mrs. Ida Andress, Mrs. Sol Barney, Mrs. Layton Lake, Mrs. Sell Bowen, Mrs. J. L. Rhodenbaugh, Mrs. John Knight, Miss Ethel Berry, Mrs. Alex Filley, Mrs. Jennie Sechler, Mrs. Frank May, Mrs. E. M. Miser, Mrs. Delora Curie, Mrs. Loretta Hull, Mrs. Hollis Dilley, Mrs. Simeon Maurer, Mrs. V. R. Monroe, and Mrs. Laura Baker. Mrs. Staman then told several interesting facts about each one.

Mrs. Staman presented a corsage to Mrs. Lela Northrup, the oldest active member.

Mrs. Stanley Means, club treasurer, lit the candle for the future and read an appropriate poem.

Mrs. Frank Shull led the group in singing the club song. Then, as the members stood in a circle with clasped hands, Mrs. Cora Curie, club parliamentarian, read the Sixtieth Anniversary Poem written for this occasion by Mrs. Shull.

Interspersed in this program were accordian solos, "Memories" and "Still, Still With Thee," played by Pastor Donald Foust of the Church of Christ in St. Joe.

Refreshments were served from the dining room table beautifully decorated with a centerpiece of rust and yellow mums.

Mrs. Yeiser, Mrs. Shafer and Mrs. Staman were the committee for the evening.

THE CURIOUS STORY OF Thanksgiving

(from "Aramco World," published by Arabian American Oil Company, November, 1955)

The most typically American holiday — Thanksgiving Day — a time for family reunions, feasting, dancing, football games, turkey raffles and solemn religious observance has been America's most controversial holiday. Its 334-year history is filled with argument, confusion and impassioned oratory. Celebrations continued for 320 years on a helter-skelter basis before it achieved national recognition and became a legal national holiday.

Harvest time has been a season of festivals and thanksgiving over the world from the day man reaped his first bountiful crop from a yielding earth. Every country has its own version of harvest celebration and all of them are joyous and, in a manner, religious.

When the 102 Pilgrims stepped off the Mayflower to settle in Plymouth, they didn't expect that a year later their number would be diminished by half. After a harrowing winter and a fairly good summer, the fifty-one remaining Pilgrims reaped a big harvest —their first in the New World. To celebrate this event, Gov. William Bradford proclaimed a three-day feasting and sporting holiday. Ninety friendly Indians were invited and the emphasis was placed on friendship, food, fun and the "exercise of arms."

Though it may cause some consternation among modern day celebrants who have lived with the idea that the first Thanksgiving Day was a turkey, cranberry sauce and mince pie affair, the truth is that the first feast menu was made up of boiled eels, venison, wild duck, clams, mussels, corn bread and plums—all washed down with sweet wine. The Pilgrims knew about mince pie, but objected to it because it was a favorite dish of the Stuart kings and symbolized English Christmas, an unhappy memory.

The three-ray festival was a great success. Friendship between the Indians and the Pilgrims was solidified and everyone seemed happy. Yet it was fifty years before the Plymouth Pilgrims held another Thanksgiving Day feast. No one seems to know why, although some historians assume that the presence of so many Indians discouraged a repitition.

The idea caught on with the Massachusetts Bay Puritans and the Dutch in New Amsterdam and they decided on such a holiday nine years later. It had nothing to do with feasting, dancing, sports or harvests—for it was held on July 8, 1630. Two years later, however, they switched to October to celebrate a fine crop. Thereafter, they held a feast every two years. It was the Puritans who brought religious significance to the holiday. They frowned on games and drinking on a day devoted to thanksgiving. Unlike the Plymouth Pilgrims who were friendly with the Indians, the Puritans included in their celebrating the destruction of a large band of maurauding braves a few days earlier.

For 200 years, Thanksgiving Day was strictly a New England holiday, proclaimed each year by governors and, occasionally, by presidents. The rest of the country looked askance at this Yankee holiday and suspiciously refused to recognize its existence.

George Washington proclaimed a day of thanksgiving for his army in 1782, granting each soldier an extra food ration and two new shirts. This helped to popularize the holiday and many soldiers from southern states later returned to New England to celebrate Thanksgiving Day.

As President, Washington proposed the first national Thanksgiving Day in 1789 with the suggestion that the young nation give thanks for its new constitution and the end of the war. A hostile Congress almost nullified the idea. Southern congressmen vigorously opposed it, arguing that it smacked of Yankee propaganda. A South Carolina representative claimed he didn't enjoy copying European customs and assailed the project with a long harangue. Despite these objections, Washington proclaimed November 26, 1789, as the first national Thanksgiving Day. But not again for six years did he name such a day.

President John Adams, however, liked the idea and, despite a still protesting Congress, called a holiday in May, 1789, and another in April 1799 — neither having anything to do with the original intent of celebrating harvests. Somewhere along the line the joy over good crops expressed by feasting, sporting games and dancing was almost completely lost.

It was President Thomas Jefferson who really dealt the holiday an almost mortal blow. He maintained that it was becoming too religious an observance and as President he would adhere to the proposition that the Church and State should be separated. He, therefore, refused to proclaim Thanksgiving Day during his entire administration. New Englanders, in angry retort, continued with state-proclaimed celebrations and one clerical critic went so far as to say in a sermon: "O Lord, endow the President with a goodly portion of Thy grace, for Thou, O Lord, knowest he needs it."

Pressure for the holiday observance was very strong in Massachusetts, but Gov. Elbridge Gerry, a rabid Jefersonian, found a way to circumvent it. He issued a proclamation—but it took two hours to read it before the usual church services began. By the time the order was read most of the parishoners had scattered to their homes to cook the big dinners and the ministers faced empty pews.

Jefferson's attitude was not a solitary protest—actually, it lasted sixty years as President after President followed suit. It appeared that Thanksgiving Day as a national holiday was doomed. But in 1855, three states in the south made a dramatic about face. Georgia, Texas and Virginia decided to mark the holiday.

Sara Josepha Hale, who wrote "Mary Had a Little Lamb," was the greatest single influence in establishing the day as a national legal holiday. As editor of Godey's Lady's Book, the most famous women's magazine of the time, she wrote impassioned articles, editorials, letters and appeals, imploring every President to act on behalf of a national Thanksgiving Day. In 1863, her appeal finally caught the fancy of President Lincoln. In a year that saw the bloody battles of Gettysburg and Vicksburg, Lincoln responded by issueing his first Thanksgiving Day proclamation—marking the actual start of our modern observance of the holiday on the last Thursday in November.

Curious reasons for celebrating the day were given throughout its history. President Madison cited the victory in the battle of New Orleans; Lincoln was thankful that no foreign power had attacked the Union during the Civil War; Grant blessed the huge influx of immigrants in 1876; and Hayes rejoiced because there were no shipwrecks or major disasters. Grover Cleveland was the first President to refer to the "reunion of families" in his proclamation.

But Thanksgiving Day's rough voyage toward national acceptance was still to face the rapids of national discontent. In 1939, President Franklin D. Roosevelt, at the request of businessmen all over the country, who wanted more shopping time between Thanksgiving and Christmas, suggested that the day be proclaimed on the third Thursday in November. This change, actually, was not such an innovation since the date had shifted continuously through eight months in a period of 300 years. The nation, however, broke into loud protest and twenty-three states refused to abide by the new date. In fact, to appease all sides, Texas and Colorado held two Thanksgiving Days.

After three years of confusion and protest, President Roosevelt, in 1942, agreed to return to the old date. Congress then passed a resolution legalizing the fourth Thursday in November as national Thanksgiving Day.

Some of the traditions of this eventful day have strange origins. While retaining its religious significance, Thanksgiving Day is still, primarily, an harvest celebration. The traditional football games, the raffles, turkey shoots and the feasting are all reminders of the original joyous celebration of a bountiful crop, the testing of skills and swordplay of the early celebrants.

This is true of harvest festivals all over the world. Through hundreds of years, European countries had developed special rituals to celebrate this season. In Austria, November 15 is known as St. Leopold's or Goose Day. Traditionally, huge goose dinners mark the beginning of the new wine season and people travel to the Klosterneuburg Abbey (built in the 12th century) to slide down the great 12,000 gallon wine cask in the festive ritual of good luck. Feasting and drinking are the marks of the great October Festival held each year at Munich, Germany. Many countries, such as Czechoslovakia, use the corn maiden as the traditional harvest symbol. Field workers fashion a great wreath of corn and flowers and the woman who binds the last sheaf is called "baba." The wreaths and babas become the center of celebrations in all villages and there is widespread merry-making. In China, the 15th day of the Eighth Moon is called the Moon Festival marking the end of the harvest season and one of the most joyous events in the Chinese year. All activity centers upon the moon which influences the crops. Candies and cakes are baked in the shape of the moon while music, feasts and games make up the day.

The turkey, the familiar symbol of our own holiday, was originally a wild bird known to Mexicans and Central Americans. Early Spanish explorers took the bird to Europe and it made its way to Turkey where it was domesticated. Finally, many years later, it found its way back to North America with the name of "turkey."

Yet the strangest twist of all is that the only country in the world where a national harvest festival day is a legal holiday through an Act of Congress is in the United States—the mightiest industrial nation on earth.

RETURNS FROM EXCHANGE TRIP

George Wappes, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Wappes of RR1, Garrett, returned home November 18 from a trip to Switzerland on the International Farm Youth Exchange program.

Each year four outstanding young men and women are selected from the state to serve as exchange students in this program. These students travel to other countries where they visit selected farms. They spend two or three weeks at each farm, living with the farm family, learning their way of living and doing actual farm work.

George has been away since June 11 and brought back a number of interesting pictures of Swiss farm life. The Butler Township boy is a graduate of Garrett High School, Class of 1951, and in June of this year graduated from Purdue University School of Agriculture.

On Friday, November 25, from 3 to 5 p.m. an informal welcome home tea will be held in the county extension office of the county court house in Auburn. Friends of George are invited to drop in during that time to greet him and find out what he thought of the Swiss way of farming.

SCOTS GUARDS APPEAR FRIDAY NIGHT

The colorful Queen Elizabeth's Scots Guards will appear at the Coliseum in Fort Wayne on Friday, November 25. The presentation will feature the 100-strong Regimental Band, massed pipers and highland dancers.

The Scots Guards, famed contingent of Britain's Buckingham Palace guard, are displaying their marching ceremonies, exhilarating music and highland dancing on a 48-city good will tour of the U. S. and Canada. Presented by the noted empressario, S. Hurok, by arrangement with the British War Office, their Fort Wayne appearance is under the auspices of the Fort Wayne Central Lions Club.

The Guardsmen's North American visit began October 9 in Washington, before a turn-out of the diplomatic corps seldom equalled even in the nation's capitol. Critics and the capacity audience at the huge Uline Arena hailed the magnificent spectacle, which went on to thrill near-capacity houses at Toronto and Ottawa. The 20,000 seats at New York's Madison Square Garden are already sold out for the performance later this month.

A valiant and much-decorated battle regiment, the Scots Guards perform peaceful service at the Royal Palace when on home duty. Thousands of tourists come to watch the regiment mount guard, troop the color at the Queen's birthday parade and demonstrate rituals of arms at other historic ceremonies. The band, perhaps the most famous in the world, will be remembered by Americans who watched the Coronation parade on TV and newsreel screens.

PURDUE WILL TEST SOIL SAMPLES NOW

Hoosier farmers are advised by Purdue University agronomists to check on soil fertility levels and determine fertilizer needs for next year's crops as soon as possible.

Accurate soil samples can be taken with ease by the landowner with tools already at hand. A soil sample is a representative part of a field which is used in chemical testing.

Soil tests determine what is needed to supply next season's crops with mineral plant foods required for optimum growth. Purdue specialists believe they have some of the best equipment available to make these tests.

Purdue's soil laboratory tests samples for acidity (pH), lime requirements, available phosphate and available potash. Results are reported to farmers and are used to recommend the proper kind of fertilizer for a particular crop as well as the amount of lime needed.

Tests at Purdue are available to all Hoosier farmers at a cost of 50 cents per sample. This service charge covers cost of testing, reporting, and making recommendations. If the soil is tested once each round of rotation, or every 4 years as suggested by agronomists, the cost is 1 1-2 cents per acre per year.

Thousands of Indiana farmers agree that Purdue soil tests have proved invaluable in the more profitable use of fertilizer and lime in their soil improvement programs.

After the needs of the soil are determined, farmers should buy fertilizer on the basis of the available plant food it contains. Intelligent buying of fertilizer consists of seeing that the fertilizer is labeled and then buying on the basis of the label. Any other basis is "blind buying." The label should be carefully read and farmers should avoid buying fertilizer in which the analysis is not definitely stated.

Indiana's fertilizer law is designed to protect farmers by giving exact information in writing as to the plant food contents of commercial fertilizer, according to A. S. Carter, assistant state seed commissioner.

DEAR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS

Our unusual automobile plan originated five years ago when our company president, Mr. Dallas E. Winslow, adopted the plan of giving each associate of our different companies a new automobile each year. Our companies are located at Auburn, Indiana; Springfield, Ohio; Cleveland, Ohio and Detroit, Michigan.

The automobiles that have been driven by our associates have never been traded in on the new cars we purchase. Previously we sold these cars in quantity wholesale to automobile dealers. Due to so many requests from our friends and customers to sell them cars, we decided to offer these select automobiles for sale to our many friends and neighbors.

We now have available a fine selection of low mileage 1955 FORDS and OLDSMOBILES. These cars with certain extra equipment and practically new cars can be purchased at a substantial savings. At the present time, we have a wide selection of colors and body styles.

You will be interested to know we are now in a position to accept your automobile in exchange for one of our nearly new automobiles. This policy has made available a few select used cars of various makes, such as FORDS, DODGES, CHEVROLETS, BUICKS, PLYMOUTHS, OLDSMOBILES and other makes at very attractive prices and liberal terms.

We like to think of our terms as "terms with a heart". By this, we mean any reasonable terms you desire will be considered up to 36 months to pay. Your payments may be made direct to us and you may be assured of our co-operation in case an extension of a payment is needed as we do not sell your note.

The cars are being displayed in the factory showroom here in the plant and, for your convenience, we are open evenings during the week until 9:00 P.M. We cordially invite your inspection of them without any obligation whatsoever. Our telephone number is 113.

Assuring you of our friendship and co-operation,

Sincerely,

THE GOOD NEWS

Lesson for November 27, 1955

There is no such thing as the Christian religion, except in human beings. There is no such thing as the growth of Christianity, unless it grows in people. So how does Christianity spread? Only by one way: people who are Christians must win people who are not Christians. People who know Jesus Christ must introduce other people to him. The church has a word for this: it is Evangelism. Anybody who thinks he doesn't believe in evangelism is really saying that he doesn't care whether there are any new Christians or not. He is saying (though perhaps without realizing it) that what he calls his "faith" is not worth talking about, or recommending to any one else.

Preaching and Bringing—

Our rather technical word "Gospel" means simply "Good News." That is what it is called in the New Testament. Not good advice, or good answers to philosophers' riddles; just good news—about God, about Jesus, about destiny. Luke gives us some interesting and valuable hints about how this Good News was broadcast in Jesus' own time and by his direction. One is in three words (Luke 8:1): Jesus came "preaching and bringing" the good news of the kingdom of God. The Gospel is not something just for talk. A tape recorder can give out a sermon; but a tape-recorder cannot be a preacher of the Gospel. A minister who preaches on Sunday and disappears the rest of the week (if such there be) may be preaching the Gospel but he is not bringing it. Jesus lived by what he preached. The good news can be told by a clever tongue; but it can be brought only by a consecrated life. What would be thought of a grocery store where, if you went in, you would see only empty shelves, and a flock of clerks who would buttonhole you and tell you all about the wonderful groceries—that aren't there! And what can one think of a church where all you can find out about the love of God is just talk, and nobody BRINGS the Gospel? The Gospel can't be brought in a little parcel you can tuck under your arm like a prayer-book. It has to be brought in a man-sized package, a live sample. After a few months you can buy a "demonstrator" car or tractor cheap; but a "demonstrator" Christian is beyond price.

Seed and Soils

You would think that if we could only get Jesus Christ in person, as he was in Galilee, into our church, we could convert everybody. Well, he didn't. No one ever brought or preached the Gospel better than he; but he did not meet with 100 per cent success. He gave a reason for this that any farmer or gardener can understand. Preaching the Gospel is like sowing seed, he said. Sometimes when you look at two fields you may find it hard to believe that the same seed was sown in both; but so it was. The difference is in the soils. In Hutchinson, Kansas, there is a grain elevator with a capacity of ten million bushels of wheat. Every bushel in the hundreds of bins can be traced back to the area where it grew. On the wall in the testing laboratory of that elevator there is a map of Kansas, county by county; and the kind of wheat each county is producing, this year, is marked there. The same seed wheat, in different counties or in different parts of the same county, may have different protein content or vary in number of bushels to the acre. So some people are better Gospel-soil than others.

To Preach and To Heal

When Jesus sent out his disciples to preach, he sent them to heal too. Health is the church's business. Whatever affects man's health of body, mind or soul, that is the church's affair. When she preaches and brings the Gospel, she has no right to say, "What we preach is only for your soul." The good news about God has transformed whole communities, it has changed the world for women, for children, for slaves, for downtrodden minorities. A gospel which is only for souls is not the Gospel Jesus preached and brought.

Here is an illustration of God's love. Three small children were one time in their childish way seeking to tell their mother how much they loved her. The oldest one of the three stretched forth his hands on either side just as far as he could reach, and said, "Mother, I love you this much." The second stretched forth his hands as far as he could and said, "Mother, I love you this much." It was then little Bobbie's time to tell how much he loved his mother. Being only three years of age, he looked up into his mother's face with a look of disappointment, and said, "I love you more than I can reach." Do you love God more than you can reach?

Will your love for God cause you to reach the church-house next Lord's Day?

HAMBURG HAPPENINGS

Olen Roberts is in Hines Hospital in Chicago for a few days.

Morgan Hopkins nephew, Paul Hopkins, from Sneedville, Tennessee, is visiting relatives here.

Kenny Collins is back home after visiting friends in Jacksonville, Florida.

Jesse Loftus daughter-in-law, Mildred, from Fort Wayne visited him Sunday.

Mrs. Kenny Collins and children visited Mrs. Eva Roberts Sunday.

Mike Murphy is now employed at Myers Elevator.

Jess Loftus is spending Thanksgiving with his daughter in Auburn.

All in fun:

Art Roberts coon dog he ordered finally arrived and Morgan Hopkins has a new airdale. So all of you coon hunters join in the chase—we'll catch a rabbit yet.

Ralph Collins can't coon hunt for a few days. His rabbit dog stuck a briar in his foot.

Ray Moore and his new coon hound are moving slow but they're still moving.

Lesley Meek surely has 20-20 vision, since he's gone to playin' peepin' tom. Maybe the lady with the knife was practicing carving the turkey. Or—maybe it was just plain self-defense.

DECEMBER 1st IS S-D DAY

Thursday, December 1, 1955, with be observed as S-D Day, Safe Driving Day, throughout the United States.

The purpose of the special day is to make the U. S. driving public more conscious and aware of the dangers involved in the operation of automobiles and the responsibilities assumed by the man or woman behind the steering wheel.

National observance of the Safe Driving Day can demonstrate that traffic accidents can be greatly reduced when motorists and pedestrians are aware of their moral and civic responsibilities.

The day has the backing of leaders in all phases of government, from the President of the United States to the governors of the states to the mayors of cities. Also included in those helping the program of promoting S-D Day are the many committees and organizations forwarding the cause of public safety.

The co-operation of this community is requested in seeking to attain the goal of no traffic fatalities on December 1, 1955, S-D Day.

We saw our first basketball game of the season Tuesday night. It was a good game and furnished a lot of good entertainment. Even though the home town won they definitely did not try any harder than the visitors. Most of the area coaches were here getting an idea of the two teams' power. Sort of a busman's holiday.

By the time you read this article Thanksgiving may be past for the year and Christmas will be almost upon us. Everyday we are laying away many items such as watches, diamonds, silverware, pens, lighters, lamps, cedar chests, mirrors, bathroom scales, radios, TV, rugs, tables, card tables and chairs, breakfast sets and many other itms in our holiday stock. When Grandma got Her "Light Bill" it WAS a Light Bill!

Some people still call their electric service bills "light bills". That's what they were at first. In Grandma's day, the biggest home use of electricity was for illumination — light.

But Today . . .

People put electricity to work in their homes in dozens of ways. Just for fun, count the electrical appliances in your home. You'll probably say you never realized you had so many!

Today most I&M customers are using more than twice the electricity they used just ten short years ago — because they enjoy living electrically.

Naturally, bills are higher. But while use has more than doubled, the average cost per kilowatthour has been reduced about one-third.

What else do you use every day that costs you less than it did ten years ago?

The St. Joe News

VOLUME LXX | ST. JOE (DeKalb Co.), IND. | Thursday, December 1, 1955 | NUMBER 47

Around the Town

With the Editor

Welcome letters came from three servicemen in the past few weeks, one from Don Walters, one from Sammy Morr and another from Richard Beebe.

Don wrote while on maneuvers and mentioned that he probably won't get home until March. He doesn't care too much for Louisiana, emphasizing that fact with "I'll take good old Indiana any time!"

His address is as follows: PFC Donald E. Walters US555-04925, Co. B, 32nd Engr. Bn. "C", 1st Plt., Exercise Sagebrush, Camp Polk, La.

Sammy's letter is actually a letter from three servicemen, he, Richard Baker and Lloyd Dixon. They are all stationed fairly close together at Fort Riley, Kansas, and have been enduring the rigors of arising at 3 a.m. together.

All three are receiving the News and sent their "thanks" for it. Most of their activity so far seems to be training on the rifle range and trying to catch up on sleep.

—I suppose it is hard for 'em to get accustomed to their new hours. They used to go to bed at 3 a.m.—now they get up at 3 a.m!

And Richard's letter is short and not too sour. He seems to be getting along O.K. saying, "This army isn't bad but it's not like home. I wish I was behind the meat counter at Mr. Clauser's again. That guy that enlisted me, he has a line a mile long."

Richard arises at 5:00 a.m., so he hasn't had to adjust quite as much as the other boys.

The mighty hunters have returned. But there was one mighty hunter who didn't have much to return with a couple of weeks ago. Clayton Baker no more than got out of the car after arriving up nort' than he stumbled and fell—or rather tripped over a partially buried car tire used as a marking device—and broke his ankle.

What's this about Mary Bingaman having a bunch of dandelions from her yard a week ago. She picked 'em just for me and I wasn't in when she brought them down.

Took a ride looking for a former St. Joe'er, Keith Davis, at his usual stamping grounds at Hicksville Saturday, but he wasn't there. Since a couple of weeks ago he's in business for himself at Antwerp selling and servicing the same buggies he's been selling and servicing the past years. We don't give free commercials so we won't mention what kind of cars he handles. But we will say that for the average person, his brand is the kind you can afFORD.

On the way back from Antwerp the Army-Navy game was on. And it still was when I passed Pete Storer's place and saw him slaving away over a muddy ditch. He tried tricking me into trying out his new shovel, but I didn't fall for it.

Gail Koeppe and Jean Webb have both had their misters fuming slightly recently after episodes with the family auto. Gail got nicked twice—or her car did—when she left it in parking lots to go shopping, and Jean backed up into a post.

No black and blue marks are evident—on the cars??—no, on the girls—so everything must have been forgiven.

When we went to the old oaken bucket game a couple of weeks ago, the week-end approched one of those why-did-I-ever-leave-home situations. First of all, it began snowing on the way to Bloomington just on the other side of Huntington and it took around seven hours to make the trip. That was Friday night. Then Saturday afternoon it was muddy—naturally—and windy, also naturally, and there was one brilliant character who was perturbed at the spectators who were reaching their seats in the stands by using the seat planks as steps. He didn't allow for the absence of aisles or steps. He was quite popular.

Ah, how funny people are, driving through snowstorms, freezing their feet in wet, cold weather, meeting obnoxious people, just to watch a silly old football game, when they could stay at home where it's nice and warm and dry and listen to it on the radio or watch it on TV. Ain't it funny the silly things people do??

—Say, bud, d'ya know where a guy can get a coupla tickets for next year's bucket game??

The zero temperatures early this week proved one thing. Henry Ford wasn't so dumb when he left the choke control on the dashboard. Those automatics were really sticking Monday.

I wish to express my sincere appreciation to all who offered their kind expressions of sympathy and to our friends and neighbors for their aid and comfort at the illness and passing of Mrs. Cole.

HIS DEMANDS

Lesson for December 4, 1955

Christian living is not a matter of vague general good will. A character in a movie remarked: "I'm not a mean man. If I heard that my neighbor's children had been eaten by wolves, I would feel some regret." Well, of course, that didn't make him a Christian. (He turned out to be the villain, by the way.) But there seems to be a number of church members and others who think that being a Christian calls for nothing more than being generally at peace with the world . . . like a turnip. Being a Christian is a far more demanding thing. And the demands are Christ's demands. He is not a trademark, a portrait of a Founder beaming on us benevolently from the wall. He is the living Christ, Son of Man and Son of God. He makes demands on his disciples, and he has a right to make them.

Discipleship

Those who were closest to Jesus in Galilee, those with whom he took the greatest pains, were called Disciples. Now the least that "disciple" can mean is "learner." The first demand that Christ makes on us who would call ourselves Christians, the demand preliminary to all others, is that we learn of him. We never should assume that we know all about Jesus—his character, his teaching, his purpose. It is a sobering question: How much of our behavior, our attitudes, our thinking in various fields, our relationship with other people—how much of this did we learn from Jesus, and how much did we copy from other persons, and how much is our own invention?

Decision

Another demand Christ makes of us is decision. This in three ways: decision for him, decision about him, decision with him. It is specially these last two that are highlighted in this week's passages from Luke. The decision for Christ is the point at which one begins to be a disciple. But besides learning, the Christian disciple has to decide, and act accordingly, about some questions that affect him vitally. One is the decision about Christ which Jesus pushed on his disciples. "Who do you say that I am?" Jesus put this question only after they had been disciples for some time. (Why?) But it can be answered at any time, and it must be answered some time, if we have any title to the name "Christian." How seriously do we take Jesus Christ? That depends on what answer we give to this question: What do we think of him? Who and what is he? The more fully we know his importance, the more seriously we shall take him. Is he a dreamer, a poet, an impractical idealist? Is he a child of his age, important then, but now such a man as we can safely neglect? Is he a noble thinker, a stirring leader of men? Or is he, as Peter dared to believe, the Son of the living God? Does he come to us with the authority of one man's opinion, or does he speak with the wisdom of the Almighty? He demands a decision.

Denial of Self

Now if we have answered the first two demands, for discipleship and for decision, we may be ready for the third demand. (This is the decision with him, spoken of just now.) We shall pay very little attention to this if we have not rightly met the other two. If we are not true learners we shall not even hear this, or we shall misunderstand it. If we think less of Christ than we ought to think, then this demand will seem egotistical, unreasonable, suicidal. It is only the Son of God who has the right to make such a demand. It is for nothing less than denial of self. There is a cheap substitute for this which is sometimes mistaken for it. It is called "self-denial" and may be mean no more than going without ice cream for a while, doing without some luxury or other. Denial of self is something different entirely. Jesus puts it in terms of a crucifixion. To take up a cross was to be already on the last mile. To deny the self means to cease being one's own center-of-the-universe. It means "love thyself last." It means dying to oneself, as Paul put it, and living to God. It means "Not I, but Christ, liveth in me."

LEO AUXILIARY NEWS

Preparations for Christmas in the veterans hospitals are going forward in American Legion Auxiliary Units and Departments throughout the nation, according to Mrs. Wilbur Shears, Rehabilitation Chairman of the Leo Auxiliary Unit 409. Nearly one million dollars will be expended by the organization to help bring Christmas happiness to hospitalized veterans and their families, she said.

Patients able to leave their beds come to these shops, many on crutches and in wheel chairs, to make a selection of gifts for their families. They find the shops staffed by auxiliary volunteer hospital workers who give countless hours of time to the project. These volunteers take hospital carts loaded with gift articles through the wards so that bedfast patients may make selections. In its gift shop program last year the auxiliary expended $420,880.39.

Another Christmas activity of the auxiliary is the giving of parties and entertainments in the hospitals. These are now in the planning stage throughout the country, Mrs. Shears said.

Mrs. Shears and her committee, the mesdames Richard Lantz and Arthur Schwartz, have listed the following events as the unit participation in this annual Christmas program: gift shop at the Fort Wayne Veterans Hospital, Dec. 7 and 8; gift shop at Marion Hospital, Dec. 5, 6, 7 and 8; district party at Fort Wayne Hospital Dec. 1; unit gift to sponsored boy at Knightstown Home Orphanage; unit donation to district Knightstown Home Christmas Party; annual visit to hospitalized veterans with gifts at Iren Byron Hospital; donation to fund for hospitalized Army nurses of World War I; and donations for gifts to inmates of Girls Home, Boys Home and Mental Hospitals.

The committee is also planning the annual family Christmas party for all members of the Legion Post and Auxiliary and children. The pot luck supper will be held at the post home on the Leo Road, Friday, Dec. 16, at 6:30 p.m. Program and treats for the children will follow.

Two Injured In 3-Car Collision

Dallas Christlieb, 21, and Bill Voirol, 16, were injured late Saturday night in a three-car mishap on state road 8 east of Auburn. Both were hospitalized for the night and released Sunday morning after treament of shock, cuts and bruises.

The accident occurred at 11:15 p.m. Saturday five and one-half miles east of Auburn. The other cars were driven by David E. Chaney, 21, of Albion and Mrs. Rosellyn M. Woodward of Garrett.

State police reported that all three cars were traveling west. Mrs. Woodward was driving about 30 to 35 miles per hour when her car was struck in the rear by Christlieb's car. The latter said he was driving "about 60" when he saw the tail lights of the Woodward car. He was unable to pass because of an oncoming car and applied the brakes. His car skidded sideways and plowed into the Woodward machine. The Christlieb automobile halted crosswise in the road and Chaney, also westbound, came around a slight curve and was uanble to avoid the car. His car clipped the right rear of Christlieb's car.

Both Christlieb and Voirol were thrown from the car by the impact.

The Christlieb car, a 1955 Ford, was a total loss. Estimated damage to the 1953 Ford driven by Mrs. Woodward was set at $200 with $75 damage to the Chaney 1951 Mercury.

Christlieb was booked by the investigating state trooper, H. E. Austin, for driving at an unreasonable speed.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE CABLE ADDRESS—ACDCO

DEAR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS

Our unusual automobile plan originated five years ago when our company president, Mr. Dallas E. Winslow, adopted the plan of giving each associate of our different companies a new automobile each year. Our companies are located at Auburn, Indiana; Springfield, Ohio; Cleveland, Ohio and Detroit, Michigan.

The automobiles that have been driven by our associates have never been traded in on the new cars we purchase. Previously we sold these cars in quantity wholesale to automobile dealers. Due to so many requests from our friends and customers to sell them cars, we decided to offer these select automobiles for sale to our many friends and neighbors.

We now have available a fine selection of low mileage 1955 FORDS and OLDSMOBILES. These cars with certain extra equipment and practically new cars can be purchased at a substantial savings. At the present time, we have a wide selection of colors and body styles.

You will be interested to know we are now in a position to accept your automobile in exchange for one of our nearly new automobiles. This policy has made available a few select used cars of various makes, such as FORDS, DODGES, CHEVROLETS, BUICKS, PLYMOUTHS, OLDSMOBILES and other makes at very attractive prices and liberal terms.

We like to think of our terms as "terms with a heart". By this, we mean any reasonable terms you desire will be considered up to 36 months to pay. Your payments may be made direct to us and you may be assured of our co-operation in case an extension of a payment is needed as we do not sell your note.

The cars are being displayed in the factory showroom here in the plant and, for your convenience, we are open evenings during the week until 9:00 P.M. We cordially invite your inspection of them without any obligation whatsoever. Our telephone number is 113.

Assuring you of our friendship and co-operation,

Sincerely,

The good old days may have been very good. The days ahead may be the greatest ever . . . For us, however, the present days are the "most." Each one, as it comes, offers great opportunities for anyone who wishes to take advantage of it.

I suppose that you all remember the days when the gifts we used to give didn't cost as much as the wrappings do these days.

We see to it that the gifts that you buy from us are in tip-top condition when you get them. If the gifts are small enough to be boxed we have lovely boxes for them. If the gifts are to be delivered, our trucks will deliver at the time you specify.

It is our intention to serve you to the best of our abilities during the holiday season, regardless of the department you shop in.

The number we are looking for is 78,022.

TEN CHEESES CAN BE KEPT IN FREEZER

There are ten different varieties of cheese which can be frozen successfully in the home freezer, if directions are followed carefully, suggests Mrs. Isabella F. McClellan, home demonstartion agent of DeKalb County.

Varieties of cheese frozen and held in the freezer for six months successfully included the following: Cheddar, Brick, Port du Salut, Swiss, Provoloni, Mozzarella, Liederkranz, Camembert, Parmesan and Romano. The three brands of Blue cheese became crumbly. However, if this variety was to be used in salads or dressings, it might be an advantage and convenient to use in the crumbled form. Freezing cream cheese is not recommended because the tests show that it becomes watery and mealy.

To freeze cheese, put into one-pound pieces or use packaged cheese of this weight, no larger. Small-bite cheese, such as Camembert and Liederkranz, may be left in the original package, giving them an over-wrap for extra protection. Wrap and cut cheese, such as wedges of Cheddar, closely in freezer foil. Press the foil tightly with the hands to keep out air. Freeze at zero degrees F. or lower. Thaw frozen cheese in the refrigerator.

MY NEIGHBOR

Lesson for December 11, 1955

Two cart-drivers in China were trying to get up a muddy hill. Each driver's cart was stuck in the mud, almost side by side. Each man was beating his own scrawny horse, but the wheels were stuck fast. Along came an American. "Why don't you unhitch one horse," he said, "and hitch him to the other cart? Then the two horses might get the cart out of the mud." The carters were astonished. They had never thought of that. But they did as the stranger said, and sure enough they both got to the top of the hill. That true story, told by a missionary, shows two things at once. One is that in countries where Christianity has had a chance to get around, some simple Christian ideas get taken for granted, such as helping your neighbor when he is in trouble. The other is that where Christianity is unknown, even so simple a thing as getting together to pull out of the mud comes as a strange new idea.

Who Is My Neighbor?

Now, if those two Chinese carters had been father and son, or brother and brother, they might have thought of helping each other, for in China nothing is too good for members of your family. But we have no great right to make fun of the Chinese. All of us are inclined to draw pretty hard lines and to think—Outside those lines I have no neighbors. Inside the lines, yes, we understand pretty well what neighborliness is. "Love thy neighbor as thyself!" is a commandment not too hard to understand, for we know what it is to love ourselves, that comes all too naturally. We like to get ahead, to cushion ourselves from danger, and if possible from discomfort, we consult our own interests. Loving one's neighbor as oneself just means looking out for him in the same careful ways, thinking ahead for him, promoting him. We understand what neighborliness is, yes. We do not confuse it with being meddlesome. If you want to know as much about your neighbor as you do about yourself, you aren't being a neighbor but a nuisance. If you do for your neighbor what he can very well do, ought to do and maybe wants to do for himself, then you are not treating him like a neighbor.

Neighbors Out of Sight

Jesus' famous parable of the Good Samaritan shows that having neighbors is easy, in fact you can't help it; but that the important thing is BEING a neighbor. It means more than living in "peaceful co-existence" and not bothering each other. It means active co-operation and help, of those who need help. Wherever there is a person in trouble whom we can help, there is a neighbor. In our time the world has grown closer together than it was in Jesus' time. If there had been a famine in India, the good Samaritan would never have known it, or if he had, he could have done nothing about it. Now if there is a famine in India we hear about it as soon as the Indians can; and we can do something about it too. When farmers in a church in Iowa, for instance, send a heifer to a farmer in some out-of-the-way or devastated part of the world across a wide ocean, that is being a neighbor, modern-style for a modern world.

What We Haven't Figured Out

There are many problems we haven't worked out yet, in this business for acting as good neighbors. For example: What is the wisest way to be neighbor to people of different race from our own? How can a mill-worker be a neighbor to the stockholders, or how can the stockholders be neighborly to the workers? When a corporation, in the process of expansion, throws 500 persons out of work at one time, is there any way in which those who are employed by the corporation can be neighbors to those who have lost their positions? How can we be neighbors to people who resent us? How far can we go in helping people without turning them into "moochers" and beggars? How can Christians in one denomination be neighbors to those in another? And one more question: Is it possible for non-Christians to be as good neighbors, in Jesus' sense of the word, as Christians can be?

EXECUTIVE OFFICE CABLE ADDRESS—ACDCO

DEAR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS

Our unusual automobile plan originated five years ago when our company president, Mr. Dallas E. Winslow, adopted the plan of giving each associate of our different companies a new automobile each year. Our companies are located at Auburn, Indiana; Springfield, Ohio; Cleveland, Ohio and Detroit, Michigan.

The automobiles that have been driven by our associates have never been traded in on the new cars we purchase. Previously we sold these cars in quantity wholesale to automobile dealers. Due to so many requests from our friends and customers to sell them cars, we decided to offer these select automobiles for sale to our many friends and neighbors.

We now have available a fine selection of low mileage 1955 FORDS and OLDSMOBILES. These cars with certain extra equipment and practically new cars can be purchased at a substantial savings. At the present time, we have a wide selection of colors and body styles.

You will be interested to know we are now in a position to accept your automobile in exchange for one of our nearly new automobiles. This policy has made available a few select used cars of various makes, such as FORDS, DODGES, CHEVROLETS, BUICKS, PLYMOUTHS, OLDSMOBILES and other makes at very attractive prices and liberal terms.

We like to think of our terms as "terms with a heart". By this, we mean any reasonable terms you desire will be considered up to 36 months to pay. Your payments may be made direct to us and you may be assured of our co-operation in case an extension of a payment is needed as we do not sell your note.

The cars are being displayed in the factory showroom here in the plant and, for your convenience, we are open evenings during the week until 9:00 P.M. We cordially invite your inspection of them without any obligation whatsoever. Our telephone number is 113.

Assuring you of our friendship and co-operation,

Sincerely,
M. J. Klinger

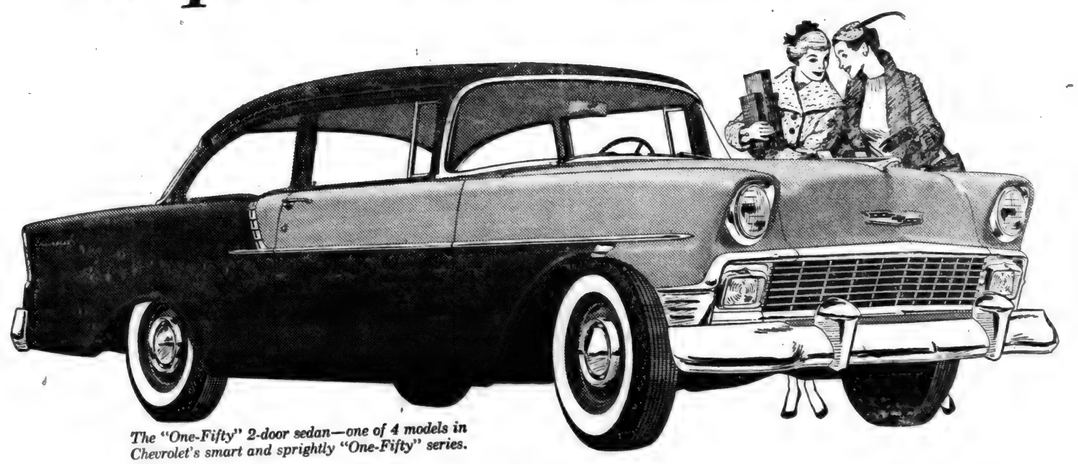
This Chevrolet keeps a secret...beautifully!



The "One-Fifty" 2-door sedan—one of 4 models in Chevrolet's smart and sprightly "One-Fifty" series.

It's one of Chevrolet's New "ONE-FIFTY" series . . . the lowest priced of all the high-priced-looking Chevrolet series for '56. But you'd never know it to look at that speedline chrome treatment or to feel that new power ranging up to 205 H.P.

There's so much fresh new styling in the "One-Fifty" it's hard to believe the car costs so little. It has new chrome—including both windshield and back window reveals—and its own distinctive two-toning. It stretches long and clean from grille to taillights (the left one hides the gas cap). It offers new power, V8 or 6, steering and handling ease few cars can match, plus all of Chevrolet's great performance and safety features. Directional signals and safety door locks are standard equipment. Seat belts, with or without shoulder harnesses, and instrument panel padding are available at extra cost. Truly, the "One-Fifty" represents more quality than before. Come in soon and let us tell you its big secret—its low price tag!

Letters to the Editor

Port Richey, Fla. Nov. 19, 1955

To our Hoosier Friends:

We arived here yesterday evening safe and sound. But somewhat weary. We came by way of Louisville, Nashville, Murforsboro, Columbus, Albany, Montocello, then to Port Richey. We had quite nice weather most of the way. The roads were excellent, no detours all the way.

The weather is clear and warm. To day the temperature registered 82 degrees the same as yesterday. The tourists are beginning to arrive but still plenty of vacant places. Our camp is mostly occupied by strangers. The only people from our section are Mr. and Mrs. Harry Walts, Mr. and Mrs. David Johnson of Hicksville and Mrs. Stella Goldsmith but all of them are up town.

Fruit is plentiful but quite green. The fruit you get in the north is colored by gas and not nearly as good as it will be later when it is sun ripened.

Fishing is practically at a standstill at present.

You might be interested in the cost of a trip to Florida. The distance from home is 1167 miles. We used 60.1 gallons of gas averaging 19.1 gal to the mile. The first night out we staid five miles east of Nashville, Tenn. The cabin cost $5.50. The second night we staid at Dawson, Ga. Cabin cost $4.00. The cost of gas ranged from 26.9 to 32 cents.

Our cabin where we live costs us fifty dollars per month. we pay for fuel and electricity.

We would be pleased to have you call on us if you happen to come this way.

ARMY ANNOUNCES STATIONS OPEN FOR ENLISTMENT

Enlistments are now open for men interested in going to Alaska with the Second Infantry Division next summer, Sgt. Harold C. Richards, local recruiter, said today. Enlistments are open only to non-prior servicemen.

The Second, now stationed at Ft. Lewis, Wash., will replace the 71st Infantry Division in Alaska under Operation Gyroscope, the Army's new unit rotation plan. The unit is expected to be shipped sometime during next July.

Sgt. Richards also announced a program, primarily for veterans, for enlistment in the 97th and 538th Field Artillery Battalions, and the Third Armored Division which are to be sent to Germany shortly under Operation Gyroscope.

Veterans re-enlisting in these units within 90 days of discharge or separation are entitled to the same rank at which they were discharged, in addition to a re-enlistment bonus.

However, said Richards, because of the shortage of housing in Germany, re-enlistment of men in grades E-4 through E-7 will not be accepted. Deadline for enlistment in the 97th is Feb. 1, 1956, and for enlistment in the 538th the deadline is April 1, 1956.

Enlistment in the Third Armored is open only to men in grades E-4 through E-7 and must be made within two days to 12 months after discharge or separation.

For further information about these units, contact Sgt. Harold C. Richards, 102 Walnut Street, Butler, Indiana, phone 336-W.

Riverdale School News

The arrival of serious cold weather emphasises the need for careful attention to common health rules. Students should wear adequate warm clothing to school. This is the season of colds and similar respiratory diseases, and added emphasis has been given to this fact by the several absences of recent date due to colds, flu, and tonsillitis. The appearance of snow causes reemphasization of the rule for confining snow-balling to the rear of the buildings.

The Seniors have concluded yearbook subscription sales in the student body and are now turning their attention to alumni. The advertising section went to the publisher on the first deadline date, November 30. Staff meetings are being held weekly and are being attended by Janice Carper and Linda Hawk, junior consultants, as well as the full editorial staff. Pictures for the faculty, administration and activities sections were taken on Tuesday last. The Senior class party (bowling and TV) was held at the Auburn alleys and Mr. Stackhouse's. The results were 22 sore thumbs, several briused ankles, a total loss of one batch of Mrs. Stackhouse's fresh cookies and a lot of fun.

The Sophomores have been relaxing after their Supper-and-Piston-game party, but a large share of them went to Ft. Wayne last Monday in Mr. Buzzard's World History Class tour of Fort Wayne schools and industries.

The student body, following a reprimand for their weak sportsmanship in the Ashley game, showed that they understood what was desired. They were well complimented for their showing at the Wolf Lake game and later games.

Around the Town

With the Editor

Usually you talk about your own operation to make conversation. But this time I'll say something about somebody else's operation, but keep it in the family.

Last week Mr. Haberkorn, Sr., returned home from a stay in Michael Reese Hospital in Chicago during which time he underwent an operation for a detached retina. Without getting technical, it's an eye condition which causes partial blindness. Just ten years ago he had the same condition in his right eye; this time it was the left.

Though the idea of requiring extensive medical care is not pleasant to anyone, the interesting part of this particular type of condition, from descriptions given by Ted, Sr., make it worth mentioning.

Ten years ago he was on the operating table only a matter of minutes, but required a month of recuperation flat on his back in darkness prior to two more months of wearing "blinders" with only a pin hole for vision. The pin-hole was gradually enlarged until the eye completely healed.

This time the patient was on the operating table two and one-half hours. His description tells of being strapped down to prevent any movement, and of one of the assisting doctors laying bodily across his head to prevent any movement there.

He (Pop) was able to watch his own operation, for only local anesthetic was used. He could see the doctor as he worked on the eye, and was asked from time to time to "look to the left," "look to the right," "look up," etc. as the operation progressed. But due to his co-operation, plus improved surgical techniques — omigosh, I almost forgot the pitcher on this team, Doctor Samuel Meyer of Chicago — he's back on his feet and getting along with quarter-inch holes in the blinders after only three and one-half weeks.

He said the worst part was that gosh darn doctor leaning across his face and almost smothering him to death.

—I remember one time when I was in the hospital - that was a funny one—they had me in stitches.

—Sure, it's a lousy joke, old as the hills. I had another I might have told, but I was afraid it might not suture.

On the way back from Chicago last week, we stopped at the Fran-Dene Inn on US30. It's located along the dual-lane portion of that highway near Valparaiso.

Boy, what a delicious steak they serve. If you're ever in the neighborhood and hungry for a good steak dinner, stop there and get the "small steak" listed on the menu.

Vic Kelly stepped down from Merl Furnish's barber chair Saturday and asked Bob Shockley if he was going to pay for the haircut. Bob said sure, and handed Merl the cash.

What a rush there would have been if the word would have gotten out that "Shockley's buying at the barber shop"!

I heard from a little bird that Vic and Maxine's three-year-old Steve has had his eyes set on a real live pony listed in the catalog. He overcame the first parental objection of no place to keep it with "sure, we can keep it in Grandpa Shockley's barn." Then it was explained that "Daddy doesn't have enough money to buy a pony." Steve also crossed 'em up on that. On one occasion when Vic removed his billfold from his trousers and placed it on the dresser prior to getting a little shut eye, Steve made his own inspection of the situation coming out to Mommy with the above mentioned bill fold, open, of course, in one hand and the couple of dollar bills from the billfold in the other hand with the exclamation, "See, Daddy's got the money!"

Watch for a further announcement of the appearance of the state Y.M.C.A. executive secretary in this community with a program of interest to everyone.

January 16 and 17 are the dates.

Grades To Give Christmas Program At PTA

John Mason, president of the Riverdale P. T. A., reminds members of the organization that regular monthly meeting will be held next Tuesday evening at the St. Joe gym.

The program will be presented by the elementary grades of the school with a Christmas theme.

The meeting will start at 7:30 p.m., one-half hour earlier than usual in order not to keep the students up too late.

St. Joe Site Of Scout 'Klondike Derby' Jan. 7

Frank Sechler, neighborhood commissioner of the North District, Anthony Wayne Council, Boy Scotus of America, revealed this week that the local scout troops will "host" the coming district "Klodike Derby" to be held Saturday, January 7, starting at 9:00 a.m.

The derby is an annual event in scouting which gives the boys enrolled in the scout program an opportunity to put their training to practical use over a pre-determined obstacle course. The derby was held at Albion last year with some 225 scouts participating. Approximately 250 scouts are expected for this year's derby.

The course as layed out by scout officals will cover a run of two and one-half miles. It begins at the John Engle farm east of St. Joe, runs a course along the St. Joe River and ends at the Kees gravel pit. A meeting of North District Commissioners held at Waterloo recently resulted in approval of the St. Joe site for the derby.

The course will be covered by units of scouts from the various troops within the district, leaving the starting point at intervals of several minutes. The units are actually regular patrols of the troops, each unit containing from five to eight scouts. The course is run in "klondike" sleds, which may be built by the patrols, or in steel-runnered sleds obtained ready-built. However, ten points are earned by patrols building their own sleds. Points are also tallied for the degree of skill displayed at six stations along the route. At these stations the units stop and perform tests in compass reading, ice rescue, cooking, knot tying, safety and weights, distances and measures. Consideration is also given for the time required to complete the course. Adult scout leaders are in charge of the stations and of the judging of the participating units.

Units face the rigors of the course with one "injured" man on the sled with the other members serving as the "dog team" pulling the sled.

At the end of the course a hot lunch will be prepared and served to the scouts by members of the St. Joe-Spencerville Lions Club. Units will be served as they arrive at the end of the derby course.

Troops participating in the Klondike Derby will be from the North District which includes DeKalb, Noble and Steuben counties.

Local scout leaders who will participate in the operation of the derby are Jack Hollabaugh, Spencerville Scoutmaster; Bill Hudson, Spencerville assistant Scoutmaster and Cubmaster; Bud Shockley, St. Joe Scoutmaster; Joe Yaste, St. Joe assistant scoutmaster; Dale Collins, institutional representative for the American Legion; and Mr. Sechler.

Comets Defeat Salem, 70-35; Face Woodburn

The Riverdale Comets' varsity and reserve squads found an easy victim in Salem Center's Cardinals Friday evening as twin victories were posted for the local school.

The reserves romped to a 60-15 win in the preliminary at the Butler gym while the varsity rang up a 70-35 score over the Salem varsity.

The Comets led at the end of the first quarter 27-9, at the half 43-19 and the three-quarter mark 55-27.

This Friday night the locals face Woodburn at the Butler gym. Thereafter the quintets will rest a few weeks during the holiday season until January 2 when Pleasant Lake will be their opponents at the Waterloo gym.

Detours are usually over poor roads. A Christian will find it easier and more pleasant to stay on the main road of life. The man who declines to become a Christian will find that the side roads are harder than the main line, for "the way of the transgressor is hard" (Prov. 13:15). The main line is the Jesus Way (John 14:6). Come to the church and learn of this way.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE CABLE ADDRESS—ACDCO

DEAR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS

Our unusual automobile plan originated five years ago when our company president, Mr. Dallas E. Winslow, adopted the plan of giving each associate of our different companies a new automobile each year. Our companies are located at Auburn, Indiana; Springfield, Ohio; Cleveland, Ohio and Detroit, Michigan.

The automobiles that have been driven by our associates have never been traded in on the new cars we purchase. Previously we sold these cars in quantity wholesale to automobile dealers. Due to so many requests from our friends and customers to sell them cars, we decided to offer these select automobiles for sale to our many friends and neighbors.

We now have available a fine selection of low mileage 1955 FORDS and OLDSMOBILES. These cars with certain extra equipment and practically new cars can be purchased at a substantial savings. At the present time, we have a wide selection of colors and body styles.

You will be interested to know we are now in a position to accept your automobile in exchange for one of our nearly new automobiles. This policy has made available a few select used cars of various makes, such as FORDS, DODGES, CHEVROLETS, BUICKS, PLYMOUTHS, OLDSMOBILES and other makes at very attractive prices and liberal terms.

We like to think of our terms as "terms with a heart". By this, we mean any reasonable terms you desire will be considered up to 36 months to pay. Your payments may be made direct to us and you may be assured of our co-operation in case an extension of a payment is needed as we do not sell your note.

The cars are being displayed in the factory showroom here in the plant and, for your convenience, we are open evenings during the week until 9:00 P. M. We cordially invite your inspection of them without any obligation whatsoever. Our telephone number is 113.

Assuring you of our friendship and co-operation,

Sincerely,
M. J. Klinger

MAN OF PRAYER

Lesson for December 18, 1955

Some people will try to tell you that we can learn nothing from the fact that Jesus was a man of prayer. He was so different from us, they say, that we must no more try to imitate him than to imitate Einstein. This is not the way the New Testament looks at it. Jesus "had to be made like his brethren in every respect," we are told in Hebrew 2:17. The church theologians call Christ "consubstantial with us according to his manhood," which is a way of saying that he is every bit as human as we are. Without sin, to be sure. The only prayer for forgiveness which he ever uttered was on behalf of others, not himself. If even the sinless Son of God was a man of prayer, surely we who are so imperfect and sinful need prayer even more; and we can learn about prayer from him.

The Motive of Prayer

One thing stands out; Jesus' motive or motives for praying must have been far stronger than the motive of most of us. Jesus would go without sleep or rest in order to pray. He, a man who had many friends and loved to have people around him, would withdraw from all human companions, would go far into the hills, would climb a high mountain, just in order to find a place where he could pray without interruption. In short, he took a great deal of trouble to pray. We take less trouble, because we don't feel the strong desire that he felt. But why? What was his motive? It is not so mysterious that we cannot give it a name, though it is too profound for us to fathom it to the depths. It was his heart's desire for close and closer sharing of heart and life with the heart and life of the heavenly Father. Jesus shows no sign of needing to "get right" with God. He was in full harmony to his life's end. But his prayers were an expression of that harmony. The piano tuner makes the strings of the instrument ring true; but the musician then brings out the beauty that is there when all is in tune.

The Manner of Prayer

Dr. W. D. Chamberlain has written a book for plain Christians called "The Manner of Prayer," based on the Lord's Prayer. This is no place to borrow many pages from that fine book. Yet a word should be said about the manner of Jesus' prayer in general. We know that he used to attend the synagogue meetings, and we know that in those meetings formal (what we would call "printed") prayers were used, in which no doubt Jesus would join. But we hear a great deal more about his private prayers, and we can be pretty sure that for these occasions he never took a prayer-book with him. His prayers were personal, individual, they were free, and many of them were fully private, strictly between himself and His Father. This much is clear for our own prayer-practice: whatever formal prayers we may use in church, or whoever may be praying there for us (and with us, if "leading" in prayer means anything), this can be no substitute for personal, private prayer. We must never be tied down to any formula, as if God were something like a bureaucrat who would not consider a communication not in proper form! God wants to know most of all not how we say it but how much we mean it.

The Matter of Prayer

What things is it right to pray for? We can be sure of this much at least: it is always right to pray for the kind of thing which is in harmony with the "Lord's Prayer." (Incidentally, the fact that this prayer appears in more than one form in the gospels shows that it can hardly be right to insist on one set form of words.) Things not mentioned in that prayer, perhaps yes; but things out of line with it, no. Let the reader consider which of these objects of prayer are in line with the Lord's prayer: a promotion in one's job? Greater spiritual strength? The cure of an afflicted loved one? Foreign missions? An unborn child? The President of the United States? The elimination of a rival in love or business?

here's why ELECTRIC HEAT is the most comfortable heat you can have

Thousands of homeowners have found that for sheer comfort you can't beat Electric Heat. No matter how cold it is outside, an electrically heated house is warm throughout. Here are three reasons why this is so.

automatic individual room controls
Each room has its own thermostat to give you the temperature you like—no overheating one room to get another at a comfortable temperature. No need to heat that seldom used room.

gentle uniform heat
The whole room is warmed evenly whether you have wall, baseboard or ceiling units. No more cold floors, no more drafts.

instant heat
From the moment it's on you feel gentle warmth throughout the entire room.

Building a new house or remodeling your present one? You'll find Electric Heat economical for either. See an electric heating contractor or call us for more information.

Around the Town

With the Editor

Oh, oh, A late bulletin from the school won't go over with the kids—hah!

There WILL NOT be any school on Monday, January 2.

The basketball game scheduled for that night, however, will be played—Pleasant Lake at Waterloo.

Gertrude Borthwick commented Wednesday that she just got back from a three-month's visit in California and that she has a new grandson.

—The latter comment was made with understandable pride and a big smile.

The flu bug has been making the rounds of late, and it hit the editor this week, making this issue, of necessity, a quickie. I'll have to apologize to some of the businessmen because I couldn't get appropriate greetings from them at this season.

Because I couldn't get around to them this week, no such good wishes, in any volume at least, are forthcoming. Fellows like Milt Ritenour and Jiggs Keeler said they wanted a nice big Christmas ad but I can't take care of 'em this year.

Well, we can make up for the situation, can't we, by saying that your hometown merchants are unanimous in sending their best wishes for a Merry Christmas and a prosperous New Year to everyone in the community. Who is sending the good wishes? — Well, there's Ritenour & Son, Jiggs' Motor Service, Chaney's Restaurant, Pete Walter's Appliances, Meek's Barber Shop, Spencerville Shell Service, Roy I. Bowser Store, Furnish Barber Shop, Walter Funeral Home, St. Joe Locker, Jackson's Clothing Store, Spencerville Elevator, Amstutz Hardware & Furniture Co., Home Appliance & Hardware, Myers Elevator & Coal Co. West End Grocery, Dunten's Market, Fisher's Appliances, Keller's Garage Holsom Dairy, to mention several.

—Seems to me there's one missing in that list that ought to be there. . . who in the . . . oh sure . . The St. Joe News.

I wish to extend my sincere thanks to my neighbors and friends for the gifts, flowers and cards during my recent illness.

CHRISTMAS SONGS

Lesson for December 25, 1955

Did the angels sing when Christ was born? Some prosaic and unimaginative people say they didn't. True enough, Luke never SAYS there was music. All he says is that the "multitude of the heavenly host" (he does not even say they were angels) were praising God and "saying, Glory to God in the highest. . ." Surely Christian art and Christian story is not wrong in thinking of this as song, not mere recitation or speech-making. At any rate, if the angels did not sing such words, the church has sung them. All down through the Christian centuries Christmas has been a singing time. You cannot suggest all that Christmas means in simple spoken prose; you have to sing.

Beauty In A Jangled Word

Luke, who had an ear for such things, put into his gospel not less than four poems connected with the birth of Christ. Of these the "Glory in the highest" is the shortest. The others are the words of Mary (Luke 1:47-55), of Zachariah (1:67-79) and of Simeon (chap. 2:29-32). In the R.S.V. these are printed as poetry, as they really are. (The reader will note other poetic passages, but these are the four most famous ones.) The church has set all these to music many times over, and in some churches they are sung every week. Mary's song like the others has been given a Latin name, from their first words in the Latin Bible: "Magnificat" for Mary's song, "Benedictus" for Zachariah's, "Gloria in excelsis" for the angels', and "Nunc Dimitis" for Simeon's. But modern church-goers do not always realize that each of these poems was called forth in some way by the birth of Jesus. This is as it should be. What poetry is to language and to sound, the coming of Christ is to this world of humanity. In the midst of all the jangling, wrangling, maddening and often meaningless noises of the world, in the midst of all the stupid ordinary soon-forgotten outpouring of talk, talk, talk, a lovely poem comes bringing beauty and meaning, like a rose in a junk-yard. So in the midst of our jangling world Christ comes bringing meaning and joy and peace.

Some Will Not Listen

To some—to too many—Christmas means nothing. "Silent Night" is a tune to be tired of, nothing more. The angels might as well never have sung, the Story never written. Readers of Time magazine will recall an article last July 18 about a writer who is typical of many men and women in these times. He knows there is such a thing as the way of Love, for every cross on every church proclaims it, and every Christmas carol sings it. But he will not accept it. He chooses the way of defiance and despair. To him, life is a wandering in the dark, with nothing but his own candle which will soon go out.

But Some Have Heard

On the other hand there are many, and among them some of mankind's best, who have found in the Christian faith something more than merely a story, a lovely legend, a song for little children, something which it would be pleasant, but impossible, to believe. A good book to get for the new year is one called "This I Believe About Jesus Christ" (edited by J. C. Monsma; Revell and Co., New York). It is a collection of testimonies to Jesus Christ, by an impressive variety of men and women. College presidents, executives of great business firms, scientists, politicians, persons in many walks of life, all write on the same theme, what Christ has meant to them. Any one who thinks that Christianity is a religion only for weak characters ought to read this book. Any one who thinks that Christ is attractive only to children might well read this book and learn better. The writers by their testimonies show that not alone for ancient and legend-loving times, not only for simple peasants in primitive lands, but for modern men, hard-headed, highly educated, burdened with great responsibilities, Christ brings meaning and beauty as well as power. Strong voices in every land join the heavenly host in praise to God who has given us his Son.

The pastor will light a candle, then pass this light to the ushers who will in turn pass the light to each person in the church. "Silent Night" will be sung by candlelight, followed by the Christmas prayer and benediction. The candles will then be used to light the way home for those attending the service. Regular services will be conducted on Christmas Day in the parish. Other holiday services include communion services on New Year's Day.

DEAR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS

Our unusual automobile plan originated five years ago when our company president, Mr. Dallas E. Winslow, adopted the plan of giving each associate of our different companies a new automobile each year. Our companies are located at Auburn, Indiana; Springfield, Ohio; Cleveland, Ohio and Detroit, Michigan.

The automobiles that have been driven by our associates have never been traded in on the new cars we purchase. Previously we sold these cars in quantity wholesale to automobile dealers. Due to so many requests from our friends and customers to sell them cars, we decided to offer these select automobiles for sale to our many friends and neighbors.

We now have available a fine selection of low mileage 1955 FORDS and OLDSMOBILES. These cars with certain extra equipment and practically new cars can be purchased at a substantial savings. At the present time, we have a wide selection of colors and body styles.

You will be interested to know we are now in a position to accept your automobile in exchange for one of our nearly new automobiles. This policy has made available a few select used cars of various makes, such as FORDS, DODGES, CHEVROLETS, BUICKS, PLYMOUTHS, OLDSMOBILES and other makes at very attractive prices and liberal terms.

We like to think of our terms as "terms with a heart". By this, we mean any reasonable terms you desire will be considered up to 36 months to pay. Your payments may be made direct to us and you may be assured of our co-operation in case an extension of a payment is needed as we do not sell your note.

The cars are being displayed in the factory showroom here in the plant and, for your convenience, we are open evenings during the week until 9:00 P.M. We cordially invite your inspection of them without any obligation whatsoever. Our telephone number is 113.

Assuring you of our friendship and co-operation,

Sincerely,
M. J. Klieger

Two things that make for SAFER driving!

The first and most important thing is you —the driver. As the highway safety organizations and law enforcement agencies point out, the courtesy, care, and common sense you show count more than anything else. You can drive any car safely — or foolishly.

The second thing is the car itself. All cars are safer today. That's shown by the number of accidents in relation to the number of miles passenger cars are driven. The figure's been going down steadily and sharply.

Chevrolet engineers and designers have always made your safety a major consideration, introducing many such features as the all-steel top, safety plate glass all around, and windshield-wide defrosters into the low-price field. And this '56 Chevrolet is the safest one ever built.

Its lively new power means safer passing. Its special Ball-Race steering—the oversize brakes with Anti-Dive control—the Unisteel construction and safety door latches of its Fisher Body—the nailed-to-the-road stability that comes from outrigger rear springs, an advanced suspension system and better balance—the sweeping panoramic windshield — all these things add to your safety.

Seat belts with or without shoulder harness? Instrument panel padding? Of course, they're available at extra cost on your new Chevrolet. But the best protection of all is to keep out of accidents in the first place. And that depends mostly on you and the built-in safety of your car.

As your Chevrolet dealer, we'll be glad to show you the many safety features of the '56 Chevrolet.

Drive with Care . . . EVERYWHERE! Make December 1 and Every Day SAFE-DRIVING DAY!

Around the Town

With the Editor

Quite a few of the local fishermen have been active of late. But the word last week and the early part of this week seemed to be that they weren't biting too good.

The Christmas holidays and the New Year observance have brought home a good many of the local young men now serving with Uncle Sam's military forces.

The McMaken family has a good representation in service with Howard, Albert and Jerry in uniform. Albert and Jerry both boast of putting on around 30 pounds of weight since entering the service, as does also Jim Shuff. And Richard Beebe looks none the worse for his chores in the Army.

I said to Albert earlier this week, "Boy, the Navy must really put out the food."

"Naw," said Albert, "but it's REGULAR!"

Some of the others seen in these parts in the last week or so include Don Walters, Sammy Morr, Lloyd Dixon and Richard Baker.

Here's an ad that's guaranteed to not get results now—"For sale—two long needled Christmas trees, bought for decorative purposes. Never used. Can be seen at the News Office."

Christmas In Retrospect

Ordinarily it would be expected that words about the Christmas season would be more appropriate one week earlier than this. And they would be - and are - when those words are of good wishes person to person, when they are words of cheer and of good will.

But there is occasion for words about the Christmas season after it has passed. They are not words of cheer, nor are they words of gloom particularly. Perhaps they should be called merely words of conjecture.

Why? Well, in this hustle, bustle world we live in, at times it seems that some basic good things become lost in the background, become trampled under by the rush of modern living. For instance, in the last few years a shortcut was devised to save time in writing or printing the word "Christmas" by substituting the letter "X" for "Christ." The convenience appealed to our modern living because it required less time and effort to give expression to this particular season. However, the substitution was soon subject to objection by those who saw in it an example of our material and practical world of living numbing our appreciation and observance of the spiritual parts of our lives which should not be changed. We have had, as a result, a counter-movement backed by the slogan "Let's put Christ back into Christmas."

What does that slogan - or perhaps it would be better to call it a warning - mean? First, it is meant that we should spell out the word "Christmas" in its entirety as it should be spelled, but not just for that reason in itself. The word should be properly spelled to give recognition to the occasion which it signifies and glorifies - the birth of Christ. But there is still more to the slogan that that. There is a deeper implication than just that of the spelling of a word.

This Christmas was not a "white" one, at least for the Hoosier state. We have come to associate snow with Christmas, we put them together to such an extent that when such an occasion as this year occurs and no snow is present, there is a feeling, often expressed and heard in the store or on the street, that "it just doesn't seem like Christmas." Actually there isn't any association between snow and Christmas except that which we have given because of the climate in which we live and the story of Santa Claus and his reindeer and the snow he glides over in the sleigh.

No snow fell at the manger.

Then there is the matter of "getting it over with." To many people the Christmas season is almost one of drudgery, a job, a chore that must be done and the sooner it's over with and gone, the better they like it. This year the Christmas rush began earlier than ever before. Even before the day of Thanksgiving was at hand, there were those who had begun their Christmas shopping, there were advertisements in the papers and on the radio and on television to promote the rush of Christmas buying. And every year the volume of buying at the Christmas season goes higher and higher, due certainly to some extent to the ever increasing population but due also to increased numbers of purchases by the individual. With this there is an accompanying problem of what to buy and how much to spend. Exchanges are getting to be quite the thing, quite the big thing. It becomes a problem to buy for family gift exchanges when the mere matter of numbers in a large family gathering is considered. And it helps not one bit to set a limited amount for each gift because (did this happen in your house, it did in ours) "you can't buy anything for a dollar" - and on the other side of the fence, "three or five dollars is too much by the time we buy for each member of our family."

It is a strange paradox that with all of the do-it-yourself promotion in this country, the gifts we give at Christmas more and more come to be less and less a part of the giver.

Gold, frankincense and myrrh were the best that the wise men had to give, best not because of value or worth but because of the spirit in which they were offered

And on Christmas Sunday - Christmas Sunday - (did this happen in your church, it did in ours) attendance in Sunday School and church was below average. A look at the Sunday School reports elsewhere in this issue will seem to indicate that there were several churches comparatively empty on the birthday of the Christ Child.

Remember that we were talking about putting Christ back into Christmas?

What kind of Christmas did you have?

Where Do We Go From Here

Did you notice that it took a last-minute "reprieve" to keep Hoosier school students from returning to school on Monday, January 2, a legal holiday?

According to the rules and regulations, so many days of school are required to qualify for state aid and it looked as if there would not be enough if schools closed for the Monday observance of New Years Day.

Of course, there isn't any difficulty in getting a day off for the basketball tournament or a day off for the county fair. Nor does it seem to present any problem for state aid qualification when snow keeps school buses from making the rounds or exceptionally cold weather makes it impractical to conduct classes - school closes for the emergency.

But when it comes to a legal holiday, then we need a new interpretation of the school term to keep things straight.

Question: which first things come first? Or—when is a legal holiday not a legal holiday?

QUOTES TO REMEMBER

When a nation faces a crisis, extraordinary measures should be taken by its institutions and its population. In America today we face a crisis. It is the monstrous threat of international Communism whose historic objective is the destruction of our nation. Among the institutions which must be mobilized to resist the forces arrayed against us is that of education. Recent columns have discussed the job of education in this crisis and how citizens can assist in achieving success.

The following quotations are the documented statements of the highest spokesmen of the Communists and Socialists. They are quoted here because, although it is vitally important for all Americans, young and old, to read and understand them, I failed to find any of them in scores of textbooks recently examined.

"It is impossible to establish communism as the immediate successor to capitalism .. Henco communists work for the establishment of socialism as a necessary transition stage on the road to communism." (John Strachey, "The Theory and Practice of Socialism," Random House, New York.)

"Lenin is our teacher and we Soviet people are Lenin's disciples. We never did and never shall go back on Lenin's directives." (Joseph Stalin, "New York Times," May 4, 1947.)

"As long as capitalism and socialism exist, we cannot live in peace; in the end, one or the other will triumph—a funeral dirge will be sung over the Soviet Republic or over world capitalism." (Lenin, "Selected Works," International Publishers, New York, 1942.)

"Who will conquer whom? —that is the whole question .. the world is divided into two camps — the capitalist camp, headed by Anglo-American capital, and the socialist camp, headed by the Soviet Union." (Joseph Stalin, "Sochineniya," Gospolitizdat, Moscow, 1947.)

"When people talk to us about morality we say: For the Communist, morality consists entirely of compact, united discipline and conscious mass struggle against the exploiters. We do not believe in eternal morality, and we expose all the fables about morality." (Lenin, "Selected Works," International Publishers.)

"The Soviet state directed by the Communist Party is the main force which engenders in the masses the standards of Communist morality." (Joseph Stalin, "Uchitelskaya Gazeta," Moscow, 1946.)

"Let the enemy consider us nasty people. From the mouth of the enemy this is praise." ("Pravda," Moscow, 1946.)

"In our times it is not the custom to give any consideration to the weak — consideration is given only to the strong." (Joseph Stalin, Central Committee Report, Moscow, 1947.)

—Dr. George S. Benson, Director, National Education Program, Searcy, Arkansas.

SEE WHAT PAPER'S DOING NOW

During World War II the paper industry presented the Army with a map paper so strong that even when soaking wet it could be run over by a tank or trampled by a combat-booted regiment with no noticeable effect. That "wet-strength" paper was the beginning of a whole new era in paper-making. Paper is no longer just paper. It teams up with chemicals, plastics, rubber and glass to do some almost incredible things.

Today, with paper, you can build a snow fence or upholster your furniture. You can swim in a paper bathing suit. You can paper your rooms with wallpaper that will paste itself, kill flies, repel dirt; carpet your kitchen floor with vinyl-coated paper flooring that looks like linoleum and is said to wear longer

These things and many more I have seen in research laboratories and salesrooms of the great paper and chemical companies. Many of them stem from the Institute of Paper Chemistry at Appleton, Wis., a unique research and teaching institution maintained by 180 paper companies, representing 80 per cent of the industry.

To understand what is going on, it is necessary to discard all previous ideas as to paper's limitations. The Army maps, using a melamine resin process discovered in 1942 by an American Cyanamid Co. research team headed by C. S. Maxwell, showed the way to practical wet-strength paper. Today almost all paper towels, paper napkins and facial tissues are given wet strength by the additon of a small amount of the plastic to the pulp. Upon the application of heat during the regular paper-making process, this acts as an insoluble glue bonding the paper fibers together. These strong, absorbent, disposable paper items have largely replaced their textile counterparts—with a saving of millions of dollars in laundry costs alone. And now wet-strength paper is moving in on other textile items.

The Kimberly-Clark Corp., whose Kleenex hit the handkerchief industry hard, is testing disposable underwear as well as other wearing apparel. In the company's research laboratory in Neenah, Wis., two pretty secretaries modeled for me a romper-type bathing suit and a sheer white, strapless evening dress, both made of paper as soft as Kleenex but made amazingly strong by super-wet-strength treatment and by a new process of reinforcement with cross-laid rayon or nylon threads.

The Rube Goldberg machine that produces this paper "cloth" spews out 400 feet per minute, as against 21 feet per minute for the fastest textile loom. It is not hard to see that paper garments such as caps and gowns for graduation and confirmation dresses may thus be made cheap enough to be used once and thrown away. Perhaps teen-agers will soon be able to afford a new formal for every dance.

Unique and infinitely handy is a new paper towel that serves also as soap and water. Made by R. R. Williams, Inc., of Canaan, Conn., it is a piece of creped, wet-strength paper toweling which is saturated with a fragrant skin-cleansing lotion, then folded and sealed—soaking wet—in an aluminum-foil envelope about the size of a match book. Remaining wet until opened, the paper provides a quick, refreshing cleansing of face and hands. The lotion evaporates in seconds, leaving the skin cool and dry. "Wash-'n-Dri" comes with your meals on many airlines. Patients in several hospitals are supplied with it for do-it-yourself freshening up.

In Brooklyn not long ago I watched Department of Sanitation men, in an experiment, yank paper bags filled with soaking-wet garbage out of garbage cans and toss them into waiting trucks. Although the bags had in many cases been standing in water in the cans for two days, and their contents weighed 40 or 50 pounds, there was not a single case of breakage. This garbage container, which looks like a king-sized brown grocery bag and is made by Union Bag & Paper Corp., is a remarkable example of melamine plastic wet strength.

Who would think of building a fence of paper? The Michigan State Highway Department does it with reinforced wet-strength kraft paper fastened to metal posts, and reports success in controlling winter snowdrifts.

Paperboard is now made to withstand oven temperatures up to 450 degrees. Faced on both sides with aluminum foil, paperboard makes a pan-package in which frozen foods are sold, cooked and served. Similarly, the foil-lined package for the Allied Food Products Sales Company's Holiday brownie mix serves as a fireproof baking pan after the product is mixed, beaten and poured back into it.

Wet-strength and plastic coatings are responsible for new success with paper twisted into fine, hard strands that can be woven into straw-like automobile seat covers (extremely resistant to rain, sunlight and hard wear) and furniture upholstering materials. The Marlan Corp. makes woven paper fabrics of such strength and beauty that they have been used for big-brimmed hats and for flared summer skirts that can be spot-cleaned with soap and water, or dry-cleaned and steam-pressed.

Wet-strength paper sails, costing half as much as canvas sails, are a possibility in the not too distant future. American Cyanamid is experimenting with papers tough enough to use on small knockabouts and kit boats.

Paper kitchen-floor covering, called Sandran, is given its great strength by rubber-latex impregnation and by a vinyl coating. Backed by felt, it promises years of wear at only a fraction of the cost of conventional vinyl flooring.

Rubber latex is responsible, too, for a new wallpaper which sticks without wetting or gluing. Developed by Kimberly-Clark, it is coated on the back with a colorless latex which will stick tenaciously to a similar latex surface—and to nothing else. So a special latex liquid is applied to the wall with a roller, and the paper then goes up quickly and cleanly.

Among the many new surface coatings for wallpaper is one which incorporates an insecticide that kills flies on contact, and will remain effective for months. This can be combined with a new DuPont chemical, a colloidal silica, which repels dirt by filling up the microscopic crevices in the paper surface where dirt particles otherwise would find lodging.

Practically all hospitals now use wet-strength waterproof tissue which has been treated with the low-cost, transparent plastic, polyethylene. Available in a roll, like wrapping paper, it is used in place of rubber sheets. It absorbs moisture on its paper surface, but will permit no moisture to pass through the plastic backing. It is also used to cover wet dressings, and on X-ray, delivery and examination tables. A similar paper material is supplied as a subsitute for regular bed sheets and pillow cases.

A few years ago theatre-owners demanded —and got—a paper for popcorn bags that wouldn't rustle noisily. The industry produced a soft, porous paper which filled the bill. Now the same noiseless principle has been applied by the Eaton-Dikeman Co. to a non-rattling script paper, used in radio and television studios.

Recent developments in chemical treatment provide paper with other vital qualities such as non-flammability. This treatment is now a matter of routine on Dennison's crepe-paper party decorations and costumes, and on industrial tarpaulins and blankets. Chemical magic also produces a paper that will burn so completely that it leaves no tell-tale ash, a feature of considerable interest to diplomatic and intelligence services.

Another chemical treatment provides paper wrappings which give off vapors to protect against rust. A New England industrial plant, threatened with corrosion damage to millions of dollars' worth of machinery from floodwaters last August, achived protection simply by stuffing openings and covering the machinery with sheets of rust-inhibitive paper. Home handymen can place strips of the paper in jars of nails, bolts and screws to prevent rusting.

One of the more mystifying of the new forms of paper is carbonless carbon paper, developed by the National Cash Register Co. The specially treated sheets look no different from ordinary business stationery, but when typewriter keys hit the original, a pressure-sensitive chemical coating produces a clean, blue impression on the copy sheet. As many as seven clear copies can be produced in one typing. This NCR (No Carbon Required) paper is now being used for bank deposit slips and checks, Pullman and airline tickets, insurance applications and many other business forms.

What next? The trend to plastics in paper has reached the point where there are now papers made entirely of plastics. The Riegel Paper Corp. recently completed its first commercial run of synthetic paper made wholly of nylon fiber. The St. Regis Co., together with the DuPont Co., is experimenting with papers using fibers of nylon, orlon and dacron. Riegel makes a paper entirely of glass fibers.

At the Institute of Paper Chemistry I even saw paper—of good color and texture—made of cellulose-like fibers that had been born and brought up in test tubes, the product of a fast-growing, mold-like plant something like that which makes penicillin. Some 48 pounds of this fiber can be produced in a single laboratory vessel in 48 hours.

Looking far into the future, scientists can visualize a time when we may never again need to cut down a tree to make paper.

The annual Congregational Meeting of the Newville Church of Christ will be at the church house on Friday night, December 30. Every member of the church will need to be present at this meeting as reports of the year will be given and new officers for the coming year will be elected.

If you would be a member of the "Fifty-two Plus One" Club for 1956, you will need to be present this coming Sunday. Also, if we are to realize our new goals for 1956, which is 10 percent increase over and above that of 1955, you will need to be present for we are going to need an average attendance of 105 every Sunday during the year. So you see, YOU ARE important, and your presence IS NEEDED. We experienced our lowest monthly average during 1955 in December. We need you and you need the church.

Our Evangelistic Meeting will begin on January 9, 1956. Our program is all arranged and we are ready for it. Your part in these services is attending, inviting and bringing people to them. A printed program will appear in the next issue of this paper.

DEAR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS

Our unusual automobile plan originated five years ago when our company president, Mr. Dallas E. Winslow, adopted the plan of giving each associate of our different companies a new automobile each year. Our companies are located at Auburn, Indiana; Springfield, Ohio; Cleveland, Ohio and Detroit, Michigan.

The automobiles that have been driven by our associates have never been traded in on the new cars we purchase. Previously we sold these cars in quantity wholesale to automobile dealers. Due to so many requests from our friends and customers to sell them cars, we decided to offer these select automobiles for sale to our many friends and neighbors.

We now have available a fine selection of low mileage 1955 FORDS and OLDSMOBILES. These cars with certain extra equipment and practically new cars can be purchased at a substantial savings. At the present time, we have a wide selection of colors and body styles.

You will be interested to know we are now in a position to accept your automobile in exchange for one of our nearly new automobiles. This policy has made available a few select used cars of various makes, such as FORDS, DODGES, CHEVROLETS, BUICKS, PLYMOUTHS, OLDSMOBILES and other makes at very attractive prices and liberal terms.

We like to think of our terms as "terms with a heart". By this, we mean any reasonable terms you desire will be considered up to 36 months to pay. Your payments may be made direct to us and you may be assured of our co-operation in case an extension of a payment is needed as we do not sell your note.

The cars are being displayed in the factory showroom here in the plant and, for your convenience, we are open evenings during the week until 9:00 P.M. We cordially invite your inspection of them without any obligation whatsoever. Our telephone number is 113.

Assuring you of our friendship and co-operation,

Sincerely,
M. J. Klinger

Letters to the Editor

Port Richey, Fla.
Dec. 15, 1955

My Hoosier Friends,

Tampa is the banana capital of the world. This city receives and ships out more fruit than any other city in this country.

Nearly all the bananas are produced in Central America and Ecuador.

The banana boats arrive at Tampa docks in the morning. They come into port flying a yellow flag which indicates they are ready for inspection. The health inspector inspects the crew and cargo, then the yellow flag is hauled down and the Negro stevedores swarm aboard. The hatches are opened and the stevedores form a "bucket brigade." The stems weighing from 40 to 80 pounds are passed from beneath the deck to an endless belt leading to the waiting trucks. The smaller boats are unloaded in a couple of hours.

Inspectors along the belt pluck any overripe fruit from the bunch and throw it on the dock where eager watchers pick them up.

The largest boat is 300 ft. long and carries 24000 stems (over a million bananas) to Tampa each trip.

Bananas are supposed to be on the grocers counters within 12 days from picking.

A few bananas are raised right here in Port Richey but they lack quality because we have some cool weather which prevents the starch turning to sugar. The same thing happens to musk melons when we have too much cool weather when ripening.

The trip from Central America to Tampa is hazardous. They cross the breeding ground of hurricanes and many ships are lost. It takes four days to make the trip.

Bananas are cheaper here. You can buy all you want at 5 cents per pound.

We had some cool weather the last few days. Temperature around 60 degrees but no frost. We are all well as usual.

Best wishes
Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hart

BEING A HYPOCRITE

Lesson for January 1, 1955

Nobody ever began his list of New Year's Resolutions with this: "I resovle this year to be a hypocrite," Nobody wants to be a hypocrite, no one loves such a person. As if they were not already detested enough, Jesus shot at them his most piercing sarcasms. The pathetic thing is that even the best people can slip into hypocrisy without knowing it. Since Jesus "told off" the hypocrites of Galilee very plainly, we can see just what it is that makes hypocrites what they are, and be warned.

Showy Stuff

Jesus condemned the Pharisees for being concerned with the looks of things most of all. As he put it, they cleaned up the outside of the cup and platter but the inside was left dirty. They themselves, he said, were like graves over which men walked without knowledge they were there. Outside, they were a grassy park. Down under, inside, they were nothing but decay. The other day a bulldozer turned up four little coffins under what is now an airport. Nobody had guessed those bodies were under the grass. The first thing any one asked, after "Who were these" was "Where shall we put them now?" It turned out that the four little bodies, buried a century ago, belonged to one family; and one living relative could be found—but she did not even want to look. Let them be put under grass some where else, hide them as soon as possible. Well, there are characters like that. Cover all the dead stuff with something pretty—whatever looks right is right . . . Keep thinking that way, live that way, and you will be a hypocrite, too.

Trifling Stuff

Another count against the Pharisees was that they spent so much time and energy on little things that they missed the greater things that a truly good life will have. You could see Pharisees out in their back yards counting their mint-leaves. Every tenth leaf belonged to the Lord, they said; every tenth bean, every tenth lettuce leaf, and so on. But leaf-counting took up too much of their time. Justice? The love of God? They had no time for it. They were too busy with mint-leaves. Now it is good to be conscientious about tithes; Jesus had nothing to say against that in itself. But it is rather interesting that the only times when Jesus mentioned tithing, he condemned the people who did it. —Not for doing it, but for supposing that that was the main thing in religion. When Jesus picked out something on which all the "law and the prophets" hang, a kind of nail holding up the rest of the Bible, he picked something big; love to God and love to one's neighbor.

Old Stuff

Another way to be a hypocrite is to be so much interested in the past that you do not apply religion to the present. In Jesus' vivid language, the hyprocrites built the prophets' tombs, but they were children of those who had murdered the prophets, and they were the people who would murder Jesus himself. They honored the prophets of the past; but prophets of the living present they could not see and did not honor. It is an ancient and still strong temptation. There are persons in America who are very proud of ancestors who crossed the ocean to worship God freely, but who themselves will not cross a wet street to go to church. There are persons proud of their revolutionary ancestors, who attack with every weapon of slander any one who has any proposals for change today. Revolution in the 18th century—fine! Revolution in the 20th century—horrible! There are people who wish to preserve every line of some historic creed and shout down every one who has the least suggestion of change; they forget that the creed-makers they honor were themselves radicals, innovators, dangerous men in the eyes of their time. A church that becomes a preserver of antiquities, a historical society, and nothing more, with nothing to say to NOW, is a church the Pharisees would have loved . . .but not Jesus.

Our Job

Our job is generating electricity and getting it to where it's used. We're in this business because it is concerned with the supply of a fundamental requirement of modern living, because it's an honorable one, because we like it, and because we want to earn a living at it.

We aim to give one kind of service to everyone . . . the best that's possible. That means supplying our customers with what they want when they want it. It means being courteous at all times and maintaining attractive easy-to-do-business-with offices. It means doing everything we can to keep complaints from arising, and it means prompt and fair handling of those that do.

We are a citizen of each community we serve and take an active part in its affairs. Like any other citizen, we want our neighbors to think well of us. Besides, it makes good business-sense. We can only prosper as the community prospers so we help it to thrive in every way we can.

Such is our job as we see it. We are trying to do it well and to do it better all the time.

Around the Town

With the Editor

You know, I don't like it any more than you do when it becomes necessary to put out a little four-pager like this. But between the flu bug hanging around me again this week (as it has been for others, I hear) and the short week due to the holiday, there isn't much else to be done. I don't like it particularly because some things get put off, such as bringing you information about Wilbur Lothamer's Riverdale Alumni basketbal team—red hot team at that. He probably wonders by now where those scores he sent in went to. Well, we finally got to 'em this week.

—Look at those scores!

And then there's the poem for the new year that Fred Knott brought in last week. We'll have to save that for the next issue.

There's something else coming in the next issue, too. Sort of a new year addition.

—Another reminder of that important meeting to be held January 16, of interest to all community and family conscious residents of the area.

Hey, I got an answer to that Christmas tree ad of last week. . . all the way from Fort Wayne. John Haverstock said he'd give ten cents for both of them. I turned the offer down, though. —I'd have had to haul 'em away.

March Of Dimes Campaign Extends Through January

Mrs. Herbert Amstutz and Mr. Ben Simpson of St. Joe and Mrs. Lynn Fisher, Mrs. William Hudson and Mr. Howard Hill of Spencerville have been appointed committeemen for the local collection of March of Dimes funds.

The drive will be conducted through the month of January. Collection cannisters have been placed in business firms of the community for the convenience of area residents who may make their contributions as they shop in the community.

The theme of the 1956 polio fund drive is, "Polio isn't licked yet." Never before has the challenge been greater to the March of Dimes. The 1956 March of Dimes needs $47,000,000. Fifty cents of every dollar goes toward the care and assistance that polio patients must have, the balance going toward scientific research and professional and public education.

PTA To Hear State 'Y' Secretary

On Monday evening, January 16, 1956, at 7:30 p.m. Mr. Frank M. Liddle, executive secretary of the Indiana Y. M. C. A. since 1942, will speak at St. Joe concerning the problems of youth. Originally the date was set for Tuesday, but at Mr. Liddle's request it has been changed to Monday evening.

Mr. Liddle will conduct a two-day counselling program at the high school on Monday and Tuesday. Assisting him will be Mr. Nathan Wooden, who is an associate state secretary. The program at the high school will include group counseling for boys and girls as well as individual interviews.

Although Mr. Liddle is a native of Minnesota, Hoosierland can make some claim on him as his father was born in Indiana. Mr. Liddle holds an A. B. degree from Hamline University at St. Paul, Minnesota, and did graduate work at the University of Minnesota. He also studied at George Williams YMCA College in Chicago.

In 1929, he became Metropolitan Boys' Work Secretary in Baltimore and remained there until 1937 when he resigned as head of three Y. M. C. A. departments to become the state secretary of West Virginia. From West Virginia Mr. Liddle came to Indiana in 1942.

Mr. Liddle has been doing high school and college counseling as an avocation for over 20 years. He has spoken in 22 states, from Nebraska to the east coast and Canada to the Gulf of Mexico.

Mrs. Liddle works with her husband whenever possible in the youth counseling program and the couple have in their possession written questions, on all kinds of personal problems, numbering up to 100,000. Their aggregate audiences of youth are as high as 100,000 in a year. Unfortunately, Mrs. Liddle will be unable to attend the local program due to illness.

The January 16 meeting will be held in the Riverdale High School Gym at St. Joe. The time is 7:30 p.m. The topic for discussion will concern the problems of today's youth. The public is urged and invited to attend.

Vandals Prompt Board Action

Vandalism at the Spencerville gym, now running into a considerable expense, has prompted drastic action by the Riverdale School Board, action deemed necessary under the present circumstances.

In a discussion of the continuous destruction and the use of the Spencerville gym. these facts and conclusions were brought out by the board:

"No public gatherings can now be held there because of the number of broken locks and nailed windows and doors. The fuel bill is running about $35.00 per week because of the tampering with furnace controls. It was moved and seconded that anyone being caught in that gym would have a warrant for arrest signed against him by the members of the Board."

Comets Win

The Riverdale Comets defeated the Pleasant Lake Spartans Monday evening at Waterloo by a 57-47 score.

Local scoring was led by Larry Emenhiser who tallied 20 points though fouling out of the contest. Dave Walters scored 16 and Don Sechler 10.

Scouts' 'Derby' Runs Saturday

Saturday morning and afternoon will be the time of the winter for area Boy Scouts as they participate in the annual "Klondike Derby." This year's derby will be held at St. Joe with an estimated 250 Scouts plus adult Scout officials participating in the event.

The course has been laid out approximately two and one-half miles in length east of St. Joe, starting near the John Engle farm just east of State Road 101. The trail winds along the St. Joe River and ends at the Kees gravel pit at the edge of St. Joe. Along the course there will be several stations manned by Scout leaders who will test the abilities of the participating units in their understanding of Scout lore.

The St. Joe - Spencerville Lions Club will have their tent erected at the end of the course and will be prepared to serve the Scouts chili, hot dogs and hot chocolate as they complete the run of the course.

Badges will be awarded to winning team members following the compilation of scores.

Parents of Boy Scouts and the general public are invited to observe the derby.

Scouts from DeKalb, Noble and Steuben counties will be participating.

Town Board Installed Tuesday

Newly elected members of the Town Board of St. Joe were given the oath of office Tuesday evening at the first regular session of the board for the year of 1956.

W. L. Hurni, town clerk-treasurer, swore in D. B. Ridgway, Lester Pugsley and Orville Coburn for their four-year terms on the board, directing the affairs and business of St. Joe.

The board then elected Mr. Ridgway to serve as chairman.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved followed by reports of the financial status of the town and its various funds.

The reports were accepted.

Town business in general was then discussed including milk inspection problems, Waterworks upkeep and town marshall requests. A meeting is planned to further discuss the setting up of a sinking fund for Waterworks equipment repair and replacement.

The meeting then adjourned.

Riverdale School News

School resumed on Tuesday after a 10-day Christmas vacation. Several students took extensive trips during the holidays. Gone to Florida during the holidays were Marilyn Smith and Helen Wynkoop, juniors, and Raymond Pratt and Esther Fetters, freshmen.

With the Seniors: Senior pictures were received on December 23, too late for many Seniors to disperse them for Christmas. Not all of the color work has been received to date. Letters are going out to possible commencement speakers, the third deadline for the Riverian will be January 18, and the touring agency must soon be selected.

With the Juniors: big doings for Juniors is the all-school skating party at the Silvermoon on the 9th. The shindig will be faculty chaperoned and a bus (very small fee) will be taken from the school for those who desire such. Mr. Stackhouse, Junior play director, has been sampling possible plays and will present several choices to the class at their January 20 meeting.

With the clubs: the Beta's held a White Elephant Christmas exchange and party at Tom Hart's. Lots of fun and useless gifts, including many biology collections from years past.

The Tri-Hi-Y's will hold a bake sale on Saturday morning, January 14 (just one week away), at Burgoyne's, Auburn. Scrumptious eating, amen!

With the FFA: a team of FFA members is polishing up its shots on the basketball courts. They have played one opponent, Monroeville, so far. FFA-'ers finished a pest hunt. Winner? They have a banquet meeting scheduled March 8.

With the alumni: several former students have visited school in the past few days or were seen back in the community. Mary and Bill Wilder and Elaine Spalding (Purdue University and Hanover College) were at the Pleasant Lake game. Jerry Woodring (Ball State Teacher's College) was home through the holidays. Jim Shuff (US Navy) visited school a few days before the vacation began.

Churches Announce Special Services

Donald Foust, pastor of the St. Joe Church of Christ, has announced that Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Harshe and family of Lima, Ohio, who plan to go to the Belgia Congo, Africa, on missionary work, will be at the local church next Sunday morning, January 8.

The Harshes have described their feelings about this venture in these words: "We feel much as Jeremiah did when he declared there was a burning fire shut up in his bones; for there is a compulsion to go, make disciples, baptize, and teach. God loves them as dearly as He loves the civilized American. . . We are ready now to go. Will you send us?"

The Church of Christ welcomes this opportunity to hear and become acquainted with the Harshes and invites the public to meet them also.

Evangelistic services will be held at the Newville Church of Christ beginning Monday, January 9. The theme of the services will be "Christ In You, the Hope of Glory." There will be a different speaker each night at 7:45 p.m.

Speakers for the first week of services will be as follows:

Monday, January 9—William DeLaughter, St. Joe.

Tuesday-Mike Grange, Bluffton.

Wednesday-Darris Hamilton, Fort Wayne.

Thursday — Felix Walker. Garrett.

Friday—Thomas W. Overton, Toledo.

Saturday — James Johnson, Cedar Lake.

Sunday — (morning) Glenn Hall, St. Joe; (evening) Robert Hargrave, Defiance.

The speaker for the second week, January 16 to January 22, will be Mr. Hargrave.

Song leader for the first week will be Robert Hargrave, who will serve in that capacity and as preacher the second week.

DEAR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS

Our unusual automobile plan originated five years ago when our company president, Mr. Dallas E. Winslow, adopted the plan of giving each associate of our different companies a new automobile each year. Our companies are located at Auburn, Indiana; Springfield, Ohio; Cleveland, Ohio and Detroit, Michigan.

The automobiles that have been driven by our associates have never been traded in on the new cars we purchase. Previously we sold these cars in quantity wholesale to automobile dealers. Due to so many requests from our friends and customers to sell them cars, we decided to offer these select automobiles for sale to our many friends and neighbors.

We now have available a fine selection of low mileage 1955 FORDS and OLDSMOBILES. These cars with certain extra equipment and practically new cars can be purchased at a substantial savings. At the present time, we have a wide selection of colors and body styles.

You will be interested to know we are now in a position to accept your automobile in exchange for one of our nearly new automobiles. This policy has made available a few select used cars of various makes, such as FORDS, DODGES, CHEVROLETS, BUICKS, PLYMOUTHS, OLDSMOBILES and other makes at very attractive prices and liberal terms.

We like to think of our terms as "terms with a heart". By this, we mean any reasonable terms you desire will be considered up to 36 months to pay. Your payments may be made direct to us and you may be assured of our co-operation in case an extension of a payment is needed as we do not sell your note.

The cars are being displayed in the factory showroom here in the plant and, for your convenience, we are open evenings during the week until 9:00 P. M. We cordially invite your inspection of them without any obligation whatsoever. Our telephone number is 113.

Assuring you of our friendship and co-operation,

Sincerely,

M. J. Klinger

CURE FOR WORRY

Lesson for January 8, 1956

"Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, neither for the body, what ye shall put on." Did Jesus say this? There it stands in Luke 12:22. But how foolish it sounds! Christians do take thought for what they eat; they plan meals, they eat in Grade-A restaurants. if possible; they make out grocery lists, they store food in freezers. They take thought for the body, too; didn't you get out your winter underwear and your overcoat, and didn't you store those last summer where the moths couldn't get at them? Very good Christians act as if Jesus never said "Take no thought. . . "As a matter of fact, the instinct of such Christians has always been right. Jesus never did say this. The Revised Standard Version gives the word of Jesus the right translation which Greek scholars have always known was correct: "Do not be anxious." Thought for the future is not wrong; anxiety about the future is wrong for a Christian and not good sense for anybody.

"Your Father Knows. . ."

Worry is a kind of disease. and Jesus offers a cure for it. He had tested it in his own life first, and countless Christians have discovered that it will work. First and most important ingredient in this cure for worry is trust in God. Many people believe in God, after a fashion, without trusting in him. Jesus reminds us that God is our Father, and that he knows what we need. He knows we need food and clothing. He will not see to it that we shall get what we need without our having to lift a finger. He will not promise to give us all we want. But we can be confident that our Father in heaven is none other than the Infinite and All-wise God. Whatever is real, is known to him, however small. The needs of the flowers in the meadow, the needs of the birds on the wing, God knows these—and how much more we his children have a right to depend on him! Worry is a sign we have forgotten God, or don't think he is wise enough, or strong enough, to do what is right.

Mountain and Molehill

Most human minds are pretty active. They are like a sweet-pea vine; its tendrils reach out and if they don't find a fence or a trellis they will climb up the nearest weed. So our minds get twisted around weeds and get lost in the high grass when they should be climbing into the sunshine. A second ingredient in Jesus' cure for worry could be expressed in the proverbs: put first things first. Most worries are caused by the things that are least important. Jesus picks out food, drink and clothing as the things which "all the nations of this world" are seeking. Now these things are important. It is not wrong to buy groceries nor to plan a garden. But when they take first place in our minds, when we are anxious about these things forgetting others more important, we deserve all the trouble our worrying causes us. The preacher who worries more over how he says a thing than about what to say; the mother who worries more over her children's clothes than over their minds; the Marthas of the world who are "anxious and troubled about many things" so that they never have time for their heavenly Guest; these all carry burdens of worry which would drop off if they would put first things first.

The Mind At Work—On What?

Worry is not to be got rid of simply by sitting down in an easy chair and saying, "Worry, go away!" You can't even pray it away, though prayer does help enormously and (as was said) without trust in God, worry is inevitable. Worry has to be WORKED away. Jesus' cure for worry includes this: "Seek God's Kingdom." Paul writes: "The kingdom of God does not mean food and drink but righteousness and peace and joy in the Holy Spirit." (Rom. 14:17.) Any Christian who will really put his mind and his energies to work in the service of God's Kingdom—that is to say, adding to the too-small sum of righteousness, peace and joy in this world, working to make this earth more like heaven—will find that his worries have mostly evaporated.

Around the Town

With the Editor

That was a swell Klondike Derby the Scouts had here last Saturday. Everything went off like clockwork and the Scouts had a good, tough course to run—but fun.

Some of the enthusiasm-and the difficulties-evident during the day didn't get into just the kids' blood. At the ice rescue station, the patrols completed that test, then headed on for the next station. But the first thing they faced was getting themselves and their sleds up a steep slope along the river bank just south across the field from Arnett's—it must be a 60-degree incline at that spot. I hear that Ralph Sechler was spectating at that junction for a time but soon got the fever and was eventually seen helping one of the teams get its sled pushed up the hill!

And to top it all off, the Lions Club had its tent set up at the end of the course with a big supply of hot chili, hot dogs and hot chocolate which just hit the well known spot.

From some of the remarks made at the derby, we've got a dandy location for the derby, conditions described as being ideal.

—And the Lions Club members and their ladies proved to be good cooks with the boys commenting that it was the "best feed" they've had.

Later in the afternoon Bill Hudson and I were talking about the derby while standing around at Glenn Akey's station at Spencerville. Bill was one of the officials stationed at one of the test points on the course. We talked about the derby for a while, then almost fell asleep standing up. With that wi-i-i-indy day Saturday, all you had to do was stand in the breeze for a couple of hours, then get someplace where it's warm—like a Shell station—and brother, where's the bed!

Give these scoutmaster and adult scout leaders and officials your thanks occasionally. Scouting takes a lot of time and effort. Some of the effort isn't evident or known, tho', until something or other comes up to bring it to light. For instance, nobody realized that Glen Moore was totin' chairs up and down, up and down, at the Spencerville fire hall for Cub Scout meetings until somehow it came out that the job was being done with no one particularly realizing it. Glen's got help now, we hear, but it just goes to show that there are a lot of little jobs being done by big people who don't say a word but just go ahead and do them.

—Met any other good Samaritans lately???

Last week I had a little note about something new coming this week. Well, that something appears on page two—a little cartoon on the order of the lovable-little-brat type so popular these days. I hope Grandpa's Boy brings you a laugh or a smile once in a while.

Something else new this week were some telephone calls from the Mrs. soliciting news items for the paper. From now on Tuesday morning will be her regular day for calling by phone in the neighborhood and The News respectfully asks your cooperation in offering your bits of news and information when we call. Or, if your telephone should by any chance not jingle Tuesday mornings, just dial 2625 and we'll take your news gladly.

Those in the Spencerville community are asked to remember that Janice Hollabaugh is doing the reporting down there, and she also will appreciate the cooperation of Spencerville residents in getting news in the local paper.

Something else new this week is this bigger paper, but I'm afraid that newness is going to wear off. M'tongue's hangin' out.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Orville Funk, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Sible and Gary, Glenda and Gene, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barkman, Mrs. Elnora Blue, Mrs. Carrie Wade, Miss Mary Beckman, Henry Markle, Jr. and the bride and groom.

PTA Date Moved To Monday For Speaker

The regular meeting of the Riverdale Parent-Teacher Association for the month of January has been changed from next Tuesday night to next Monday night, January 16, John Mason, president of the P. T. A. has announced. The change has been made in order to cooperate with Mr. Frank M. Liddle, Indiana executive secretary of the Y.M. C.A., who will conduct a two-day counseling session in the high school and junior high.

Mr. Liddle has been obtained for this meeting under the highest recommendations from other communities who have conducted similar youth counseling sessions. He will be at the local school all day Monday for individual and group counseling and consultation. Monday evening he will address the gathering of a public meeting at the high school gym in St. Joe at 7:30 p.m.

Mr. Ben Simpson, principal of the school, urges parents in particular and all other adults to attend the Monday night meeting. Mr. Liddle will present facts pertaining to the problems of youth today and will offer helpful suggestions in solving those problems.

The session will conclude on Tuesday with more counseling periods to be conducted at the school.

As mentioned previously, the Monday night public meeting will be conducted as the January P.T.A. meeting with the regular third Tuesday of the month schedule to be resumed in the month of February.

CONCORD JR. HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB

The Concord Junior Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Norma Diederich with Wilma Baughman as co-hostess.

The meeting was opened by all repeating the club collect. Devotions were given by Betty Rediger, and all repeated the Lord's Prayer. History and song of the month, "Home On the Range," were given by Coralee Holman.

A talk on rug-making was given by Lorrain Murphy. Business session followed, with yearly committees being appointed by the president. The meeting closed by all singing the club prayer song.

A social hour followed with refreshments served by the hostesses for the evening.

Local Scout Patrol Ties For 3rd Place

Approximately one hundred and seventy Boy Scouts and adult Scout officials participated in the annual North District Klondike Derby held Saturday morning and afternoon just east of St. Joe.

Patrols from Scout troops in DeKalb, Steuben and Noble counties took part in the derby which was run over a two and one-half mile obstacle course. Patrols covered the course pulling klondike sleds built by the Scouts themselves. The first team left the starting point just south of the John Engle farm at 9:34 a.m. Saturday. Other patrols were given the official "go" sign every few minutes thereafter until the complete field of teams had started the course. At intervals along the course which followed closely along the banks of the St. Joe River, stations were set up by adult Scout leaders who gave the patrols tests as they came to each station. Knot-tying, ice rescue, cook-out, distances and measures and others were the endeavors in which the Boy Scouts were tested at the stations.

As they completed the course at the Kees gravel pit at the east edge of St. Joe, the boys were served refreshments by the St. Joe-Spencerville Lions Club in their large tent set up for the occasion. Chili, hot dogs and hot chocolate were included in the menu.

The winners were later announced as follows:

First place—Pleasant Lake.

Second place-Pleasant Lake.

Third place (tie)—Pleasant Lake and St. Joe.

The third place tie between Pleasant Lake and St. Joe is to be broken this week on Thursday evening at the District Round Table at Angola. The two patrols will be given tests which were not included in Saturday's derby competition, the winner to be designated as third place winner.

The derby was run without benefit of snow. However, a crisp breeze and good winter temperatures made the going perhaps easier. It was necessary to keep moving in order to keep warm, and the ground was hard enough that the sleds moved without too much effort. Patrols were composed of five to eight boys, each pulling on the tow rope over the course.

Lions Club Conducting Light Bulb Sale

The St. Joe - Spencerville Lions Club has undertaken a campaign to provide funds for a local project and two charitable funds.

Lynn Fisher, president of the Lions Club, has announced that the local organization is currently participating in a "Bag-o-Bulbs" campaign, that of selling a bag of light bulbs to the homemakers and businessmen in the St. Joe-Spencerville community. The money raised by the sale of the light bulbs will be used to help finance the local summer recreation program to be initiated this spring and summer under adult supervision. Another part will be contributed to the Leader Dog Foundation, an organization providing trained lead dogs for the blind, and a third part will be given to the Indiana Cancer Researc' Fund.

Mr. Fisher pointed out that all Lions Club members will have a quota of bulbs to sell and that residents are respectfully urged to support the current campaign by buying a "bag-o-bulbs" when club members call upon them. There are ten popular-size bulbs included in each bag, manufactured by a well-known firm. Four 100-watt bulbs, four 60-watt bulbs and two 75-watt bulbs are included in the sacked assortment. The price of two dollars per bag is eight cents below the regular retail price of the bulbs. Lions clubs all over the world benefit by this program of selling light bulbs, many making it a regular periodic project. Proceeds are in most cases divided between a local project and the above mentioned charitable funds. Leader Dog Foundation contributions and Indiana Cancer Research contributions are a part of Indiana Lionism.

In urging public support of this campaign, Mr. Fisher emphasized that the major portion of the profits will be used in this community in support of the local summer recreational program. The greater the response to such community projects, the greater the benefit to the community, he concluded.

Members of the club will remove trees obscuring vision at the Wabash railroad crossing south of Spencerville Saturday afternoon. Several trees prevent a clear view of the tracks at that place.

Lions' Light Shines

"Buy a bag o' bulbs?"

That is the query of the local Lions Club as it launches a campaign to raise a sum of money to give a boost to the community and to two worthy projects that are somewhat "pets" of Lions clubs in the state.

Whenever an effort is undertaken to raise funds for a worthy cause, we oftentimes overlook what is behind such an effort and what has been accomplished because of past efforts. The Lions organization is a service organization, dedicated to the betterment of the community in which it operates. But it does not stop there, for there are numerous instances of Lions Clubs giving support to other campaigns intended to bring about the betterment of all mankind.

In this present instance, the local club has decided to give the major portion of the proceeds to the summer recreational program which will be undertaken here for the first time with the coming of summer activities. This campaign of selling light bulbs will be of interest to all members of the community, particularly parents, for it will directly concern the success of a local undertaking. In addition, the Lions Club will give from the light bulb sale profits to the Leader Dog Foundation, an institution which trains dogs in the practical everyday leading about of the blind and the blind in the knowledge of the dog's actions and reactions.

Another fund to benefit from the sales of these bulbs will be the Indiana Cancer Research Fund which was given initial support a few years ago in purchasing equipment for clinical use and research work into the cause and treatment of cancer. Since that time Lions clubs all over the state have continued support of this research through their periodic contributions to this fund.

If one wishes to look at the bulb campaign from a practical standpoint, "you're getting a bargain." The bulbs are furnished through a well-known manufacturer - they're not "off-brands." There are ten light bulbs in each paper bag which sells for two dollars. The retail price of the bulbs is $2.08. They are in popular sizes, not too-dim or too-bright off-sizes. Four 100-watt bulbs, four 60's and two 75's are included in the assortment.

For the next few weeks local Lions club members will be soliciting your support in this money-making venture. We urge your support of their efforts. Too often today when we, community-wise, find need of a service on a local level, we also find that it is difficult to obtain the necessary funds, that our resources are drawn out at a higher level and little put back. This time we can support our community and its efforts along the line of youth guidance, support two worthy charitable projects that potentially may directly benefit any person at some time in the future, and at the same time acquire for ourselves a home and business commodity used every day. —And all for the price of two dollars.

Buy a bag 'o bulbs?

Our Precious Moment - Now

Yesterday is a cancelled check,
We carried it all-day long;
Its worth was helpful or a wreck
As we used it right or wrong.

To-morrow is a one-day note
We should collect, if living,
This we will do, if we devote
And give our best while giving.

Each day is filled with Precious NOWS
That reach us one by one
And may be used or be abused
As each in his way allows.

Since yesterday is gone for aye
And to-morrow just can't be
It is but NOW, part of today
That God gives to you and me.

Since what we think or do or say
Can only be done while NOW
We should be true while on life's way
In all that we do or vow.

WHAT YOUNG PEOPLE NEED

As a man who taught teen-agers for close to 20 years, I know that there is one quality above all others that the youngster wants from the grown-up world. That quality is not "love," not "sympathy." It is not even "understanding," save in a special sense. What he really wants and respects is justice.

The kind of justice the teen-ager wants is that which is prescribed by a code that he must follow, under penalties that need not be unduly severe but must have certainty. To such a code he will suscribe, as is proved by both the gangs and the Army. When the youngster gets into either, he does not violate their codes, because he knows they are rigidly enforced. He wants a system of rewards and punishments, with the assurance of both; he considers himself not a child but an adult.

Successful teachers are those who recognize this fact, set down the law and stick to it. It shouldn't be a harsh law. Merely a just law, universally and rigidly enforced. Treat youngsters from age seven up as normal human beings. Tell them what is expected of them and what will happen if they don't live up to it. And see that it unfailingly happens.

Give youngsters a sense of normal responsibility. Don't encourage them to think of themselves as irresponsible "children," beyond the reach of law and discipline. Let them know that "underprivilege" is no more of an excuse than "overprivilege" is a license to do wrong.

The roster of America's great men is filled with people who came up from abject poverty, from the log cabin and the big-city slum. In a free society like ours, no one is bound by his environment. If we let each growing child know that he is on terms of absolute equality with all others, in that he is free to rise or fall, be rewarded or punished, in accordance with his own achievements, the fundamentally wholesome youth of America will respond.

It would be idle to deny that there are many subsidiary causes of juvenile delinquency—economic insecurity, broken homes, TV programs, movies and comics that glorify crime. But they account for a minor percentage of the evil.

What we most need to do to cure the disease of youthful crime is to secure the cooperation of the patients themselves in setting up standards of rights accompanied by duties, discipline accompanied by justice—the things a teen-ager can respect.

Scouts' Home-Built Sled On Display At News Office

One of the sleds used by a patrol of the St. Joe Boy Scout Troop is now on display in the window of the News Office. The sled was used in the Klondike Derby held last Saturday morning and afternoon in which over 20 patrols from various troops of the North District participated.

The sled is of wood construction with steel runners. Work on the sled was done by the members of the patrol with assistance from adult scout leaders.

Also included in the display are some pieces of equipment required to qualify for participation in the recent derby.

HOW TO REPENT

Lesson for January 15, 1956

Once upon a time, so the story goes, there was a young man who had just come to a church as their preacher. He was barely out of the seminary and his notebooks and his head were well filled. He started out one Sunday morning with a sermon on Repentance. He analyzed the meaning of the word, he traced it through Scripture, he examined it theologically and psychologically—in short, he laid down the Doctrine of Repentance, as he had been taught it. When he sat down, an old minister in the congregation got to his feet and up to the pulpit as fast as he could. "Young man," he said, "You quit just before you got to the point. You told these people what repentance is; now stand up there and tell 'em to repent!"

Substitutes for Repentance

So, nothing in this column should be taken to mean that knowing what repentance is can be a substitute for repenting. Knowing what fishing is is not fishing; knowing what a doctor does will not make one a doctor. So knowing what repentance is is not repenting. And still it helps. You can't fish if you've no idea what "fishing" means. You can't be a doctor if you don't know what doctors do. Some people never really repent, only because they have got into the habit of doing something else they call repenting, but is not really that at all. Repentance is not just being sorry for something you have done. You may be sorry for the wrong reason—because you have been found out or because your sin has caused you trouble, or because your pride in yourself has been denied. Repentance is being sorry, but more than that. Repentance in the Bible sense of the word also is more than regretting particular sins. I may be truly sorry I was harsh to a loved one; but next day I may be just as harsh and unkind. The harshness and unkindness are symptoms, they are not the disease; I need to repent of what it is in me that causes me to mistreat others.

Repentance Is Changing the Mind

Don't let anyone tell you that Christians do not need to repent. Only those who argue that Christ's commands are not for us can suppose that repentance is not our own duty. As for Paul, he made it about as plain as words can make it: God calls on ALL MEN EVERYWHERE to repent (Acts 17:30). Beware of "Bible students" who try to evade the plain teaching of Jesus. He certainly taught repentance as well as faith. Now the Greek word used to translate Jesus' word (which no doubt was in Aramaic, the language of Palestine in those days) is "metanoeo" which literally means to change the mind. This is much deeped than changing your mind about what to take at a cafeteria or when to do the washing. It means, as Jesus' whole teaching shows, that total change of outlook—loving what one hated, hating what one loved—which changes the whole person within. What is the center of your life? Is it yourself? Then no matter how many sins you may regret having committed, you have not repented in Jesus' sense of the word. Your life must be shifted over from love of yourself to love of God and neighbor. Repentance is the outwork ing of the new birth. A person who professes to have been born again but who still looks at life from a self-centered standpoint, has probably not been born again. Repentance, in this deep and real sense of a radical change in attitude, aims and desires, is not something you can do in a flash and be done with forever. In 2 Peter 3:9 (a little book written to Christians) it is said the Lord wishes to all to "reach repentance." It is actually a continuing lifelong process.

How It Works

But this profound inner change of the mind (which in the Bible is inseparable from the heart) will work out in repentance for particular sins. Some people, perhaps most people, find it easier to repent of "sin" (or what they call repenting) than of particular sins. But true repentance is both profound and particular. In false repentance, a person is "sorry" for a sin but goes on doing it.

The biggest and the most important thing in the life of the Christians in the Newville Church of Christ for the balance of this week and all of next week is the Evangelistic Meeting now going on. By the time you are reading these notes the meeting will be one-fourth over but you still have plenty of time to come and enjoy the three-fourths that is ahead of you. The speakers for the remainder of this week will be Friday night—Thomas W. Overton of the Boulevard Church, Toledo, O., and Saturday night, James Johnson of Cedar Lake Church. We are asking Bro. Johnson to bring his Young People's Choir along that night for special music.

Beginning Sunday night, Bro. Hargrave will be leading the singing and doing the preaching. You will remember the fine way in which he did this work last year. We feel very fortunate that we are able to have him again in this capacity this year, as he is turning down call after call for this same type of work during this year. Attend church every night and receive the spiritual benefits that fellowship with Christian people and leadership affords.

BOOKLET EXPLAINS TAX RULES CONCERNING DISASTER LOSSES

Thousands of taxpayers who suffered financialy from hurricanes, floods and other disasters of 1955 will get a helping hand from the Internal Revenue Service in information intended to assist them in preparing their income tax returns for the year.

The tax collection agency has just published a new booklet entitled, "How the Federal Income Tax Applies To Losses From Hurricanes, Floods and Other Disasters." Ample supplies of the new publication are now available to taxpayers at the director's office of the service at Indianapolis, District Director Gary Campbell has announced. Copies may be obtained by writing to the Internal Revenue Service, P. O. Box 348, Indianapolis 6, Indiana.

Thousands of taxpayers will meet tax problems of this character for the first time in preparing their 1955 returns, Mr. Campbell said. A number of complicated tax problems for wage earners, businessmen, farmers and other taxpayers were created in many parts of the country this year by rampaging forces of nature.

The booklet explains in simple language, with examples, requirements for the computation of both business and nonbusiness losses arising from disasters, and shows how to figure allowable deductions. All procedures incident to figuring casualty losses are explained so that full benefits to which taxpayers are entitled may be received.

The booklet is broken down into sections which treat with the following subjects: what is a casualty loss, how to figure the amount of the loss, when the loss is deductible, who is entitled to refund of prior loss from casualty, how to treat insurance and other recoveries, how to treat disaster relief, losses of farmers, how to deduct business casualty losses.

FARM EMPLOYERS NEED COMPLETE TAX INFORMATION

Christian H. W. Luecke, manager of the Fort Wayne social security office, points out that a farm employer will need to report the name, social security number and the wages paid to most of his 1955 employees in this month of January, 1956. He will report on all employees to whom he pays at least $100 in 1955. If the farm employer has paid total wages of $2,500 or more to all of his employees prior to Octber 1, he must make a preliminary report in October. He also makes a final report in January.

If the proper preparation has not been made during the year, it may be difficult to make a proper report. A farmer should check now to see if he does have the social security number and other information necessary to make the report on his employees.

The self-employed farm operator should also prepare now to properly report his own self-employment income for social security purposes. He will make this report at the same time he files his income tax report. He will need a record of his gross earnings, his expenses and his net earnings. Of course, this information has been necessary for many years in the preparation of the income tax return. He will now need his own individual social security number so that he may receive credit under social security.

If either a farm worker or a self-employed farmer has never had a social security number, or has lost his number, he may apply for a new or duplicate number at the Fort Wayne Social Security Office. Application blanks may also be obtained at the local post office. Social Security taxes are, of course, paid to the Director of Internal Revenue.

A booklet is available upon request from the Fort Wayne Office entitled, "How Social Security Covers Farmers." It will answer most questions concerning social security. Address of the Fort Wayne office is: Social Security Administration, 717 Fulton Street, Fort Wayne, Indiana.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Spitler's little daughter, Kathy, was confined to the Parkview Memorial Hospital last week after suffering burns about the mouth and lips. The eighteen-month-old tot got hold of some form of lye a week ago Friday and swallowed a small portion of it, making her a very sick little girl. Mr. and Mrs. Spitler are former residents of Spencerville now living at Grabill.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Chaney were Eula and Harry Horne of Fort Wayne.

Toni and Shelley Miles, grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Tustison, have been very ill with the flu. Their illness caused them to miss attending Sunday School, the first such absence since they enrolled at St. Peter's Lutheran Sunday School.

Christmas Day guests of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Kimes and family were Mrs. Minerva Kelley and daughter of Auburn, Mr. and Mrs. John Kelley and children and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bowman and son, also of Auburn; Mr. and Mrs. James Kelley and children, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kelley and sons and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bercot and children of Fort Wayne; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cormier and son, Tommy, and daughter, Regina Marie, of Sommerville, Mass.; and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Akey and son of Spencerville.

The Town and Country Club met January 2 at Chaney's with Agnes Baker as hostess.

New Year's Day guests of their grandparents, Roy and Izetta Chaney, were Joan, Jerry and Jean Chaney and J. J. and Phil Blauser of Harlan.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Kibiger and daughters returned home recently after a week's visit with Mrs. Kibiger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clint Shultz.

Mrs. Flossie Rediger had the misfortune to fall and break her shoulder recently. She was confined in Sacred Heart Hospital for several days and has returned home.

Mrs. Agnes Baker was a New Year's Day guest in the Virgil Kimes home.

Danny Butler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Butler, left January 3 for Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo. He has enlisted in the U. S. Army for four years.

Recent week end guests in the John Weidner home was Mrs. Angela Lloyd of Maumee, Ohio.

Roscoe Garman suffered a bad fall on the ice recently injuring his hand and arm quite severely.

The women of Spencerville Lutheran Church held their January meeting Tuesday evening in the church basement with seventeen women present. Alice Norris, Opal Hursh, Dorothy Smith and Janice Hollabaugh were the hostesses for the meeting. The devotional committee was Lucy Beams, Rally Markle and Bertha Bartell.

A fried chicken supper will be served Friday, February 3, at the Lutheran Church basement from 5 to 7 p.m. A free will offering will be taken.

Mrs. Ray Overmyer entertained her bridge club Thursday evening.

Mrs. Roscoe Garman's mother, Mrs. Tonkel, is spending a few weeks with her daughter.

Robert and Anita Baker and daughter, Pam, of Valparaiso are spending this week end with the former's parents, Clayton and June Baker.

Mrs. Minnie Tyndall is spending a few weeks with her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Calloway, at Michigan City.

The semester ends Friday, the 13th. Exams begin with the fourth period Thursday and finish with the third period Friday. Teachers are preparing to grade papers and the results will be placed on the school's permanent record cards, the county superintendent's permanent record cards, and on the grade cards which come out next Wednesday.

Seventh grade geography class will now begin United States History.

The Sophomore Class has, according to one member, quit writing compositions for Mr. Stackhouse.

School next week will be mildly hectic, as a two-day counseling program starts the week and grade cards come out Wednesday.

March Of Dimes Campaign Extends Through January

The campaign for funds for the March of Dimes continues, as citizens of the nation are requested to make their donations through the month of January.

Local chairmen, Mrs. Herbert Amstutz and Mr. Ben Simpson of St. Joe and Mrs. Lynn Fisher, Mrs. William Hudson and Mr. Howard Hill, of Spencerville, urge local residents to make use of the cannisters which have been placed in local business houses and drop in their contributions during this campaign month.

In 1955, the year of the Salk vaccine, polio attacked about 30,000 persons in the United States. If the Salk vaccine had been in existence a generation ago, it might have saved a quarter of a million American children, men and women from paralysis. It can now be hoped that within this generation the vaccine, or a vaccine, will protect nearly all human beings from this crippling disease. The mass trial of Salk vaccine proved effective in preventing at least three out of four attacks of paralytic polio.

But polio prevention today is yet a scientific frontier. Far from being overcome, polio is scarcely nicked yet. Progress in polio prevention today is at a comparable stage to the early pioneers who undertook to build the first railroad across the country. They knew, by that time, how to run a railroad, but they had a long, long way to go.

Meanwhile, thousands for whom the vaccine comes too late need the help this year that only the combined strength of a nation can give them in overcoming effects of the disease. More thousands will need that help next year.

LADIES LITERARY CLUB

On Wednesday night, January 4, the Ladies Literary Club met at the home of Mrs. Robert Musser.

Mrs. Weldon Shafer, president, called the meeting to order. Mrs. Don Burley led the collect and the pledge to the flag.

Twenty active members were present.

During the business meeting the following officers were elected for next year:

Recording secretary — Mrs. Robert Musser.

Corresponding secretary — Mrs. Carl Sipe.

Treasurer — Mrs. Stanley Means.

Critic—Mrs. Carl Carpenter.

Parliamentarian-Mrs. Claude Laub.

Historian — Mrs. William Staman.

Miss Marjorie Brady, a junior in the Butler High School, gave a short talk and showed colored slides on her visit to Paris last summer. She is a member of the Tri Hi Y in the school and was a delegate to the Centennial Conference of the YMCA at Paris. This was an anniversary celebration and a regular meeting of the World's Alliance. The theme was "Living Together" at home, school, in the community, nation and in world of nations.

Mrs. William Staman conducted the entertainment.

Light refreshments were served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Henry Lung rather than at the home of Mrs. Kline.

CONGRESSMAN AIRS OBJECTIONS TO IRRIGATION PROJECTS

A report showing that nearly 21 million acres of fine farm lands are now lying idle in 19 eastern, southern and midwestern states will soon be placed before Congress.

Rep. Craig Hosmer of California said that he would present to the House of Representatives evidence to show that while the Federal Bureau of Reclamation is asking Congress to approve enormous costly new irrigation projects, at least 20,937,153 acres of the best American crop land are unused for any purpose.

"Right now," Hosmer stated, "we have before us in Congress the gigantic Upper Colorado River Project. Unquestionably the most expensive and unsound scheme yet devised, it would bring into production more than half a million acres in high, barren, remote areas of Wyoming, Colorado, Utah and New Mexico.

"With millions of acres of the best farm land awaiting the plow in areas where the rainfall is heavy and the growing season long, the Reclamation Bureau would force this great new burden of the Upper Colorado River Project on the American taxpayers."

The Republican Congressman said that at his request a survey had been conducted to determine the amount of good crop land now idle and available for farming, if needed. The data was supplied by field offices of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service.

"We considered only land in Classes I, II and III," Hosmer stated. "This is the best agricultural land, and the total does not include woodlands, pastures or government lands.

"I previously notified the members of Congress from the states in which the survey was made that the information was forthcoming so that they could, if they wished, take whatever action they deem appropriate.

"I consider the findings of this survey nothing short of amazing. In addition to the 21 million acres of the best farm land that is now idle in 19 states, there are millions of other acres in lower soil classes and in other states that are idle in the humid area of the nation. Much of this idle lower class land could be improved with little cost and developed into pasture.

"These millions of idle acres of the best lands are close to markets, to population centers, with roads and transportation running through them, and with schools and municipal governments established.

"Where the Reclamation Bureau wants to build the multi-billion dollar Uper Colorado River Project, there is little population. few roads, no metropolitan markets, few towns. The enormous cost of establishing municipal governments, police forces, schools, building of highways and new towns must be added to the cost of developing the arid lands.

"It is an unbelievable proposal for the purpose of growing more farm products of the kinds already in great surplus while there are these millions of acres of good idle land in the midwest, south and east."

Hosmer said the survey had been conducted under his direction in the states of Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Louisiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, North Carolina, Ohio, South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia and Wisconsin.

"The Bureau of Reclamation would have us believe that we must spend billions to develop projects like the Upper Colorado in order to provide food and fiber for our growing population.

"That simply is not true. On the presently producing farm lands we are growing so much food and fiber that we cannot find adequate space to store it. Despite plans for reducing this output, we are faced again this year with enormous surpluses, in some products record yields.

"Each year new methods are reported for increasing per acre yields.

"Yet the Bureau of Reclamation would have Congress appropriate billions of dollars for such unnecessary and wasteful projects as that proposed in the Upper Colorado Basin. This project alone would saddle a new $4 billion tax loss on the nation's taxpayers. The four states benefitting would pay less than two percent of the cost. Taxpayers of the other 44 states would have to pay the balance."

The cost of bringing the millions of acres of good farm land now idle into full production would run from only $15 to $150 an acre, Hosmer said.

"Compare that with the $5,000 an acre cost of building the Upper Colorado project," he added, "and you see how inconceivable the Reclamation Bureau's scheme is. Bringing into production the good lands now idle in the east, midwest and south would cost the taxpayers nothing. In the Upper Colorado project the taxpayers would have to pay not only the excessive cost of building the irrigation projects, the roads, schools and other necessary community projects, but then the taxpayers would have to subsidize the crops that would be grown, such as dairy products, grains and wool. The whole thing is nothing short of economic idiocy."

SOCIAL SECURITY TO EXPAND IN COVERAGE AND RATES UNDER BILL

Soical security legislation soon to be considered by the U. S. Senate would add about $25.5 million to the total of more than $100 million annually already being paid by Hoosier employees, employers and self-employed for old age and survivors insurance, the Inidana State Chamber of Commerce has reported.

A State Chamber analysis pointed out that the Cooper bill, which was passed by the House in the waing days of the 1955 Congressional session, would expand coverage of the OASI program to include all self - employed professional groups except physicians, provide new or greater benefits in certain categories and increase payroll tax rates as follows: for employees from 2 to 2 1-2 percent; for employers, from 2 to 2 1-2 percent; and for the self-employed from 3 to 3 3-4 percent.

The chamber study said "increases in benefits payable under either one or both of the two major social security programs—OASI and Welfare—have been voted federally in every congressional election year starting with 1946." The study added that "strong pressures will be exerted again" in the coming year to establish another round of general "liberalization" even in addition to that provided in the Cooper bill now under consideration.

All this is being done, the chamber said, in the face of the fact that "no one is yet even approaching the point of paying his way for future benefits" and "the accruing deficit is being passed on to future generations."

There has been no increase in the cost of living to warrant general benefit increases since benefits were last liberalized in 1954, the study reported.

The current Cooper bill now in the hands of the Senate finance committee would provide:

(1) New program of benefits for permanently disabled persons aged 50 and over.

(2) Reductions in the women's eligibility age for OASI benefits from 65 tc 62 years.

(3) Extension of OASI coverage to include all self-employed professional groups except physicians.

(4) Continuance of payment of children's benefits beyond age 18 for those permanently disabled.

(5) Addition of another one percent of taxable payrolls to the schedule of total employer-employee tax rates for OASI. (Also a comparable tax rate increase for the self-employed.)

While rummaging around hunting for some information to stuff into this column my eye fell on the 1954 edition of the World Almanac.

I thumbed through several of the pages, first noting that Garrett was listed on page 273 among the 40 largest cities in Indiana. Moving on through the thick volume I spied, under "Marriage Information," a wedding anniversary gift list. The book states that the list replaces, effective Jan. 1, 1948, the traditional list recommended by social authorities (i.e. first anniversary—paper, second—cotton, third — leather, fifth—wooden. etc).

The new list runs as follows: 1st—clocks, 2nd—china, 3rd—crystal, 4th—electrical appliances, 5th—silverware, 6th — wood, 7th—desk sets, 8th—linens, 9th—leather, 10th— diamond jewelry, 11th — fashion jewelry, 12th—pearls, 13th — textiles, furs, 14th—gold jewelry, 15th—watches. 16th—silver hollowware, 17th— furniture, 18th—porcelain, 19th — bronze, 20th—platinum, 25th—sterling silver, 30th—diamond, 35th—jade, 40th—ruby, 45th—sapphire, 50th—golden jubilee. 55th—emerald, 60th—diamond jubilee.

The list doesn't tell what to get for the 70th and 80th celebrations, maybe the couple has begun saving for their old age by this time. . . . Anyway the point that came to mind was that MOST OF THESE GIFTS CAN BE BOUGHT AT ORT'S.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE CABLE ADDRESS—ACDCO

DEAR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS

Our unusual automobile plan originated five years ago when our company president, Mr. Dallas E. Winslow, adopted the plan of giving each associate of our different companies a new automobile each year. Our companies are located at Auburn, Indiana; Springfield, Ohio; Cleveland, Ohio and Detroit, Michigan.

The automobiles that have been driven by our associates have never been traded in on the new cars we purchase. Previously we sold these cars in quantity wholesale to automobile dealers. Due to so many requests from our friends and customers to sell them cars, we decided to offer these select automobiles for sale to our many friends and neighbors.

For the past year we have been visiting with you and telling you of our policy at the Auburn-Cord-Duesenberg Company; our dealings with our associates, and our "terms with a heart". It has always been our desire to provide for our customers any plan that would further extend the cordial relationship and goodwill which we feel exists between us. It is with justifiable pride that Mr. Winslow has announced a new plan -- "ASSURANCE WITH INSURANCE" -- AT NO EXTRA COST TO YOU!!

In a nutshell -- this means that in the event of ACCIDENT, SICKNESS or DEATH, (God forbid), all the remaining payments due the company will be paid in full, under the conditions provided by our group insurance policy. We have further provided -- that in the event of STRIKES or LAY-OFFS, several payments will be made for you without obligation of repayment.

We like to think of our terms as "terms with a heart". By this, we mean any reasonable terms you desire will be considered up to 36 months to pay. Your payments may be made direct to us and you may be assured of our co-operation in case an extension of a payment is needed as we do not sell your note.

IF YOU WILL CALL.....OR COME DOWN to our factory showroom --- S. Wayne Street --- and see our large selection of nearly new and used cars, we will be delighted to further discuss this unique plan to our mutual benefit, without obligation to you.

PARKING FACILITIES -- Open Evenings Until 9 P. M. -- Saturdays Until 5 P. M.

Assuring you of our friendship and co-operation,

Sincerely,

Around the Town

With the Editor

That was a lulu of a game at the Coliseum Sunday afternoon between the Pistons and the Lakers. Everything was going on—Mikan back with the Lakers, Mikan arguing with the referees, Johnny Kundla pounding the table and arguing with the referees, Charley Eckman getting in his two cents worth too, Mikan and a spectator having a little trouble, another spectator coming out on the floor with Ed Kalafat of the Lakers then getting the spectator chased off the floor.

—Oh yes, they played basketball, too.

The best part, though was seeing Frank Brian walk in at the half, having just arrived at Fort Wayne to once again play for the Pistons. Corky Devlin appeared for the last time for a while Sunday since he was inducted into military service. "The Flash" got a big ovation when he walked in.

—And you know how I feel about it. . . I don't care who's playing for the Pistons just so it's Frankie Brian.

From some of the stories I hear about this junior high team of ours, they really must be a bunch of ballplayers.

Have you seen 'em? I haven't. Sports fan Roy Koch says they're really the nuts.

Burdette Powers at the Butler Record-Herald voiced compliments this week on last week's twelve pager.

—Nice to get a good word from a fellow tradesman.

Don't pass up that coming game the Comets have at the Coliseum on January 27. They play Avilla in the first game of a double-header at 7:00 p. m. The second game is between Auburn and Fort Wayne Central.

—It's coming February 18th!

EVANGELISTIC MEETINGS CONTINUE

A special demonstration of "spirit slate writing' will be given at the Christian Church revival on Friday night at 7:30 p.m.

Evangelist Cecil Todd who is currently conducting the revival, states, "Three ordinary slates will be displayed and investigated and then questions will be aksed from the audience and regardless of the question the correct answer will mysteriously appear on the slates. However, if you are easily frightened or if you have a weak heart, don't come!"

Revival attendance is increasing each night. The Youth Roundup that is being conducted at 6:45 p.m. each evening for all young people ages 5-20 has jumped from thirteen the first night to over forty-five.

"Five Minutes After Death" will be the sermon topic Thursday evening. The following questions will be answered: Where do we go when we die? or are we "just dead"? Do we go straight to Heaven? to Hell? to the Judgment Seat? Is there a purgatory? Does the Soul sleep in the grave?

"The Most Horrible Sin In St. Joe" will be the Saturday evening message. A beautiful religious picture will be given to the individual submitting the first correct answer.

Donald Foust, host minister, invites the public to attend and enjoy these revival services led by Ed Schantz, songleader and soloist from Harlan, and Cecil Todd, evangelist from Oklahoma.

Comets Win Thriller From Hicks'lle, 52-50

Alva Warstler sank a field goal with only six seconds remaining in the game Friday night to enable the Comets of Riverdale to post a 52-50 win over the Hicksville Aces.

The Comets led throughout the game but never by too great a margin. At the first quarter the score was 10-8 in favor of Riverdale. At the half the Comets led 21-20 and at the three-quarter mark it was 36-33. Hicksville went ahead at 37-36 but the Comets regained the lead and didn't relinquish it thereafter.

Hicksville tied the score on a foul shot as Dave Walters was called for offensive charging. The Comets held possession after Rader of Hicksville missed the bonus free throw attempt. Warstler then dropped in the game-winning fielder as the clock ran out.

Hicksville stayed in the ball game through their scoring at the charity stripe, sinking a total of thirty free throws.

Trucker Killed In Accident

Funeral rites were held at 2 p.m. Wednesday for Gerald D. (Jerry) Higginbotham, 25, of Kendallville who died Monday in a fiery crash on U.S. 6 two miles west of Butler. Services were held at Kendallville.

Higginbotham became the county's first traffic fatality of 1956 when his loaded fuel tanker cracked into the rear of a pickup truck, setting off a $40,000 fire that destroyed both vehicles and a barn on the Elmer H. Anglin farm.

The impact on the highway sent both vehicles spinning into the Anglin barn and silo. The tanker, loaded with 5,000 gallons of fuel oil, ruptured when the heavy outfit struck the barn and burst into flames.

The driver of the pickup, Charles Dickerhoof, 66, of Butler, escaped from his truck seconds before the wreckage was enveloped in flames. He sustained head injuries and possible internal injuries. He was released after treatment by a Butler physician and was later admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital. His condition Tuesday was reported as fair.

The fire, which destroyed the barn, a silo and valuable farm tractors, machinery, grain and hay in addition to several feeder hogs, kept police and firemen from the cab where Higginbotham was trapped for two hours. He was burned beyond recognition and was probably killed or knocked unconscious before the fire broke out.

Dickerhoof was driving west at approximately 30 miles per hour when the tanker crashed into the rear of the pickup. The accident occurred at daybreak. The pavement was dry.

Deputy Sheriff Appointed

Sheriff Frank Carpenter has announced the appointment of Dorsie A. Likens, 43, as second deputy sheriff of DeKalb County.

Mr. Likens is a lifelong resident of the county and is former manager of the Auburn airport and owner and manager of the Auburn Flying Service after World War II. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Likens of Auburn. The elder Likens was DeKalb County assessor for many years.

He resigned as supervisor at Flint & Walling Co. at Kendallville to accept the position as deputy sheriff.

FARM EMPLOYERS MUST FILE SOCIAL SECURITY RETURN

District Director of Internal Revenue Gary Campbell issued the following statement this week to remind employers that social security taxes apply to cash wages paid to every farm worker to whom the employer pays $100 or more cash wages during the year 1955. The taxes (2 percent employer tax and 2 percent employee tax) apply only to cash wages paid to covered farm workers.

Every farm employer who owes these taxes must file a return on Form 943, and pay the taxes, on or before January 31, 1956. Farm employers should file their returns on time in order to avoid the penalty which may be charged for late filing.

Any employer of covered farm workers who has not already registered with the District Director's office should do so at once. The registration form SS-4 can be obtained from any internal revenue or social security office. The District Director will mail the necessary return forms and instructions to all registered employers.

Two-Party System?

One of the pride's of this country is its belief in and practice of the two-party political system. —But on second thought, is it a two-party system in the true sense of the word?

With developments of recent years in the line of party politics, there has actually come about a two-party system in name only. When we speak of the two-party system, there is implied a difference as between black and white, night and day. The term does not truly mean just that there are two factions going by different nomenclatures, but that these two groups exist because of differences. The strength of this country, indeed, the strength of any country which has the opportunity to practice freedom and expression of thought lies in the differences of opinions as expressed by the people. That strength comes in that the individual has the opportunity to select leaders whom he believes foster the best ideas for the good of the country. He may put them in office and at the end of that particular term of office may put them out if he determines that the ideas he thought to be most desirable turn out to be faulty in practice or impractical with the times. If the voter then "reforms" in thought and seeks a different approach to the affairs of the nation, he supports some other individual who this time appears to have a better idea on the subject. It may at first seem unstable that such a change may occur so frequently, but it is this opportunity of choice which makes for strength because the course of the nation may be changed at the will of the people who, in this country, are supposed to be the guiders of the ship of state.

The two-party system today is such in name only because voters have not had an opportunity to choose between ideas for some time. The affairs of the nation today under the present administration are little different from the affairs evident under the previous administration. There was no choice of idea at the last presidential election and there will be no choice at the next election if the President chooses to run again. There will be no choice if one of the other oft-mentioned candidates who represent quite closely the present administration is selected as a candidate for the presidency. There was and probably will be a choice only of the efficiency and the honesty as represented by the candidates, as conditions appear now. Voters have not had a choice of political philosophies or ideas. They have only chosen efficiency of administration. This is not the two-party system.

There are a good number of citizens who are not in accord with some of the ideas which have been proposed, adopted and practiced by national leaders. They have been shamed, in some instances, into a feeling of guilt because they show concern for their country's welfare before considering the welfare of other nations. There are those who speak for "this nation first" but they are considered somewhat "radical." There are others, for instance the governor of Utah, J. Bracken Lee, who do not believe in the great amount of foreign spending that is fast becoming a perpetual burden. Mr. Lee is at present attempting to test the constitutionality of collecting income taxes to be used for foreign aid. He refuses to pay that part of his tax which would be used for such spending. He may lose his case and many may think he is foolish for raising such a question. But it remains that many persons, deep down inside, hope that he wins his point. The only thng that keeps them from being more openly in support of such an act is that previously mentioned feeling of guilt that has infected this country through the efforts of those who shape the affairs of the nation.

If the Republican Party would present a bold outspoken candidate for the next election who would by present standards of governmental affairs be "out of line" - perhaps even one who is considered radical - a great step would be taken toward making an actuality the two-party system. The Republicans can present no Nixon, no Warren, no Stassen, no Dewey, no Eisenhower, and be considered as a second party in a two-party system. It will take a McCarthy, a Jenner, a Lee, to give voters a choice of ideas.

THE ABC's OF AMERICA

A year after Plymouth Colony was founded in December, 1620, many of the pilgrims had begun to loaf. They had found that they didn't have to work as diligently and produce as much as their neighbors in order to eat as well as their neighbors. They were getting equal shares of food from the common storehouse regardless of their own production, regardless of how much they loafed. So they loafed more and more.

For a time the industrious settlers tried to make up the deficiency of food, but as they saw the tendency to loaf growing among the colonists, they slowed down too. When starvation threatened to wipe out the colony, the pilgrims were called together by the leaders. The proposal was made that each family take over the ownership of a parcel of land and keep what it produced. Every family then would have to be self-reliant. The lazy ones didn't like the idea but there were enough industrious people to put it into operation.

This was the beginning of the American capitalistic economic system. The whole story is dramatized in the opening film of "The American Adventure" educational series just completed by the National Education Program—for local television sponsorship, for schools, industries and the armed services. Since the National Education Program is a non-profit organization, the 13 films in "The American Adventure" series were made as a public service, for public service use.

It would be interesting to know how many readers of this column can identify the three basic pillars of the American economic system. Surveys in recent years among adults and college students would indicate that a substantial number of people couldn't. The pillars are: private ownership of property, the profit motive and the competitive free market. Together with personal freedom, the economic system built upon these pillars has enabled America, with only seven per cent of the world's population, to produce almost as much goods and services as all the other nations combined.

However, the courageous settlers at Plymouth Colony didn't have personal freedom; nor did the colonies which slowly expanded from their beginning. The new world had to win its liberty and then had to establish a structure to protect individual freedom. The colonies raised a monument to freedom with the writing of the Declaration of Independence; and then won their war for independence. Yet the nation and its greatness did not emerge until the adoption of the United States Constitution.

All this exciting colorful history, so significant to every American, is brought to life in the second film of the new series. The great figures of history stride through the film. The causes and effects of each historic act are shown. Then, the third film squarely meets one of the propaganda challenges of the Socialists and Communists and their dupes. The radicals declare that the term, "the American way of life," is an abstraction that cannot be defined. This is a propaganda trick designed to keep Americans confused and dis-united on important fundamentals.

The third film is entitled, "The Structure of the American Way of Life." It shows the building up of an imposing pyramid-like structure of simulated granite blocks. Each element in the American way has its block; and as it is fitted into place its meaning and purpose are clearly explained. There are 22 blocks of varying size, 22 vital and specific elements forming the structure of our freedom. It is a structure all Americans can embrace. It is something, complete, to stand for.

Though our system and its motivating spiritual foundations have lifted the United States to world leadership, can we maintain our progress and our leadership? History suggests that we could but that we won't. In "The Fall of Nations," the fourth film of the series, we see dramatized the rise and fall of all the great world leaders. None has survived very long. The causes of the fall of nations are studied in this film. The major ones are: political, economic and moral decay among the people. Will America avert this? The film poses this question dramatically.

Jesus Christ is the infallible standard of perfect manhood built into the temple of our humanity. In vain we search for lapse or flaw. The strongest glass does not expose a blemish. Enemies have searched His career with lamps and candles, but no profane tongue has ever whispered a suggestion against His blameless name. His character is blotless, His life is spotless, His perfection has no parallel, no approach. —Dr. McLeod.

This is the Christ we preach and the Christ you need. We are having some of the best preaching we have ever heard in evangelistic meetings. Why not take advantage of the few remaining services in this series. You would rejoice in hearing Robert Hargrave of Defiance, O., once you came to know him. Come, hear him, and you will love him.

CHRISTIAN MARKS

Lesson for January 22, 1956

How can we tell whether a person is a Christian or not? Is there anything that marks all Christians? There is faith, of course; but only God can see faith itself. Jesus said: "By their fruits ye shall know them." What kind of "fruits" should we look for, in others and in ourselves, to see whether we are Christians? Only God is the final Judge. We should not be too quick to say brashly, "I know . . ." Better say, "I have good reason to believe. . ."So, what are the good reasons for believing that a person is a Christian? Sticking to our one chapter in Luke this week, we can take note of three marks of a Christian, that is, of Jesus' followers, those who take his word as an order. They sound quite simple and ordinary; what is extraordinary, what is specially Christian about them, is the thoroughgoing quality Jesus expects.

Helpfulness

Three marks which we can readily see sugessted, in this chapter of sayings of our Lord, are: Helpfulness, Humility and Honesty. Everyday qualities, aren't they? In fact, you can't get along without them in the civilized world. Nobody likes a man who brags all the time. Nobody likes a man who never lends a hand to anybody in trouble. Nobody likes a man who can't be trusted. Helpfulness, humility and honesty are not in themselves specially Christian attitudes. Jesus certainly did not invent these qualities. They are found among people of many religions and of no religion. What Jesus did was to demand an extraordinary high degree of these everyday virtues. First, as to helpfulness: not only in the words quoted in Luke 14 but in many other ways and places, Jesus emphasizes how far his friends are expected to go. Most people are willing to help others, if it isn't bothersome or expensive. Jesus' idea of helpfulness was of something quite costly, something that calls for effort, self-sacrifice. Helpfulness as he sees it is not just doing something for somebody who will do as much for you. It means doing for people who never can pay you back. You can't be sure you are helpful as Christ was unless you are willing, as he was, to put out more for others than you are going to get back.

Humility

We all expect humility from other people, and we even practice it ourselves, in the form of courtesy. For courtesy is a form of humility—"After you," "Please," "Thank you," "Pardon me," and the like are humble expressions, when you come to think of it. But Jesus expects His disciples to be humble and not just talk humble. Are you a Christian at this point? A few questions are in order, to ask yourself. Am I always thinking that other people don't appreciate me? Am I a little sore because I don't get the promotions I deserve? When I say, "What's he got that I haven't got?", do I feel a little peevish, as if the answer I expect is "Nothing"? Have I often been able to forget my own interests on behalf of others? One of the most striking stories about Jesus is told by John, who records that Jesus, "knowing he came from God and was going to God," took a towel and did the "menial" service that every one of his disciples was too proud to do. The highest is the humblest.

Honesty

Everybody knows that honesty is a good policy. But one mark of a Christian is that he will be honest at two points where (strangely enough) most people are least honest: that is, with himself and with God. The parables about counting the cost are really about the importance of facing the facts, admitting to yourself where you come short. Human capacity for self-deception is astounding. Why a man takes himself for a sucker, in other words, is something hard to understand. But it is even more amazing that men will think they can "get by" with God. Those excuses made by the unwilling guests, in Jesus' parable—did they feel their host? Excuses offered to God are worse than waste of time.

TRIP TALK TO BE GIVEN JANUARY 24 AT AUBURN

January 24 is the date set for George Wappes to present his colored pictures and a talk on his recent trip to Switzerland. George, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Wappes of R1, Garrett, graduated from Garrett High School in 1951 and from Purdue University in June of 1955. He received a degree from the School of Agriculture at Purdue.

George left for Switzerland on June 11 of last summer and returned November 18. During his stay there he lived with four different farm families, working on the farms and gaining first hand knowledge and experience of Swiss family life and Swiss farming. His trip was a part of the International Farm Youth Exchange Program. This program is designed to help create international good will by providing trips for American young people to other countries of the world. At the same time it provides exchange trips for young people from other countries to America. Last year three students from Indiana were given trips to Denmark, Smitzerland and Bolivia, South America.

The program on January 24 will be free of charge, made possible through the cooperation of the DeKalb County extension staff. Some county residents may have heard this report on Switzerland, but it was felt that many have not had the opportunity.

The program will be given in the assembly room of the court house at Auburn starting at 7:30 p.m. The public is cordially invited to attend.

This corner has heard that the folks who went south for the winter have really caught up with it!

Speaking of that particular time of year (winter, ugh!) most of our force is in Chicago attending the winter furniture and housewares market while you read this.

When the crew was getting ready to go, McKee said, "Now listen fellows, we have a lot of merchandise, let's not buy anything, just look around." Needless to say he got the best laugh of the day out of all the rest of us, for we know McKee. When he sees all the new, modern, appealing, stylish, rightly priced and beautiful designs, he says, "That's for me."

Now that we are sure there will be plenty of new merchandise for you to see, let us see you, soon.

Worry is the interest paid on trouble before it falls due.

DEAR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS

Our unusual automobile plan originated five years ago when our company president, Mr. Dallas E. Winslow, adopted the plan of giving each associate of our different companies a new automobile each year. Our companies are located at Auburn, Indiana; Springfield, Ohio; Cleveland, Ohio and Detroit, Michigan.

The automobiles that have been driven by our associates have never been traded in on the new cars we purchase. Previously we sold these cars in quantity wholesale to automobile dealers. Due to so many requests from our friends and customers to sell them cars, we decided to offer these select automobiles for sale to our many friends and neighbors.

For the past year we have been visiting with you and telling you of our policy at the Auburn-Cord-Duesenberg Company; our dealings with our associates, and our "terms with a heart". It has always been our desire to provide for our customers any plan that would further extend the cordial relationship and goodwill which we feel exists between us. It is with justifiable pride that Mr. Winslow has announced a new plan -- "ASSURANCE WITH INSURANCE" -- AT NO EXTRA COST TO YOU!!

In a nutshell -- this means that in the event of ACCIDENT, SICKNESS or DEATH, (God forbid), all the remaining payments due the company will be paid in full, under the conditions provided by our group insurance policy. We have further provided -- that in the event of STRIKES or LAY-OFFS, several payments will be made for you without obligation of repayment.

We like to think of our terms as "terms with a heart". By this, we mean any reasonable terms you desire will be considered up to 36 months to pay. Your payments may be made direct to us and you may be assured of our co-operation in case an extension of a payment is needed as we do not sell your note.

IF YOU WILL CALL.....OR COME DOWN to our factory showroom --- S. Wayne Street --- and see our large selection of nearly new and used cars, we will be delighted to further discuss this unique plan to our mutual benefit, without obligation to you.

PARKING FACILITIES -- Open Evenings Until 9 P. M. -- Saturdays Until 5 P. M.

Assuring you of our friendship and co-operation,

Sincerely,

Around the Town

With the Editor

Monday morning was a frigid one, but any discomfort was compensated for by the wintery coating of beauty in evidence on the trees and bushes. As the sun got a good start into a clear sky at around nine o'clock, the countryside appeared to be coated with a shimmering gown of rhinestones.

At our congregational meeting Sunday afternoon, John Carpenter found himself getting experience in a new occupation as Jeanette Barnhart nailed him for a baby-sitter while she finished her plate of pot luck dinner.

—See what happens to fast eaters?

Everything happens in bunches, eh wot? Just ask the Sible family.

Big Bill has been ailing of late (as who hasn't) with the flu and can't get rid of it for keeps. Then they had a fire at their tenant farm. Then the freezer broke down and, I understand, all the food spoiled. Then the furnace quit furnacing around 4:30 Sunday morning and —oh, why say any more.

I suppose maybe it does save some money these days as far as state expenditures go what with the issuance of only one license plate for 1956. Cuts the use of metal in half.

But now with the automobile designers putting their best into making front ends massive and beautiful and all that kind of stuff and making a nice little cubby hole for the front license plate, framed in some cases by a gleaming outline of chrome, wha' hoppen? Now when you see cars parked at the curb in the business district in any quantity, those ugly license plate holes stick out like a sore thumb—and those pretty automobiles look like a line-up on a used car lot.

—Now we can change a familiar expression from, "I need that like I need a hole in my head," to "I need that like I need holes in my front bumper."

It was some time after arriving at Saturday night's basketball game at Waterloo before I realized that the tall referee was none other than "Dike" Eddleman, former Piston set-shot artist.

Lions Club members are still conducting their bag-o-bulb campaign to raise funds for community use and charitable projects. I've got my share—as does every member of the club. If we don't happen to contact you and you want to do your part by buying an assortment of ten light bulbs for two dollars, just holler and we'll come a'runnin'.

Mothers To March Monday

Mrs. Lynn Fisher and Mrs. William Hudson, Spencerville co-chairmen of the March of Dimes fund raising campaign, have announced that the Spencerville community will participate in a "Mother's Porch-Light" Polio Drive next week.

Mothers in that community have been contacted and organized to collect contributions for the March of Dimes from homes which have their front porch lights turned on during the evening. The drive will be held Monday night, January 30.

Residents of Spencerville who wish to have the mothers call at their homes for March of Dimes contributions are asked to have their porch lights turned on Monday evening as an identifying mark. The mothers' march will start at 7:30 p.m. and the cooperation of the community is requested.

The official drive for the March of Dimes is carried on in the month of January. Only a few days remain for the balance of the major campaign.

NEW FARM CORN ALLOTMENTS AVAILABLE

Any producer who intends to plant corn in 1956 on a farm where no corn was planted during the years 1953, 1954 or 1955 must apply for a corn acreage allotment if he wants price support on his farm in 1956.

Marketing quotas do not apply to corn. However, under the acreage allotment program the production of corn in 1956 on a farm which has no corn acreage allotment would make all the corn produced on such farm ineligible for price support in 1956.

Application forms for a corn acreage allotment are available at the DeKalb County ASC Office. Febraruy 15, 1956, is the last day such application may be filed.

This information comes from Geylon A. Markle, office manager of the DeKalb County ASC Committee.

Comets Lose To Ashley, Fremont

The Riverdale Comets took it on the chin twice over the past week end. They were overwhelmed Thursday evening at Waterloo as Ashley ran up a 67-33 score. Saturday night's game was played against Fremont and the final score was 55-44.

The Thursday game was close for a time with the score tied at 10-all at the quarter. Ashley began moving in the second period and took a 22-17 half-time lead.

Riverdale's shooting was off in the third quarter as they netted only four points in the entire period and Ashley extended its lead to 38-21 at the three-quarter mark. 11 baskets in 21 shots from the field in the final quarter helped to more than double the score on the Comets at the buzzer.

Saturday night's game was a more complete victory for Fremont than the final score indicates. They led during the final quarter consistently by 14, 16 and 18 points before the Riverdale five whittled down the difference in the last two minutes.

Quarter scores were 19-6, 29-17 and 41-25

INDIANA DEER SEASON A SUCCESS, REPORTS SHOW

Incoming reports are proving that the recent deer hunting season in Indiana, which was for forked antler bucks only, was more successful than the previous buck seasons.

So far, 143 deer have been reported killed in the 13 counties where hunting was permitted. The county count ranged from one in Monroe County to 65 in Brown. Harrison County reported a kill of 36. Owen was next in line with 13. Perry County hunters bagged 7, while Morgan and Crawford each reported 5. Others reported 2 or 3, with the exception of Washington which reported no kill.

Specialists in the Indiana Department of Conservation in their report to Harley G. Hook, director of the department, said that these figures show two things. One is that the deer population is growing and the other is that Hoosier hunters are learning more about deer. They estimate the deer population has grown from 5,000 to 7,500 during the past year. The fact that a buck season does not hurt the deer herd is brought out in reports from counties which have borne the greatest hunting pressure. The kill in these counties was much greater than last year. This is a good indication that, under heavy gun pressure, the herd can continue to develop satisfactorily when bucks only are taken.

While reports of the sale of deer licenses are not complete, it is estimated that they will reach 4,500. With these figures, 3 1-2 out of every 100 hunters bagged deer. This is in contrast to the results of 1953 when only 1 1-2 hunters out of each hundred obtained the prize.

Riverdale School News

Statistics on the student body, compiled at the semester's end, indicate that the student body has remained fairly stable in number during the first semester. The school lost 10 students, 6 of whom transferred to other schools, 4 of whom quit during the semester. In the same category, the school gained 4 new students, to give the school a net loss of 6. Enrollment of the classes changed as follows:

Grade 7—gained one, lost two, now 59 students.

Grade 8—gained three, now 48 students.

Grade 9—lost three, now 37 students.

Grade 10 — remained unchanged at 35 students.

Grade 11—lost four, now 39 students.

Grade 12—lost one, now 32 students.

Total—lost 6 net, now 250 students, grades 7-12.

In a long, but interesting, class meeting on Friday last, the Senior Class named the agency and the date of their coming senior trip. Henry W. Boersma Tours, Inc., will conduct the 32 senior class members and three chaperones on a 6-day tour of Washington and New York City from April 3-8.

There were at least a half dozen happy students in school last Friday as Mrs. Cleland solved a problem sometimes found with owners of dogs. Her pet nearly wore out its welcome just prior to Christmas when it presented the Cleland household with a litter of 12 puppies. Mrs. Cleland had ample material to satisfy folks' desires for something soft and loveable and did so by bringing puppies to a number of students who wanted them. And, the supply is not exhausted yet!

It looks high priced

...but it's the '56 Chevrolet!

THE NEW BEL AIR SPORT COUPE—one of 19 high-priced-looking Chevrolet models.

Who wouldn't mistake this handsome new Chevrolet for a high-priced car!

It looks strictly "upper bracket" with its bold new Motoramic styling . . . its longer, lower hood . . . its proud new grille that spans the full front end.

Even the details would do credit to an expensive car . . . like the sleek, high-fashion taillights (the left one hides the gas cap!).

But, even beyond the costly appearance of its Fisher Body, Chevy gives the high-priced cars a run for their money. For it's one of the few great road cars built today!

It brings you the added security of nailed-down stability on turns and lightning acceleration for safer passing. Horsepower now ranges all the way up to 205! All engines now have hydraulic-hushed valve lifters.

Of course, Chevrolet has safety door latches in all models. In addition, you can have seat belts, with or without shoulder harness, and instrument panel padding at extra cost.

There's a new Chevrolet just made for you. So come in and highway-test it.

The Bible Speaks

Background Scripture: Luke 15:1-32.

Devotional Reading: John 3:1-11.

LURE OF LIFE

Lesson for January 29, 1956

A coin, a sheep, a man—what do these three have in common? Jesus told a triple story using these three so different objects to bring out the same point. What the coin, the sheep, the man had in common was that each was lost. They were out of place, useless, in fact doing more harm than good. But the young man who went to a far country was different in an important way. He knew what he was doing, or thought he knew. He wanted life, and he got it, only it was the wrong sort. If you had asked him at first why he was going away, he would have said, "I want to live!" But he ended in a pig-pen.

The Lost Are All Around

Men and women get lost today for the same reason. They look for life in the wrong place. Victims of narcotics, or of alcohol, wanted something more out of life than they had, and they thought drink or drugs would help them. Every patient in an alcoholic ward is missing somewhere—missing from payrolls, from homes they had or might have had, missing from the ports they might have reached if they had not made shipwreck of themselves. And for every patient in some alcoholic ward there are a great many others who, though they may not have gone so far, are just as lost. What ought a Christian's attitude to be, toward such people? Surely, if Jesus taught anything plainly, it is that God does not despise or hate lost persons; he loves them and does not want them to stay lost. So the Christian who shares the mind of Christ will neither hate nor despise the lost people all around us today.

Prevention Is Better

One of the commonest ways of getting lost is through drink. Everything is done in advertising and in other ways to make it appear that you haven't really lived till you use "our old famous brand" of expensive alcohol. Young people need to have the other side of it shown to them, not in DONT'S but in DO'S. Educator H. H. Hill (as adapted in "Listen") has put it something like this. What do you want from life? Topnotch health? You can't have it if you drink. A serene, satisfying, law-abiding life? Not with liquor for your companion! Life on the highest moral level? Not for drinkers and dopers. Do you want to wake up every morning with a clear head? Do you want uninterrupted success in a profession? Do you want to save money? To be a good driver? To form the habit of meeting your problems squarely without a fuzzy mind? Do you want to be able to enjoy a good time without the danger of flirting with a habit-forming drug? Do you want guaranteed immunity to one of America's four most damaging diseases? Do you want to be an example of good and not evil, for the young people in your community? All right — that's living, and you can't have that kind of living and the alcohol habit too.

Testimonials

Maybe the main reason why the prodigal son went wrong was that he listened to the wrong people. Men can always be found who can be paid to pose in liquor ads. How about listening to some free testimonials on the other side? Ezra Benson, Secretary of Agriculture, says. "Knowing the infinite joy and peace of mind which result from never having used narcotics, smoked cigarettes or taken a drink of liquor . . . or knowingly profaning the name of Deity, I can sincerely recommend such a course to all." Dr. Kate Newcomer, written up in the Reader's Digest in June 1954, says, "Naturally I do not use intoxicants. Why start a habit so many people must break?" Lewis Hoad of tennis fame speaks for many another athlete, "It is hard enough to get anywhere in life, without liquor or tobacco hindering one's chances for the future." Gil Dodds, the track star, says, "God has given me a body which I should not defile." Do you want to live? Such people know how.

PERFORMANCE made it the Largest Selling "8" in the World...

the FORD V-8

Just look at these official registration figures for the first 11 months—January through November, 1955

	Car Sales	Ford Sales Leadership
FORD V-8	1,241,742
Car C—V-8	634,376	607,366
Car P—V-8	262,870	378,872
Car C—Six	845,153	396,589
Car P—Six	334,540	907,202

Here's why!

People just naturally go for 8 cylinders in the FORD package!

And to a world record extent!

Just think, in the first 11 months of 1955 alone, 344,496 more people bought Ford V-8's than the two other low-priced competitive eights combined!

Of course, the reason the Ford V-8 is the largest selling eight-cylinder car in the world is that more people like its brand of performance—the kind that comes with the car!

These people aren't amateurs in judging engines. Nearly 24 years of building Ford V-8's to supply their demand is convincing proof of that.

And the Ford V-8 of today is the best yet . . . by a country mile!

Smoother and quieter—you can scarcely hear it, even with the hood up!

Sassier—just ask the highway patrol officer who drives one. He knows it takes a Ford to catch a Ford!

And, for the very practical question of durability—ask a Ford cab driver. He knows how Fords take it days on end.

So, if it's performance that you want —and wrapped like a gift—the '56 Ford V-8 is your baby.

Come in . . . try it today! F.S.A.

Revival Services To Conclude This Week

"How To Be Happy . . Tho' Married" will be the sermon topic by Cecil Todd, Evangelist, for Thursday evening at 7:30 at the "Christ For Everyone" crusade currently being conducted at the St. Joe Church of Christ.

Awards will be given to the couple present who have been married the longest, the most recent newly-weds present, the parents with the most children present, the youngest grandmother present and the couple who have been married the longest without having an argument. A special section will be reserved for all the couples Mr. Donald Foust, minister of the church, has married since his coming to St. Joe.

"Hell Fenced In" will be the topic for Friday night. This message will be illustrated by buiding a fence on the platform as the sermon is preached with fifteen rail fence post. Each rail will depict a particular point in the message.

Services have been slated for Saturday night with an ice cream can eating contest being held in the basement after the services for all the young people.

Sunday will mark the concluding day of the revival with both morning and evening services. A Bible School goal of 163 has been set for the 9:30 hour.

Lowell Mason, a 46-inch "singing midget" from Flint, Michigan, will be featured as soloist at the revival service on Sunday morning at the Bible School and church hour.

Mr. Mason has made appearances for radio, television, organizations, clubs and churches since he was 8 years old. For 6 years he sang with the "Children's Bible Hour," an ABC network program originating in Grand Rapids. He has toured the central and eastern states and Canada singing to crowds numbering over 9,000 people. Mr. Mason is only 18 years of age.

Donald Foust, minister of the St. Joe Church of Christ, states, "Interest and enthusiasm have gripped every service with souls accepting Christ. Over 50 young people have attended the 'Youth Roundup' each evening at 6:45. Over 350 different people have attended the revival services thus far."

"Missing God's Last Train To Heaven" will be the closing message by Evangelist Cecil Todd on Sunday night.

The public is invited to attend the remaining services.

DEAR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS

Our unusual automobile plan originated five years ago when our company president, Mr. Dallas E. Winslow, adopted the plan of giving each associate of our different companies a new automobile each year. Our companies are located at Auburn, Indiana; Springfield, Ohio; Cleveland, Ohio and Detroit, Michigan.

The automobiles that have been driven by our associates have never been traded in on the new cars we purchase. Previously we sold these cars in quantity wholesale to automobile dealers. Due to so many requests from our friends and customers to sell them cars, we decided to offer these select automobiles for sale to our many friends and neighbors.

For the past year we have been visiting with you and telling you of our policy at the Auburn-Cord-Duesenberg Company; our dealings with our associates, and our "terms with a heart". It has always been our desire to provide for our customers any plan that would further extend the cordial relationship and goodwill which we feel exists between us. It is with justifiable pride that Mr. Winslow has announced a new plan -- "ASSURANCE WITH INSURANCE" -- AT NO EXTRA COST TO YOU!!

In a nutshell -- this means that in the event of ACCIDENT, SICKNESS or DEATH, (God forbid), all the remaining payments due the company will be paid in full, under the conditions provided by our group insurance policy. We have further provided -- that in the event of STRIKES or LAY-OFFS, several payments will be made for you without obligation of repayment.

We like to think of our terms as "terms with a heart". By this, we mean any reasonable terms you desire will be considered up to 36 months to pay. Your payments may be made direct to us and you may be assured of our co-operation in case an extension of a payment is needed as we do not sell your note.

IF YOU WILL CALL.....OR COME DOWN to our factory showroom --- S. Wayne Street --- and see our large selection of nearly new and used cars, we will be delighted to further discuss this unique plan to our mutual benefit, without obligation to you.

PARKING FACILITIES -- Open Evenings Until 9 P. M. -- Saturdays Until 5 P. M.

Assuring you of our friendship and co-operation,

Sincerely,

Around the Town

With the Editor

The way George Beams was whooping it up at the basketball game Wednesday night, I do believe he would have done some cheer leading if somebody had suggested it.

He had something to holler about, the way the boys flashed occasionally, including that over-the-shoulder behind-the-head pass that Larry Coplin executed late in the game. It didn't score a bucket, as the ball rolled off the hoop after one of his mates shot. But it sure was a beauty of a play!

—And have you noticed how cool and calm Larry remains in the hottest competition?

Just call him "Cucumber."

Got a letter a couple of weeks ago from Melvin Hershberger who said he appreciated getting the paper and that he would be home pretty soon.

Have you heard Hilliard Gates' sidekick, Dick DeFaye (I hope that's the way you spell it) doing some of the high school basketball game broadcasts? He's quite the card. Just somewhat the opposite of Hilliard in style. Dick says what what pops into his mind occasionally while Hilliard hesitates "editorializing."

During the pre-game lull at one of the Fort Wayne team games recently, there suddenly came a roar from the fans. Dick observed, "Hm-m-m, Eddie Fisher must have just walked in." —It was the appearance of the teams on the floor that caused the commotion. Hilliard, who is usually pretty straight-faced in his delivery, has been showing signs of loosening up a bit, due in part probably to the exciting developments of recent Piston ball games. He made some remark following the Fort Wayne overtime win last week about the engineer's knowing who signs his checks—good for a laugh to top off the evening's exciting win away from home.

Speaking of the Pistons—and I often do, 'cause I like 'em—that game Sunday afternoon was a beaut. Nothing went wrong and everything went right. The teamwork was remarkable.

—And when Frankie (Brian) went in, the crowd hollered "shoot" —and he did—and it went in. It couldn't miss. There were six thousand people guiding it.

Andy Philip played a wonderful game, setting up plays and breaking up the Warriors'. One time I swear he knew what one of Philadelphia's back-court men was going to do before the latter knew himself, because there was Andy when the ball was passed right where Philadelphia's player should have been. He intercepted and made a bucket.

Saturday night, the engineer on the B&O freight that went through here at about 9:10 was a second party to a joke —or what started out as a joke —but he didn't know it.

The boys and I came past the B&O depot in that drizzly rain, and as we did the glare of a train headlight came into view. The headlights of the car were switched on "bright" and I automatically kicked the dimmers on. It was a kind of a silly thing to do, I thought, and to cover up my stupidity I remarked to the kids as the train approached—"Hey, that guy better dim his lights"—just to get a rise out of 'em. Then I did a double-take. For no sooner were the words out of my mouth when the train headlight dimmed!!

—You just never know.

Somebody must have it in for dogs around here. Recently the big stray that found a home at the Harold Yeiser's was done in by unknown persons. And this week Dave Smith reported that a valuable Walker coon hound of his was killed at the dump.

Dave's dog had a length of rope and a piece of wire about its neck, holding it fast to a small sapling. But death came from a small caliber gun or a pellet gun.

This happened Saturday night, January 28, or early the following morning. Dave offers a liberal reward for information about the person or persons responsible.

The dog was turned loose Saturday night after super for a little exercise. He didn't return and was found the next morning, tied and shot.

The question that's been going around these parts in the last few weeks seems to be "What's wrong with our basketball team?"

Well, sometimes I think a hat pin in the right place might help—or getting a little mad at somebody. But generally speaking, the answer is—NOTHING. The only thing "wrong" is that no one has yet been able to come up with a basketball game in which BOTH teams win!

Cubs Prepare For Exhibits, Banquet

The monthly Cub Scout Pack Meeting of Spencerville Pack 3172 was held Monday evening, January 23, at 7:30 at the Spencerville Methodist Church.

The resignation of Norbert Sordelet was accepted due to conflicting working hours. Ted Haberkorn was elected to fill the vacancy as vice-chairman.

Reports were given by the Den Mothers. Plans for the month of February were discussed. The week of February 6 to 12 is Boy Scout Week. Cub Scouts will wear their uniforms to school on Wednesday, February 8, the birthday of Scouting. Cub Scout handcraft projects will be displayed in public exhibits during the week. At Spencerville the display will be seen at the Fred High Building. In St. Joe Cub Scout work and the program of Cub Scouting will be exhibited in the windows of the News Office.

Several dens are planning to attend church and Sunday School services in uniform in a body on Sunday, February 12, to give a demonstration of Cub Scout ceremonies.

The Cub Scouts' Blue and Gold Banquet will be held on February 20 at 6:30 p.m. at the Spencerville Methodist Church. This banquet is for all Cubs and their parents and it will be a pot-luck.

It was reported that the Cub Scouts in Spencerville held a paper drive during the previous month and were able to raise approximately $10, which goes into the Pack treasury. The boys request that anyone wishing to help them, save all newspapers and magazines for their paper drives. Anyone wishing to do so may contact Mrs. Ted Haberkorn in St. Joe, Mrs. Bill Hudson, Mrs. Norbert Sordelet or Mrs. Lynn Fisher in Spencerville for pick up service. Since ways and means of earning money are rather limited for boys of Cub Scout age, they will deeply appreciate any help given them in their fund-raising efforts.

Merit badges were presented by Cubmaster Bill Hudson to those Cubs who had finished the required achievements.

Membership cards were presented to a number of adults and boys who had recently made application for them.

After the business meeting the dens presented their part of the program. Each den displayed their handcrafts for the month and gave a short skit in keeping with the month's theme, "Pirate Waters."

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Den 1 of which Mrs. Hudson is Den Mother. Mothers of Cubs in this den baked and served cookies and hot chocopate. The Cubs of Den 1 passed among those present with a treasure chest made by the boys and filled with candy wafers wrapped in aluminum foil, representing silver coins.

Thieves Break In At Sp'ville

The sheriff's department was called Tuesday morning to investigate a break-in at the Shell bulk plant at Spencerville operated by Maurice Hollabaugh for owner Fred Laub.

Taken in the burgary were an undetermined amount of oil and a metal file containing personal papers and gold coins and cash amounting to $10.

Parks Hollabaugh discovered the break-in Monday morning at 7:00 a.m. as he made the rounds of the morning paper route. Three locks were broken as entry was made into the storeroom, garage and office.

The $10 taken in the metal file included two $2 bills, one old issue $1 bill and two $2.50 gold coins. Papers included insurance policies and titles to nine automombiles and one motor scooter.

Mr. Hollabaugh left the station at approximately 8 p.m. Monday evening after a late fuel delivery. The thieves appeared sometime between that time and the Tuesday morning discovery of the break-in.

CULTURE CLUB

The January 18 meeting of the Ladies Culture Club was held at the home of Jean Shockley.

Margaret Drerup led the devotions for the evening. Lois Fisher was in charge of the lesson. She chose two topics from Reader's Digest, "Courage Is Not a Sometime Thing" and "Glamour of the Everglades."

Federation Night was observed with Virginia Laux obtaining a guest speaker, Mrs. Eva Hamilton, to talk about Ladies Federated Clubs. The club then held a discussion and asked Mrs. Hamilton many questions pertaining to Federated Clubs.

Ten members responded to roll call. Two guests were present.

The hostess then served a light lunch to all.

School Constr'n Crisis 'Myth', Says Chamber

Warning of loss of Indiana's citizens' tax dollars and of steps toward federal control of local schools involved in bills now before Congress was issued today by the Indiana State Chamber of Commerce.

The organization said a measure on which action in Congress is imminent (the Kelley Bill - H.R. 7535) would provide direct federal "grants" of $9,177,000 annually for school construction in Indiana but would cost Hoosier taxpayers about $9,640,000 annually, or $563,000 more each year than the state would receive.

"Federal aid for school construction is not needed by the states," the chamber said, adding: "Federal intervention in the running of the public school system remains as the real objective of some federal aid promotors. The fact that many other advocates are sincere, believing this a means of improving the schools, does not dispel the dangers of federal political control over the educational system."

Declaring that the school contruction "crisis" is a "myth" the chamber bulletin cited these conclusions it said were taken from reports published by the U. S. Office of Education:

1. Between the school years 1942-43 and 155-56, the number of new classrooms constructed and to be constructed in the nation EXCEEDS BY 196,159 the number needed to keep pace with the enrollment growth.

2. There is now (1953-54) one teacher for every 25.5 pupils, as compared with 30 pupils per teacher in 1929-30.

3. School conditions have improved more rapidly in poor states than in wealthy ones.

4. Large school expenditures do not necessarily result in better educational achievements. The achievements have been greater, in many instances, in the states with relatively lower school expenditures and lower per capita wealth than in the states of higher school costs and greater wealth.

Under an alternative proposal expected to be advanced by the national Administration as a substitute for the first measure to be considered, school construction grants to Indiana would amount to $4,810,000 annually at a Hoosier tax cost of $6,025,000 annually, the chamber said.

Services Held For Ira Wertman

Funeral services were held Friday at Hicksville for Ira S. Wertman, 67, a former resident of St. Joe. Mr. Wertman died unexpectedly on Tuesday of last week in his home at Auburn. Death was attributed to a heart attack.

Mr. Wertman was born January 3, 1889, in Cedar Creek Township, Allen County, son of the late Harmon and Alice Peters Wertman. He resided in Hicksville for many years and later the family moved to St. Joe where he was employed at the Sechler pickle company. The family resided at St. Joe until last May when they moved to Auburn.

Survivors include the widow, the former Troas McKelvey of West Milford; five sons, Harold Wertman and Ira Wertman, Jr. of Grabill, Keith L. Comets Lose, Win In Pair

Riverdale's first appearance at the Coliseum at Fort Wayne was not too encouraging to the large number of local fans who watched them encounter the Avilla Panthers. When the last horn had sounded, the score showed the Comets on the very short end of a 69-34 score. The game was played Friday night.

With an all-court press facing them, the locals were guilty of making numerous mistakes, frequently passing into the hands of their opponent on pass-ins under their defensive basket.

After a first quarter that ended at 14-8 in favor of the Panthers, they began rolling and posted a 35-10 half-time margin. At the three-quarter mark it was 51-19 before the Comets began to do any sizeable scoring.

In the second game Fort Wayne Central employed the same strategy as the Panthers, putting on an all-court press and forcing Auburn into costly errors. The final score was Central 69, Auburn 54.

On Wednesday night of this week the Comets started slow against the Churubusco Eagles but finished strong to post a 55-49 win at the Leo gym.

The Eagles got off to an 8-0 lead before Davy Walters tallied two field goals and a pair of free throws to put Riverdale back in the game. Churubusco hit well during the remainer of the first half particularly on shots from the corners.

After the half-time intermission they cooled somewhat on shooting percentages and the locals pulled ahead to a comfortable ten-point margin in the late stages of the contest.

The Comets looked much better in comparison with their Coliseum appearance last week turning in some outstanding teamwork in working through the Eagles' zone defense.

Riverdale's next game will be played February 10 against Harlan at Waterlo.

The honor roll, announced in last week's News, represented a genuine achievement on the part of the people who made it, but it represented an especially fine bit of work on the part of those students who were making it for the fourth consecutive time this year (all three grading periods and the semester roll). They were Linda Lothamer, Randy Keeler, Mary Munsey, Jean Nusbaum, Ronnie Simpson, Martha Smith, Merle Wagner and Jean Zimmerman of the 7th and 8th grades; Larry Friend and Darlene Hook of the 9th; Delores Davis, Reta Gerig, Wally Tustison, Bonnie Waters and Bob Wilder of the 10th; Phil Carpenter, Doris Dowden, Charles Easley, Linda Hawk, Karon Holman, Janet Jarrett, Judy Koch and Marilyn Smith of the 11th; and Wayne Akey, Kathy Anthony, Mary Beckman, Andrea Carr, Fletta Griggs, Doris Kruse and Gladys Ross of the 12th. Four of those students, Phil Carpenter, Doris Dowden, Charles Easley and Andrea Carr, turned the trick in five subjects. There were no solid "A" students (three grading periods, a semester test and a semester grade in each subject). Linda Hawk and Wayne Akey came within one, however, with 19 and 1 ("B") records.

Among those persons who went home with a puppy from Mrs. Cleland's "collection" and some misgivings as to how the parents would receive the pet was Miss Machlik. It gets to stay.

Students of the school swung into gear in the PTA Carnival project by electing King and Queen candidates last Friday. Chosen for the classes were:

Seniors—Dave Walters and Janice Mickelson.

Juniors—Charles Easley and Nina Hoover.

Sophomores—Roger Ransom and Norma Timmerman.

Freshmen — Raymond Pratt and Esther Fetters.

Grade 8—Dicky Logsdon and Nila LaRowe.

Grade 7—Orval Wallace and Linda Lothamer.

Among those projects being talked about among students of the classes are a shoe-shine stand (Betas) and a side show (Seniors, Tom Hart, M. C.).

The last issue of the school paper was a bargain for the student body (12 pages for 5c). Perhaps the size was due to Mr. Stackhouse's suggestion that a blank space be left in the paper and these words printed under it when necessary, "This space not filled by an article assigned to ————."

The Junior Class chose their class play last Friday from a list of five submitted to them by their director. It's a comedy, and it's title is a secret, yet.

The Senior Class last week chose their commencemnt speaker, a Y.M.C.A. secretary from a downstate community. When the next and last yearbook deadline (Feb. 18) is met, the greatest share of Senior Class works will have been completed. Among these things were: Play, Yearbook, Trip planning, PTA Carnival, Commencement arrangements, taffy sales.

A committee of Beta members journeyed to Waterloo HS recently to present the operations of a Beta Club to interested students there. If Waterloo forms a club, Riverdale will lose its distinction of being the northernmost club in the United States, but it will become the Banner Club (for extending Beta Work to another school) that it has long desired. New officers of the Betas, elected at mid-year, are: Delores Davis, prsident; Phil Carpenter, vice president; Doris Dowden, secretary; and Marilyn Smith, treasurer. Retiring officers in these posts were Fletta Griggs, Mary Beckman, Doris Kruse and Andrea Carr.

GRATITUDE

Lesson for February 5, 1956

Gratitude is not a lost art; but it is a rare one. Ten men were cured of the same disease at the same time, but only one took time off to be thankful. When you hear people complaining about other people, one of the most frequent complaints is that So-and-so was not grateful. "He never said thank you . . She took it for granted . . . They never wrote me. . . After all I'd done for them, they left me alone. . . With him it's all take and no give. . ." Many of these complaints are true, although (to be honest about it) many of them come from people who aren't too grateful themselves.

Why Don't They Come Back?

When Jesus cured those ten lepers, even he seems to have been surprised that only one of them came back to thank him. We don't know, but perhaps we can venture a guess, as to why nine-tenths of those men who had felt the miracle-working power of God, went their unthankful ways in silence. One man may have thought: "Who knows? This cure may not be permanent. Better not rush around shouting Hallelujah till I see whether this cure is going to stick." Another perahps said to himself, "Yes, I'm cured. But I'm sorry it had to be that Jesus from Nazareth. He doesn't have too good a reputation with the authorities—it isn't healthy to be known as one of his friends. I'll play safe. . ." Another one maybe really meant to thank Jesus; but he "lost his address" as we would say. He kept on meaning to, some day—but he never did. And perhaps still another fully intended to express his thanks, but he said to himself, "Just an ordinary hasty Thank-you won't do. I'll wait till I can do something really big for Him, something that will repay him, perhaps with interest, for what he has done. . ." But the time never came. Aren't these some of the very reasons you and I give for not being grateful to God or man?

Cause for Rejoicing

Curing leprosy the way Jesus cured it is a miracle in anybody's language. Most of us think we would be grateful for miracles, if and when—but for ordinary days, the usual course of events, we don't see God's hand and we do not feel any call to be thankful. As a matter of fact, God's mercies surround us on every side. We owe him life to begin with; it was God's creative power that brought life into being, in a universe hitherto lifeless. It is God's providence that has kept the stream of life flowing down the ages; his providence that gave you the ancestors without whom you could not be what you are. When you think of the enormous number of accidents (to call them that) which might easily have prevented your being born at all, and the "accidents" without which you would never have been born on this planet, you begin to see how grateful you should be. Most people, probably, if saved from sudden death, especially if others have been killed right beside them, will breathe a trembling "Thank-you" to God.

Gratitude and Happiness

When Jesus said to the one grateful man, "Your faith has saved you," he was using a word that means to restore to full life. There is a hint here that gratitude is a flower whose root is faith. Also there is a hint that the thankful mind is the happy mind. People who go through the world convinced that the world owes them a living, people whose prayers are mostly "Gimme," are likely to be a little sour. The world does not give them the lush living they want. God does not answer their prayers when and as they fancy he should. So a seed of unhappiness festers in their minds. But if a man will think every day what he owes to God and to man, if it really dawns on him what a debtor he is, his mind will be bright. All this—for me? he will think; and the thought will be a seed of happiness blossoming under sun and cloud. Time spent in being grateful—in living-out gratitude, is never wasted. It is a mark of the healthy mind and spirit.

IN LOVING MEMORY—

Twilight and evening bell,
And after that the dark!
And may there be no sadness of farewell
When I, at last, embark;
For tho' from out our bourne
Of time and place
The flood may bear me far,
I hope to meet my Pilot face to face
When I have crossed the bar.

Sandra McCann Local Home Ec Winner

Riverdale's Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow has been named.

Sandra McCann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McCann of St. Joe, has earned through competitive examination the honor of representing Riverdale High School in statewide judging for $1,500 and $500 scholarships, it has been announced by General Mills, sponsor of this home appreciation program. A quarter million young women throughout the nation participated.

Miss McCann will also be eligible to compete for a $5,000 national scholarship award to be made to the All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow.

She demonstrated her homemaking knowledge and attitude by receiving the highest score for her school in a written examination which was given graduating senior girls in 10,222 of the nation's public, private and parochial high schools. Her test paper will be entered in competition with 411 school winners in this state.

The girl selected state Homemaker of Tomorrow will receive a $1,500 scholarship and a trip in April with her school advisor to Washington, colonial Williamsburg, Va., and Philadelphia where the national winner will be selected from the state winners.

Each state runner-up will receive a $500 scholarship.

"The purpose of this program, now in its second year, is to encourage young women to think seriously and realistically about the responsibility of the home and family as a career," said Harry A. Bullis, chairman of the board of General Mills. "Our corporation has a social responsibility over and above the sale of products and services -- an obligation to help create happy homes."

The written test, designed by Science Resarch Associates of Chicago and administered by the schools, tested the participants in 10 major areas of homemaking -- family relationship, spiritual and moral values, child development and care, health and safety, utilization and conservation of human and physical resources, money management, recreation, home care, community participation and continuing education.

A profile chart was privided participating schools for pretest stduy of these homemaking categories, and each girl who took the test received a homemaking vocational guidance booklet. Each school winner was awarded a golden pin designed by Trifari and her school will receive a cook book.

Miss McCann receives her homemaker's training at Riverdale High School under the direction of Mrs. Carol Puesley, head of the home ec department.

AUBURN, INDIANA

EXECUTIVE OFFICE CABLE ADDRESS—ACDCO

DEAR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS

Our unusual automobile plan originated five years ago when our company president, Mr. Dallas E. Winslow, adopted the plan of giving each associate of our different companies a new automobile each year. Our companies are located at Auburn, Indiana; Springfield, Ohio; Cleveland, Ohio and Detroit, Michigan.

The automobiles that have been driven by our associates have never been traded in on the new cars we purchase. Previously we sold these cars in quantity wholesale to automobile dealers. Due to so many requests from our friends and customers to sell them cars, we decided to offer these select automobiles for sale to our many friends and neighbors.

For the past year we have been visiting with you and telling you of our policy at the Auburn-Cord-Duesenberg Company; our dealings with our associates, and our "terms with a heart". It has always been our desire to provide for our customers any plan that would further extend the cordial relationship and goodwill which we feel exists between us. It is with justifiable pride that Mr. Winslow has announced a new plan -- "ASSURANCE WITH INSURANCE" -- AT NO EXTRA COST TO YOU!!

In a nutshell -- this means that in the event of ACCIDENT, SICKNESS or DEATH, (God forbid), all the remaining payments due the company will be paid in full, under the conditions provided by our group insurance policy. We have further provided -- that in the event of STRIKES or LAY-OFFS, several payments will be made for you without obligation of repayment.

We like to think of our terms as "terms with a heart". By this, we mean any reasonable terms you desire will be considered up to 36 months to pay. Your payments may be made direct to us and you may be assured of our co-operation in case an extension of a payment is needed as we do not sell your note.

IF YOU WILL CALL.....OR COME DOWN to our factory showroom --- S. Wayne Street --- and see our large selection of nearly new and used cars, we will be delighted to further discuss this unique plan to our mutual benefit, without obligation to you.

PARKING FACILITIES -- Open Evenings Until 9 P. M. -- Saturdays Until 5 P. M.

Assuring you of our friendship and co-operation,

Around the Town

With the Editor

Well, after a comparatively dry winter, Mother Nature broke loose here the last couple of weeks. First that four or five inch snow a souple of weeks ago, then another one or two inches last Wednesday, then the big icer Monday morning.

It was really bad for some of the folks hereabouts. Melba Chapman skidded off the road west of town near the Layman place and had to be pulled out. Peck Reinhart spun around twice in St. Joe in front of the Hursey property. Marcel Pugsley took almost two and a half hours to get to work at Fort Wayne; Bill Hurni and his carload did likewise.

Ed Storer had difficulties, too, but his came with the snow last Friday. He and another car had an audible meeting Friday night between Auburn and Garrett—about $200 audible on the Storer car.

The roads and highways were fairly well cleared off by late Monday afternoon, but the side streets. . . oh boy.

Monday afternoon I stepped out to get into the car. As I did a small commercial delivery truck came down the street and I thought, "You better slow down or miss these little puddles—or I'm going to get wet." Needless to say I wasn't thinking too well of the driver as he approached and maybe had an appropriate name in mind for him.

But he passed without giving me a shower, having pulled to the midle of the street somewhat to avoid the water. As he went past and on his way, I looked after him and was greeted by these words on the back door of the vehicle—"NUTS TO YOU - from Rogers"!

—That's what they sell.

With all of the gossip caused by Frank Sechler's two-week vacations, he says he's going to give 'em up.

—They're too hard on other people.

Too Much - - ? ?

A little bird says that the students of the local school are encountering some difficulty in their efforts to sell tickets to the P.T.A. ham supper. The reason for the difficulty is that a dollar and a quarter is too much for the supper.

It is a matter of judgment as to the worth of any meal. To some the suppers served in the past have been worth more than the price paid. To others they have not been worth any more than that price. It is an extreme judgment that will say patrons have been "gyped" at the suppers. What should be considered in any judgment is that the affair is being sponsored by a local organization for local use and the people involved are doing their best to make it a success.

If it is too much - a dolar and a quarter - what is the reason? In fact, what is the reason or necessity for the P.T.A. putting on such an event at all? It all goes back to we the people - including those who complain about the cost of the ham supper. If we had been conscientious enough about the operation of the school and its needs at the time that the budget was prepared, we would have investigated to find out if enough money was being appropriated to cover the expenses of the school in all departments. And if enough had been appropriated, there would be no need for the P.T.A. to undertake such a large project to raise funds for school use.

The P.T.A. should be an instrument for fostering understanding and cooperation between the teacher, the student and the parent. It should be a means of clearing up any misunderstanding of a public nature. But it is not used for that purpose to any great extent. It is used as a means of raising money and little else. If there is any reason why more use is not made of it as a means to foster understanding, it is the fear that the discussion will just end up in a "fight." So the organization goes on limiting its operation to providing for the needs that should be provided for by the school budget. There is no reason why, if a school music department is considered an asset to the school, the P.T.A. should be called upon to provide instruments and partial financing of uniforms. There was no reason why, if a school lunch program is important to the welfare of the student, the P.T.A. should have been called upon to finance one-half of the original installation. Certainly, there are unforeseen expenses that can be taken care of by the organization. But they should be of a comparative minor nature. The amounts involved in the past few years have totaled in the thousands and this ceases to be of a minor nature.

But then - the other hand, if the tax rate had been high enough to cover these major expenses, what would we have heard - "the tax rate is too high!"

—Sometimes you just can't win.

——C'mon, let's buy a ticket to the supper.

The Proper Goal

". . . o'er the land of the free . . ."

What mockery is made of those words in our national anthem by the actions of our country as reflected in the affairs of today.

What food for propaganda purposes we ourselves furnish the enemies of freedom by such happenings as the riots caused by the attempt of a member of the negro race to enter a university, riots causing the president of the university to ask for National Guard assistance in quelling the disturbances.

The racial question keeps popping up in the news frequently, the riots at a southern university being the latest such event. Whose fault is it . . . the negro's? . . . the white's? The answer is . . .both.

In any relationship which involves numbers, there are always those who are determined to antagonize. What their reason may be depends on the circumstances. It may be hatred instilled by the past, it may be selfish interest for profit in some form, it may be . . . well, who knows. At any rate there is friction and it is caused by both sides seeking a goal. The difficulty occurs because both sides pick the wrong goal.

In this latest instance, if a negro is attempting to gain entrance to a university merely for the purpose of setting a precedent, then the wrong goal has been set. Tolerance cannot be forced on people. It is a matter of education. We have trouble because the white's hatred of his dark-skinned brother is applied to all of that race. There is a failure to be respectful of the ability and intelligence that are present in the negro race, as in all races. There are white men who are undesirable in society, there are negroes who are undesirable, there are those from all races who are undesirable in the sense that they do not maintain an attitude of respect for others. If they attempt to set themselves in among another race just for the sake of mingling, to show their rights, the wrong goal has been set. If in retaliation they are prevented by written law from mingling in any way, just because of the color of their skin, the wrong goal has been set on the other side.

It is disappointing that men can pledge allegiance to their country, can sing the anthem of their conutry, can say they are serving the cause of freedom in their duties as a citizen (including those in public office), yet can at the same time blacken the character of an entire race because of the faults of the few—ignoring the faults of their own race.

Racial segregation will not be accomplished in this nation in any peaceful and lasting way by setting that as a goal in itself. It will come about in a natural way, if it does come about, not as segregation but as racial respect, when members of all races realize the differences in themselves and appreciate and accept that nothing is gained by intermixing, if equal opportunites are available for all.

BIG STEP TOWARD SOUNDNESS

There has been a great deal of concern expressed among sober-thinking people as a result of the proposed upturn in Federal government expenditures as recommended in President Eisenhower's budget message. The concern is, I think, well founded; but there is a comforting factor in the budget message. For the first time in 25 years we have the prospect of a balanced budget as a result of deliberate planning. This means, if Congress approves the budget as submitted, that our Federal government will be adopting a fiscal program of pay-as-you-go.

So far as the future of our country is concerned, and with it the long-range welfare of all of us, this long-delayed action outweighs the disturbing fact of a rising Federal governmental cost. As a general rule the citizens of America would not trouble themselves individually to take collective action toward cutting down governmental expenses so long as a good portion of the rise was being financed with borrowed money and with little pain to the taxpayer.

Nations can fail, can go bankrupt — as history shows. And one of the surest ways to national bankruptcy is the decay of monetary responsibility in the government of a nation. With scarcely a notable exception, the national debt has been rising each year for the last 25. Taxpayers now are paying out approximately $7 billion a year in interest alone on this huge debt—and this is about as much as all the taxpayers in America—corporations and individuals—were paying for all Federal governmental services just 20 years ago, in 1935.

Senator Harry F. Byrd, Democrat of Virginia and widely acknowledged authority on public finance, and Senator Styles Bridges, Republican of New Hampshire, ranking minority member of the Senate Appropriations Committee, have jointly introduced a resolution in Congress providing for a constitutional amendment which would prohibit an unbalanced federal budget—except in times of war or other national emergency. If approved by Congress and the states, the amendment would require Congress to stay in session each year until it had produced a balanced budget by reduction in expenditures, increased revenue, or both. This legislative step commands the serious attention of any citizen interested in his personal welfare and the future of his nation.

SCHOOL FOR EGG INDUSTRY TO BE HELD TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 14

The county extension office has announced that an egg grading and candling school, to train producers, wholesalers and retailers, will be held on Tuesday evening, February 14, in the court house assembly room at Auburn at 7:00 p.m.

The new regulations to the Indiana Egg Law directly affect the way in which eggs are sold. The new regulations must be considered by the farmer, whether he sells eggs to retailers or retails them himself.

The Indiana Egg Law directly influences the way in which grocers and other retailers can sell eggs.

The various aspects of the new regulations and how they apply to producers, retailers and wholesalers will be thoroughly discussed at this meeting. Representatives from the Purdue Poultry and Agricultural Economics Department and from the State Egg Inspector's Office will be on the program.

Instructions will be given on candling and grading of eggs, and the opportunity offered for actual practice in egg candling.

It is suggested that those interested in candling bring two dozen eggs to see how they would grade.

FILM SHOWN AT HIGH SCHOOL BY AUXILIARY

Riverdale High Sschool students who may be interested in a planned career saw the film "Within Your Hands," on Friday. The picture showed how classroom theory comes to life as advanced physical therapy students begin to use their skill to heal the sick, help the lame to walk and ease pain. "Within Your Hands" is an educational feature from The American Physical Therapy Association to encourage young people to seek a career in one of the most critcially short-handed occupations.

The film was booked by the chairman of Education and Scholarship, Mrs. Vernon Halter, of Jack Brinker Post Unit 409, American Legion Auxiliary, as part of their program of aid to counseling students. This Health Career of Therapy is of special interest as children of employees of General Electric and of members of the Methodist Church are offered free scholarships. Many sororities and social clubs also offer scholarships in the field of therapy.

Other films also shown to the school assembly as part of the Auxiliary Community Service project were one on Civil Defense and another on cancer detection. The color sound film, "Man Alive," is an animated feature to show the lack of good sense behind the wrong reactions to the fear of cancer. It stresses the general danger signals in early detection for probable cure. The community services chairman, Mrs. Harold Kryder, provided this through the courtesy of the Allen County Cancer Center.

The citizen's role in "Time of Disaster" is a sound film illustrating the operation of a Civil Defense Control Center, rescue work, first-aid, and the registration of evacuees, in natural disasters such as hurricanes, tornadoes, floods, large fires and explosions. This film was from the Fort Wayne Center.

Bulletins from each project were also distributed to those who saw the films. Each committee project is also slanted towards aid to all children as an important phase of the Child Welfare program carried out by the Auxiliary under the Legion leadership. Mrs. Harold Noragon is District Chairman of the committee.

RURAL YOUTH

The DeKalb County Rural Youth held their regular monthly meeting on January 19 at the court house with 51 members and guests in attendance.

The president, DeWayne Weicht, called the meeting to order with group singing led by Norine Ankenbruck. Devotions were given by Avis Armstrong, which were concluded with a trio singing, "Bless This House."

The report of the last meeting was given by the secretary, Jana Lee Opdycke. Treasurer's report was given by Marilyn Myers.

George Wappes, who has served as an exchange student with the International Farm Youth Exchange program in Switzerland, gave an interesting and educational talk on his experiences during his stay in that country. He showed beautiful slides which better illustrated that country.

A girls' trio composed of Avis Afmstrong, Helen Zerkle and Onalee Moughler, all from Butler, entertained with several selections.

Refreshments were served by Leoma Vian, Rosemary Miller and Stanley Bonecutter. The group enjoyed square dancing led by Jean Sliger.

EFFECTIVE PRAYING

Lesson for Febraury 12, 1956

When most people think of prayer they think of only one kind though there are several. The word "prayer" suggests asking for something; though it ought to suggest thankfulness, confession of sin, aspiration, trust. But leaving all these other kinds of prayer out of account, what a wonderful thing prayer is! If I could go to a millionaire each year and ask him for anything I wanted; or if I could have an interview with the most famous person in the world with the privilege of asking one favor —how dizzy I would be at the pleasure of the prospect! Yet God has more treasure than a millionaire, and the fame of the most renowned men is nothing compared to his glory. It is such a God to whom I can take my desires and requests, every day, every night of the year. It is only because prayer is so free that we take it for granted and fail to appreciate it. We might value the opportunity more if we had to pay well for it.

The Price of Prayer

In a way, prayer does have a price. That is to say, if prayer is to be effective, certain conditions have to be met. Jesus told some stories which bring out what the conditions are. One is the tale of two men who went into the same temple to pray. One was an old hand at it—if there was a "praying class" of Jews (corresponding to a working class, or a professional class) in those days, he was a prominent member of it. The other man had perhaps very seldom prayed. The first man was a regular contributor to his church; the other man—if he was like the average in his profession — seldom darkened the door of a place of worship. But in Jesus' story these two men found themselves side by side in the same temple, and only one was "justified," that is to say, only one got favorable attention from God. And that one was the man who had nothing to say but "God, be merciful to me a sinner." To ask God for this and for that, as if we deserved it, as if it were our right to demand gifts from God—this is no way to pray. Effective prayer begins with confession and repentance, not with demands.

Not To the Proud

Let us make a short list of some differences between wrong prayer and right prayer. Wrong prayer is really talking to oneself, or talking so as to be overheard by some one we want to impress. Right prayer is addressed to God alone. Wrong prayer is proud; right prayer is humble. Wrong prayer wants God to support the pride of the prayer. Right prayer casts pride away and comes to God without a claim. In wrong prayer, I come to God asking him to do something for me which will give me a better reason than I now have for being proud of myself. In right prayer, I come to God asking him to cleanse me of the pride which makes me feel that God himself is hardly necessary. In wrong prayer, the one who prays rises from his knees just as he was, for he has no wish to be changed; in right prayer, the one who prays rises a better man, for he asked God to forgive and change him.

Keeping At It

Jesus seldom if ever tried to put all the truth into one parable. He was generally content with setting out one truth at a time. So the parable of the bothersome widow, the woman who finally wore out a stubborn and selfish judge just by keeping after him—that parable does not say everything about prayer. But it does teach one thing: Keep at it! Jesus is careful not to say that God is anything like that judge. What he does mean is that if even a bad character like that judge can be moved to do the right thing by a persistent woman, surely God our Father in heaven, who is neither lazy nor stubborn nor ill-willed, will listen to persistent prayer. We must be careful not to read into this parable more than Jesus said. There is no promise here that God counts the number of times we pray for a thing, and that if we only pray enough times he will be sure to answer. There is no guarantee that God will answer any prayer we can think of if we say it often enough. What Jesus promises is that God will bring justice at last . . . if we keep on wanting it.

George Gallup, Director of the American Institute of Public Opinion, recently said in a newspaper article that during the average week of last year approrimately 49,600,000 adults attended church. What reason does the average American give to account for this higher church attendance over that of preceding years? My reason probably is somewhat different than some.

It is my firm conviction that when we have a leader in government administration that is addicted to divorce, drink, drunkenness, communism, corruption, greed and graft, such a life is reflected in the population of that nation and church attendance declines.

While on the other hand when we have a leader in national government who respects, fears, honors, worships God regularly and sets such an example before the Nation, such a life is also reflected in the population of that Nation and church attendance goes up. "Righteousness exalteth a nation; but sin is a reproach to any people" (Prov. 14:34).

For further reference, see II Kings 21:1—23:25. Hosea 6, 7.

Go to church next Lord's Day.

There will be a Valentine Party at the church on Friday night of this week. Pot-luck supper at 7:00 p.m. Fellowship and fun will follow the supper. Everybody come.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE CABLE ADDRESS—ACDCO

DEAR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS

Our unusual automobile plan originated five years ago when our company president, Mr. Dallas E. Winslow, adopted the plan of giving each associate of our different companies a new automobile each year. Our companies are located at Auburn, Indiana; Springfield, Ohio; Cleveland, Ohio and Detroit, Michigan.

The automobiles that have been driven by our associates have never been traded in on the new cars we purchase. Previously we sold these cars in quantity wholesale to automobile dealers. Due to so many requests from our friends and customers to sell them cars, we decided to offer these select automobiles for sale to our many friends and neighbors.

For the past year we have been visiting with you and telling you of our policy at the Auburn-Cord-Duesenberg Company; our dealings with our associates, and our "terms with a heart". It has always been our desire to provide for our customers any plan that would further extend the cordial relationship and goodwill which we feel exists between us. It is with justifiable pride that Mr. Winslow has announced a new plan -- "ASSURANCE WITH INSURANCE" -- AT NO EXTRA COST TO YOU!!

In a nutshell -- this means that in the event of ACCIDENT, SICKNESS or DEATH, (God forbid), all the remaining payments due the company will be paid in full, under the conditions provided by our group insurance policy. We have further provided -- that in the event of STRIKES or LAY-OFFS, several payments will be made for you without obligation of repayment.

We like to think of our terms as "terms with a heart". By this, we mean any reasonable terms you desire will be considered up to 36 months to pay. Your payments may be made direct to us and you may be assured of our co-operation in case an extension of a payment is needed as we do not sell your note.

IF YOU WILL CALL.....OR COME DOWN to our factory showroom --- S. Wayne Street --- and see our large selection of nearly new and used cars, we will be delighted to further discuss this unique plan to our mutual benefit, without obligation to you.

PARKING FACILITIES -- Open Evenings Until 9 P. M. -- Saturdays Until 5 P. M.

Assuring you of our friendship and co-operation,

Sincerely,
M. J. Klinger

Around the Town

With the Editor

Tuesday evening that pretty pink Dodge of the Billows' got smashed up here in town.

That's just like dropping an Easter egg.

The Chicago Motor Club put out a souvenir edition of their News in honor of the club's fifty years of service last week. It contained some pictures of the good old days and the trials and tribulations of the old-time drivers.

There were also some jokes about the old Model T. Here's one of 'em:

Farmer Jones was tearing the roof off his barn. A neighbor driving by asked him what he was going to do with the old tin. "That's the problem," said farmer Jones. "I just don't know.'"

"Why not send it to Ford," his friend suggested. "They always need tin."

Farmer Jones did as suggested and was dumbfounded when, a few days later, he received a letter from the company saying, "Your car is one of the worst wrecks we have ever seen, but we will have it fixed for you within a week or ten days."

There should be more to say here but - now P.T.A., wait a minute, let me finish - but with the big - I said wait a minute, P.T.A., I just wanted to say that - oh, all right, go ahead, get it off your chest - -

NEW LANDING SYSTEM ON AIRCRAFT CARRIERS

Of interest to some readers who have young men serving in the armed forces, in this particular instance the Navy, will be a recent release from Fleet Tome Town News Center at Great Lakes, Ill.

The release contains information of a new system of landing aircraft at sea using mirrors and colored lights. The system was given its first tests several weeks ago.

Based on an idea developed by the British Navy, the new landing system consists of a large concave mirror and banks of green and amber lights mounted on the port side of a carrier's angled flight deck. About 150 feet astern of the mirror is another row of lights, amber in color, which are reflected as an image or "blob" of light. It is the image in relation to side reference lights which the pilot sees when making a landing.

As the pilot approaches the flight deck for a landing, the position of the lights and an image in the mirror indicate whether his glide path, speed and alitiude are in proper relation to each other for a safe landing.

The new system, for both day and night operations, is known as the "deck landing mirror sight," the combination may eventually replace the Landing Signal Officer who now brings the pilot and his aircraft to a landing with the use of hand-held paddles or lights.

With the advent of jet aviation and the increased size and speed of modern aircraft, carrier operations have become more demanding on the LSO's ability.

According to Navy Cdr. Americo J. Vescovi, project officer for the tests, "the new system not only reduces the element of human error, but also gives quick and accurate signals to the pilot - literally with the speed of light. It also allows the pilot to pick up a reference signal at a far greater distance."

Spencerville News

Janice Hollabaugh, Reporter

On Monday evening at six o'clock the following relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Max Markle and sons, Maxie and Jerry, to help celebrate the 75th birthday of Grandma Markle: Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Smith and Shirley, Sharon and Larry; Mrs. Kate Markle and Sonny and Barbara; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fielman of Grabill; Miss Gaylon Markle and the honored guest, Mrs. Ruby Markle and the host and hostess and sons. A pot luck supper was enjoyed by all.

Thanks to the members of the Shrine in this community all 5th grade pupils had fun attending the annual Shrine Circus in Fort Wayne recently. Mrs. Potter, 5th grade teacher, Mrs. Dobbs and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn J. Brendel accompanied the children while Mr. Harold Smith drove the school bus for the 45 pupils who attended.

Mrs. Fred Stemen and baby are spending the week in Hammond with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Paschen. Alfred graduated from Purdue University in January of this year with a degree in chemical engineering and is now associated with the Standard Oil Co. in Hammond.

On Saturday morning in North Baltimore, O., Mrs. Marguerite Hoffman and Mr. Henry Markle attended the wedding of the former's nephew, Mr. David Lloyd.

On Thursday Mr. and Mrs. George Beams and Mr. and Mrs. Cal Laux were in Fort Wayne for the day.

Mrs. Roy Chaney submitted to major surgery at Parkview Memorial Hospital in Fort Wayne Monday morning.

Fred Stemen is attending a Commonwealth Insurance Co. meeting in Louisville, Ky., this week.

The Booster Class of St. Peter's Lutheran Church had its monthly meeting Sunday in the church basement. After a pot luck dinner at noon a short business meeting was held. It was decided to aid the Boy Scouts in Spencerville in any way possible and to give them $10.00 at this time.

Monday morning Mrs. Erving Vendrely and Miss Nancy Vendrely left for a trip through the south and to the state of Florida.

Mr. Otis Brown attended the boat show in Chicago Sunday.

Fifteen members and one guest were present at the February meeting of the Women of St. Peter's Lutheran Church at the home of Mrs. Helen Koch. Mrs. Alma Hart and Mrs. Flossie Rhodes were also on the hostess committee. The devotions were given by Jennie Walter and Edna Goldsmith in a very thought-provoking and inspiring theme pertaining to the real meaning of Lent. A short business meeting was held and the members voted to give $5 to the Boy Scout Troop in Spencerville. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Spencerville Scout Troop 172, with Scout leaders Bill Hudson and Jack Hollabaugh, attended the Lincoln birthday ceremony held at Fort Wayne Sunday. Boys attending the ceremony included Floyd Coburn, Donnie Moore, Steve Faehnrich, Terry Brattain, Jimmy Norris, Jim Hollabaugh and Parks Hollabaugh. Jack Root of Spencerville, scoutmaster of Ft. Wayne Troop 40, participated in the wreath laying ceremony at the Lincoln statue in front of the Lincoln Life Insurance Company building. Nine counties of the Anthony Wayne Council were represented at the ceremony. State representative W. O. Hughes delivered a speech on "Lincoln As A Boy."

TAX FACTS

Helps On Filing Returns

The eve of April 16 will see a mad scramble in many households to put together the necessary facts and figures for the federal income tax returns due on that date. (April 15 falls on a Sunday this year, making April 16 the deadline.)

The last minute rush produces not only long lines at Internal Revenue Service offices, but also many careless mistakes by taxpayers.

Most of the errors are very simple. For example, about one million returns are filed every year with signatures missing. (This includes joint returns only one signature and individual returns with no signature at all.)

Little slips in arithmetic last year resulted in overpayments by taxpayers of $18,000,000. Taxpayers got back these overpayments eventually, after the government discovered the mistakes, but the taxpayer cannot rely on the government to save him from all his errors.

The mistakes of arithmetic favoring the taxpayers were even larger—perhaps not entirely by coincidence. All returns are checked, and when an underpayment is discovered the government not only collects the difference, but also charges interest.

Apart from obvious mistakes, many taxpayers overlook opportunities to claim exemptions and deductions, and other ways to reduce their tax.

In order to help you avoid such pitfalls, this newspaper is publishing a series of articles prepared with the help of the national and state organizations of certified public accountants. These articles — if you save them and use them along with the official instructions that come with your tax forms—may save you money.

Your first step is to consider whether you should file at all, and then what kind of a return to file.

For income tax purposes you are not required to file a return if your gross income in 1955 was less than $600, or if you are 65 or older and had less than $1,200 gross income. But if you had income from self-employment of $400 or more , the return must be filed for social security tax purposes.

Don't forget that tax on salary or wages may have been withheld during the year by your employer, even if your income was less than $600, and the only way to get it back is to file a tax return.

A common mistake is the filing of a separate return by a wife who had a small income. If the wife files a separate return, she is not permitted to file another return jointly with her husband nor is her husband allowed to claim an exemption for the wife on his separate return.

Most married couples will save money by filing a joint return, as this "splits" their income to put them in the same bracket as though each of them had received half the total income.

There are unusual cases, however, such as those involving capital losses, in which separate returns might reslut in a saving. If this is a possibility, it is best to figure both jointly and separately before deciding which wayto file.

The instructions that come with your tax forms give further information. Help is also available from the Internal Revenue Service, which urges you to consult a properly qualified advisor if you need outside assistance.

Next week — Save Money With the Right Form.

Were you in church last Sunday? Inspiring wasn't it? Whoever was there besides you didn't matter. What the minister said did not matter too much. What songs were sung was immaterial. To be sure all of these things were helpful but the important thing was that you were there in communion with your Lord! That communion should have run the whole gamut of our sins and His power to forgive.

Well, enough of sermonising for now. Thinking of clean living reminds me that we have a fine selection of clean, new sets of dishes. We have services for four, eight or twelve, in prices from $5.95 to "way up there."

We are determined to be known as the china store for this area. Many of our sets are open stock. Dishes make fine wedding gifts. Oh yes, we have Boonton ware unbreakable dishes, too.

MAN CAN CHOOSE

Lesson for February 19, 1956

The difference between man and the other animals is not in one thing but in many things. But one of the most important facts about man is his power of choice. Some little creatures of the sea just sit in one place their life long. Others drift with the tides. Higher animals like dogs and horses make some choices; but only man makes or can make, the enormous number of decisions that every man makes, and only man can make choices that have the far-ranging results that human choices sometimes have. A dog does not decide what time he will get up; but a man sets an alarm clock. A dog does not select his breakfast; man does (or would like to). A human being decides what to wear, where to work, whom to marry, whether to have children, whether to be a good citizen or no citizen at all. He selects a school or college, he selects his friends, he picks out a lot in the cemetery, he makes a will. Man is the choosing animal. And he is this because he is more than body. He is mind and soul.

When Choices Are Important

Everybody knows that some choices are more important than others. At least everybody should know this; but for some reason, people will put more thought into trifling decisions than they do into big ones. People need to learn what is important and what is not. A woman who had had a nervous breakdown told the writer that it all started when she couldn't make up her hind which of two hats to buy. One was only one dollar more than the other, and she could afford the dollar. But she actually lay awake all night worrying about whether she had a moral right to spend that extra dollar when there were so many people in the world. So she worried herself right into a sanitarium because she built up a trifling decision into a Terrific Problem. What makes a choice important? Surely a choice that lasts a long time is more important than one that makes a difference of only a few hours or days. A choice that affects one's whole life is more important than one that affects only one part of it. A choice that lasts beyond this life into the next, a choice for eternity, is surely the most important of all.

Choosing Christ

Becoming a Christian can be described in various ways: one of the most meaningful is "choosing Christ." Jesus himself used to say "Believe in me" or "Follow me," which meant much the same thing. Choosing, or believing in Christ, is much more than just adding certain beliefs to whatever else you happen to believe. It is more than adding one more person to a list of persons you already admire. Choosing Christ is a far more profound thing. Real choice of Christ involves a turning-about of the whole personality. The captain of a ship headed north does not merely believe that North exists; he heads the ship that way, he keeps it moving toward the north star. So a person who chooses Christ does not simply believe that he exists, or that he is Son of God. He turns the helm of his life toward him, he keeps moving in the direction of Christ the "Morning Star." If that rich young man whom Jesus loved had followed instead of turning away, who knows what a changed man he would have been? We do know that the dishonest grafter Zacchaeus, a man of whom his neighbors could have expected little good, once he let Jesus into his life, was a radically different man.

Time and Eternity

Choice for Christ is a choice for a lifetime; so is choice against him. It is not a choice you make once and that's an end of it. It is a choice that has to be made again and again day by day. Every day brings you some moment of decision, where the way you decide is really a choice for Christ or against him. Deciding for Christ affects all your other decisions. For now you are HIS, and all your life's course is steered by his star. More than this: decision for Christ is a choice for Eternity. You enter the life beyond as his friend, or not his friend. He is the Light of the world. To turn from him is to choose the dark. "There are only two roads through life: with him, or without him. There are only two ends of life: with him, in the light, or without him, in the dark. The light is his gift; but the choice is your own."

Riverdale School News

Plans for Saturday night's P.T.A. Carnival are rapidly reaching a head among the students. The Seniors will feature a Cabaret, the Juniors are giving away a record player, the Sophomores are giving away an electric skillet and the Freshmen are giving away a portable TV set. All classes are selling for the $25 prize to junior and high school classes, while the grades compete for the $10 room prize.

Recent achievements among the students include the second place the FFA took in their district Parliamentary Procedure contest in Fort Wayne, Geraldine Poisel's superior rating in the music contest in Fort Wayne, Sandra McCann's winning of the school's Betty Crocker Future Homemaker contest examination, and Andrea Carr's representing the school in the Legion Oratorical Contest.

The seniors, within the past couple of weeks, have chosen their commencement speaker, received their announcements, sent the final shipment of copy for their yearbook, chosen their class motto and flower and are expecting 500 lbs. of salt water taffy for community sales.

The Juniors have had tryouts for their play, "High School Hero," and will begin rehearsals on Monday, February 27.

Girls of the Beta Club were treated to a Valentine's Day party last week at Mr. Stackhouse's in Auburn.

Students are looking forward to a day off from school during the Sectional next Wednesday.

NEW POLICY FOR ENLISTEES ANNOUNCED

Army Recruiter Harold C. Richards has announced that direct enlistment of men without prior service into the Anti-aircraft Command of the U. S. Army is now authorized. Formerly only men with previous service could sign up for this command. Enlistees under the program will receive the same basic training as all other recruits and then will be tested and screened for further training in the guided missile, radar or electronics fire control fields.

Sgt. Richards also revealed a special enlistment option for young men interested in becoming modern "muleskinners.' Under the policy young men without prior military service and with or without experience in handling mules may make application for direct enlistment for either the 4th Field Artillery Battalion (Pack) or the 35th Quartermaster Pack Co. The two organizations represent the only outfits in "Uncle Sam's" Army which use pack mules as a means of transport.

The units are stationed at Ft. Carson, Colorado, and are famous throughout the Army as the oldest and proudest units of this type now on active duty. Men applying for direct enlistment for either of the units will be chosen on a first-come, first-served basis. Of course, applicants must meet the basic requirements for enlistment in the Regular Army.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE CABLE ADDRESS—ACDCO

DEAR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS

Our unusual automobile plan originated five years ago when our company president, Mr. Dallas E. Winslow, adopted the plan of giving each associate of our different companies a new automobile each year. Our companies are located at Auburn, Indiana; Springfield, Ohio; Cleveland, Ohio and Detroit, Michigan.

The automobiles that have been driven by our associates have never been traded in on the new cars we purchase. Previously we sold these cars in quantity wholesale to automobile dealers. Due to so many requests from our friends and customers to sell them cars, we decided to offer these select automobiles for sale to our many friends and neighbors.

For the past year we have been visiting with you and telling you of our policy at the Auburn-Cord-Duesenberg Company; our dealings with our associates, and our "terms with a heart". It has always been our desire to provide for our customers any plan that would further extend the cordial relationship and goodwill which we feel exists between us. It is with justifiable pride that Mr. Winslow has announced a new plan -- "ASSURANCE WITH INSURANCE" -- AT NO EXTRA COST TO YOU!!

In a nutshell -- this means that in the event of ACCIDENT, SICKNESS or DEATH, (God forbid), all the remaining payments due the company will be paid in full, under the conditions provided by our group insurance policy. We have further provided -- that in the event of STRIKES or LAY-OFFS, several payments will be made for you without obligation of repayment.

We like to think of our terms as "terms with a heart". By this, we mean any reasonable terms you desire will be considered up to 36 months to pay. Your payments may be made direct to us and you may be assured of our co-operation in case an extension of a payment is needed as we do not sell your note.

IF YOU WILL CALL.....OR COME DOWN to our factory showroom --- S. Wayne Street --- and see our large selection of nearly new and used cars, we will be delighted to further discuss this unique plan to our mutual benefit, without obligation to you.

PARKING FACILITIES -- Open Evenings Until 9 P.M. -- Saturdays Until 5 P.M.

Assuring you of our friendship and co-operation,

Around the Town

With the Editor

Last Saturday night I figured that I would go to the P. T.A. supper and carnival and take down the names of everyone working at the project. But after walking into the one room at Spencerville with all those ladies fussing over the tables and the patrons and seeing how many workers there were in just that one room, I thought it would be safer to mention those I could remember rather than attempt to write them all down. I probably would have missed one—and then boy, my name is m-u-d.

The "waitresses" in our serving room could hardly wait to get at you. Mrs. Carr said do you care for milk, yes, I do, and, bingo, there was Mrs. Allen right on the spot with the half-pint bottle. Mrs. Baker got the cheese plate and the celery plate and the bread plate and what all else there was at the feast going around our table.

Then down at the carnival another big bunch of workers were hard at it, including students and adults. The first thing was the Big Bills guessing my weight—wrong. I got a cigar for it, but I didn't trust it. That box full of cigars they had for prizes looked like it might be loaded, so I tore my cigar apart when I got home.

—No firecrackers in it.

During the bingo game towards the end of the evening when Glenn Brendel was doing the number calling, it occurred to me—over a public address system how he does sound like Cactus Jack.

I don't know how it looked from the inside, but from the outside this year's carnival appeared to be one of the best managed and cooperatively staged events we've had.

According to Jim Moore, the first half dozen people listed in the telephone directory are worth $1,098.78. That's what their telephone numbers total on the adding machine. He came up with that astounding information during his lunch hour Wednesday. He said he had a better bunch of numbers to work with on a parts list at the filling station.

—Richard Davis listened and just shook his head slowly back and forth.

HELP EISENHOWER

pass the new farm program

You will benefit this year if Congress acts before spring planting time

"Although agriculture is our basic industry, farm families find their prices and incomes depressed amid the nation's greatest prosperity.

"... An oversupply of commodities drives down prices as mounting costs force up from below, generating a severe price-cost squeeze.

"... Remedies are needed now, and it is up to the administration and the Congress to provide them swiftly. As we seek to go forward, we must not go back to old programs that have failed utterly to protect farm families.

"... I recommend, therefore, the following nine-point program. I urge the Congress to pass this program with maximum speed, for delay can only aggravate and multiply the difficulties already sorely harassing millions of our rural people."

Dwight D. Eisenhower

From the President's special farm message to Congress.

The Eisenhower-Republican 9-Point Farm Program

1. A VOLUNTARY, 3-POINT SOIL BANK to take 40 to 45 million acres out of production of your problem crops, get rid of the surplus, raise prices.
   - An Acreage Reserve which uses the surplus to reduce the surplus.
   - A Conservation Reserve to prevent future surpluses and to build back soil for future needs.
2. LAWS TO PERMIT FASTER SURPLUS DISPOSAL especially in foreign markets. Selling, not storage, is the answer.
3. STRENGTHEN COMMODITY PROGRAMS on wheat, corn, dairy products, soybeans, cotton and rice. Ease production controls wherever possible.
4. PROTECT FAMILY-TYPE FARMS by limiting the size of price support loans made to large corporate-type farms.
5. EXPAND RURAL DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM to help low-income farm families live better, earn more.
6. PUSH FORWARD THE GREAT PLAINS PROGRAM to stabilize income in drought-stricken areas, and to prevent another dust bowl.
7. INCREASE FARM RESEARCH APPROPRIATION to find new uses and new markets for farm crops, lower production costs and increase farm profits.
8. ASSURE ADEQUATE CREDIT TO FARMERS to meet capital needs of present farmers, help young farmers get started, tide farmers over emergencies.
9. REFUND GASOLINE TAX TO FARMERS on motor fuel used in farming operations.

Answers to some of your questions

Q: Why will it work?

A: Because this is a program for farmers by farmers. We asked for, and got, sound advice from hundreds of farm leaders and thousands of farmers everywhere. This program gets at the root of the problem on a practical, non-political basis. It contains no double-talk or bureaucratic theories. It is the most business-like, down-to-earth approach to the business of farming and marketing of farm products this country has ever had.

Q: Why is it a more practical program than others that have been offered?

A: Because it is especially tailored to today's peacetime conditions. It hits right at the problem of price-depressing surpluses built up because of wartime policies too long continued. These surpluses hang over your farm like a hidden mortgage.

Q: Will all farmers benefit?

A: This program will directly benefit all farmers everywhere: producers of food grains, feed grains, oilseed and fiber crops, dairymen and livestock producers. It recognizes the special problems of regional groups and producers of certain crops.

Q: Will this program help strengthen farm prices?

A: Yes. The present mountain of surplus, and the threat of future surplus, now holds down prices. Every farmer realizes that "a government warehouse is not a market." As surpluses are used up prices will inevitably rise. (Marketing people have estimated that net farm income would have been $2-billion higher in 1955 if it were not for the surpluses.)

Q: How much will it help?

A: Hundreds of millions of dollars in payments to farmers can be made this year under the Soil Bank plan alone if passage is not delayed. This is in addition to its effect in strengthening farm prices. Farmers would also get $60,000,000 a year tax refund on gasoline used in their farming operations.

Q: How big is the surplus?

A: The government now holds an $8-billion stock of farm products. We can't shut our eyes to it, throw it into the ocean or plow it under. It costs about a million dollars a day for storage and carrying charges alone.

Q: Why do surpluses drive down livestock prices as well as grain prices?

A: Continued overproduction of grains not only clogs the grain markets but forces continued expansion in an already over-expanded livestock production. Livestock prices as well as grain prices would be higher today if it were not for the surplus.

Q: Why is the new Soil Bank Plan the most sensible approach to the surplus problem?

A: It will get rid of the surplus and prevent future surplus from piling up. It will stop the shift of another farmer's problem crops to your problem crops.

Q: How does the Soil Bank "Acreage Reserve" use the surplus to reduce the surplus?

A: In exchange for placing a portion of their allotted crop acres in the Soil Bank (removing them from production entirely for an agreed period), farmers will receive certificates. These certificates will be good for cash at the bank or for commodities drawn from surplus government stocks. In this way farmers will be using up the surplus instead of adding to it. This part of the program applies to corn, wheat, cotton and rice.

Q: How will the Soil Bank "Conservation Reserve" keep future surpluses from building up?

A: It will take 25 million acres out of all crop and livestock production for several years. This land will be put into grass, trees or water storage. It is voluntary and provides generous incentives for wide-spread participation. It, too, will help livestock producers as well as grain producers since it will reduce the surplus of feed grains that put more and more people into the livestock business.

Q: Are these programs entirely voluntary?

A: Yes. President Eisenhower and the Republican Party believe it is a basic right of every farmer to be free to plan his own farm program and make the best use of his land that he knows how. They also believe that farmers should have the chance to build up their soil without loss of income. The well-being of all Americans, as well as the future prosperity of farmers themselves, depends on maintaining productivity of our soil resources. Farmers who participate will no longer feel that they are forced to farm every acre to the limit, producing crops that aren't needed, in order to keep their income up.

Q: How do I benefit if I put some of my acres in the Soil Bank?

A: You get an opportunity to restore the fertility of your soil and at the same time you are assured of an income from the land you retire. As surpluses are reduced, prices will increase on crops you do produce.

Q: Why will Soil Bank participation help insure my income?

A: It will strengthen your cash position by giving you a guarantee—in effect, income insurance. The acres you take out of production will provide income regardless of drought, flood or other disaster.

Q: How will the Soil Bank help livestock producers?

A: With less feed grains being produced, fewer farmers will feel that they have to raise more livestock to "piece out" their income due to surplus-depressed prices of grain. Participants in the Soil Bank plan will sign an agreement not to graze their diverted acres.

Q: When does it start?

A: Just as soon as the necessary legislation can be enacted. The President has urged all possible speed so farmers can plan their plantings and benefit fully during the present crop year. Your Republican members of Congress are behind the President. They believe the more you know about the program, the more you can help. You can help by writing members of Congress urging immediate action.

I am very happy for as I was contemplating various angles for the "corner" today my thoughts could not escape the scriptures. So what could be more logical than to call on King David, when he said,

"Blessed is the man that walketh not in the council of the wicked, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of scoffers; but his delight is in the law of Jehovah; and on his law doth he meditate day and night.

"And he shall be like a tree planted by the stream of water, that bringeth forth its fruit in its season, whose leaf also doth not wither; and whatsoever he doeth shall prosper.

"The wicked are not so, but are like the chaff which the wind driveth away. Therefore the wicked shall not stand in the judgment, nor sinners in the congregation of the righteous.

"For Jehovah knoweth the way of the righteous; but the way of the wicked shall perish."

There! He said it and I'm glad.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday-School Lessons

Background scripture: Luke 16:1-31; 19:11-27.

Devotional reading: I Corinthians 9:16-27.

FAITHFUL IN LITTLE

Lesson for February 26, 1956

Everybody has some kind of a chance in this world. We all sometimes think we would do better if we had the same chance the next man has, but we may be deceiving ourselves. Jesus tells a story about three men each of whom had the very same chance. Each was given the same sum of money, and told to make what he could out of it. One man increased the money ten times; one multiplied it by five; but the third man did not even try. What if he had tried? Considering the sort of man he was, a pessimist and a self-confessed coward, it can be doubted whether he would have been able to do as well as the other two did. At any rate, Jesus calls our attention first of all to the fact that even if everybody had an equal chance, not everybody would do equally well with it.

Gifts of God

We call persons "gifted" when they have some remarkable talent or ability. When we say this, we mean, or we ought to mean, that a man's capacities are not his own invention, they are God's gifts. Two thoughts go together here and must not be separated: the first is that what we have to start with and the opportunities which life brings us along the way, are really gifts of God. The other thought is that God expects us to develop these gifts, take advantage of these opportunities, do something with what we have. Caruso the famous tenor said once, modestly, that he deserved no credit for his magnificent voice. He was born with an extraordinary muscular development in his vocal cords, something possessed by few men. Most men could not be Carusos no matter how hard they try. On the other hand, if all Caruso had done was just to take his throat for granted, never learn singing, never go through the long discipline of the operatic star, the world would never have been thrilled by that golden voice. God's gifts plus our work, that is the divine plan.

Nothing Too Small

All this is simply the principle which the church calls "stewardship." It is simply recognizing that what God gives us, we are expected to use and make the most of, in his service. The trouble right here is that most of us are rather like that third man in Jesus' parable. We see these big, able people going "great guns," we see what wonderful things others are doing, and we can't do anything like that . . . so we don't try to do anything. Now it should be noted that in this little story, the returning king does not say to the second man, who made only five pounds, "You rascal, why didn't you make ten like this other man" On the contrary, he is pleased with the man, promotes him. What God really despises is not small results; what he despises is refusing to try. We are not responsible before God for not being brighter or stronger than we are. We ARE responsible for what we do with such ability as we have, whether small or great.

In the Church

See how this works out in the life of the church. A superintendent asks a girl to take a children's class. Oh no, she can't do it, she says, backing away. She hasn't had experience, she isn't a professional school teacher, she hasn't had a lot of education, she isn't like that brilliant Mrs. So-and-So who was such a whiz of a Sunday school teacher for twenty years. So what? Suppose she's not a topnotcher? She has had little brothers and sisters, she can learn the Bible, she loves her Savior and she loves children, too. Stewardship, for that girl, is not what she can do with Mrs. So-and-So's brains and experience, it's what she is willing to do with her own. Or take a man who is elected to a minor position in the church. He doesn't think he can do much in that office, so he declines it. But the question still is—not what can he do with an office he doesn't have, but what will he do with the office he does have? Another man does not contribute to the church because he has next to nothing he can give. He is afraid of comparisons. But God does not ask: how do you compare? Only; are you faithful?

EXECUTIVE OFFICE CABLE ADDRESS—ACDCO

DEAR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS

Our unusual automobile plan originated five years ago when our company president, Mr. Dallas E. Winslow, adopted the plan of giving each associate of our different companies a new automobile each year. Our companies are located at Auburn, Indiana; Springfield, Ohio; Cleveland, Ohio and Detroit, Michigan.

The automobiles that have been driven by our associates have never been traded in on the new cars we purchase. Previously we sold these cars in quantity wholesale to automobile dealers. Due to so many requests from our friends and customers to sell them cars, we decided to offer these select automobiles for sale to our many friends and neighbors.

For the past year we have been visiting with you and telling you of our policy at the Auburn-Cord-Duesenberg Company; our dealings with our associates, and our "terms with a heart". It has always been our desire to provide for our customers any plan that would further extend the cordial relationship and goodwill which we feel exists between us. It is with justifiable pride that Mr. Winslow has announced a new plan -- "ASSURANCE WITH INSURANCE" -- AT NO EXTRA COST TO YOU!!

In a nutshell -- this means that in the event of ACCIDENT, SICKNESS or DEATH, (God forbid), all the remaining payments due the company will be paid in full, under the conditions provided by our group insurance policy. We have further provided -- that in the event of STRIKES or LAY-OFFS, several payments will be made for you without obligation of repayment.

We like to think of our terms as "terms with a heart". By this, we mean any reasonable terms you desire will be considered up to 36 months to pay. Your payments may be made direct to us and you may be assured of our co-operation in case an extension of a payment is needed as we do not sell your note.

IF YOU WILL CALL.....OR COME DOWN to our factory showroom --- S. Wayne Street --- and see our large selection of nearly new and used cars, we will be delighted to further discuss this unique plan to our mutual benefit, without obligation to you.

PARKING FACILITIES -- Open Evenings Until 9 P. M. -- Saturdays Until 5 P. M.

Assuring you of our friendship and co-operation,

Sincerely,

VOLUME LXXI ST. JOE (DeKalb Co.). IND. Thursday, March 1, 1956 NUMBER 9

Around the Town

With the Editor

You get Joe Pesch in a group of people and you know, you don't hear a peep out of him. —At least, seldom do you hear a peep. But when he does say something, it's something.

He had his punch line timed just right last week at that meeting of Cub Scout leaders we had at the house. There were a dozen or so people there and Joe was the quietest.

—Until during a discussion of the merits of Boys Life magazine and comic books. The remark had been made that Boys Life was a little "old" for Cub Scout boys. Orville Collins from the Fort Wayne office of the Anthony Wayne council, then told that his five year old son just couldn't wait until that magazine arrived at the Collins home. Orville also mentioned that he doesn't have too much use for comic books, in fact they get thrown out or burned or something. It was at this point that Joe brought down the house with, "No wonder he wants the magazine!"

—You had to be there to appreciate it.

Part of last week's Cedar Creek Courier was run off on our little Pony Miehle. Dee Steininger's Babcock suffered a broken gear and he and the Mrs. came up here Thursday afternoon to finish their run.

We have sort of a reciprocal trade agreement — I break down, I can use his press, he breaks down, he can use mine.

Printers are just one big happy family.

Things are really getting tough. According to a conversation overheard early this week, you can't even get penny Tootsie Rolls any more.

With all of the flu going around, Mr. Hill says it's harder to keep teachers in school than it is to keep students in school.

SPENCER TWP. HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB

The Spencer Township Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Berniece Wilder with Winifred Hart as co-hostess.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Marilyn Laub. The collect was led by Nellie Allen and the devotions were given by Ellen Hart.

The lesson, "Quick Breads" made from home mixes, was demonstrated by Lois Fisher.

Arminta Steward gave a health report. The Poultry and Egg Show that is to be held March 28 and the Health Clinic held February 21 and 22 were announced.

Thirteen members and one guest, Martha Johnson, answered roll call with "one essential for a happy home."

All enjoyed the valentines and refreshments.

Ashley Drops Comets From Tourney

The 1955-56 basketball season drew to a close locally last week as the Riverdale Comets dropped their sectional tilt with the Ashley Aces, 61-48.

Ashley led 18-8 at the quarter mark and extended their lead to 38-21 at the half. At the end of three quarters it was Ashley 48, Riverdale 28. The Comets drew up to 50-42 as the final period began. But the rally faltered and Ashley had an easy win, their fourth of the year over the local five.

Arrest Made In Bulk Plant Break-In

A plea of not guilty was entered Tuesday morning by Dallas Christlieb of St. Joe in answer to charges of second degree burglary. The plea came at arraignment in the DeKalb Circuit Court in Auburn.

Christlieb, 22, was stopped at Huntington for reckless driving. Huntington police reported that an officer was nearly run down in attempting to make an arrest. The DeKalb County sheriff's office held Christlieb for the Huntington officials last week and he was taken to Huntington to face charges. He was fined $10 and costs and his driver's license was suspended for six months a a result of the reckless driving charge. He told police that he sped away after the officer stopped him for reckless driving because he had "an empty case of beer in the car and was afraid police would think he had been drinking."

The officer shot at the car. Later when the automobile was found at a Fort Wayne garage where it had been towed after Christlieb ran off the road southeast of Fort Wayne, it was learned the bullet penetrated the rear window and the right front seat. Police said it appeared the read window had been "kicked out" after the accident.

Further investigation into the recent burglary at the Shell bulk plant at Spencerville, conducted during the past few weeks, in the meantime revealed that Christlieb was involved. Two 16 year old boys revealed that Christlieb served as look-out when the younger boys entered the bulk plant.

Taken from the bulk plant operated at Spencerville by M. H. Hollabaugh were an undetermined amount of oil and keepsake bills and coins worth more than $10 contained in a small metal file case.

The sherrif's office has been conducting the investigation in conjunction with state police resulting in the apprehension of the two juveniles and Christlieb.

No date has been set for Christlieb's trial.

SISTERS OF THE SKILLET HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB

The regular meeting of the Sisters of the Skillet Home Demonstration Club was held at the home of Paula Roberts.

Gladys Akey, president, opened the meeting with the club collect. Devotions were given by Connie Hollabaugh. Before leading the song, "Home On the Range," Connie Hollabaugh gave its history. Carolyn Miller gave a report on "Marjorie Morningstar" by Herman Wouk and Mary Ellen Beaty gave a safety talk.

An invitation to the February meeting of the Concord Jr. Home Demonstration Club was accepted.

The club voted to work as hostesses during visiting hours eight Sunday afternoons at the Souder Hospital.

Refreshments were served to the eight members and one guest present.

The Sisters of the Skillet Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Charlotte Hudson at Spencerville at 7:30 p. m.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Gladys Akey. The club collect was read in unison followed by devotions given by Paula Roberts reading an article, "God's Mysterious Ways," showing what prayer can do in a person's life.

The lesson leaders, Dorothy Markle and Jean Moore, told about master mix and its many ways to be used. They made apple corn bread and fruit cake. It was a very interesting and well-given lesson.

The history of the song of the month was given by Connie Hollabaugh and the song was then sung. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. Jean Moore was acting secretary.

Roll call was taken with 11 active members and 2 guests responding. Comments from special leaders proved interesting. During business session a motion was made by Charlotte Hudson, seconded by Carol Pugsley, to continue Sunday receptionist aide at Souder's Hospital for 4 more Sundays. The motion carried.

An entertainment committee to entertain the Country Charm Home Demonstration Club was appointed. Those appointed for entertainment were Leila Moore, Carolyn Miller and Marian Waltz. The refreshment committee is composed of Carol Pugsley, Charlotte Hudson and Beverly Mansfield. A motion was made by Dorothy Markle and seconded by Connie Hollabaugh to again become a member of the roadside council. A motion was carried.

The prayer song was followed by a tasty lunch prepared by the lesson leaders earlier in the evening.

CHRIST AND THE CITY

Lesson for March 4, 1956

Census takers have long been dividing us Americans into "Rural" and "Urban." The fact is, wherever we may live, if we are not in a city we are in many ways affected by cities. The magazines and papers we read are often published in cities. Most of the things a farmer uses—tractors, combines, fertilizer, tools, came from cities. Our clothes were made in cities, our laws were made there. Your casket may have already been made in some city. There is a state in America which has just one large city. A former resident of that state told the writer that very few small towns there amounted to anything, because the young people in the state who had any ambition struck our for that big city as soon as they could. One way or another, we are all becoming "urban" pretty fast.

Enthusiasm Is Fragile

The largest city Jesus ever saw brought tears to his eyes, and no wonder. Some of the things he saw are true of cities and of urban civilization today. They are true of our American way of life, 20th century style. One was the swiftly rising, and as swiftly falling, enthusiasm of the crowds. There they came with joyful shouts of welcome on Palm Sunday morning; and by Friday morning some of the 'same mob would be screaming, "Crucify him!" City people take quickly to new ideas and new heroes—and quickly drop them. They will strew tons of ticker tape and torn-up telephone books (for lack of palm branches) on some returning hero, but in six months' time won't be able to remember his name. Explain it as you like, the fact is that urban enthusiasms are fragile. That goes for most of us. What we live for in our urban America is mostly excitement. We live from headline to headline, from thrill to thrill. Advertisers do their best to stir us up. They talk of "exciting" new colors, exciting new fashions, even (believe it or not) exciting new toothpaste. The advertisers know that if we can really be persuaded that a thing is exciting, we'll buy it! We would rather listen to a new idea than a true one. That's city fever.

Mass Man

In the days of Davy Crockett, whose ghost, we trust, will have been laid to rest before these lines meet the public eye—in the days of Davy C. and Dan'l Boone, nearly all Americans were living in the country, as we would call it today. Even the cities were small. Those were the days of rugged individualism. When a neighbor came within 50 miles of Daniel Boone, he thought the woods were getting too crowded, so the legend has it —and moved on. Nowadays in our more urban era, we have come to the time of "Mass Man" as philosophers call him. The city is the Land of Follow-my-Leader. It is the dwelling place of the Joiners. Mr. Boone did not belong to many societies; but where is the man today who is happy without belonging to enough clubs and societies to keep him out every night. Mass Man is a rather sad spectacle. Jesus wept over him there in Jerusalem. The people of that city were like sheep, doing, saying, even thinking what their Scribes and Pharisees told them to. The men of Jerusalem would not look for themselves, they "knew" not the time of their visitation." They did not know when God was knocking at their door. If Christ came to America today, would Mass Man recognize him? Or would he be under suspicion because he would not fit the universal pattern?

Den of Robbers

The city over which Jesus wept was the site of a magnificent Temple, built as a place of worship. But when Jesus visited it, he found a cattle-market going on in the very middle of it. What should have been worship had turned to money-making. So it is too often with an urban civilization. Built on business, on the market-place, it tends to turn everything into a market-place. Art is commercialized; so is education, so are athletics, politics, sometimes religion. If the reader thinks this is exaggerated, let him look around during this month and see some every-day examples of how religion is commercialized in America. We are approaching the joyful Christian festival of Easter. How many thousands of people in our land are planning to make money out of it?

ST. JOE VALLEY HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB

The St. Joe Valley Home Demonstration Club met Friday afternoon, February 17, at the home of Audry Walter in St. Joe.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Edna Kaufman. The collect was repeated in unison by the members after which the prayer song was sung.

Devotions were by Iva Yeiser. Since this was World Day of Prayer, Gertrude Borthwick, Edna Jenkins and Edna Kaufman led with prayers for peace.

The history of the song of the month was given by the chorister, Elizabeth Shull. All joined in singing the song.

Part one of the lesson on mixes was given by Laura Washler and Hazel Leonhart. They demonstrated the use of mixes by baking a corn bread and a rolled oats bread which was later served by the hostess with the refreshments.

The secretary, Norma Gustin, read the report of the January meeting which was approved.

Edna Kaufman appointed the ways and means committee consisting of the following members: Mary Washler, Alice Reidenbach, Katie Storer, Helen Hoffer and Mary Kinsey. The first project will be selling dish cloths.

19 members answered roll call. 4 children and 1 guest were present. The guest was Victoria Means, a former member.

Riverdale School News

Though the team was beaten in their sectional contest with Ashley, a large number of Riverdale fans were in evidence at the Saturday games at Churubusco. The athletic jackets being sported by the team's seniors were much in evidence and were being worn with pride. Recipients of the coveted jackets were Paul Easley, Larry Emenhiser, Jerry Flesher, Donnie Sechler and Dave Walters. The school enjoys an advantage, through Principal Jay Mertz of Fremont, that it has not had in years. An almost unlimited number of regional tickets were made available to the Riverdale fans.

The grade cards were passed out Wednesday, signaling the end of two-thirds of the school year and the 4th grading period. Since honor rolls cannot be figured before press time, see next week's News for it.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE CABLE ADDRESS—ACDCO

DEAR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS

Our unusual automobile plan originated five years ago when our company president, Mr. Dallas E. Winslow, adopted the plan of giving each associate of our different companies a new automobile each year. Our companies are located at Auburn, Indiana; Springfield, Ohio; Cleveland, Ohio and Detroit, Michigan.

The automobiles that have been driven by our associates have never been traded in on the new cars we purchase. Previously we sold these cars in quantity wholesale to automobile dealers. Due to so many requests from our friends and customers to sell them cars, we decided to offer these select automobiles for sale to our many friends and neighbors.

For the past year we have been visiting with you and telling you of our policy at the Auburn-Cord-Duesenberg Company; our dealings with our associates, and our "terms with a heart". It has always been our desire to provide for our customers any plan that would further extend the cordial relationship and goodwill which we feel exists between us. It is with justifiable pride that Mr. Winslow has announced a new plan -- "ASSURANCE WITH INSURANCE" -- AT NO EXTRA COST TO YOU!!

In a nutshell -- this means that in the event of ACCIDENT, SICKNESS or DEATH, (God forbid), all the remaining payments due the company will be paid in full, under the conditions provided by our group insurance policy. We have further provided -- that in the event of STRIKES or LAY-OFFS, several payments will be made for you without obligation of repayment.

We like to think of our terms as "terms with a heart". By this, we mean any reasonable terms you desire will be considered up to 36 months to pay. Your payments may be made direct to us and you may be assured of our co-operation in case an extension of a payment is needed as we do not sell your note.

IF YOU WILL CALL.....OR COME DOWN to our factory showroom --- S. Wayne Street --- and see our large selection of nearly new and used cars, we will be delighted to further discuss this unique plan to our mutual benefit, without obligation to you.

PARKING FACILITIES -- Open Evenings Until 9 P. M. -- Saturdays Until 5 P. M.

Assuring you of our friendship and co-operation,

Sincerely,
M. J. Klinger

Did you know that the expression "to drink a toast" is connected with an old English custom of putting a piece of toast in the wine cup before drinking, believing that it improved the flavor?

We don't know of any way to improve the flavor of your coffee if you use any of the fine coffee makers that we sell.

Did you know that we have a special now on the West Bend automatic percolator at $8.95? Also West Bend is now selling their electric hand mixer for $14.95. There are also these specials at 88c: cookie sheets, sauce pans, loaf pans, muffin pans and cake pans.

Pleads Guilty To 3rd Degree Burglary Charge

Dallas Christlieb, 21-year-old St. Joe resident, entered a plea of guilty to charges of third degree burglary at arraignment Tuesday morning in the DeKalb Circuit Court in Auburn.

Sentencing was delayed by Judge Walter D. Stump until completion of a hearing Thursday morning this week with two St. Joe juveniles allegedly involved with Christlieb in a burglary of the Shell bulk plant at Spencerville on January 31.

On February 28 Christieb had been arraigned in circuit court on second degree burglary charges. He entered a plea of not guilty through his attorney, Winslow Van Horne.

Prosecutor Patrick J. Purdy filed Tuesday morning the second burglary count, charging burglary in the third degree, and at the same time dismissed the second degree burglary charge.

The prosecutor said interrogation of the two juveniles had disclosed there was insufficient evidence to warrant charges of second degree burglary against Christlieb.

Third degree burglary carries a penalty of a maximum one-year term to the Indiana state penal farm and a maximum $500 fine. The court may suspend the sentence. Second degree conviction carries a 2 to 5-year prison term.

Police said Christlieb and the two juveniles admitted the theft of four cases of oil and keepsake coins and bills worth more than $10.

The investigation has been conducted by State Police Detective Russell Huffman and Deputy Sheriffs George A. Milks and Dorsie Likens.

Mrs. Cora Curie presented the lesson which included the article "America's Folkways," from the Holiday magazine, a paper on "National Folklore" and remarks about Negro spirituals. Interspersed in the lesson were two numbers by a quartet, Mrs. Robert Musser, Mrs. Forrest Bevington, Mrs. Harold Baker and Mrs. Wayne Storer. Mrs. Carl Perkins was the accompanist while the quartet sang "Home, Home On the Range" and "Were You There?" Mrs. O. L. Hansen played and sang the folk song, "Johnnie Appleseed." With Mrs. William Staman directing, the club sang "Juanita," "Sweet and Low," "In the Gloaming," "Standing In the Need of Prayer," "Swing Low," "Steal Away" and "Heab'n."

For the entertainment Mrs. Harold Baker directed a musical quiz and reviewed articles on Early American Folk Songs and the origin of the calliope.

After the meeting was adjourned, light refreshments were served by the hostess and her daughter, Rozie.

Eighteen active members were present.

The Lord's Supper is for all Christians. A Christian minister once visited a Baptist minister's service and was invited to read the Scripture and offer the prayer. At the close of the sermon, the Lord's Supper was to be observed. The Baptist minister then said to his visiting friend, "Brother, if this were our table, we would invite you to it, but seeing it is the Father's table, we are not at liberty to do so." To which the Christian minister replied, "That is all right, brother. If it were your table, I should wait for an invitation, but seeing it is the Father's table, I shall go ahead and partake," and he did so. Jesus Christ said, "This is my blood of the New Testament, which is shed for many for the remission of sins" (Matt. 26:28).

The Value of Education

by Hubert Stackhouse, Riverdale High School.

"Of what value is the education our youth get in schools today?" Here is a question not uncommon among the critics of modern education. Ought we to decrease the amount of schooling, or should we follow the tendency of larger, metropolitan areas and increase the length of term, scope of subject matter and number of years offered in our public and private schools? Each person has his own answers to these questions, and the author, as a teacher, confesses to a definite and strong bias on the subject. If modern education fails the youth of our nation, it is not through what it teaches, or how it teaches it, but rather in its duration, all too brief.

For, the world into which our students will pass following their formal schooling is becoming more and more complicated. If the student is to be capable of taking his place and making his contribution to that world, he must be correspondingly better trained. To send into a constantly more progressive world a person not capable of keeping up with that progress is to send into that world a person predispositioned to failure, and therefore, to unhappiness. Twelve years, however well spent, are hardly enough to satisfy employment managers of firms seeking personnel who can increase in value to the company through the years of their employment. Pitiably prepared, then, is that student who does not have even that minimum of training. For, the first and most immediate result of education is that it gives the minimum qualification for employment in the modern industry and business.

Foremost in the minds of students looking at their future jobs is fanacial reward. One must eat, and well, if possible. One must possess a fine automobile, a sharp wardrobe, and eventually the wherewithal to either give or wear mink. Few schools foster this idea, namely: that money is the only end of education. But, all things considered, money is necessary. Well, then, if money be the object. . .

A survey, released in the Kiplinger letters in December, reveals that the earning power of the 8th grade, the high school and the college graduate are respectively $116,000, $165,000 and $368,000. These figures, projected for a 40-year working lifetime, show a considerable difference in the ability to provide to the family its necessities, comforts and luxuries. They are substance for college educations for the children, a comfortable, assured old age, and a freedom from worry and want.

Quite as concrete a reward as money are the intellectual satisfactions that education can give. Adequate training will first enable the student to choose that job for which he is peculiarly suited. Rarely does the high school graduate know fixedly what he is best suited for; hence, the more the training, the surer he will be that he will find his lifework. The satisfaction that you are "what you could have been" is considerable. Modern testing and guidance techniques used in large educational systems and colleges are the surest basis of this wise choice.

There is, in higher education, a promise of freedom from boredom. The pervading fact of a real education is that there is so much more to know than any one individual can encompass that no one will ever know it all. There comes to the educated, then, the knowledge that he or she has a field of interests and study without limit, and that no matter how much art, music, or beauty they consume, enough is left to keep them interested and seeking so long as they live.

To the parent's aim of producing a socially and morally well-balanced child, the school gives aid. The child in school is in the presence of companions who are at the same age in social development. He is not as likely to ape the actions and antics of his older friends as he would be if they were his only social contacts. In the educational institution, he may mature at the rate most beneficial to the individual. Responsibility becomes his slowly and gradually rather than at one shocking instant. He receives the attention, and the guidance, of the third of the three character-forming agents, the home, the church, and the school. To use an analogy, he enters his world of adult personal relationships when he should, as a sturdy, straight plant; not a tender, easily warped seedling.

A final, and vitally important end of schooling, is the ability to bear one's share of the load. The town, the county, the city, the state, the nation, and the world need leaders worse than they need any other commodity. It is as easy to scoff at the idea that a school produces these leaders as it is to scoff at the idea that a community as small as this would produce such leaders. But, if ever there comes another Lincoln, he will not be born collge educated and 25 years old. The possibilities of any one person are almost limitless, and as well as possible, the school hopes to give him the training that will enable these possibilities to become realities. Give him his formal education, his ABC's. Give him chances to lead while in school. Teach him the duties of the citizen, politically, economically, and morally. Encourage him to bear his load as a citizen and seek an additional duty as a leader, for it is the duty of those who have the ability to lead when the opportunity offers itself. Then, having lead to the best of his ability, he will have the satisfaction of knowing that he did his duty to the community and world that gave him his birth, nurture, and education.

The values of education, in summary, are both concrete and abstract. Money is concrete, and the things it will buy are solid. The best occupation, social development, an interest in life that endures, and acceptance of responsibility to lead are perhaps less concrete than money, but just as real. What then, would my answer, which I think to be logical, be to the question? "Yes, indeed," and confidently stated it is.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

JESUS ON HISTORY

Lesson for March 11, 1956

Half way through a movie you may see people getting up and walking out. That does not necessarily mean they are disgusted with the picture. It's that they came in right there in the first show. "This is where we came in," they say, and they don't care to see the second half of the film twice. (Query, by the way: is a movie, or a book, that isn't worth seeing or reading twice, worth seeing at all?) In ancient times, the learned Greeks thought that history was like a motion picture shown over and over again. If a man lived long enough he could see history repeat itself, they thought. The diagram which to the Greek mind best represented history would be a circle. Fly, moth or man, going around in circles will never get anywhere. History, the Greeks thought, is like that. It moves, but it never gets anywhere.

History Goes Somewhere

The Bible's view of history is a different one. History is more like a straight line than a circle. "Straight" line is too simple. If you will read the book of Judges in the Old Testament you will find a line of history that goes uphill and down in dizzy succession. But crooked or straight it is a line going somewhere. On a circle you pass a given point. Now, after you have passed that point, are you getting farther away from it as you move, or are you getting nearer The answer is both, of course. Now if history is a kind of circle, then if you ask the question: are we getting farther away from barbarism, is the world getting better at all, the answer will have to be, it doesn't make any difference. We are farther from that period of barbarism through which we last passed; but we are getting closer to the next period of barbarism. History, bad and good, will repeat itself.

Now the Bible, and Jesus especially, have a different view. The world is moving away from a past that will never happen again. It is moving, we are moving, toward a future that has not yet happened and will happen only once. The course of history is not like a toy airplane that buzzes around and around, captive on a wire; but like a real plane that soars swiftly to its distant port.

History Keeps Going

Human history will have an end, so far as this earth is concerned, some day. (Of course, no human being's final destiny would be ended even if the whole human race were destroyed by H-bombs. But we are talking about history on this green planet.) But it is a mistake, as Jesus, pointed out, to jump to the conclusion that we are living in history's last chapter. "The end will not be at once," he said. Many times men and women have been sure they knew the end of the world was at hand; but they have always been mistaken. There is a theological seminary which was built by contributions from the churches which it serves. But there were some churches back when the seminary was built that would not contribute. The end of the world is too close, they said, to be wasting money on brick buildings. It is never wise to refuse to build for tomorrow, for it is never wise to assume there isn't going to be a tomorrow. History is going somewhere; but it will not reach its destination "in nothing flat."

The Goal of History

Where is history going? The Christian answer is: toward the reign of the Lord Jesus over all mankind. Jesus taught his disciples to look forward to one event above all others: his coming again. Now the Christian church from earliest times has had various ideas about how and when Christ's Coming will be, and what it will mean in detail. But surely no Christian can accept seriously the idea that history just goes on and on, a line that has no direction and no end. God and evil are in conflict: must we believe that this war will never end? On the contrary, Christians are united in believing that what Christ bade us hope for will come true, and indeed many Christians believe that it is beginning to come true now: namely, that God in his own time will bring our time to an end, that soon or late as we count it, but surely, the Son of Man, in power and glory, will be Lord of all.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE CABLE ADDRESS—ACDCO

DEAR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS

Our unusual automobile plan originated five years ago when our company president, Mr. Dallas E. Winslow, adopted the plan of giving each associate of our different companies a new automobile each year. Our companies are located at Auburn, Indiana; Springfield, Ohio; Cleveland, Ohio and Detroit, Michigan.

The automobiles that have been driven by our associates have never been traded in on the new cars we purchase. Previously we sold these cars in quantity wholesale to automobile dealers. Due to so many requests from our friends and customers to sell them cars, we decided to offer these select automobiles for sale to our many friends and neighbors.

For the past year we have been visiting with you and telling you of our policy at the Auburn-Cord-Duesenberg Company; our dealings with our associates, and our "terms with a heart". It has always been our desire to provide for our customers any plan that would further extend the cordial relationship and goodwill which we feel exists between us. It is with justifiable pride that Mr. Winslow has announced a new plan -- "ASSURANCE WITH INSURANCE" -- AT NO EXTRA COST TO YOU!!

In a nutshell -- this means that in the event of ACCIDENT, SICKNESS or DEATH, (God forbid), all the remaining payments due the company will be paid in full, under the conditions provided by our group insurance policy. We have further provided -- that in the event of STRIKES or LAY-OFFS, several payments will be made for you without obligation of repayment.

We like to think of our terms as "terms with a heart". By this, we mean any reasonable terms you desire will be considered up to 36 months to pay. Your payments may be made direct to us and you may be assured of our co-operation in case an extension of a payment is needed as we do not sell your note.

IF YOU WILL CALL.....OR COME DOWN to our factory showroom --- S. Wayne Street --- and see our large selection of nearly new and used cars, we will be delighted to further discuss this unique plan to our mutual benefit, without obligation to you.

PARKING FACILITIES -- Open Evenings Until 9 P. M. -- Saturdays Until 5 P. M.

Assuring you of our friendship and co-operation,

Sincerely,

Final Session Of Short Course Monday

Mr. R. W. Guinther, vocational agriculture instructor at Riverdale High School, has announced that the last meeting of the Short Course Ag Class will be held Monday evening, March 12. The class will be held in the ag room of Riverdale High School in St. Joe at 7:30 p.m.

The subject will be: feeding dairy cows hay and silage the year around instead of pasturing. This is a common practice in some foreign countries due to a shortage of land and plenty of labor. Mr. Russell Walker of near Waterloo has practiced this method for several years and will be present at the meeting to lead the discussion and answer questions.

It is hoped that the subject for discussion for the evening will be of great enough interest to bring a good attendance at the meeting.

Around the Town

With the Editor

Hey, I haven't had a chance to get a word in edgewise the last couple of weeks. And there's a letter from Don Walters and another from Richard Beebe to be reviewed—and the Junior Class play announcement and cast—and all other kinds of stuff like that there including a piece about T-Sgt. Joe Klipk.

See you next week.

Barber Shop Re-opens In St. Joe

Tom Badman of Edgerton, Ohio, has announced the opening of Tom's Barber Shop in St. Joe. The business is located in the same building occupied in the past by Meek's Barber Shop.

St. Joe and the surrounding community have been without the services of a barber for the past several weeks due to the illness of Mr. Leslie Meek who is at present confined to the Hicksville Hospital.

Mr. Badman has announced that he will be open Tuesday through Saturday each week. He will remain open Thursday evenings until 9:00 p.m. and Saturday evenings until 8:00 p.m.

Mr. Badman began barbering in Edgerton, operating a shop there for 14 years. He then barbered in Butler for 9 years and in Fort Wayne for about one year before coming to St. Joe.

Senior Class Has Work Day Friday

The Senior Class of Riverdale High School will conduct a "Work Day" on Friday, March 16.

Girls in the class will be available for baby sitting and household chores while the boys plan to be busy with car-washing and performing odd jobs for farmers and homemakers.

Car washing will be done at Yeiser's Standard Service in St. Joe and at the Spencerville Shell Station at Spencerville. Anyone needing the service of a Senior boy for an odd job or wanting a wash job on the family car is requested to call either service station during the work day. Services of a Senior girl for baby sitting or housework can be obtained by calling St. Joe 2563.

Sentencing Ends Burglary Investigation

A sentence of six months on the Indiana State Penal Farm was given Dallas Christlieb, 21, of St. Joe last Thursday by Judge Walter D. Stump in DeKalb Circuit Court. Two sixteen year old boys, from St. Joe and Spencerville, were committed to the Indiana State Boys School at Plainfield. Christlieb was also fined $1 and costs.

Defense attorney Winslow Van Horne entered a plea for suspension of the term, saying that he believed the defendant had learned his lesson and would be rehabilitated if placed on probation. The court denied the suspension, believing the best interests of society would be served by imposing a sentence.

The Rev. John Wine, pastor of the Nazarene Church in Auburn, testified at the trial. He told the court he would be willing to assist Christlieb during probation if the court saw fit to grant a suspension. Also testifying for the defense at the hearing was Christlieb's sister, Mrs. Esther Ankney, of St. Joe.

Christlieb had testified earlier that he could remember nothing that happened on the night of the burglary at the Shell bulk plant near Spencerville. He admitted he was under the influence of intoxicants. There was a variance in testimony given by the defendant and the two boys.

Christlieb admitted he threw the loot taken in the break-in into a water filled ditch northeast of Newville two or three days after the burglayr.

Additional evidence in the case came from a hearing in juvenile court with the two 16-year-old boys Thursday morning.

Testifying for the state at Christlieb's trial was State Police Detective Russell Huffman who headed the investigation into the burglary with Deputy Sheriffs George A. Milks and Dorsie A. Likens.

Also testifying for the state were Ray Laub, owner of the burglarized plant, and Maurice Hollabaugh, manager of the plant.

The state also called as witnesses the two juveniles The boys said they gave Christlieb $5 to buy beer. All of them, the boys testified, had been drinking when Christlieb drove to the plant and stayed in the car while the two younger boys broke in. They stole four cases of motor oil and old coins and keepsake bills valued at more than $10.

Sure, we are delighted when we can serve you in a big way, such as selling you a living room suite, bedroom suite, range, refrigerator, automatic washer or a house full of furniture. We are equally pleased to furnish you with a diamond, a watch, a set of silver or a fine piece of jewelry.

We have talked these over and our greatest thrill seems to come from serving in the little things, items and services that you have had difficulty in getting elsewhere.

Some of these little but important and necessary items are sweeper belts and brushes, coffee maker filters and glass tops, radio pilot lights, iron cords, shaver cords, shaver heads, most ball point refills, jewelry repairs, spectacle repairs, toaster repairs, engraving, bead stringing, furniture polish, linoleum cleaner and wax, water filters for steam irons.

We could go on and on but that should give you an idea of the many little ways in which we are glad to serve you.

Spring must be just around the corner as several folk have reported seeing their first robin. I usually see my first one along about June!

LORD'S SUPPER

Lesson for March 18, 1956

Christians are divided about many things; but they are all one in the Lord's Supper. "What?" someone will ask. "Don't some churches refuse to let members of any churches but their own partake of the Communon with them? Don't different churches have different explanations of what this sacrament means? Don't various denominations observe it in various ways? How can you say all Christians are united in the Lord's Supper?"

We Think of Him

It is true. There are seemingly endless variations in the way the Lord's Supper is observed. Even the name is not always the same, some preferring to call it the Eucharist, others Holy Communion. There are also theologians' debates about it. But plain Christians do unite here even when they may not be quite aware of it. For there are three facts that are always true of this sacred observance, however or wherever it is held. First of all, in the Lord's Supper we think of Christ. It is possible to go even to a Christian church and not hear very much about Jesus Christ on that particular day. (Jesus' own teaching was not always about himself.) But it is not possible to go into a church where the Lord's Supper is being taken by the people, without being reminded directly of Christ. Every Christian has heard the words many times—"my body," "my blood," "in remebrance of me." Here are bread and wine, but every worshipper knows that these are not simple ordinary refreshment. They are symbols and signs of Christ, his actual suffering and death on the cross. Whatever the church may be, its members always think of Christ when they take Communion.

We Find Him

There is something more than thinking about Jesus and his sacrifice when we take Communion. In this sacrament we find Him. It is quite true, different churches have different official explanations about how we find Christ here. But from "High Church" to "Low," in "Liberal" and "Conservative," in Catholic and Protestant congregations alike, if you could ask the people as they come out of doors again, "What did that service mean to you," it might be that some would hardly know what to say, for it is always possible to go through the motions without really thinking what one is doing. But those who had entered whole-heartedly into the service, who had come "in love and charity" and in faith, would all tell you about the same thing: "Christ came very near to me." If Christ seems just as far away after the Lord's Supper as before, then there has been something wrong about this. That is why the Roman Catholic church will not admit any one to communion if he has not been to Confession first. That is why in many Protestant churches the people are warned to abstain from Communion if they harbor malice or ugly feeling toward their neighbors.

We Share Him.

If it is true that in the Lord's Supper we find the Lord himself, it should be true—and happily it is so—that afterwards life should go on at a higher level than before. The Lord's Supper is less like a doorway leading from one room to another just like it, than it is like a gateway across a boundary from one country to another. Christ comes to us in the Sacrament, but not as a fleeting guest. If we are serious as we take the bread and wine and think about all this in the quiet of prayer, we will so enter into the spirit of Christ himself that we shall re-dedicate ourselves in his service. It is a kind of parody on Christian ideals to think of Christ's sacrifice as alone and by itself. His cross must be followed by other crosses. His outpoured life must be shared by others who are willing to pour their lives out in turn. And it is this, again, which unites all the Christians who in their many varied fashions have taken this Lord's Supper with devoted hearts. For there is a family resemblance among all real Christians, whatever their church-label may be. And the resemblance goes back to the same Christ, who has shared himself with every Christian everywhere and always who has taken this Bread and Cup.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE CABLE ADDRESS—ACDCO

DEAR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS

Our unusual automobile plan originated five years ago when our company president, Mr. Dallas E. Winslow, adopted the plan of giving each associate of our different companies a new automobile each year. Our companies are located at Auburn, Indiana; Springfield, Ohio; Cleveland, Ohio and Detroit, Michigan.

The automobiles that have been driven by our associates have never been traded in on the new cars we purchase. Previously we sold these cars in quantity wholesale to automobile dealers. Due to so many requests from our friends and customers to sell them cars, we decided to offer these select automobiles for sale to our many friends and neighbors.

For the past year we have been visiting with you and telling you of our policy at the Auburn-Cord-Duesenberg Company; our dealings with our associates, and our "terms with a heart". It has always been our desire to provide for our customers any plan that would further extend the cordial relationship and goodwill which we feel exists between us. It is with justifiable pride that Mr. Winslow has announced a new plan -- "ASSURANCE WITH INSURANCE" -- AT NO EXTRA COST TO YOU!!

In a nutshell -- this means that in the event of ACCIDENT, SICKNESS or DEATH, (God forbid), all the remaining payments due the company will be paid in full, under the conditions provided by our group insurance policy. We have further provided -- that in the event of STRIKES or LAY-OFFS, several payments will be made for you without obligation of repayment.

We like to think of our terms as "terms with a heart". By this, we mean any reasonable terms you desire will be considered up to 36 months to pay. Your payments may be made direct to us and you may be assured of our co-operation in case an extension of a payment is needed as we do not sell your note.

IF YOU WILL CALL.....OR COME DOWN to our factory showroom --- S. Wayne Street --- and see our large selection of nearly new and used cars, we will be delighted to further discuss this unique plan to our mutual benefit, without obligation to you.

PARKING FACILITIES -- Open Evenings Until 9 P. M. -- Saturdays Until 5 P. M.

Assuring you of our friendship and co-operation,

Sincerely,

VOLUME LXXI ST. JOE (DeKalb Co.). IND. Thursday, March 22, 1956 NUMBER 12

Indiana State Library

Around the Town

With the Editor

I kinda got my wires crossed last week about who sent letters. It was supposed to be Don Walters and Bruce Baker, not Don Walters and Richard Beebe. We heard from Richard not too long ago so we'll probably hear from him again in the not-too-distant future.

Don says he is doing O.K. and is still driving a jeep. He also modestly mentions going out for the basketball team. At the time he wrote the letter the team had a 1-1 record, losing 54 to 51 and winning 55 to 38. Don scored 74 points in the games, 35 in the first and 39 in the second. He thought he would be too heavy to play at first, but with those results he's going to try to put on more weight!

—oh shucks, you might as well read the whole letter in the letters to the editor column. —Bruce's, too.

Phyllis McMaken submitted an article in the Hamilton, Cal., Air Force Base News about her brother, T-Sgt. Joseph C. Klink, who recently married S-Sgt. Rose Ann Taney in Carson City, Nevada. A photograph accompanying the article shows the T-Sgt. handing over the keys to his Cadillac to the S-Sgt.

Rose Ann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Taney of Excelsior Springs, Mo. She is the secretary of the Vice Commander of the 28th Air Division, Col. John W. Mitchell.

Joe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Klink of Butler. He is Assistant Operations Sergeant at the 78th Air Police Squadron.

The newly weds live on the Hamilton base at quarters 1021-A. Joe is definite about his plans for a career in the Air Force and Rose Ann also wants to keep on working as long as she and Joe are together.

The article concludes with: "About the car keys (eligible bachelors please heed when picking your mate) Joe has no worry, Rose Ann can't drive."

Virginia Laux took son Paul to the piano-duo concert at Auburn recently. He enjoyed the first half but was ready to leave thereafter, getting somewhat restless. Virginia kept reassuring him during the final part of the program that it wouldn't be long until they could go - "just two more numbers" - - - "just one more number" - - -.

The audience gummed up the works, tho. They called for four encores!

There was really some buzzing in local political circles last week when it was announced that George Baker was running on the Repubican ticket for delegate to the state convention. There were comments heard locally that he had "seen the light" and "finally came around" before a correction was made and George was registered on his Democratic ticket. Just in time, too. There was another story that Joe Foltz was going to switch along with his cohort, but the last-minute correction stopped any further developments.

Fred Stemen says he really enjoys his job, selling insurance. But I wonder what kind of training they give those agents nowadays. It used to be that you couldn't get 'em to stop talking. Now—with Fred, at least—you almost can't get 'em to start. Maybe it's his own secret formula for success—be hard to get.

We were talking about insurance a week or so ago and Ned Shull was in on the discussion. A particular type of insurance program got into the conversation and I asked what that type would cost me. Fred said, "I don't have the book with me with those premium rates so I can't tell you." —And that was that.

—They sure do it different nowadays.

While we were talking Janice Hollabaugh stopped in and lived up to a woman's reputation. She fumbled and fumbled through her purse for a fifty cent piece and had difficulty what with all that stuff stuffed in. A comb, handkerchief, little slips of paper, a small box, everything seemed to be contained in that pocketbook. But she finally found the half dollar, "re-arranged" the contents back in the purse and left.

Saturday afternoon street scene—Milt Ritenour patiently waiting in the car for the Mrs. to do some grocery buying, meanwhile studiously reading a comic book!

The way the river has been on the rise lately, the homeowners at the southeast edge of town—and Lester Anthony—could well be singing, "River, Stay Way From My Door."

Hubert Stackhouse spoke at the most recent meeting of the Lions Club and made a few references to his appetite. He underwent a drastic weight reduction program a year or so ago and lost quite a bit of poundage to diminish his five-by-five—or should I say six-by-six—figure.

Here lately, though, it appears that Hubert is on the way back to his old self. Too illustrate the point, he told of an incident at the sectional tournament. He was sitting in the bleachers at Churubusco when Mr. and Mrs. Price Brookfield came in. Hubert, as a matter of courtesy and convenience offered his place to one of them, supposedly, and removed himself to the next row of seats. The pay-off came when both of them sat down in the space previously occupied by our illustrious English instructor.

Hubert's is a weighty problem. But perhaps he should remember—"Better to have lived and lost than never to have lived at all."

Little, Pony Leagues Begin Activities

Organization of Little and Pony League activity has begun with meetings held in the past few weeks by the sponsoring communities and individuals.

Officers of the Little League were elected recently with the following results:

Wayne Neuhouser, Leo — president.

Price Brookfield, St. Joe — secretary-treasurer.

The board of directors consists of the managers of the respective teams. Joe Robinson is the manager of Sechler's Little League entry.

A joint meeting of the Little League and Pony League was held last Thursday at Leo in the old school cafeteria.

Plans for 1956 include a league composed of 2 teams from each of the four participating communities plus minor league teams. In the past only 1 team represented each community.

LADIES LITERARY CLUB

The Ladies Literary Club met at the home of Mrs. Carl Carpenter on Wednesday night, March 14. Mrs. Claude Laub led the collect and pledge to the flag. The first part of the lesson was on negro life and Mrs. Lela Northrup reviewed "Carper's George" by Florence Means. The last part of the lesson was on eskimo life. Mrs. Stanley Means showed an excellent sound film entitled "The Eskimo Hunters."

Mrs. Carl Carpenter gave the critic's report.

The entertainment was conducted by Mrs. Henry Lung. Eighteen members responded to roll call.

The committee for the midsummer meeting is Mrs. Don Burley, Mrs. Forrest Bevington and Mrs. Wayne Storer.

After the meeting was adjourned, light refreshments were served by the hostess.

Juniors Present Play This Week

At 8:00 p.m., Friday and Saturday, March 23 and 24, the Junior Class of Riverdale High School will present their class play appropriately titled, "High School Hero," at the high school gym in St. Joe.

Written by Pete Williams, the play is set in a modern American high school and deals with the problems encountered by Eleanor Spencer, the new principal, and her students. Among her problems are Dan Conrad, the brash, romantic new coach; Bill Rockwell, the high school hero who becomes unwillingly involved in a crime; Lunk Bennett, a blank minded athlete; and three young ladies respectively absent-minded, inferiority-complexed and a kleptomaniac.

Tickets for the comedy are on sale by any member of the Junior Class for 60c (reserved seats only). General admissions will be 35c, and will be on sale only on the nights of the performances. In contrast to the last two years, all performances will be at the gym of the high school building in St. Joe.

Members of the cast are as follows, in order of appearance:

Sue Pringle, 17, pert and pleasant—Mary Lou Trenary.

Gertrude Winston, 17, cynical but warm-hearted—Shirley Smith.

Bill Rockwell, 17, the high school hero—Maynard Robinson.

Johnny Pringle, 16, a hot-rod adict—Jerry Dilley.

Eleanor Spencer, 25, the new principal—Judy Koch.

Dan Conrad, 25, very self-assured—Charles Easley.

Alma Dillingsworth, 25, the eccentric English teacher — Karon Holman.

Mary Barnes, 15, a raggedy Ann—Shirley Coburn.

Roddy Franklin, 17, the school newshawk — Glenn Brendel.

Lunk Bennett, 17, the missing link, but in the Central High backfield—Mike Emenhiser.

Heddy Hess 17, a bush-league femme fatal—Shirley Noack.

Mike Mulligan, 40, slow and friendly—Tommy Logsdon.

Rose Kern 17, a girl with taking ways—Helen Winkoop.

Mrs. Pringle, 45, the wise mother who knows her own son—Doris Dowden.

Promptress, the girl who knows all of the lines—Phyllis Zimmerman.

Stage Crew, getting into a real set-to — Dennis Baker, Glenn Brendel, Cal Coburn, Larry Morgan.

Ticket sales, the girls who make it pay—Janice Carper, Linda Hawk, Sonja Stark (with the assistance of the entire Junior Class).

Make-up, costumes, properties—Mrs. Carol Pugsley, Bonnie Guiff.

Director—Hubert L. Stackhouse.

The director requests the audience to be seated by 8:00 to avoid disturbances in the early moments of the play, and further requests that movement about the building be confined to the entre-d'acte, as the building has some peculiar accoustical qualities. No entre-d'acte entertainment has been scheduled.

Letters to the Editor

January 17, 1956

Dear Friends,

Best wishes to you all for this coming year. Christmas cards and letters and gifts came in an abundance that we've never known, nearly one hundred cards came to us from over the United States and Japan. We are very grateful to you for remembering us so wonderfully.

Christmas in Japan is loud, commercial and largely without Jesus Christ. The postwar years have brought to this country all the "extras" of the season without meaning. To a large extent it only gives those who wish to do so an extra opportunity to have parties and drink. It is a prelude to "Oshogatsu" (New Years) which is a three day to two week period of celebration. The New Years celebration includes a pilgrimmage to some shrine or temple. Those who have heard the Christmas message of our Saviour and know its meaning lament this "imitation" Christmas celebration. These people are few in number, it appears, and would not express their lament to non-Christian Japanese.

In the Christian Church only does this day have real meaning. New Christians choose this day for their reception of Baptism and entrance into the life of the church. Holy Communion is celebrated in every church. Services are extremely lengthy but meaningful. At Seminary Church six children and three adults received Holy Baptism. Over one hundred communed on Christmas day.

Christmas eve and early Christmas day are times for "caroling" here like in America. Members of Okubo Church came through our gates at 6 A.M., sang several carols and wished us "Kurisumasu omedeto gozaimasu" - A very Merry Christmas.

During the vacation time at Christmas we visited the homes of many of our fellow missionaries in the Tokyo area. The only real difference between Christmas here and in America is the group of friends with whom we share the joy of Christ. We worship in Japanese with our fellow Christians here exactly as we worship in America. The distance which may have been felt was covered by the knowledge that we were together before the altar worshipping the same Lord and Saviour as you worship.

Of all men we are the most blessed. Health, happiness, blessings of all kinds have come in such abundance that we can only say, "Thanks to God for everything."

In a few months we will receive definite word as to our place of work and will tell you about it in our next letter.

Sincerely,
Bill and Doris Billow
303-3 Chome
Hyakunin Machi
Shinjukuku, Tokyo,
Japan

It takes a while for those letters to get across the deep blue sea, but, as the saying goes, better late than never.

We snipped the stamp and postmark from the envelope in case any stamp collectors might be interested in an item for their collection.

Bill and Doris have sent home photographs of their living quarters and of the area in which they work. Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Billow would probably be happy to show them to anyone interested. —Ed.

Hello Ted,

I guess it is about time to drop you a few lines about this place.

Everything has been going pretty good over here, except for when we go on night hikes up Mount Fuji.

It has been a pretty easy winter here. We have had a lot of snow, but it melts fast.

I suppose you heard about the landing the 3rd Mar. Div. made on Iwo Jima. It was a great feeling to be on top of Mount Suribachi, and see the monument placed there for all the dead Marines who fought there.

It was really nice weather when we were there, except for the first night, when it rained so hard we just about floated out of our sleeping bags.

There were five guys who never came back. They were killed by freak accidents, and plain stupidity on their part.

I have been receiving the St. Joe News regularly, and have been glad to get it. I learn a lot about good old St. Joe out of it, as well as the basketball scores.

I have also got a lot of the guys adresses from it, who have joined the service lately.

There is word going around that my draft will be leaving Japan March 28. So tell the girls back there to prepare themselves for a shock about the middle of April. It has been a long time since I have even talked to a state side woman.

It will be great to get home and see my new sister. She will be a year old when I get there.

I suppose the town is quiet now that all the wild drivers are in the service. Or do they have a new batch of them now. If so they will learn the lesson quick. I sure did and am glad of it.

Bruce
(Bruce Baker)

February 19, 1956

Hi Ted,

How is everything back at the good old town of St. Joe?

I have been going to write but just have not got to it until now.

Well, we are back to Fort Carson, Colorado. We got back here around January the 15th.

They have transferred most of the guys in my company out to different outfits but I am still here with the company.

We did have 100 to 125 men in the company and now there are only 30 to 40 in the company.

The weather has been pretty nice lately but it can snow a lot and also get awful awful cold down here! I just got back from church a little while ago.

I still have my same job of jeep driving.

Well will Riverdale go places this year in the tourney or not? I sure hope so.

They finally got a basketball team up down here in the company I am in. I wasn't going out for it because I thought I was too heavy but I went out and got on the team.

We have played 2 games so far and have won 1 game and lost 1 game.

We lost the first game 54 to 51 then won the second game by a score of 55 to 38.

I have scored 74 points in the 2 games. I got 35 points in the first game then in the second game I got 39 points.

Maybe I better gain some more weight, huh? hahaha! Don't think I don't notice that extra weight that I have put on when I run up and down the floor! Yes! I notice it alright!! I weighed around 175 to 180 when I came in and now I weigh 204

I see in the St. Joe News you send me that the independent team is doing great aren't they?

Well see those Fort Wayne Pistons going to do the trick this year? They are sure doing alright so far.

I hear most of the boys back home are coming in the service. I can see just 2 years of this but not any more. They can't make it good enough to get me to stay in, I guess not!!

Well Ted I'll have to close and get ready for chow. I will try and write sooner next time.

BONUS FACTS

With only a little over three months filing time remaining, the Bonus Division of the State of Indiana has failed to receive at least 50 per cent of the total number of applications from eligible Korean veterans and their next of kin.

Unless the present flow of applications is greatly accelerated, several thousand Indiana veterans will find themselves "out of luck" after the deadline date of June 30, 1956.

Applications are available at the Bonus Division, 431 N. Meridian Street, Indianapolis 4, and will be mailed upon request. All County Service Officers, as well as the various veterans' organization service officers, have the applications and are willing to render advice and service to all veterans. All applications for living veterans and next-of-kin must be mailed to the Bonus Division, 431 N. Meridian Street, Indianapolis, Indiana, on or before midnight June 30, 1956.

There are three classes eligible for the bonus. They are as follows:

Class 1—Next-of-kin applications. Those eligible to file are the unremarried widows or widowers, children, mother, father and-or persons standing in loco parentis of a veteran who was killed in action or deceased as the result of a service connected disability between the dates of June 27, 1950, and January 1, 1955, inclusive, regardless of where service was rendered.

Class 2—Disabled veterans: Veterans who are in receipt of compensation for service connected disability awarded by the Veterans Administration to a degree of 10 per cent or more at the time of filing the Korean Bonus Application, such disability must have been incurred between the dates of June 27, 1950, and January 1, 1955, inclusive, regardless of where service was rendered. And those veterans who were medically retired from the Armed Forces for disability incurred in line of duty between the dates of June 27, 1950, and January 1, 1955, inclusive, and who are in receipt of retirement disability pension.

Class 3 — living veterans. Those persons who served between June 27, 1950, and July 27, 1953, inclusive, and who have received or are entitled to receive a Korean Campaign Service Bar.

Each applicant must have been a resident of the State of Indiana for at least one (1) year immediately prior to his or her entry into active duty, and must have been terminated either by honorlbe discharge or a discharge under honorable conditions. Those persons receiving a dishonorable discharge or one under conditions other than honorable are barred under the current act.

Any applicant who is on active duty may submit an official statement of service from the Officer in charge of his record of service, in lieu of separation document DD-214 or discharge. Any commissioned officer so vested with authority may execute the affidavit on the application.

The order of payment of the Korean bonus is as follows: Class 1, Class 2 and then Class 3.

BOY SCOUTS HAVE SPECIAL FORESTRY KITS FOR APRIL STUDY

Hoosier Boy Scouts this year will intensify their study of forestry and the role of tree crops in Indiana's forest industry.

Some 2,300 special kits to help scoutmasters train their troops in forestry are being furnished to the state's 19 Boy Scout Councils, according to George Demuth, Edinburg, acting chairman of the Indiana Forest Industries Committee.

Troops will begin using the kits in April, Forestry Month for the nation's 1.5 million Boy Scouts and Explorer Scouts.

Demuth said national Scout officials report the kit is the most popular they have ever had. More than 86,000 are being donated by American Forest Products Industries, Inc., educational institution supported by wood-processing industries. AFPI is represented here by Demuth's committee.

A Logger's Field Day, visits to sawmills, veneer, furniture and other wood products plants, tours of tree nurseries, and demonstrations of forest management and protection are some troop projects suggested in the kit for maximum value from Forestry Month.

Scout executives are conducting training schools in use of the kit. The planning it contains can help to give broad instruction in forest economics to youths, Demuth said.

Background Scripture: Luke 23:1-56.

Devotional Reading: Isaiah 53.

CHRIST SUFFERED
Lesson for March 25, 1956

Whenever we ask "why" about anything that happens, we can mean the question in either one of two ways. Sometimes we mean both. Perhaps we mean to ask, "What were the events that led up to this one? What were the causes or forces back of this event, pushing it, so to speak, out of the Not-Yet into the Now-and Here?" Or perhaps we mean to ask, "For what purpose did this event take place? If it was a means to an end, what was the end? Did any man, or did God, have a purpose in bringing this event to pass?"

If we ask, "Why did Christ suffer," we can mean it in the first way mentioned just now. In that case, the answer is very easy to see, or the answers rather, for there was no one reason why he was crucified. Jesus suffered because Pilate was a coward; if the governor had stood up for what he knew was right, Jesus might have been saved from an unjust sentence. Jesus suffered because the Pharisees were jealous and had found no other way of getting rid of their most troublesome critic. He suffered because he was courageous; if Christ himself had been timid, he could have avoided Calvary simply by keeping quiet and leaving the country.

He Died For Our Sins

All such reasons it is the business of history to ferret out, and it is of some importance to know them. But the other question is not so easy. No historian, as a historian, can see it. Only the eye of faith, (which may indeed belong to historians, too) can see the great pattern into which this dreadful event fits, this dreadful event of the death by torture of the best person who ever walked this earth. We could not have guessed it. We need God's Word to tell us what it means. What purpose did God have in mind? What was Jesus' own intention? We know what Jesus said the night before, to his disciples as he gave them the cup: This, he said, was the cup of the New Covenant, "in my blood," poured out "for you." We know what he had said months before (Mark 10:-45), that he came to "give his life a ransom for many." Now the Bible tells of a Christ who was totally, from his soul's core, at one with God the Father. What Christ intended, God intended. Christ's death was for a purpose which God had had (as the Bible expresses it) from before the foundation of the world. It was not for his own sake, it was for the sake of his friends. Even more, it was for many who were not his friends. "While we were yet sinners, Christ died for us," Paul says (Rom. 5:8). "He is the expiation for our sins, and not for ours only but for the sins of the whole world," John says (I John 2:2).

How Can This Be?

Many people fight shy of this great truth. Sometimes they are slow to believe it just because it seems too much to believe. Here I am, a single human being on a small planet. Would the Creator of the Universe actually go - not to trouble only, but to agony and defeat- for my sake? Well, if a person thinks that way, we must admit to him that it is indeed a miracle, the greatest conceivable. But there is another reason why people are shy about believing that Christ could have died for our sins, for anybody's sin. How can one man's suffering atone for another man's sins? There are two answers to that, which are part of one answer. One is that Christ was not just a man, he was the Godman, "God-made-man." The other is that he identified himself with sinners, with the worst and weakest, the race of man.

His Death Was In Character

Jesus' death at Calvary was not out of line with his life. If there he "took the rap for sinners," as Dr. Hordern puts it, this was not a new and sudden shift in his life-purpose. From the beginning of his service in this world he had been so closely identified with sinning men that he was called in scorn "friend of sinners" and indeed at last executed as a criminal. No wonder Paul can say, "He who knew no sin was made to be sin for us." Yet this remains all over our heads unless we too identify our own selves with him. To say "He is the Saviour of the world" is not enough. The final step is to discover, "He is my Saviour. For He took my place."

EXECUTIVE OFFICE CABLE ADDRESS—ACDCO

DEAR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS

Our unusual automobile plan originated five years ago when our company president, Mr. Dallas E. Winslow, adopted the plan of giving each associate of our different companies a new automobile each year. Our companies are located at Auburn, Indiana; Springfield, Ohio; Cleveland, Ohio and Detroit, Michigan.

The automobiles that have been driven by our associates have never been traded in on the new cars we purchase. Previously we sold these cars in quantity wholesale to automobile dealers. Due to so many requests from our friends and customers to sell them cars, we decided to offer these select automobiles for sale to our many friends and neighbors.

For the past year we have been visiting with you and telling you of our policy at the Auburn-Cord-Duesenberg Company; our dealings with our associates, and our "terms with a heart". It has always been our desire to provide for our customers any plan that would further extend the cordial relationship and goodwill which we feel exists between us. It is with justifiable pride that Mr. Winslow has announced a new plan -- "ASSURANCE WITH INSURANCE" -- AT NO EXTRA COST TO YOU!!

In a nutshell -- this means that in the event of ACCIDENT, SICKNESS or DEATH, (God forbid), all the remaining payments due the company will be paid in full, under the conditions provided by our group insurance policy. We have further provided -- that in the event of STRIKES or LAY-OFFS, several payments will be made for you without obligation of repayment.

We like to think of our terms as "terms with a heart". By this, we mean any reasonable terms you desire will be considered up to 36 months to pay. Your payments may be made direct to us and you may be assured of our co-operation in case an extension of a payment is needed as we do not sell your note.

IF YOU WILL CALL.....OR COME DOWN to our factory showroom --- S. Wayne Street --- and see our large selection of nearly new and used cars, we will be delighted to further discuss this unique plan to our mutual benefit, without obligation to you.

PARKING FACILITIES -- Open Evenings Until 9 P. M. -- Saturdays Until 5 P. M.

Assuring you of our friendship and co-operation,

Sincerely,

New Pastor Serves Coburntown Church

The congregation of the Coburn Corners Church of Christ recently extended a call to J. W. Mellick of Jeromesville, Ohio, to serve as their pastor following the resignation of Wilmer Ballou who accepted a call to Vesterburg, Michigan, where he is also taking additional work in Great Lakes Bible College.

Mr. Mellick served the Jeromesville church for nearly four years and had served other churches in the vicinity of Mansfield, Ohio, where he had carried on a radio ministry each week for the past fifteen years over station WMAN. He was also engaged for a number of years in religious education work in the public schools while preaching in this vicinity.

Besides Mrs. Mellick, the family of the new pastor consists of five boys, Richard 14, David 12, Daniel 9, and twins Garry and Larry, age 6.

The Coburn Corners church has been recognized for its growth and progress in recent years and has been cited for its large Sunday and Wednesday evening attendance. A thriving Daily Vacation Bible School is conducted each summer and will be conducted this coming summer, as planned, one week after school closes, continuing for two weeks. Another feature of this church is a weekly visitation program.

Recently between forty and fifty members of the church, who reside in and around Leo, began a mission church in that area, meeting each Sunday morning and evening and on Thursday evening. Other congregations of the vicinity are also helping this new group get under way. They plan to hold revival services in the near future, to call a pastor and to build a building as soon as possible.

MT. PLEASANT BENEFIT AUCTION A SUCCESS

by Mrs. Dale Walter

The first auction of this kind to be held in this community turned out to be a huge success. Starting Friday afternoon the countryside was buzzing with tractors, wagons and pick-up trucks bringing farm machinery, small tools and furniture to be sold. Saturday morning many more useful items were brought, right up to sale time.

Despite the snow which started about 9 o'clock, the sale began on time, and progressed throughout the day. One thing alone in our mind made attending this sale worthwhile, when the auctioneers started on the farm machinery. Russell Kruse's 14 year old son took over for a while as main auctioneer and really amazed the crowd with a brilliant display of ability. He had bids coming from all directions.

The sale ended at about 3:30 and by 5 o'clock everything was removed. This day will be long remembered by many who put forth time and effort to make it the success it was. The Mt. Pleasant Building Fund was increased by $1,682.-22 after all expenses were paid.

We are reminded of the words of the Master, "If ye have faith as a grain of mustard seed, ye shall say unto this mountain, Remove hence to yonder place, and it shall remove; and nothing shall be impossible unto you."

CUB SCOUTS MEET

Cub Scout Pack 3172 of Spencerville held its monthly meeting Monday evening at the Spencerville Methodist Church.

The meeting opened with the pledge to the flag led by Cubmaster Bill Hudson. The short business meeting was then conducted with Wayne Storer elected to the office of secretary-treasurer to replace John Mason who was forced to resign because of conflict with other community activities.

Songs were led by Mrs. Bill Allen and Mrs. Lynn Fisher gave a short talk on products taken from the sea.

Reports of activities were then given by the den mothers, Mrs. Bill Hudson, Mrs. Norb Sordelet and Mrs. Fisher.

It was announced that new dens in St. Joe are being formed to be led by Mrs. Virgil Laux and Mrs. Harvey Carr. One den is now functioning in St. Joe under the direction of Mrs. Ted Haberkorn.

Several advancement awards were made during the meeting to Cub Scouts completing the necessary achievements. It was decided to operate a booth at the coming Scout-O-Rama to be held at the Coliseum in May.

Refreshments were served by the mothers of Cubs in Mrs. Fisher's den.

DAIRY SCHOOL TO BE HELD TUESDAY AT AUBURN

An Extension School "Economics of Dairy Production" will be held Tuesday afternoon, March 27, at 1:30 p.m. in the assembly room of the DeKalb County Court House at Auburn. Dr. Lester L. Arnold, extension economist from the Department of Agricultural Economics at Purdue University, will lead the discussion.

Topicis to be discussed are:

1. Labor efficiency—a collection of data showing the relationship between labor efficiency and labor income, the extreme differences which exist between efficient and inefficient operators, and methods of increasing labor efficiency through work simplification techniques.

(2) Efficiency in the use of buildings and equipment, a discussion of present day trends in the construction of farm buildings, the conventional stanchion barn versus the loafing-shed milking-parlor arrangement, and some thinking on bulk tanks.

(3) Economic trends in the dairy business - figures on supply, demand, consumption and price (annual), seasonal production and price variation.

The program is designed to take a good look at some of the economics possible on the dairy farm in 1956.

$10,000 FOR NAME OF ONE QUINT

Owners or feeders of livestock and poultry in this community are invited by Myers Elevator, local feed dealer, to enter a unique calf-naming contest in which prizes worth $10,000 are offered for naming just one calf.

Born prematurely, the famous Wayne quintuplet calves were saved and their weight doubled in just seven weeks with Calnip milk replacer. They have gained faster than average calves. Millions of people saw them on the "I've Got A Secret" television show. They will be exhibited at state fairs and expositions this season.

According to Cliff Billow, manager of the local elevator, $10,000 in prizes are being offered for naming the bull calf in the group. The heifers are named Nola, Emma, Wanda and Anna. Altogether 203 valuable prizes are offered in this contest, including a Case 300 tractor (plus a possible extra cash bonus of $1,000) a Ford V-8 pick-up truck; a Maytag automatic washer; 100 famous Sheffield carving and steak sets; and 100 handy 8-piece kitchen sets. Anyone owning or feeding livestock or poultry of any kind may enter this contest which closes June 15, 1956.

Entry blanks are available from Myers Elevator in St. Joe.

Here's a little quiz. What is the difference between a burrow, burough and a burro? Answer: a burrow is a hole in the ground, a burough is a corporate town and a burro is a donkey.

While the above information may not add immeasurably to your fund of general knowledge, the similarity in words points out the fact that there can be a vast difference in certain things even though they may sound or look alike.

So it is with our organization. It has always been our policy to sell only high quality merchandise. Two pieces of furniture may look alike, but one may have long wear and comfort that may be missing in the other. We constantly strive to keep our quality standards high and supply our customers with the best that he (or she) can afford.

You never know what you'll find where.

Butch Dunten pointed out that the Vets dog food he has advertised this week makes a special offer to dog owners to help aid the blind. For every label sent in, taken from cans of that particular brand of dog food, the packers will give a half-cent to the Pilot Guide Dog Foundation in its efforts to provide lead dogs for the blind.

—Just one of the many little ways we occasionally find in which a little bit can be a big help. This time dog owners have a particular opportunity.

Jack Bowser related the other day about Mike Davis' love for cowboys. He had Hopalong Cassidy picked out but didn't quite have the name down pat on one occasion.

Jack said that Mike had observed a picture of the cowboy star in a magazine, probably, a comic book. And Hoppy had a pair of gloves on—or halfway on. One hand was gloved but the other was uncovered, with the glove tucked neatly under the belt. A real cowbop could tell you if the gunhand is bared or covered for action. But I'm not a real cowboy so I can't tell you. Anyhow it was one of those characteristic details that us kids would notice about a cowboy if he was our big hero.

One day Mike was all dolled up in his black Hoppy outfit ready to go somewhere, and he came out with—yep, one glove on and the other tucked neatly under the belt. Mothers instinctively have a wary eye and April asked Mike, "Why don't you put both gloves on?"

Mike answered, "That ain't the way Hockalong does it!"

It takes the small fry to jolt mom and dad into realizing how tempus is fugiting.

Our own Phil turned five two weeks ago. He often likes to "go over to the shop with Dad" and amuse himself with the typewriter, adding machine and, here lately, the linotype! I don't know for sure, but St. Joe may have the youngest typesetter in the business.

—But that isn't what I started to tell you. — When he does come over to the shop, we watch for cars for him as he crosses the highway through town. This week, however, things were different. Tuesday morning he made the pronouncement to Mom: "I want to go over the the shop with Dad but I don't want any of that funny business about watching me cross the street. I'm five years old now and I can cross it by myself."

It's a sad day when you realize that that little boy or that little girl isn't so little any more.

P.S. He made a concession. It's all right if we watch him cross the street so long as he can't see us watching.

The warm weather and baseball can come in anytime as far as I'm concerned. —But we aren't done with basketball just yet.

Listening to the last ten minutes of that Piston game Tuesday night was enough to give a Hoosier the fits. It ended up fine, though, with the Pistons winning. There was a minor brawl started in the last quarter and Mr. Gates, in relating the incident was going something like--

"Houbregs goes under—he SCORES! — Oooh, he was racked up in the rigging as he went in for the lay-up. Now there's a fight started — one of them jumped on his back —Coleman hit 'im— the benches are cleared — the players are all on the floor — policemen are trying to break it up —Harrison and Noble are going for each other " —and so it went for a minute or so. Finally things quieted down and Mr. Gates resumed, "Well, fans, everything is under control — almost - - - -"

Bloodmobile At Butler April 13

The DeKalb County Chapter of the American Red Cross has announced that the Bloodmobile will be at the Indiana-Michigan Electric Company Building on Road 6 west of Butler on Friday, April 13, from 10:00 a.m. until 3:45 p.m.

Mrs. Armand H. Sicard, Butler chairman, has stated in the announcement "Many of us have found these visits to be simple, without re-action of any kind, and not over-demanding of our time. We have experienced personal satisfaction in knowing that every year, at least one person has received 'new life' because we were willing to make the sacrifice.

"Everyone who does this is a special person. Less than 10 percent of the population can meet the age and health standards. Our bodies are the only laboratories in which this precious commodity can be produced.

"If you know another person, in good health, who might be willing to give, won't you urge him or her to give a pint of blood on April 13. We need at least 50 new persons for donors (people who have never given before) every time the Bloodmobile comes."

Those who are willing to donate blood should contact Mrs. Sicard at 428 N. Broadway, Butler, indicating the time preference for visiting the Bloodmobile.

Riverdale School News

Spring has reared its longed for head at Riverdale, and is being welcomed by a flood of activities.

The Junior Class play was presented last Friday and Saturday nights. It was a financial success and lots of fun to boot. Juniors are wondering what to do with all of the time formerly occupied by play practice and are wandering about with some traces of melancholy in their expressions. Perhaps it is caused by memories of the laughs they had during the play. There was a mouse that ate Shirley Smith's property (a sandwich) and some of Mr. Stackhouse's cookies. There was the black tooth wax that "took out" one of Mike Emenhiser's teeth. There was Charles Easley's mispronunciation of his own name (in the play) as Dan Canrod rather than Dan Conrad. There were the lines that were read by the wrong people, and a host of other pleasant memories. And now, they are almost Seniors.

The Seniors held a Work Day two weeks ago, a bake sale last Saturday and are leaving for Washington and New York Tuesday next. They'll be gone until Sunday morning, and take much the same trip as former classes. Major fund raising projects in their four years include magazine sales (2), class plays (2), a yearbook, work day, bake sales (4 or 5), taffy sales, class dues, canteen, concessions at ball games, noon ice cream sales and individual scrap drives. The trip cost the money of four years' hard labors, but it is thought worth the effort by all.

Spring is here for other classes, too. Sophomores will soon begin their anticipation of a trip to Chicago to re-inforce their classroom studies. Lower classes will soon begin asking teachers to take classes out-of-doors. May 18 is just 7 weeks off!

EXECUTIVE OFFICE CABLE ADDRESS—ACDCO

DEAR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS

Our unusual automobile plan originated five years ago when our company president, Mr. Dallas E. Winslow, adopted the plan of giving each associate of our different companies a new automobile each year. Our companies are located at Auburn, Indiana; Springfield, Ohio; Cleveland, Ohio and Detroit, Michigan.

The automobiles that have been driven by our associates have never been traded in on the new cars we purchase. Previously we sold these cars in quantity wholesale to automobile dealers. Due to so many requests from our friends and customers to sell them cars, we decided to offer these select automobiles for sale to our many friends and neighbors.

For the past year we have been visiting with you and telling you of our policy at the Auburn-Cord-Duesenberg Company; our dealings with our associates, and our "terms with a heart". It has always been our desire to provide for our customers any plan that would further extend the cordial relationship and goodwill which we feel exists between us. It is with justifiable pride that Mr. Winslow has announced a new plan -- "ASSURANCE WITH INSURANCE" -- AT NO EXTRA COST TO YOU!!

In a nutshell -- this means that in the event of ACCIDENT, SICKNESS or DEATH, (God forbid), all the remaining payments due the company will be paid in full, under the conditions provided by our group insurance policy. We have further provided -- that in the event of STRIKES or LAY-OFFS, several payments will be made for you without obligation of repayment.

We like to think of our terms as "terms with a heart". By this, we mean any reasonable terms you desire will be considered up to 36 months to pay. Your payments may be made direct to us and you may be assured of our co-operation in case an extension of a payment is needed as we do not sell your note.

IF YOU WILL CALL.....OR COME DOWN to our factory showroom --- S. Wayne Street --- and see our large selection of nearly new and used cars, we will be delighted to further discuss this unique plan to our mutual benefit, without obligation to you.

PARKING FACILITIES -- Open Evenings Until 9 P. M. -- Saturdays Until 5 P. M.

Assuring you of our friendship and co-operation,

Sincerely,
M. J. Klinger

Did you notice any difference in the contents of the "corner" last week? I had a "ghost" writer! Well, frankly, I'd hardly call him a ghost, as he weighs approximately 225, initials G.H. and is the advertising manager of the Garrett Clipper. Thanks Gene.

Of course we are glad to know that our PASCO, imported china from Bavaria, Dinnerware was used on the table of a former President, also on that of a number of residents of Central and South American Republics; but what we are particularly proud of is that thousands of our American "Queens" and "Princesses" prefer and use our PASCO Dinnerware daily. It is their good judgment and taste we depend on and it's a dependable and safe guide. You will always find our patterns and shapes leading and in good taste.

We have many of these patterns and shapes that you may see, anytime.

CHRIST LIVES

Lesson for April 1, 1956

"Christ is risen!" The words will be said and sung many thousand times this Easter. What do they mean Let us leave out of sight all those to whom the words mean nothing but a vestige of superstition, at the worst, a picturesque symbol of something altogether different, at best. What do these words mean to those who do believe them? It is possible to believe this sentence literally and firmly, and yet be as dead to their joyous meaning as if they were a weather report of 40 years ago. They portend a miracle; but yesterday's miracles may not be especially interesting. Do you feel a kind of rapture on reading about the frogs in Pharaoh's palace, the miracle-frogs? Does it help your malaria to read about the cures St. Paul did at Ephesus?

Yesterday's miracles may even be discouraging just because they are yesterday's. The Resurrection of Christ is not in a class with any other miracle. For the early Christians it was THE event of history.

The Opened Eye

It is no accident that the church says and sings, "Christ is risen" more often than "Christ rose." The Resurrection is a kind of contemporary miracle. It has many meanings but consider three of them, in the lives of the plain people who first experienced the truth of it. Remember, the Resurrection was nothing they had been looking for, nothing they had the wit to invent. It came as a shock, it upset all their ideas, it remade their world. First of all and including everything else, the Resurrection means the presence, here and today not less than there in the dawn of Christian time, the presence of the living Christ, the present companion of all who love him. First of all, his presence there in Emmaus and indeed on the road across the hills meant the opened eye. With him for guide, the man Cleopas and his friend saw things in the Scriptures they had never seen before. The Scriptures like a closed gate, opened to their inward eye. Then in the supper-room as the bread was broken, again their eyes were opened, and they knew him. So the risen Christ today and always opens the eyes of men; inspired by him, we understand God's Book and God's Son as we can never do alone.

The Burning Heart

The second thing the disciples felt was a burning heart. John Calvin invented a coat of arms for himself, showing an outstretched hand and a burning heart, offered to God. It might serve as the coat of arms for all who have felt the presence of the living risen Christ. Two young men were arguing about the Resurrection and they were greatly puzzled about it. They asked a much older man what were his reasons for believing it to be true. "Why," the old man said, "I just talked with Him this morning." Life gains a warmth, a flame, from contact with Christ as from no other contact possible. Jesus as a historical character excites our curiosity, our imagination. Christ as a problem in theology excites us to think. But Christ as a living presence sets life on fire. Who are the people who witness most enthusiastically about Jesus? They are the ones who will sing, "He walks with me and he talks with me . . ." That Jesus lived is interesting and important. That he lives lives now, in me—that is life changing.

The Hastening Feet

All around the world this Easter churches will be ringing with song and bright with flowers. In the most unlikely places, there are Christians. You will find that those churches in far places were started there by men and women who believed in and knew the risen Christ. If there is a church which calls itself "Christian" but does not believe in the Resurrection, its Christ is as dead as any other bygone hero. Such a church will not send many missionaries. A dead Christ hurries no man's footsteps, eases no man's burden, lights no man's hour of sorrow. Only the living Christ kindles the burning heart, opens the blind eyes, sets men's feet upon a rock, and sends them out, like the first Christians, to challenge a world in his name. The feet of the two men hastening from Emmaus were but the first of billions, eager with God's good news.

Around the Town

With the Editor

This item just missed getting in last week's issue, but I guess it's as good this week as last. A couple of little Vinsons brought it over last Thursday afternoon just after the paper was put in the mail. I read it over and got a little suspicious because I could just see the fur fly - the editor's, naturally - if this was a joke someone was playing. But the kids said, "Maud says she never gets her name in the paper and she wants this put in."

So, here 'tis -

"Miss Lois Vinson spent the last three days with Mrs. Maud Harris. They looked over antiques. But they found out the only antique they had was Maud. Mary and Alice also baked a cake for the enjoyment of Jack and Gene."

After another week's practice by that 5-year-old linotype operator I told you about last week, I thought maybe you might like to see a sample of his work. I snitched these lines one day -

DRFQODIWDRMH DSCVM AHODWFOI$RFNUPJQKR A 721240OR TAO AOI LDTPIOM LUP DLU ESCHRPL RFDHE

—and a day or so later he set -

JPHIL DAVE MIKE TEDSOD PROLDF AODDD DFW FRRT HABERK PHIL FDILYPOESS 8$12$6$ PLDF DHDUWEFWR

Hmmm, glad to see those family names cropping up in his thoughts . . . but all those dollar signs scare me.

Say, does anyone know of a copy or two of that Spencerville History "Doc" Carey published a few years ago that can be bought. I didn't get my name on the subscription list and would like to buy one from somebody.

At the spelling contest last Tuesday night, there were several times when the grown-ups who were spectatin' got a kick out of the perplexed expressions on the kids' faces as they occasionally came up with a word that momentarily stumped them, hesitatingly spelled with a question-mark tone in their voice and sighed a sigh of relief as it turned out to be the correct spelling.

Grown-ups should laugh. As one contestant spelled "s-t-a-y-e-d", a lady a couple of rows ahead of us turned to her companion with a frown and you could lip-read: "Is THAT the way you spell it?"

Spellers Win Two 'Firsts' In County Contest

Parents and students attending the Wednesday night spelling competition in the assembly room of the DeKalb County court house at Auburn saw Lee Impton, third grade, and Michael Haberkorn, fourth grade of the Riverdale grade school win two of the four first place ribbons awarded that evening. Competition was held between representatives of DeKalb County schools in the third, fourth, seventh and eighth grades.

Lee won his first place honor despite a cold and stuffy nose which hampered him a little in pronunciation but didn't effect the accuracy of his spelling. Mike won his title after competition narrowed down to Michelle Wade of the Will Franks school at Garrett and himself. Michelle spelled down Mike last year to win the third grade first, but this year she tripped on "finally" which the winner then correctly spelled, plus another word.

Arthur Baughman, Riverdale's seventh grade representative, remained in competition until about half of the starting dozen were yet in the running. He tripped on "criticism." Gary Sible of the eighth grade had little difficulty until the word "pneumonia" came along with four spellers left.

Riverdale with two firsts took top honors in the first night's spelling. Auburn, Will Franks of Garrett and Waterloo each had two second or third place winners. Linda White of Franklin Center was the seventh grade winner and Marilyn Jennings of Troy Township was the eighth grade winner.

Complete results of Wednesday's contests are as follows:

3rd Grade—1st Lee Impton, Riverdale; 2nd Susan Jay, Will Franks at Garrett; 3rd Sally Stebing, Auburn.

4th Grade—1st Michael Haberkorn, Riverdale; 2d Michelle Wade, Will Franks at Garrett; 3rd Lowell King, Taylor's Corners (Franklin Township).

7th Grade— 1st Linda White, Franklin Center; 2nd Jackie Housman, Ashley; 3rd Nancy Lockwood, Waterloo.

8th Grade—1st Marilyn Jennings, Troy Township; 2nd Harvey Harris, Auburn; 3rd Gary May, Waterloo.

Competition scheduled for Thursday night of this week includes 5th and 6th grades and the Journal-Gazette contest.

Church League To Meet Next Wednesday

Lenard Fisher, president of the St. Joe Church Softball League, has announced the first meeting date for the organization for the coming summer activities.

The meeting will be held on Wednesday, April 11, at 8 p. m. at the home of Mr. Fisher, northwest of St. Joe. Representatives from all churches interested in participating in the league are requested to be present at the meeting. Election of officers will be held.

It is planned to begin competition in the league the latter part of May. Before that time rules must be drawn up, schedule arranged and finances discussed. All interested persons, including managers, coaches, players or church representatives, are urged to attend the meeting.

Bloodmobile At Butler April 13

The DeKalb County Chapter of the American Red Cross has announced that the Bloodmobile will be at the Indiana-Michigan Electric Company Building on Road 6 west of Butler on Friday, April 13, from 10:00 a.m. until 3:45 p.m.

Mrs. Armand H. Sicard, Butler chairman, has stated in the announcement "Many of us have found these visits to be simple, without re-action of any kind, and not over-demanding of our time. We have experienced personal satisfaction in knowing that every year, at least one person has received 'new life' because we were willing to make the sacrifice.

"Everyone who does this is a special person. Less than 10 percent of the population can meet the age and health standards. Our bodies are the only laboratories in which this precious commodity can be produced.

"If you know another person, in good health, who might be willing to give, won't you urge him or her to give a pint of blood on April 13. We need at least 50 new persons for donors (people who have never given before) every time the Bloodmobile comes."

Those who are willing to donate blood should contact Mrs. Sicard at 423 N. Broadway, Butler, indicating the time preference for visiting the Bloodmobile.

The DeKalb County Sunday School Association is an undenominational service organization, intended to promote the work of all Sunday Schools of the county. The Methodist Church of Auburn is host to the coming convention. Registrations are expected from approximately sixty Sunday Schools of the county.

Featured at the opening service will be a program of music by a DeKalb County choir under the direction of Rev. Harlan Wright of Auburn, a Scripture reading on "Christ's Parables of the Lost" by Rev. Albert Clarke of Auburn, a keynote message on the subject, "Why We Are Here," by association president Rev. Loyal R. Ringenberg, and an address by Rev. Russell Churchill, Sunday School specialist from Beulah Beach, Ohio.

Following registrations at 8:00 Saturday forenoon, the program will include special music, a devotional reading by Rev. Miles Freeman of Auburn, a report of the county census committee, an address by Dr. H. W. Byrne of Fort Wayne, workshops on Sunday School evangelism, and a sound filmstrip entitled, "Sharing the Fellowship." The subject of the address by Dr. Byrne will be, "The Purpose, Pattern and Program of Evangelism in the Sunday School." Workshops to be offered include "Evangelism of Little Children," led by Mrs. Charles Rose of Waterloo; "Evangelism of Juniors," by Rev. Churchill; "Evangelism of Intermediates," by Mrs. Miriam Jeffers of Butler; "Evangelism of Young People," by Dr. Byrne; and "Evangelism of Adults," by Rev. R. Vernon Paulson of Pioneer, Ohio.

The Saturday afternoon program, beginning at 1:00 p.m., will include music by a DeKalb County men's quartet, a Scripture reading by Rev. Carl E. Thompson of Newville, a panel of pastors and a business session. The panel of pastors will include Rev. Don Worch of Butler who will present a paper on the subject, "Using the results of the Sunday School Census"; Rev. Frank Engle of Waterloo, whose subject will be, "Why Laymen Should Engage in Sunday School Evangelism"; and Rev. J. W. Mellick of Coburn Corners, who will present a paper on the subject, "How to Make a Call."

The closing address of the convention will be given by Rev. John Hunt of Butler, who will speak on "The Outgoing Witness."

EXECUTIVE OFFICE CABLE ADDRESS—ACDCO

DEAR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS

Our unusual automobile plan originated five years ago when our company president, Mr. Dallas E. Winslow, adopted the plan of giving each associate of our different companies a new automobile each year. Our companies are located at Auburn, Indiana; Springfield, Ohio; Cleveland, Ohio and Detroit, Michigan.

The automobiles that have been driven by our associates have never been traded in on the new cars we purchase. Previously we sold these cars in quantity wholesale to automobile dealers. Due to so many requests from our friends and customers to sell them cars, we decided to offer these select automobiles for sale to our many friends and neighbors.

For the past year we have been visiting with you and telling you of our policy at the Auburn-Cord-Duesenberg Company; our dealings with our associates, and our "terms with a heart". It has always been our desire to provide for our customers any plan that would further extend the cordial relationship and goodwill which we feel exists between us. It is with justifiable pride that Mr. Winslow has announced a new plan -- "ASSURANCE WITH INSURANCE" -- AT NO EXTRA COST TO YOU!!

In a nutshell -- this means that in the event of ACCIDENT, SICKNESS or DEATH, (God forbid), all the remaining payments due the company will be paid in full, under the conditions provided by our group insurance policy. We have further provided -- that in the event of STRIKES or LAY-OFFS, several payments will be made for you without obligation of repayment.

We like to think of our terms as "terms with a heart". By this, we mean any reasonable terms you desire will be considered up to 36 months to pay. Your payments may be made direct to us and you may be assured of our co-operation in case an extension of a payment is needed as we do not sell your note.

IF YOU WILL CALL.....OR COME DOWN to our factory showroom --- S. Wayne Street --- and see our large selection of nearly new and used cars, we will be delighted to further discuss this unique plan to our mutual benefit, without obligation to you.

PARKING FACILITIES -- Open Evenings Until 9 P. M. -- Saturdays Until 5 P. M.

Assuring you of our friendship and co-operation,

Sincerely,
M. J. Klinger

Statisticians say that a person will exert 176 times as much effort to put something in an empty stomach as in an empty head!

Speaking of empty stomachs, our Sunbeam bottle warmers are the finest gadgets we know of to warm baby's milk to exactly the right temperature.

I believe the hospital here reported a new record in the number of babies born last month and are we ever ready for them. Here are some of the items: bathinettes, bassinettes, baby beds, high chairs, strollers, carriages, teeterbabes, swings, nursery chairs, play pens, pads for all the items that need pads, chests of drawers, scooters.

Those are a few of the many items that we carry for your baby's comfort. See our window in our uptown store.

A small cafe had this sign in its window, "Duncan Hines didn't eat here because there were no empty stools."

OUR MISSION
Lesson for April 8, 1956

When a great bomber sets off on a military mission, or when a plane loaded with leaflets takes off for a propaganda mission, no matter how good the plane is otherwise, the mission will be a failure without three essentials for success. One is gas enough to reach the target. The second is an engine that will not "conk out" going or returning, an engine that can be relied on to function under all weather conditions. The third essential is a crew that will follow instructions, competent to fly the plane and to deliver its load at the right time at the right place.

The Mission of the Church

One of the last words Jesus uttered before his Ascension was "Go." But what is a going church? Sometimes all that is meant by that expression is simply a church that has meetings once in a while. But that is not the idea Christ had in mind. The original Christian church had meetings, and good ones they were; but it began to GO after the meetings were over and the disciples scattered everywhere, bringing the Word, the good news of God's love, the good news about Jesus. The church was going when it was growing; going when it took the message to new places and to people who had never heard it before. A going church, in short, is a missionary church. Some people don't like the word "missions." It seems to carry or suggest the idea of superiority. Not at all! We do have a superior article, the Christian faith and life. But we do not have to be conceited about it. Does a salesman have to be conceited if he is selling the best line on the market? Does a doctor have to be conceited about prescribing the best drugs yet invented? We did not invent our religion. God gave it to us. He gave it to us to keep and to share; and if we do not share it we shall hardly keep it.

Power of the Spirit

Going back to that airplane a moment: enough gas, plus an efficient engine spells POWER. No matter how important the mission is, no matter how good the intentions are, without the power everything collapses. So it is with the church. Our mission has been set by God himself. But when the church takes off with its tanks empty, and some home-made do-it-yourself tinkered-up sewing machine in place of a good engine, it will never accomplish its mission no matter how good it is. Wanting to reach the target is not enough. Don't we all pray, "Thy Kingdom come on earth . . ."? That is a missionary prayer. Don't most churches offer prayer for missions, and even take up offerings for missions? Yet any one who knows the church will tell you that the church's missionary responsibilty is shirked and slacked. We play at missions, we leave millions on millions without a ray of Gospel. The record of many a congregation, if you looked at it, would never suggest that that church knew much or cared much about what Jesus said on his church in his solemn last words: "Go—into all the world"! The trouble is that the Church does not have the power. It could have the same power the first Christians had: the power of the Holy Spirit. Only a Spirit-filled church is going to be much of a missionary church.

Power of Testimony

The other necessity of the plane on a mission is personnel. Power alone is not enough. There must be men who are prepared to use that power. Now Christians individually, or the church at large, cannot "use" the Holy Spirit, for no one can use God. But God's power is not poured out on just anybody (as many stories in the Bible show). His power comes to those who devote themselves to him and his cause. The early church waited for the Spirit, waited for power; but once they had received it they proceeded to carry out Jesus' directive: Go into all the world! A Christian, or a church, that wants God's power for selfish reasons will not be given it. A Christian, or a church, that prays for God's power so as to be able to witness for him—so as to win others for him—will find that prayer answered. The power will come. If the church today is making too feeble a mark on our world, is it because the church does not seek true spiritual power for true spiritual service?

U.S. Weather Bureau Issues Tornado Information

The U. S. Weather Bureau recently issued a kit of information concerning the characteristics of tornadoes and precautions to be taken when one occurs. With the occasional nearby damage resulting from these wind storms, the News offers the information with relative protographs for the benefit of its readers. It is suggested that the accompanying information be cut out of this issue of the paper and kept for possible future reference.

TORNADO SAFETY RULES

TO KNOW WHAT TO DO WHEN A WARNING IS RECEIVED, OR A TORNADO IS OBSERVED, MAY MEAN THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN LIFE AND DEATH!!

I. There is no universal protection against tornadoes except caves or underground excavations. When time permits, go to a tornado cellar, cave, or underground excavation which should have an air outlet to help equalize the air pressure. It should be kept fit for use, free from water, gas, or debris; and preferably equipped with pick and shovel.

II. If you are in open country:

1. Move at right angles to the tornado's path. Tornadoes usually move ahead at about 25 to 40 miles per hour.
2. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression such as a ditch or ravine.

III. If in a city or town:

1. Seek inside shelter, preferably in a strongly reinforced building. STAY AWAY FROM WINDOWS!
2. In homes: The southwest corner of the basement usually offers greatest safety, particularly in frame houses. People in houses without basements should find other shelter, preferably in a storm cellar, although a depression, such as a ditch or ravine, can offer some protection. If time permits, electricity and fuel lines should be shut off. Doors and windows on the north and east sides of the house may be opened to help reduce damage to the building.
3. Standing against the inside wall on a lower floor of an office building offers some protection.

IV. If in schools:

1. In city areas: If school building is of strongly reinforced construction, stay inside, away from windows, remain near an inside wall on the lower floors when possible. AVOID AUDITORIUMS AND GYMNASIUMS with large, poorly-supported roofs!
2. In rural schools that do not have strongly reinforced construction, remove children and teachers to a ravine or ditch if storm shelter is not available.

V. If in factories and industrial plants:

On receiving a tornado warning, a lookout should be posted to keep safety officials advised of the tornado's approach. Advance preparation should be made for shutting off electrical circuits and fuel lines if the tornado approaches the plant. Workers should be moved to sections of the plant offering the greatest protection.

VI. Keep calm! It will not help to get excited. People have been killed by running out into streets and by turning back into the path of a tornado. Even though a warning is issued, chances of a tornado striking one's home or location are very slight. Tornadoes cover such a small zone, as a rule, that relatively only a few places in a warned area are directly affected. You should know about tornadoes though, "just in case"

VII. Keep tuned to your radio or television station for latest tornado advisory information. Do not call the Weather Bureau, except to report a tornado, as your individual request may tie up telephone lines urgently needed to receive special reports or to relay advisories to radio and television stations for dissemination to thousands in the critical area.

TORNADO INFORMATION

WHERE TORNADOES CAN OCCUR:

Any place in the United States at any time of the year. They happen most frequently in the midwestern, southern and central states from March through September.

HOW OFTEN DO THEY OCCUR:

The records show that the average number of days with tornadoes varies from about 12 per year in parts of the Mid-West to less-than one per year in the Northeastern and far Western states.

HOW TO RECOGNIZE A TORNADO:

Usually observed as a funnel-shaped cloud, spinning rapidly, and extending toward the earth from the base of a thundercloud. When close by, it sounds like the roar of hundreds of airplanes.

TORNADO "WEATHER":

Hot, sticky days with southerly winds and a threatening, ominous sky. However, many such days occur without tornadoes.

CLOUDS:

Familiar thunderstorm clouds are present. An hour or two before a tornado, topsy-turvy clouds appear sometimes bulging down instead of up. The clouds often have a greenish-black color.

PRECIPITATION:

Rain, frequently hail, preceding the tornado, with a heavy downpour after it has passed.

TIME OF DAY:

Mostly between 3 and 7 P.M., but they have occurred at all hours.

DIRECTION OF TRAVEL:

In most cases they move from a westerly direction, usually from the southwest.

LENGTH OF PATH:

Usually 10 to 40 miles (the average length is 16 miles), but they may move forward for 300 miles.

WIDTH OF PATH:

The average width is about 400 yards, but they have cut swaths over a mile in width.

SPEED OF TRAVEL:

25 to 40 miles per hour average, but they have varied from 5 to 130 miles per hour.

WIND SPEED:

Estimated as high as 500 miles per hour within the tornado.

CAUSES OF DESTRUCTION:

(1) Violent winds which uproot trees, destroy buildings, and which create a serious hazard from objects blown through the air.

(2) Differences in air pressure which can lift automobiles and can cause buildings to collapse.

A GOOD "CATCH" of legumes and grass in a nurse grain crop isn't always easy to come by. A good way to help a new seeding to get a strong start is to feed your grain crop plenty of ARCADIAN® 12-12-12. Top-dress your winter grain and use plenty of concentrated, balanced ARCADIAN 12-12-12 in the drill when you plant your spring grain. This way you supply enough nitrogen, phosphorus and potash for both crops. Far too many seedings are starved out instead of just being shaded out. Around the Town

With the Editor

Norman Morr had a pretty good grass fire going out at his place last week. In fact, it was so good he called the fire department to come out and see it. Norman got a good burn on his forearm where the flames licked at him as he went to the house to telephone for help. His face looked like a ripe tomato for a while, too.

—Don't ask what happened to the fire truck.

Even precautions we take sometimes blow up in our face.

Take Bud Shockley, for example. He found a new way to trim eyebrows without the use of tweezers just because he was looking out for his own interests this winter.

Last fall Bud put alcohol in the radiator of his car to keep it from freezing. A couple of weeks ago he couldn't see the level of the antifreeze as he peered into the radiator. So he lit a match and looked in again.

Like I say, you never know when some of these precautions are going to blow up in your face.

Bloodmobile At Butler April 13

The DeKalb County Chapter of the American Red Cross has announced that the Bloodmobile will be at the Indiana-Michigan Electric Company Building on Road 6 west of Butler on Friday, April 13, from 10:00 a.m. until 3:45 p.m.

Mrs. Armand H. Sicard, Butler chairman, has stated in the announcement "Many of us have found these visits to be simple, without re-action of any kind, and not over-demanding of our time. We have experienced personal satisfaction in knowing that every year, at least one person has received 'new life' because we were willing to make the sacrifice.

"Everyone who does this is a special person. Less than 10 percent of the population can meet the age and health standards. Our bodies are the only laboratories in which this precious commodity can be produced.

"If you know another person, in good health, who might be willing to give, won't you urge him or her to give a pint of blood on April 13. We need at least 50 new persons for donors (people who have never given before) every time the Bloodmobile comes."

Those who are willing to donate blood should contact Mrs. Sicard at 428 N. Broadway, Butler, indicating the time preference for visiting the Bloodmobile.

Phil Carpenter Selected For Boy's State

The Riverdale High School faculty recently chose Philip Carpenter as delegate to the Hoosier Boys' State to be held on the campus at Indiana University June 9 to 16. The appointment was made possible by the sponsorship of the American Legion Post in St. Joe.

PHIL CARPENTER

Hoosier Boy's State is a school of government and practical politics. Frank Sechler Now Leading Scout Troop

The St. Joe Troop 173 Boy Scouts of America has recently been reorganized due to press of circumstances affecting adult leaders in the troop. Frank Sechler is now serving as Scoutmaster of the troop.

Bud Shockley, who originally held the position of Scoutmaster, is now chairman of the Troop Committee. Mr. Shockley found it necessary to be relieved of the Scoutmaster responsibilties due to conflict with occupational working hours. Joe Yaste, original assistant Scoutmaster, then held the Scoutmaster's position for a short time before the press of personal affairs forced him to be relieved of the position. Joe Robinson then temporarily served as the adult leader.

Under the recent rearrangement of adult leader resonsibilities, Mr. Sechler assumed the leadership of the local troop as Scoutmaster. Mr. Robinson is serving as assistant Scoutmaster. The Troop Committee now functioning has as its members Mr. Shockley, Bill Sible, Bob Hablawetz, Walter Ervin and Ted Haberkorn.

Since assuming the duties of Scoutmaster a few weeks ago, Mr. Sechler has been in the process of reorganizing the troop program, conducting frequent field and overnight trips and setting up a planned pattern of meetings and activities. He reminded the young men in the community that those who may have recently reached the age of eleven years are now eligible to participate in Boy Scout activities and are invited to become members of the local troop.

DEAR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS

Our unusual automobile plan originated five years ago when our company president, Mr. Dallas E. Winslow, adopted the plan of giving each associate of our different companies a new automobile each year. Our companies are located at Auburn, Indiana; Springfield, Ohio; Cleveland, Ohio and Detroit, Michigan.

The automobiles that have been driven by our associates have never been traded in on the new cars we purchase. Previously we sold these cars in quantity wholesale to automobile dealers. Due to so many requests from our friends and customers to sell them cars, we decided to offer these select automobiles for sale to our many friends and neighbors.

For the past year we have been visiting with you and telling you of our policy at the Auburn-Cord-Duesenberg Company; our dealings with our associates, and our "terms with a heart". It has always been our desire to provide for our customers any plan that would further extend the cordial relationship and goodwill which we feel exists between us. It is with justifiable pride that Mr. Winslow has announced a new plan -- "ASSURANCE WITH INSURANCE" -- AT NO EXTRA COST TO YOU!!

In a nutshell -- this means that in the event of ACCIDENT, SICKNESS or DEATH, (God forbid), all the remaining payments due the company will be paid in full, under the conditions provided by our group insurance policy. We have further provided -- that in the event of STRIKES or LAY-OFFS, several payments will be made for you without obligation of repayment.

We like to think of our terms as "terms with a heart". By this, we mean any reasonable terms you desire will be considered up to 36 months to pay. Your payments may be made direct to us and you may be assured of our co-operation in case an extension of a payment is needed as we do not sell your note.

IF YOU WILL CALL.....OR COME DOWN to our factory showroom --- S. Wayne Street --- and see our large selection of nearly new and used cars, we will be delighted to further discuss this unique plan to our mutual benefit, without obligation to you.

PARKING FACILITIES -- Open Evenings Until 9 P. M. -- Saturdays Until 5 P. M.

Assuring you of our friendship and co-operation,

Sincerely,

CHRISTIAN COURAGE
Lesson for April 15, 1956

There is an old notion that Fear is the mother of Religion. No one who knows the facts can think of fear as the mother of the Christian religion. For the earliest Christians were among the bravest of men. Their critics, their opponents, even their persecutors, wondered at their courage. It was not as if they slowly gained courage through the years, each generation a little braver than before. From the very beginning, the followers and friends of Christ had the two kinds of courage, moral and physical: moral, to stand up against contempt, ridicule and slander; and physical, to stand out against pain and death, all with faith unshaken.

Minority Group

Many persons are physically brave but have little or no moral courage. Some psychologists think that moral courage is more difficult and rarer than the other kind. Be that as it may, we know the earliest Christians had plenty of it. (This was after the coming of the Spirit, of course.) One of the hard things to stand up against is just being in a minority all the time. Some people, to be sure, can't bear to be in a minority any of the time if they can help it. They will not ride in any vehicle but a bandwagon. They count noses before they make up their minds. They think that ethics can be settled by arithmetic—that is to say, that whatever most people think is right must be right. The early Christians knew better. They were always in the minority. Around them crowded the massess of people in the great Roman Empire all of whom worshipped other gods. Back in Jerusalem the Christians were a larger proportion of the population than anywhere else; but even there they were in a despised minority. But these pioneer Christians knew that "one with God is a majority." They were far less interested in being with the biggest crowd than in standing for Truth.

Slander

Another thing that is hard to stand up against is being misrepresented, maligned, slandered. Jesus said, "Blessed are you when men . . . utter all kinds of evil against you falsely on my account." This saying must have come to the minds of the first Christians many a time. For they were accused of being crazy, of lying, of being (as we would say) subversive, of being disturbers of the peace, lawless men in general. Even when a man knows his own innocence, it hurts him to be thought guilty. Even today, in most communities the real Christians—those who take their faith seriously and honestly try to live by it—are in a minority. People who simply try to live by the New Testament will be called "starry-eyed," impractical, if they are not called worse names. Christians who take their religion seriously enough to see that our world needs to be changed in many ways if God's will is to be done on earth, will be called "radicals" and despised if not feared. What is said (for example) by many other young people about teen-agers who take seriously Christ's ideal of chastity? What is said by businessmen about a businessman who tries to be Christian in all his relationships? What is said by politicians about a statesman—congressman, senator or even President—who is bold enough to try to be Christian in national or international policy? Some fine Christian Americans have been called traitors simply because they were Christian.

Pressures

Persecution is a special kind of pressure which is to be the topic of next week's study. But short of positive persecution, there are various pressures which, if not boldly resisted, push Christians off God's highway. The very first Christians felt the pressure of public opinion, of the law, no doubt of the loss of friendship with those who had formerly been close to them. They would not have felt these pressures if they had done one thing: keep their faith to themselves. A Christian who never lets any one know he is a Christian is never called on for courage. A Christian who ceases to be one under pressure will have no trouble, maybe, in this world . . . but in the next? Then he will discover the shame of knowing that Christ is ashamed of him.

Dale Butler Scores Perfect Mark In Enlistment Exam

Dale Butler of Spencerville made history at the Naval Reserve Training Center in Fort Wayne last week when he attained a perfect score in the examination which he took as part of his enlistment. Only three other men have had perfect scores since the Center on Dwenger Avenue opened.

Mr. Butler intended to enlist in the Seabee Reserves, but he had received his draft notice which disqualified him for Reserves. He then enlisted for two years active duty in the Seabees and will go to Great Lakes Training Center about April 30.

Lt. Harry Stout, commanding officer of the Seabee Reserve Unit No. 937 at 2502 Dwnger Avenue is conducting a recruitment program currently to advise young men of the speical rating privileges to be received in the Seabee Reserve. Men may enlist at age 17 to 18½ yeears and from 26 to 50; the ages from 18½ to 26 excluded because of draft status.

The U.S. Navy Seabee Reserves extend special rating privileges to tradesmen who wish to become part of a construction battalion unit. Previously a man enlisted at the lowest rate, and as he received Navy training was advanced in his rating.

Today a skilled construction tradesman may be rated as high as chief petty officer (the Navy's highest enlisted rating) in the Seabee Reseve, if his civilian experience indicates that he is qualified. Locally, Chief Petty Officer Harold Kryder of Cedarville is qualified to answer questions about Seabee active or Seabee reserve enlistment.

CULTURE CLUB

The April 4 meeting of the Culture Club was opened at 8:00 p.m. by Virginia Laux, president, at the home of Madonna Wade, with Mabel Tustison as hostess.

The members stood to repeat the club collect and the pledge to the flag. Devotions were given by Marge Brattain. She described a children's Lenten Pageant she had seen, and read an interesting article about the various types of breads used in Bethlehem today similar to those used in Jesus' time.

The lesson in charge of Margaret Drerup included two articles from the April Reader's Digest entitled "The Truth About Autopsies" and "Our National Treasure House." A discussion followed and Mrs. Drerup gave the critic's report thereafter.

The special work was an interesting and colorful biography of Stephen C. Foster and his music presented by Lois Fisher. She also played a Foster composition, "Open Thy Lattice, Love," on the piano plus a medley of well-known favorites entitled, "Memories of Stephen Foster."

Marian Furnish and Lois Fisher were selected to represent the Culture Culture Club as delegates to the annual convention of the Indiana Federation of Women's Clubs to be held April 23, 24 and 25 at French Lick, Indiana.

After the business meeting, the members enjoyed a seed, bulb and plant erchange in charge of Alice Reidenbach. Refreshments were then served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be held April 18 at the home of Edna Jenkins with Marian Waltz as hostess.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Mr. Haberkorn:

The following is part of a letter received by the parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Borthwick, of Mrs. Priscilla Drummond, who with her husband is teaching at Clark Air Base in the Philippine Islands. Mrs. Drummond was a former teacher in the Saint Joe High School.

"There are a couple places in the Philippine Islands where there are groups of people who think they have to purge themselves of their sins once a year on Good Friday, called Flagantes, maybe you have heard of them.

One of the places where they are found is just south of here aways, so we went with some other people to watch and see.

There's one group of them that take leather whips with tassles of wood on the end and they walk from shrine to shrine (temporary things set up just for the day) swinging these whips from side to side so that they strike themselves on the back each time. By the time they get to the end of their trek they have their backs bleeding and raw. The whips flip the blood around and we had to wash the car when we got home. The side of the car where we had passed them on the road was pretty well splattered.

Then the other group feel they have to go through the same events that Christ went through on Good Friday - the trial, etc. We saw men walking (or staggering) down the road with large crosses tied to their backs, and we saw several after they had been put up on the cross, (tied not nailed). It's a lot of stupid nonsense and quite revolting, but its' an experience that one won't forget."

GOD BLESS AMERICA.
(Mrs. H. C. Borthwick)

Around the Town

With the Editor

Kids continue to amaze me. —Or maybe I don't give them enough credit. But sometimes they seem so little to utter the words they sometimes do.

Monday afternoon I had occasion to be walking down Wayne street in Fort Wayne and stopped at Calhoun to wait for the light. There was a lady in front of me with her (I presume) three little girls, none of whom looked over four or so years old. When the light changed and we started to cross, a sleek job entered the intersection and one of the little girls said, "Oh, look at the Chevvy sport car!"

—And at the Sport Show Saturday I was trying to explain in understandable language (I thought) what I knew about the jet engine on display and our littlest one piped up with, "Yeah, but where does the vapor come out!"

Hey, we've had just about enough of this stuff - rain, snow, sun, snow, sun, rain, wind, snow, wind, snow, cold.

Here it is time to hear the crack of the bat, but what we hear is the moaning of gardeners and farmers waiting to get a good lick at their planting.

School Talk

The favorite topic of discussion in this community for the past few weeks has been the problem of local school construction needs. And strangely enough there is detected in these discussions a greater concern over "the gym" than for the number of classrooms and teaching facilities.

Of course, this community isn't the only one that is thinking or has been thinking that way. The whole state of Indiana lives on basketball and when school construction is the topic of consideration, we find that "the gym" is the primary concern of the average person. Overlooking this surprising and disappointing aspect, what is there in the future locally speaking?

The school board and other school officials have made inspection trips to other communities looking at new school units and observing advantages and disadvantages of various types of construction. This information will be considered when construction is undertaken locally. But there is the stopper - what construction and when? No one seems to have an answer to those questions. The 50-cent levy for the cumulative building fund has just begun and it will be many years before enough capital is accumulated in that manner to build a new school. Our need is going to be in the next year or so, we hear; what are we going to do?

Actually the question isn't so much what are we going to do now, because should conditions become extremely hard-pressing, the only thing to do will be to construct new facilities in whatever possible way regardless of cost. The question in our minds should be - what have we been doing in the past that the present situation now faces us? The answer is - we haven't been doing much of anything in the past. We haven't been providing for the future as far as our educational system is concerned even though the thinking of people today is primarily of the future and future "security." We haven't made provision for the security of our educational system and the first reason that comes to mind is the cry "taxes are too high." When the consolidation was under consideration, information was presented for public consideration and a public meeting was held illustrating the time required for raising specified amounts of money for new school construction. There were two programs presented, one under a levy of 50 cents and the other under a levy of 75 cents. The 50-cent levy was passed by and the 75-cent levy was used to illustrate the financial program and no protest was made at the time about its possible inauguration. However, when it came time to set up a cumulative building fund, the 50-cent levy was assessed by the school board because of the pressure from the complaint of too high taxes. If the situation is as acute as some persons believe and it will be necessary to take positive action in the very near future, the 50-cent levy is serving no purpose other than being an inadequate attempt to accumulate building capital. The present dilemma goes back further than this, however, much further. For we should have years ago been preparing for future expansion by having a fund accumulating through the years to meet the present situation. But the reason no such action was taken, in all probability, is that we didn't want to pay more taxes, and it is much easier to influence local taxation than state and federal taxation.

The people of this country have been considering lately federal and state aid to education. For some reason it seems that the Federal and State governments have vaults full of money coming from some place other than the taxpayers pocketbook and that money can be drawn out to build new schools. For some reason it appears necessary that tax money pass through some one else's hands before it comes back "home" to be used for its intended purpose. Rather than be thinking of Federal and State programs of assistance, it would be more constructive, it appears, to be overhauling the structure of the educational system to include a perpetual building fund to meet needs as they arise. Public education is a primary part of the American Way and to struggle along in the present manner, dropping under more and more control away from the local level, is not only senseless but costly. We will serve the future much better to forget about federal and state aid and concentrate on creating a financial program for all public educational costs at the same level which now pays most of the operational costs - the level of the local taxing unit.

—And the sooner we cease looking for the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow to augment our puny 50-cent levy and raise the levy to a substantial level, the sooner we will be facing the situation squarely. It will hurt our pocketbooks, certainly; but that's what happens when things are put off.

The easy way often costs twice as much.

To the Lineman

Oftentimes we may overlook the services that our public utilities perform because "it's their job." Despite the fact that the services the utilities do perform are to be expected, it is important to remember that these services are performed by people, not by some inanimate object called "the company."

Recently St. Joe street lights were "on the blink" and a call to the Butler office of the Indiana-Michigan Electric Company brought a serviceman to restore street light service. This was rather late in the evening. A few nights later it was necessary to call again for service as the automatic timer which turns on and turns off St. Joe street lights evidently was in need of adjustment or replacement. This time the call was made at 9:30 or 10:00 p.m., again not exactly a "convenient" hour for requesting service. But again the call was answered and within a half hour the street lights went on again all over the town and have been functioning as expected since.

It is gratifying to have public service corporations living up to their name through the efforts of their employees who must bear periodic inconveniences even though it is a part of their job. Being on call may be "pretty soft" on occasion, but it can be also rather irritating especially at ten o'clock at night and maybe there's a pretty good TV program showing.

—And this isn't the first time the cooperation of I&M has been experienced in the affairs of this community.

PRICE SQUEEZE

The economic research department of a leading farm equipment manufacturer has produced an important study, largely based on government statistics. It shows that the much-publicized "price squeeze" undergone by farmers, as a result of the fact that the prices they receive for their produce have declined while the prices they pay for what they need have remained relatively constant, has its counterpart in the farm machinery business.

Here's the story. From January, 1951, to October, 1955, the index of average hourly earnings in the farm machinery and tractor industry increased from 100 to 123--and this does not include recent increases in indirect labor costs resulting from various fringe benefits. From January, 1951, to December, 1955, prices of the industry's major raw materials, iron and steel, as reflected in the Bureau of Labor Statistic's wholesale price index, increased from 100 to 118. But during the same period the wholesale index of farm machinery prices (the industry's "prices received") increased much less--from 100 to 107. So there was a squeeze on the manufacturer of 16 index points in the price of labor and 11 in the price of iron and steel. And this squeeze is still continuing.

Farmers would do well to consider this when it is said that farm machinery prices are out of line. The factors that influence crop prices and those that influence farm machinery prices are entirely different. But, like the farmer, the equipment manufacturer has to contend with a real cost-price problem. There are difficulties on both sides of the fence.

UNTO DEATH

Lesson for April 22, 1956

Why do people get killed for being Christians? It seems incredible, and it hasn't happened to most Christians. But it does happen. Christianity was perhaps only a few months old when the first martyr, Stephen, met his death at the hands of a mob. Now the peculiar feature of that mob was that it was so respectable. Not a hoodlum in the lot. They were all civic leaders, men high in religious circles. In fact, it was the high court that adjourned and became the stone-throwing mob. They would not have said that they murdered Stephen. They would have said they executed him. But that makes it all the more of a puzzle. A hoodlum might shoot down a good Christian just for meanness, but why should men of distinction kill a man for no other crime than being a Christian?

Blood of the Martyrs

Before trying to answer that question, we might glance through history and see a few other cases. Circumstances vary, but the kind of martyrdom that was Stephen's is always essentially the same. No one ever brings the killers into court. Who would have brought suit against the Sanhedrin for killing Stephen? They WERE the court. Who could arrest the Emperor Nero for burning the Christians alive in his gardens? Who could have written a letter to the paper (if there had been one) complaining about the mass murders, by great emperors like Diocletian or Marcus Aurelius, of innocent Christians? So it was when Joan of Arc was burned at the stakes, or when "Bloody Mary" was running wild against the Protestants, or when the Russian revolution caused the death of nobody knows how many hundreds of priests, or when the Chinese revolution has brought death to Christians again in our time. The persecutors may be bishops, and arch-bishops, heathen emperors, "people's governments" or African chiefs. They always have the law on their side, and what is more serious, they have public opinion. When the early French missionaries to the American Indians were tomahawked, as so many of them were, does any one suppose that their scalps were buried to destroy traces of the crime? Not a bit of it—some Indian warriors wore the scalp and were the envy of everybody in the village. Always the murder of the Christians is done with public knowledge.

Persecution Can Be Avoided

We can move a little closer to our question by remembering that the church has not always been persecuted. Sometimes it has been highly praised, welcomed, honored. It may even succeed in running the country. Nobody would dream of persecuting it—in fact, it may turn the tables and persecute other people. Oh—you say at once—when that happens, it isn't the church of God anymore; the true church will always be persecuted, and when it isn't it is a sign it is no longer the true church.—There is some truth in that, but it is saying too much. A church may be free from persecution and still be largely Christian. However, you can set it down as a rule: whenever the church, and the people in it, do just what everybody else does and think what every one thinks, then it will not be persecuted.

"I Had a Higher Fuehrer"

Martin Niemoeller is a case in point. He was a hero of World War I who later became a minister. When Hitler took over Germany, Pastor Niemoeller went along with what Hitler did or at any rate he said nothing, for a long time. And all that time, Martin Niemoeller went right on with his church work undisturbed. Then finally Hitler was too much even for Niemoeller's strong stomach, and he defied Hitler. "I had a higher Fuehrer," he said years later, a higher Leader. So the police came and marched that minister off to jail, one morning after church. You see? The church is never persecuted when all it says to the world around it is "Yes, yes, we agree!" The church has been persecuted, and will be persecuted here in America even, if and when—like Stephen of old—it dares to set above public opinion, custom, "mores," respectabilities, authorities and powers, the Higher Leader.

AUBURN - CORD - DUESENBERG CO.
AUBURN, INDIANA

EXECUTIVE OFFICE CABLE ADDRESS—ACDCO

DEAR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS

Our unusual automobile plan originated five years ago when our company president, Mr. Dallas E. Winslow, adopted the plan of giving each associate of our different companies a new automobile each year. Our companies are located at Auburn, Indiana; Springfield, Ohio; Cleveland, Ohio and Detroit, Michigan.

The automobiles that have been driven by our associates have never been traded in on the new cars we purchase. Previously we sold these cars in quantity wholesale to automobile dealers. Due to so many requests from our friends and customers to sell them cars, we decided to offer these select automobiles for sale to our many friends and neighbors.

For the past year we have been visiting with you and telling you of our policy at the Auburn-Cord-Duesenberg Company; our dealings with our associates, and our "terms with a heart". It has always been our desire to provide for our customers any plan that would further extend the cordial relationship and goodwill which we feel exists between us. It is with justifiable pride that Mr. Winslow has announced a new plan -- "ASSURANCE WITH INSURANCE" -- AT NO EXTRA COST TO YOU!!

In a nutshell -- this means that in the event of ACCIDENT, SICKNESS or DEATH, (God forbid), all the remaining payments due the company will be paid in full, under the conditions provided by our group insurance policy. We have further provided -- that in the event of STRIKES or LAY-OFFS, several payments will be made for you without obligation of repayment.

We like to think of our terms as "terms with a heart". By this, we mean any reasonable terms you desire will be considered up to 36 months to pay. Your payments may be made direct to us and you may be assured of our co-operation in case an extension of a payment is needed as we do not sell your note.

The St. Joe News

VOLUME LXXI | ST. JOE (DeKalb Co.). IND. | Thursday, April 26, 1956 | NUMBER 17

Historical Series Begins Today

Surprise! Surprise! - - from the St. Joe News!

We all like to hear that happy shout, when some unexpected pleasure is suddenly before us. And it's just the way this newspaper feels when it offers to its young readers an exciting picture story, "Indiana - Age of Ice."

Just as all surprise parties are planned, this comes without advance notice, and the first of 32 cartoons and texts appears below.

Every boy and girl wonders about how our land -- the soil itself, the rivers and lakes and forests - came to be. This newspaper will unfold that story in the new feature, under the guidance of a happy little fellow with a bushy white beard. He is called Mr. Zero.

Well, what about the origin of De Kalb County? What is the story of the Big Cedar and Little Cedar and St. Joseph rivers?

Mr. Zero knows the story and will tell it each week in this newspaper, as the Ice Age unfolds. For he came to DeKalb County and to our very community riding on a mighty avalanche of ice. In his deeds of daring, starting a million years ago, he is a Bunyan, a Hiawatha, a Boone, a Davy Crockett all rolled into one zippy little guy!

Be sure to clip each cartoon and text. There's adventure ahead, youngsters! . We're warning you: get your scrapbooks ready!

The St. Joe News is helping report the community's history of today, as you are making it, and now we begin a report on the history of our countryside at its very beginning. Like Ohio, Illinois, Wisconsin and a galaxy of towns and states, we are named for a river, so let's hear about our namesake.

The series of cartoons and history is the creation of Luke Scheer of Royal Oak, Michigan, and George Scarbo of Cleveland, Ohio. As narrator and artist, respectively, they have been dramatizing local history for newspaper readers for nearly 30 years.

Mr. Scheer is a native of Huntington, Indiana, and is active in historical research, particularly in the upper Wabash Valley and in Northeastern Indiana. Writing local history is a hobby of Mr. Scheer who is public relations counsellor for the Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co., source of Fort Wayne's natural gas supply.

Mr. Scarbo is a veteran staff member of the Newspaper Enterprise Association and as illustrator of "Comic Zoo" and other features has won a national reputation as a cartoonist and artist. He was born in Minnesota.

The feature beginning this week serves as an invaluable guide to the re-discovery of our own countryside. Previews of the series are evoking enthusiastic endorsements by educational and historical leaders who have expressed the hope that it may prove valuable as supplemental source material for teachers and pupils in their classroom work, for which very little such materia] is available.

The Indiana Story No 1

The Indiana Story. — Fifty years ago many of our county's early settlers were still with us, and their vivid accounts of pioneer days thrilled every youngster. Local history then was more than a phrase. Local history was Grandma and Grandpa and the rise of a great state in their lifetime. Today Mom and Pop - and Junior, too - are finding entertainment and inspiration in the Indiana story. More and more they are asking about our state and its heritage. A heritage of the long ago is our own countryside -- the St. Joseph, Big and Little Cedar, the wide, fertile fields. Indeed, our land itself is a legacy of a time we call the Age of Ice -- in our county and state, and in the Old Northwest.

Next: The Old Northwest.

TB X-Ray Unit Here Monday

The DeKalb County Mobile X-Ray Unit will visit St. Joe on Monday, April 30, it has been anounced by the DeKalb County TB Association. The St. Joe stop will be the first of a series to be made in the county.

The unit will be stationed in front of St. Mark's Lutheran Church in St. Joe from 3:00 to 4:00 p.m. Monday afternoon. The X-rays take but a few minutes following registration by card. Cost of operating the unit is financed through funds raised by the sale of Christmas seals.

Persons 15 years of age and older are urgd to take advantage of this opportunity to get a free chest X-ray to aid in the detection of tuberculosis.

Following the St. Joe visit, the unit will be at Butler on Tuesday, Garrett on Wednesday, Auburn on Thursday and Waterloo on Friday of next week.

The DeKalb County chapter of the TB association disclosed last week that the Indiana TB Association has reported 347 new cases of tuberculosis in Indiana during the first 12 weeks of this year. Other contagious disease statistics for the same period show 48 new cases of diphtheria, 47 of meningitis, 7 of polio and 4 typhoid fever.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends for their kind remembrances with cards, messages and flowers. Also we are very grateful to all those who made it possible for transportation to the hospital and the nearby towns. Our heartful thanks to all who helped us in so many ways.

Lions Sponsor 2nd Little League Team

Little League organization in the community took two strides for the coming season this week with two announcements.

The first announcement came from the St. Joe Lions Club which this week voted to sponsor a team in the St. Joe-Harlan-Leo league, thus making it possible for a greater number of boys to participate in the popular program of baseball competition for young men 8 to 11 years of age. Two teams will be entered in the league this year from each of the three participating communities. Previously only one team was sponsored from this area, that by Sechler's Pickles who were the pioneers in getting Little League started on a local level four years ago.

The second stride came with the announcement from Joe Robinson that a public meeting will be held Monday evening, April 30, at 7:00 p.m. for players, parents and all persons interested in the Little League program. There will be a batting demonstration presented at the meeting with the use of an automatic pitching machine.

The meeting will be held at the St. Joe gym and will include an explanation of the insurance program available for boys taking part in Little League activity.

SPENCER TWP. HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB

The Spencer Township Home Demonstration Club met for their April meeting in the basement of the Coburn Corners Church of Christ. They had as guests Trop Township Home Demonstration Club. Ruth Little. president, and Edna Perkins, vice-president, represented the County Dmonstration Club.

Fonty members and guests responded to roll call with their favorite flower. Alice Kagey led the group in a song fest and read an article on "how you can be a good wife."

The club will attend the Wooden Shoe Festival at the Kado Lato Farm on May 7 at 1:30 p.m.

During the social hour Lois Fisher reviewed the story, "Aentie Mame."

The hostess was Hazel Washler and co-hostesses were Dorothy Kimes, Elva Hoover and Irma Allen.

The program committee was Alice Kagey, Marilyn Laub and Berniece Wilder.

Post Office Gets Addition

Work was begun last week on an addition to the post office in St. Joe which will result in an increase of some sixty per cent in available floor space. The addition measures approximately 10 feet in width by 25 feet in length and will increase the total floor space in the post office to 625 square feet.

The improvement is being made through an agreement between the postal department and Lloyd Dunten, owner of the property used for post office purposes. The addition joins the present post office building and the grocery store operated by Mr. Dunten. Further improvements in the addition will include new lighting fixtures, lavatory facilities, redecorating and gravel driveway to the rear of the building. The post office department plans to install new lock boxes in the building when the present remodeling is completed.

George Doll of Spencerville is erecting the adidtion to the post office building.

Church League Elects Officers

The St. Joe Church Softball League held its first meeting of 1956 Wednesday evening, April 11, at the home of Lenard Fisher, outgoing president.

Election of officers was held with the following results:

President—Ted Haberkorn.

Vice president—Virgil Koch.

Secretary-treasurer-Cy Gustin.

The league operated last summer with six teams. A seventh began the season but found it necessary to drop out of competition during the second half.

The league has been formed for the purpose of creating good fellowship among the churches of the community while at the same time offering an opportunity for physical activity and the development of good sportsmanship.

Deadline for entry in the league is Saturday, May 12, in order to allow preparation of a schedule tentatively set to begin the latter part of May.

The next meeting of the organization will be held Wednesday evening, May 2, at the home of Ted Haberkorn in St. Joe.

Pre-school Day May 4

Pre-school Day for next fall's first graders will be held on Friday, May 4, acording to an announcement from the Riverdale grade school at Spencerville. This day is held each year to acquaint the incoming first grade class with their school surroundings.

To enter school next fall in the first grade a boy or girl must have reached the age of 6 years by October 10, 1956. Those eligible to attend the pre-school day and who will enter the first grade of Riverdale grade school next fall will be brought to school by parents or will be taken there by an older boy or girl from the school on the school bus. The present first grade students will have a day's vacation on pre-school day as they will be requested to stay at home for the day. This will enable the teachers and helpers to devote all of their time to the visitors. Two nurses from the community have volunteered their services for a health check-up.

Lunch will be served at noon free of charge to the visitors. No birth certificate will be necessary for visiting, but will be very necessary in September when enrolling.

Children whose last names begin with letters from "A" to "M" are asked to go to Mrs. Guilford's room. Those with names beginning from "N" to "Z" are asked to go to Mrs. Platter's room.

Mothers who wish to call for their children at the school may do so sometime between 2:30 and 3:00 p.m. This would be an excellent opportunity to get acquainted with the teachers and the school. If this is not possible, the child will be returned home on the school bus accompanied by the older student who brought him or her.

If the prospective first grader for some reason cannot attend the pre-school day, the parent is asked to send the child's name to the grade school at Spencerville so that his or her name can be placed on the tentative list of new enrollees.

Parents are requested to send the following information with their children on pre-school day: child's name and birth date and the parents' name and address.

CHURCH MUST GROW
Lesson for April 29, 1956

A club can close its membership list at any time. It can decide not to accept any more new emmbers for six years, or sixty. But if a church decides to do the same, it is not a church any more, only a club. A church that is for good reasons not growing may be a true church of Christ; but a church that does not WANT to grow is certainly no church that Christ would recognize. "GO," Jesus said, into all the world. A church that has no Go about it, a church whose horizon is limited by its own parking lot, a church without an outreach, is a parody on a true church. It is not the real thing.

Hurdles and Handicaps

The early Christian church was surely the real thing. It was a going, and therefore, a growing, church. But it could have had, if it wanted, all the mouldy excuses which lazy churches offer nowadays to explain why they don't reach out. For example, the early Christians could have said, "We can't reach out, we haven't any money." But they managed to get around, or at any rate some of them did. They could have complained, "We have a shortage of ministers." Well, they did, but they had no shortage of laymen. By the time the distinguished apostles got down to Samaria they found an enthusiastic layman Philip had been there already and got a work started. The church could have said, "We can't afford to send missionaries all the way to Africa." They couldn't, to be sure. But what they could do was to make a Christian of an African in their own country, trusting that he would take the gospel back to his own people. (And he did, the tradition tells us.) A track man does not complain about seeing hurdles in front of him; he jumps over them. A good golfer does not "go home mad" because he has to play with a handicap against him. He takes it as a compliment and a challenge. So the early church took their hurdles and handicaps as challenges.

Laymen and Clergy

When you see a present-day church with no outreach, one of the reasons may be that the people leave all the outreaching to the minister. He is supposed to be interested in missions, sure, that's his business. But the people—well, we have a hard enough time raising money with our bazaar just for the preacher's salary, you can't expect US to think about missions! In fact, one has seen churches where the only really "active member" was the preacher. Now the early Christians talked no such nonsense. They did not have the hard-and-fast division into "laity" and "clergy" that churches do today, even if they use other words like "member" and "preacher," or "pew holder" and "pulpit orator." The Apostles, it is true, were men set apart. But the outreach of the early church was mostly done by people who were not Apostles. And so far as we hear in the book of Acts, the Apostles did not dress differently from any one else. They did not claim exemption from taxation, they did not claim reduced rates at stores or when traveling. They were not given titles like Reverend or Doctor—everybody called them just Paul or Peter or whatever, without so much as a "Mr." in front of their names. They worked at outreach, yes, but the point is, they were not looked on as professional outreachers while the "laymen" were professional sit-backers!

Multitudes and Lonely Man

The early church reached out in two ways. They went where the crowds were, and also they went to far lonely places. We hear about crowds in Jerusalem and Samaria and elsewhere. We also have the story of Philip going down to a desert road where his only congregation was one lonely puzzled foreigner. The going church today, the outreaching church, the New Testament kind of church, also will be reaching out to the multitudes, and to the lonely man. It will be sending missionaries into great cities, in our land overseas, working among overcrowded tenements and swarming streets. It will be reaching out to cowhands on the open ranges, to lighthouse keepers' families along the seacoast, to little villages on the edge of the Arctic and under the dripping tropical rainforests.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE CABLE ADDRESS—ACDCO

DEAR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS

Our unusual automobile plan originated five years ago when our company president, Mr. Dallas E. Winslow, adopted the plan of giving each associate of our different companies a new automobile each year. Our companies are located at Auburn, Indiana; Springfield, Ohio; Cleveland, Ohio and Detroit, Michigan.

The automobiles that have been driven by our associates have never been traded in on the new cars we purchase. Previously we sold these cars in quantity wholesale to automobile dealers. Due to so many requests from our friends and customers to sell them cars, we decided to offer these select automobiles for sale to our many friends and neighbors.

For the past year we have been visiting with you and telling you of our policy at the Auburn-Cord-Duesenberg Company; our dealings with our associates, and our "terms with a heart". It has always been our desire to provide for our customers any plan that would further extend the cordial relationship and goodwill which we feel exists between us. It is with justifiable pride that Mr. Winslow has announced a new plan -- "ASSURANCE WITH INSURANCE" -- AT NO EXTRA COST TO YOU!!

In a nutshell -- this means that in the event of ACCIDENT, SICKNESS or DEATH, (God forbid), all the remaining payments due the company will be paid in full, under the conditions provided by our group insurance policy. We have further provided -- that in the event of STRIKES or LAY-OFFS, several payments will be made for you without obligation of repayment.

We like to think of our terms as "terms with a heart". By this, we mean any reasonable terms you desire will be considered up to 36 months to pay. Your payments may be made direct to us and you may be assured of our co-operation in case an extension of a payment is needed as we do not sell your note.

IF YOU WILL CALL.....OR COME DOWN to our factory showroom --- S. Wayne Street --- and see our large selection of nearly new and used cars, we will be delighted to further discuss this unique plan to our mutual benefit, without obligation to you.

PARKING FACILITIES -- Open Evenings Until 9 P. M. -- Saturdays Until 5 P. M.

Assuring you of our friendship and co-operation,

Sincerely,
M. J. Klinger

Youth Injured As Car Is Demolished

19-year-old Albert McMaken of St. Joe suffered minor back injuries Friday afternoon when the automobile in which he was riding crashed on state road 1 south of Spencerville.

McMaken was treated by a physician and released.

The driver of the car, Clayton B. Baker, 20, home on leave from the Marines, escaped injury as did another passenger, Alvin Hitzman, 20, of Battle Creek.

Baker, traveling south, started to pass a truck when he discovered a car in front was preparing to turn left. In attempting to pull back behind the truck, he lost control of the 1956 Ford. The car skidded 178 feet, left the road, traveled for 105 feet down an embankment and then flipped over on its top.

The car was demolished.

For a Profit Finish... START PIGS FAST with PURINA'S "FAST-START" TWINS

To help you grow and wean heavy pigs, famed Purina Pig Startena now has a "twin" . . . Purina Baby Pig Chow. This brand-new member of the Purina line comes to you after five years of development work on more than 200 litters of pigs at the Purina Research Farm. It's super-palatable . . . tempts pigs to start eating and gaining early, has just the growth boosters young pigs need. Feed one 50-lb. bag per litter, then switch to Purina Pig Startena.

Time is money to the hog man!

Last year was a good example of how important it is to start pigs fast. Hogs that hit the early market brought up to $5.00 per cwt. more. The chart below shows how important it is to wean heavy pigs.

GET HOGS TO MARKET early when prices are usually best, save grain, time, labor. Follow Purina's Hog Profit plan and hurry 'em to market.

Three years ago today, in an economy move, President Eisenhower gave up the Presidential yacht, Williamsburg. The ship was used by the American Red Cross to entertain wounded servicemen until June 30, when it was put in the navy's "mothball fleet." Cost of operation for one year was estimated at $600,000 of which all but $75,000 went to pay its 116-man crew.

The President is not the only person who is on the lookout for economy moves. We are continually searching for (and finding) economy packages for you, our customers, in all of the merchandise that we handle.

Here are a few examples: a fine 17 jewel 2 diamond Bulova watch for $39.50; a Hoover sweeper, the best and highest priced one Hoover has ever made to sell for $124.95, now only $89.95; a special price on a Shaeffer snorkle pen, just in time for graduation, the price $7.95.

As George G. would say — there are minny, minny, more. Hope to see you soon.

Troop 172 In Scout-O-Rama

Over 7,000 Boy Scouts, a record number, will take part in staging the third annual Scout-O-Rama on May 11 and 12 in the Fort Wayne Memorial Coliseum.

Scout oficials have reported that 136 Scout units from nine counties of the Anthony Wayne Council will be represented in this year's show, sponsoring a total of 156 booths depicting the many phases of Scout activities. Last year's show had 146 booths.

Scout-O-Rama will be presented on Friday, May 11, from 7 to 9:30 p.m. and on Saturday, May 12, from 2 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 9:30 p.m. Advance ticket sales, which are in the hands of Scouts throughout the Council area, are reported good, indicating that this year's attendance goal of 36,000 will be reached.

The purpose of Scout-O-Rama is to give the general public, parents and Scouts themselves an opportunity to see live demonstrations of the scope and value of the citizenship training program of the Boy Scouts of America. From this demonstration, it is anticipated adults will become volunteer Scout leaders, committee members and den mothers.

Acting under their unit supervisors, Scouts themselves will set up and man the various Scout-O-Rama booths during the show.

The Spencerville Troop 172 will exhibit a booth at the Scout-O-Rama with the theme, "Wild Animals." Jack Hollabaugh is the scoutmaster.

CONVERSION

Lesson for May 6, 1956

Conversion is a religious word, but it wasn't originally and isn't exclusively so now. We have all heard of people converted to communism or from it. A young man drives a convertible—that, is, a car which can be changed from open to closed, or back again. A business man converts a factory from war production to peace production. Conversion, in short, means change. But as Christians use the word they do not mean just any kind of change. Every Christian's life, if it a growing life, is a changing life. People who never become Christians at all may change their lives in various ways. The specially Christian meaning of "conversion" refers to the basic change from being non-Christian, sub-Christian or un-Christian to being a Christian.

Was Paul Peculiar?

Probably the most famous conversion in the history of Christianity was that of the man who later became the Apostle Paul. He was called Saul at the time, while as for being an apostle, he was on the contrary something rather worse than a "bad egg." He was an apostle of hate, prosecuting and persecuting people for no other sin or crime than merely being Christians. His conversion was sudden, spectacular and dramatic in the extreme. It was so impressive that to this day there are some who think that if you are not converted in the way in which Paul was converted, you can hardly have been converted at all. On the contrary, the one God who works in Nature in so many varied ways works in men in varied ways too. Just as there are no two people exactly alike, so it would be surprising if any two conversion-experiences were exactly alike. Paul was a special case, and God dealt with him in a special way. One might almost say God had to hit Saul on the head and knock him down to bring him to his senses. There were many features of that conversion that seldom if ever occur in other cases.

From . . . to . . .

First and all-inclusive, in the universal features of Saul's conversion is the fact that this experience meant a turning around. His life pointed in a different direction ever after. Conversion means turning, and turning means a new course, a new destination, a new road. He turned from a negative to a positive life — from being against to being for. His entire energy had been spent in hating Christ and Christians. Afterwards his entire energy was devoted to the service of Christ and Christians. Before his conversion Saul was chiefly noted for his eagerness to tear down. Afterwards one of his favorite words and favorite occupations was "building up." He was turned from pride to humility, from trying to get what he wanted to trying to do what Christ wanted. Before, he was a masterless man; afterwards, he himself often said of himself that he was a "slave" of Christ. But it was precisely in being body-and-soul devoted to Christ for life, here and forever, that he found the freedom from evil in his own life for which, as a masterless man, he had sought in vain. In these and in other ways, the conversion of Saul was not peculiar. All true conversion is a turning, from a negative, empty, desrtuctive and fruitless life to the "life in Christ," a positive, loving, constructive, brotherly life with much fruit of service.

The Thing, Not the Word

The word "conversion" occurs only once in the whole Bible (King James translation) —Acts 15:3. All the words together, like "convert," connected with this, make only fourteen out of the thousands of words in the Bible. But the thing is there, and that is the important point. One way of putting it is suggested by the story in Acts 9, which of course does not use the word "conversion." What happened there? Saul came into contact with Jesus; and instead of hating him any more, he worshipped him. He called him "Lord." That's conversion. But not all of it. Paul in later years told this story twice (that we know of—there must have been other times): Acts 22 and 26. He said about it: "I was not disobedient to the heavenly vision." Conversion is response to the touch of God. Conversion begins when we first take orders from Him.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE CABLE ADDRESS—ACDCO

DEAR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS

Our unusual automobile plan originated five years ago when our company president, Mr. Dallas E. Winslow, adopted the plan of giving each associate of our different companies a new automobile each year. Our companies are located at Auburn, Indiana; Springfield, Ohio; Cleveland, Ohio and Detroit, Michigan.

The automobiles that have been driven by our associates have never been traded in on the new cars we purchase. Previously we sold these cars in quantity wholesale to automobile dealers. Due to so many requests from our friends and customers to sell them cars, we decided to offer these select automobiles for sale to our many friends and neighbors.

For the past year we have been visiting with you and telling you of our policy at the Auburn-Cord-Duesenberg Company; our dealings with our associates, and our "terms with a heart". It has always been our desire to provide for our customers any plan that would further extend the cordial relationship and goodwill which we feel exists between us. It is with justifiable pride that Mr. Winslow has announced a new plan -- "ASSURANCE WITH INSURANCE" -- AT NO EXTRA COST TO YOU!!

In a nutshell -- this means that in the event of ACCIDENT, SICKNESS or DEATH, (God forbid), all the remaining payments due the company will be paid in full, under the conditions provided by our group insurance policy. We have further provided -- that in the event of STRIKES or LAY-OFFS, several payments will be made for you without obligation of repayment.

We like to think of our terms as "terms with a heart". By this, we mean any reasonable terms you desire will be considered up to 36 months to pay. Your payments may be made direct to us and you may be assured of our co-operation in case an extension of a payment is needed as we do not sell your note.

IF YOU WILL CALL.....OR COME DOWN to our factory showroom --- S. Wayne Street --- and see our large selection of nearly new and used cars, we will be delighted to further discuss this unique plan to our mutual benefit, without obligation to you.

PARKING FACILITIES -- Open Evenings Until 9 P. M. -- Saturdays Until 5 P. M.

Assuring you of our friendship and co-operation,

Sincerely,

Letters to the Editor

April 12, 1956
Thursday 10:30 p.m.

Hi Ted,

How is everything going back there, Ted?

I have been going to write but just have not got to it before this.

Well, I have a different job now. Instead of jeep driving I am working in Bn. Instead of hauling the Brass around I am working with the Brass now ha! ha!

I just sit behind a desk and keep records straight and type and just about a little bit of everything. But believe me it really isn't as easy as it sounds.

Sammy Morr and Lloyd Dixon are down here on that ski-training and I have been able to be with them 2 times so far.

Well, basketball season is over with and I finished the season like this: in 6 games I scored 279 points.

I also got some good news the other day. I was offered a basketball scholarship to go to college at Colorado College or Denver University.

The weather has been pretty nice down here lately but it does get awful windy at times. It won't be to awful long until the Church Softball League will begin, will it?

Well, Ted, this isn't too much but maybe I can write more next time.

By for now.
A real good friend,
Donald Walters

279 points in 6 games!! It's a wonder Charley Eckman hasn't been down to see you, too. As for your letter not being much - - we're just like kids at Christmas time - we'd lots rather get a whole lot of little packages than one big one. —Ed.

LADIES LITERARY CLUB

The Ladies Literary Club met for their last regular meeting of the club year at the home of Mrs. Maurice Kline on Wednesday night, April 11.

Mrs. Weldon Shafer, president, called the meeting to order. The collect and pledge to the flag were repeated in unison. Mrs. Wilbur Yeiser led an interesting lesson on "Highlights of Past Club Programs."

The critic's review was conducted by Mrs. Carl Carpenter. Twenty members responded to roll call. The secretary's report was read and approved.

Mrs. Maurice Kline, corresponding secretary, Mrs. Stanley Means, treasurer, and Mrs. Frank Shull, recording secretary, gave their yearly reports. Mrs. Shafer, Mrs. Shull, Mrs. Kline and Mrs. Lela Northrup had a perfect attendance record. Mrs. Don Burley, Mrs. Carpenter, Mrs. Charles Krise and Mrs. Forrest Bevington missed only one meeting.

The president announced the executive committee meeting for the evening of Wednesday, May 16, at her home. The new officers are invited to attend.

Mrs. Shafer read a poem sent by Mrs. C. C. Woodcox on "Women's Clubs."

The Sixtieth Anniversary poem was read in unison. All joined in singing the club song.

After adjournment, light refreshments were served by the hostess.

The fellow who is always boasting about turning over a new leaf often loses his place completely!

We sometimes get so intent on our work and the things that we are doing and want to do that we forget to say a big "Thank you" to all of you nice people, our customers.

We feel that since we are now using eight newspapers for this "Corner" we can get our message of appreciation over to most of our customers.

If on the other hand you are not one of our customers, we are glad that you at least take the time to read the "Corner." If at any time it creates the desire within you to know just the kind of creatures we are, we'll be glad to have you come in and say hello.

We'll show you around as much as you'd like, give you a book of matches or a pencil or something. You'll be surprised at the great variety of merchandise that we handle.

We have always figured that the best angle was the TRY-angle.

The Indiana Story No 2

The Old Northwest.

Most of our county's residents were born either in Indiana or in a neighboring state. Hence, most of us are natives of a region of the United States known as the Old Northwest. This was the far corner of our young republic following the American Revolution. The first white outpost in the Old Northwest had been established by the French near Ashland, Wisconsin, in 1665, but Indians were in the Great Lakes country ten thousand years ago. It is believed that they saw the receding glacier. Many tribes dwelt in the Old Northwest. Among them were the Miami and the Potawatomi, who were Algonquin Indians. Remnants of these once-powerful tribes greeted the early settlers of DeKalb County.

Next: Great Lakes Country.

Biggest Yearbook Yet

The RIVERIAN 1956, yearbook of the Riverdale High School, will be distributed to its subscribers begining Thursday, May 10, according to an announcement made this week by its sponsor, Mr. Hubert L. Stackhouse. Commenting on the RIVERIAN, Mr. Stackhouse stressed that this is the largest local yearbook on record (96 pages), the largest circulation (245 copies), and the first local use of such features as color and reverse printing.

Produced under the leadership of Fletta Griggs, Editor, and Tom Hart, Business Manager, the staff of the book was as follows, in the order of their sections: Administration and Faculty, Fletta Griggs, Tom Hart, Andrea Carr; Seniors, Kathleen Anthony; Underclassmen, Barbara Schaftner; Activities, Gladys Ross; Sports, Marvin Dowden and Sandra McCann; Advertising and Snapshots, Doris Kruse and Sandra Doub; Advertising solicitation, Donnie Sechler; Circulation, Dorothy Smith; Production Manager, Andrea Carr; Photography, Wayne Akey.

The 1956 RIVERIAN this year features a black and copper cover with its name embossed thereon. The photography is planned to be relatively informal in groupings, and photography was supplied by Jefferson Studios of Fort Wayne. Printing was by Myers Yearbooks, Inc., of Topeka, Kansas.

To accommodate an expected larger demand for the book, the order was increased 20 copies after the close of the regular sales campaign. Those desiring a copy of the book may obtain one from the school office after May 12 at $3.00 the copy. Distribution of those purchased earlier in the year will be completed before May 19.

WILLIS K. BATCHELET
REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR JOINT STATE SENATOR
DeKalb, LaGrange and Steuben Counties

I have consistently fought the 1947 Water Conservancy Act, passed prior to my term of office. Succeeded in amending it by Senate Bill No. 51, bringing to a halt the creation of a conservancy district in DeKalb and Steuben counties and the undue and unjust taxation on both farm and city property, that was imposed by the Act. Recently the Supreme Court has upheld me in my determined fight for my constituants. If re-elected, I shall continue to fight for the taxpayers and voters in representing their interests.

Other major accomplishments have been the re-building of Indiana Highway 427, extensive improvements of U.S. 27, bids for which are now being advertised, and major improvements of U.S. 20 and State Road 3. Obtained several new highway bridges in this district, and will work for further improvements of our state highway system. Helped in the passage of the law prohibiting the throwing of rubbish on the highway.

Assisted in passing the bill allowing cities and towns to utilize state highways in the city boundary for street fairs. That was vetoed. I will again present and work for the passage of such bill if re-elected.

Was born on a farm and operate my own farm, which together with my work and experience in town, enables me to understand the farm problems as well as the city problems, having worked in the trim shop of an automobile factory.

My seniority has placed me on six committees; chairman of two, ranking member of one and active member of four. The seniority of the office enables me to better represent you in important committee work.

I have always opposed any increase in taxes; also believe that we need less governmental regulations of our home affairs and more home rule on the local level. I earnestly believe in this and shall continue to work towards it.

Your vote in the Primary, May 8th, will be sincerely appreciated.

Open House At I&M

The Indiana & Michigan Electric Company will sponsor an electric heating "Open House" at its district headquarters building just west of Butler beginning next Monday, May 7.

William R. Nimmo, Butler District Manager of I&M, said that the public is invited to attend the open house from May 7 to 18 anytime during the regular office hours from 8 a. m. to 5 p.m.

Mr. Nimmo said that the main feature of the open house will be the 26-foot booth which attracted wide attention at the recent Fort Wayne Home Show. The booth, which contains most types of electric home heating equipment now available for homes, has been moved intact from the Home Show to I&M's large display room at its Butler office.

The heating equipment features baseboard heaters, wall units, ceiling cable, an air conditioner and the heat pump which both heats and air conditions a residence, using only air and electricity.

Most of the equipment will be in operation, Mr. Nimmo said, and the booth has been so constructed that anyone can see how the equipment is installed, how insulation can be properly applied and how the units are wired to the main source of power.

Seen only on higher priced cars and Chevrolet

BODY BY FISHER

The meaningful emblem of Body by Fisher

When you see "sterling" on silver you know what it means—solid silver, all the way through.

And when you see the medallion "Body by Fisher" on an automobile it means much the same thing—quality all the way through, in things unseen as well as on the visible, gleaming surface.

The significance of this emblem cannot be tested on the showroom floor. Its meaning was not built up in a day but only after long years in which owners learned that "Body by Fisher" was a veritable symbol of solid, enduring satisfaction.

Only one who has owned a Chevrolet for several years can fully know the deep sense of satisfaction this emblem pledges. It is the warranty of an inner soundness that your eye or your touch cannot test. And only Chevrolet in the low-price field is entitled to wear the small, proud plaque that proclaims "Body by Fisher."

VOLUME LXXI | ST. JOE (DeKalb Co.). IND. | Thursday, May 10, 1956 | NUMBER 19

Indiana State Library

Around the Town

With the Editor

What's new? Well, let's see —there's that fancy lighted barber pole now advertising Tom's Barber Shop. Just like the music, it goes 'round and 'round.

These bake sales sure present a tasty solution to the Saturday lunch problem, especially when there's some of that delicious chicken and noodles that the Spencerville Methodist ladies offered a couple of weeks ago.

—I hope the eighth grade has some of the same this Saturday at the News office. It goes like hot cakes.

Willis K. Batchelet got off on the wrong foot when he stopped by to put his campaign ad in last week's issue. He pulled up across the street, opened the car door and stepped out—right into a large puddle of water. —Guess he didn't get a very good impression of St. Joe from that.

—Come to think of it, that part of the street belongs to the state highway department. That takes St. Joe off the hook.

It's a small world.

Luke Scheer, who represents a gas pipe-line company and who also writes the historical series now appearing in the News, discovered after a few visits to St. Joe that a relative of his resides here. He and Phyllis Yaste are cousins.

Speaking of Yastes, Joe says he dreamt about the editor a few nights ago. It seems that dreamwise I had gone into the undertaking business. Joe said a had six of 'm laying around.

Curiosity got the best of me and I asked Joe who they were.

"Couldn't tell," said Joe, "You skinned 'em."

I've been trying ever since to think of six people I've "skinned" recently, but — no soap.

Joe must have fixed himself a lulu of a Dagwood sandwich that night before bedtime.

LOTHAMER-COBURN

Leatrice Joy Coburn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Coburn of St. Joe, and Wilbur Lee Lothamer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Lothamer of R1, St. Joe, were united in marriage Saturday, April 28, at 9:00 a.m. at St. Michael's Church in Hicksville.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina length gown of white lace over satin bodice, lace forming a yoke and short sleeves. The full net skirt was graced with lace roses at the waist line. Elbow length gloves ended in points at the hands. The bride's shoulder length veil was held in place by a head band of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was white pompons, mums and red roses.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Gerald Baker of Hicksville, wore a ballerina length gown of blue lace and net with matching accessories. She carried pink carnations.

Mr. Gerad Baker served as best man. Ushers were Gerald Lothamer and Calvin Coburn.

The marriage ceremony was read by Father Schill of Antwerp. Music was presented by Mrs. Bernard Arend, organist, and Tom Kelly, vocalist.

A wedding dinner was served at Hazel's Cafe at Butler. A reception was held at 7 p.m. at V.F.W. Hall in Hicksville. Serving at the reception were Mrs. Dick Noragon, Miss Virginia Herschberger, Miss Linda Lothamer and Miss Leah Coburn.

The couple left for a wedding trip to the Ozarks after which they will make their home at Spencerville. For traveling the bride wore a powder blue suit with pink and white accessories, with a corsege of red roses and white mums from the bridal bouquet.

Why Don't They. . .

Sometimes it's hard to figure things out.

Periodically we hear of the postal department from government sources and of trying to operate it on other than a red-ink basis. Every so often some changes are made which are supposedly improvements in the postal system. Now with the recent addition to the local post office, giving a greater amount of floor space, we suppose the postal department considers the local post office as improved. But it isn't, to our way of thinking.

Post offices are rated according to their volume of business, first class for high volume, second class for next lower volume, and so on. And it appears that such a rating affects the consideration received when it comes to the expediture of money for improvements. The large cities with first class ratings receive "first class" consideration in building facilities and service. How many large cities are there which do not have big, beautiful concrete, stone or brick buildings built on goverment property for post office purposes? Now, how many small towns are there which have post office buildings owned by private individuals and leased to the post office department for their use? And how many of these small towns have old, out-dated buildings serving the public as post offices?

We suppose the addition to the local post office was the least expensive means of "improving" the local post office. That should appeal to all taxpayers because a deficit in the postal department means taxes paid to support it. But we don't understand the reason for picking on the little fellow first and cutting him down when that cutting has a greater proportionate effect on the public.

As things now stand, the local post office is closed for one hour at noon. In the meantime the Fort Wayne post office is open 24 hours a day. Clerical help is hired in the local post office to conform with the minimum and maximum requirements as set up by the post office department itself. So many hours must be contracted for, meaning a minimum amount must be paid for clerical help. Yet exceeding a certain number of hours isn't practical because it raises the operating expense beyond the apparent local need, yet at times there is need for more help. In the meantime, the large post office maintains a staff to offer 24-hour mailing service.

Getting back to the addition to the local post office, we find that "cutting the little fellow" again. Why couldn't the postal department have contracted with an individual to furnish a new building instead of an addition to the old? It isn't because no one would construct such a building; we know of one such offer but it wasn't completed because a satisfactory contract couldn't be arranged. It would have been encouraging to have more consideration given to the matter of increasing local post office facilities other than "how little can we get by with." A new post office building in St. Joe would have been a shot in the arm, community wise. But instead, we have nothing to show for the supposed improvement. Oh, no, we aren't criticizing the workmanship exhibited in erecting the addition. Far from it. The carpenter did a masterful job under the limits of the specifications. In fact, he did an expert job at camouflaging. The casual observer, perhaps driving through town on a Sunday afternoon, can't tell the "new" addition from the "oldster" it augments. Harsh words? Perhaps, but they aren't intended to be insulting. Facts are not insulting, and the fact is that where formerly were two frame buildings standing, there now in effect stands one, and it connected to yet another frame building by a 3-foot wood partition. The local fire department considers the situation as presenting a greater fire hazard than existed before and we agree.

And to top it all off, there is a town ordinance, we hear, which specifies that any new building or addition constructed in the block in which the post office stands must be of fireproof-type construction. —What good is an ordinance if it isn't enforced?

We wonder how much our Congressmen know about postal expenditures and where the money goes when such matters are brought up in committee and legislative sessions. We wonder how sincere they are when they say they want "the grass roots opinion" of the people on matters of government and why the grass roots are ignored or given second billing when it comes to such things as post office construction. It's rather discouraging and disgusting to hear of the "improvements" made in the post office department - they've discarded the familiar forest green, mail boxes are now a gaudy red, white and blue and mail trucks look like an advertisement for Pepsi-Cola . . . and ball point pens that anyone might have a use for have replaced the old dippers - then to gaze upon our own post office and its "improvement."

First Things First

There is a movement under way in DeKalb County to install road signs at county road intersections. The project is being sponsored by the DeKalb County Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Company and support of civic, service and fraternal organizations has been solicited. Cost of the project is estimated at $7,000 to $8,000 which would be paid by approval of the DeKalb County Board of Commissioners. The county would purchase and install the signs at intersections on the county's 741 miles of roads.

The local Lions Club at its last meeting voted to support the project and the motion was passed with unanimous consent, except for one vote. And here is why one said "NO!"

The only reason given for the signs is that they are "a big aid to fire companies, public officials, visitors and many others." Perhaps the sponsor of the project has more information concerning the aid to fire companies, but we have yet to hear of any fire loss in this area of any consequence which was caused by the inability of a fire company to locate the proper premises. As for "public officials, visitors and many others," are we becoming so confined within ourselves that we can't once in a while seek the guidance of a stranger to help us in reaching our destination? In particular, we thought "public officials" were anxious to meet as many people as possible, not avoid them - or is that only at election time? With the anti-social trend of today, away from the family circle, the neighborhood circle, the community circle, this road marker proposal would be a seemingly unrelated but actually truly significant contributor.

The greatest objection, however, comes in that stipulation that the cost would be paid "by approval of the DeKalb County Board of Commissioners." That is an easy and painless way of saying, "Your taxes are going up!" How the remainder of the county feels about the sign proposal we do not know. But our own opinion is that the signs are a luxury that cannot be considered until we can accomplish more important goals by taxation such as a new school for Riverdale students. The cost of the signs does not seem very great when spread over the county. But it is these little items added one to another that cause the taxpayer to cry, "Taxes are too high" when we need money for a new school, and he hinders efforts to raise such money by opposing appropriate taxation.

The county commissioners would like to have the opinion of the people they serve. We suggest that residents of this community contact Mr. Claude Laub of Spencerville and give him their opinion of the proposed road marker project. Our opinion is that there are far greater needs to be met by taxation and these needs can be classed as necessities more readily than can county road markers.

We might further suggest that, if the sponsoring company and its supporting organizations still consider the project worthy of consideration, they undertake the project as their own, financing it through their own efforts and contributing it to the community as a service project.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE CABLE ADDRESS—ACDCO

DEAR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS

Our unusual automobile plan originated five years ago when our company president, Mr. Dallas E. Winslow, adopted the plan of giving each associate of our different companies a new automobile each year. Our companies are located at Auburn, Indiana; Springfield, Ohio; Cleveland, Ohio and Detroit, Michigan.

The automobiles that have been driven by our associates have never been traded in on the new cars we purchase. Previously we sold these cars in quantity wholesale to automobile dealers. Due to so many requests from our friends and customers to sell them cars, we decided to offer these select automobiles for sale to our many friends and neighbors.

For the past year we have been visiting with you and telling you of our policy at the Auburn-Cord-Duesenberg Company, our dealings with our associates, and our "terms with a heart". It has always been our desire to provide for our customers any plan that would further extend the cordial relationship and goodwill which we feel exists between us. It is with justifiable pride that Mr. Winslow has announced a new plan -- "ASSURANCE WITH INSURANCE" -- AT NO EXTRA COST TO YOU!!

In a nutshell -- this means that in the event of ACCIDENT, SICKNESS or DEATH, (God forbid), all the remaining payments due the company will be paid in full, under the conditions provided by our group insurance policy. We have further provided -- that in the event of STRIKES or LAY-OFFS, several payments will be made for you without obligation of repayment.

We like to think of our terms as "terms with a heart". By this, we mean any reasonable terms you desire will be considered up to 36 months to pay. Your payments may be made direct to us and you may be assured of our co-operation in case an extension of a payment is needed as we do not sell your note.

IF YOU WILL CALL.....OR COME DOWN to our factory showroom --- S. Wayne Street --- and see our large selection of nearly new and used cars, we will be delighted to further discuss this unique plan to our mutual benefit, without obligation to you.

PARKING FACILITIES -- Open Evenings Until 9 P. M. -- Saturdays Until 5 P. M.

Assuring you of our friendship and co-operation,

Sincerely,
M. J. Klinger

This prayer by "A Man Called Peter" helped us; hope it will do as much for you.

"Lord Jesus, we would find Thee in the privacy of our own hearts, in the quiet of this moment.

"We would know, O God, our Father, that thou art near us and beside us; that Thou dost love us and that Thou art concerned about all our affairs. May we become aware of Thy companionship, of Him who walks beside us.

"When we are bereaved and forsaken, may we know the presence of the Holy Spirit, the comforter, who will bind up our broken hearts.

"O Lord Jesus, help us to know that when we reach up to Thee, Thou art reaching down to us. We ask in the name of Jesus, our Lord, amen."

The Indiana Story No 3

Great Lakes Country

Our states of the Old Northwest possess more than a common historical heritage. We share in another priceless legacy—the Great Lakes. More than sixty million persons live in the Great Lakes country, an area of nearly 840,000 square miles. It comprises the Old Northwest and the balance of Minnesota, as well as Pennsylvania, New York and Ontario. Over the lakes came many pioneers to our country. A favored route was from Buffalo to Toledo on Lake Erie. These settlers came on to Indiana and this county via the Wabash and Erie Canal. The Great Lakes excite world interest. Do you know that the southeast corner of DeKalb County touched upon the shore of the first of the Great Lakes, an "ancestor" of Lake Erie?

Quite a chunk they take from me—
A fifth of every dollar, you see.

We pay in tax a pretty penny . . .
But we too will share with you
In all the work that taxes do . . .

Our Government, and all it buys,
Relies on Private Enterprise!

This year we shall pay nearly $3 million in taxes on real and personal property owned in 32 Indiana counties and five Michigan counties. Our total tax provision in 1955, including Federal, amounted to over $12½ million.

We must make these tax payments and still maintain low rates, give the best possible electric service, pay dividends to our shareholders, pay wages and benefits to our employees, and be financially sound to attract new investment in our business in order to expand our facilities to assure a full and continuous supply of power for the future. This is private enterprise at work!

Church League Opens May 25

The schedule for the St. Joe Church League was announced this week with activities scheduled to begin on Friday night, May 25. Games will be played on Monday and Friday nights with the first game to begin at 7:30 p.m.

A meeting was held two weeks ago with 15 persons representing 8 area churches present. Included were players, managers, church league officers and pastors of the churches participating in the church softball league. The rules of the league were reviewed and changes and additions made. Included in the additions were the rules governing responsibility for preparation of the local diamond for games on church league nights. The home team of the first game for each evening of church league games will be responsible for having the diamond in playing condition by 7:00 p.m. This will include dragging of the field, placing of the bases and applying lime to the base lines. A second addition was the placing of responsibility for umpires. This year each team will be responsible for furnishing umpires for all games during the regular schedule. The two teams playing the second game of the evening will be responsible for having one umpire from each on hand to work the first game. Likewise the teams playing the first game of the evening will be responsible for having one umpire each to work the second game.

During the meeting Cy Gustin was elected vice president to replace Virgil Koch who found it necessary to vacate the office. It had been previously and erroneously announced that Mr. Gustin was serving as secretary-treasurer. Burgess Walter is the league's secretary-treasurer.

The rules and opening contests are listed below.

1. Church League games will be played on Monday and Friday nights of seven innings duration with two games to be played each night. The first game will start at 7:30 p. m. with a ten-minute forfeit period. No inning of the first game may be started after 9 p.m. except in case of a tie game which shall continue until the winner has been determined. The second game shall start no later than twenty minutes following the conclusion of the first game.

If at the end of five innings a team leads an opponent by twelve or more runs, the game will be called and the leading team will be declared the winner.

The plate umpire is the official time-keeper.

2. Each team must have at least nine players to start a game. In case of forfeit, a practice game may be played.

Each team shall be allowed 3 forfeitures. More than 3 shall disqualify it from the play-off.

3. Any one who pitches on another organized team other than high school will be ineligible to pitch in this league.

4. Players may not change teams after the start of the season.

5. Each player must attend church services or Sunday School of the church sponsoring his team on at least two Sundays of the month preceding a scheduled game.

Each player must be in at least four games to be eligible for the play-off.

6. Any player using profane language on the playing field shall leave the game. A second offense shall mean dismissal from any further participation in Church League activity.

There shall be no smoking on the playing field.

Each umpire shall enforce this rule.

7. Any team playing with any ineligible player is liable to forfeiture of the game.

8. Responsibility for having the diamond ready for games shall fall on the manager of the home team of the first game for each night of church league activity. This includes dragging of the field when necessary, placing of bases and liming of foul lines. This should be completed by 7:00 p.m.

9. Each team shall be responsible for furnishing umpires for all games. The two teams playing the second game of the evening shall each furnish one umpire for the first game; the teams playing the first game shall then each furnish one umpire for the second game.

10. One new ball will be furnished by the league for each game, with the better of the two balls from the previous game as the second ball. The other ball from the previous game will be given to the home team of that game.

11. A trophy shall be awarded to the winner of the play-off with a second trophy to be awarded to the team showing the best sportsmanship. The latter trophy winner will be determined by vote of the team players through their managers at the conclusion of the regular schedule.

12. The church league does not assume any responsibility for accidents occurring or injuries incurred on church league nights.

13. Entry fee for participation in the church league is $30.00 Should a team find it necessary to drop out of the league during the season, a refund of $2.00 per unplayed game will be made.

14. All rules will be enforced by the Board of the Church League, consisting of the officers of the league and ministers of participating churches.

Memorial Day Parade Planned

Plans are being drawn up by the St. Joe Post of the American Legion for the annual Memorial Day Services to be held Wednesday, May 30.

Commander Joe Yaste has announced that the program will begin at 2:00 p.m. with a parade originating at the Legion home in St. Joe. The parade will march one block east and then proceed south to the cemetery, thence to the Hill where the Post Chaplin will offer prayer for all departed servicemen. A rifle salute will be followed by the placing of a wreath on the monument.

The order of march for the parade will be: (1) American Legion color guard; (2) Riverdale High School band; (3) membership of the American Legion and all other veterans; (4) Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts; (5) all children of the community. Any civic, fraternal or patriotic organization wishing to participate in the parade is invited to do so. It is requested that such organizations call St. Joe 2102 for a position in the parade.

Baseball Season Opens Tuesday

Little League activity begins next week with the two local teams, sponsored by Sechler's Pickles and the Lions Club, busily preparing themselves for the coming summer.

Approximately sixty boys turned out for practices and the managers, Joe Robinson, Norb Sordelet and Price Brookfield, have had their hands full with the separating of the boys into two equal squads.

The first game for Sechler's is scheduled Tuesday, May 22, at Harlan. On Wednesday the Lions face Sechler's at St. Joe and on Thursday the Lions play the Leo Lions at St. Joe.

Legion To Sell Poppies

The local American Legion Post recently adopted a resolution that the post resume the sale of Poppies, a project formerly carried out by the Auxiliary. Commander Joe Yaste reports that the sale will be held Friday and Saturday, May 25 and 26, with the assistance of Boy Scouts.

There is no set price for the purchase of a Poppy, the amount of donation left up to the purchaser. Money realized from the sale of Poppies in this community will remain with the local post for rehabilitation work for local veterans or children of veterans.

I. U. STADIUM OF THE FUTURE

—Designed by Eggers and Higgins, Architects

This is how architects visualize Indiana University's planned new 55,000-seat stadium, construction of which is scheduled to start in Spring of 1957 for anticipated completion in late 1959 or early 1960. Designed to place all seats on sides of the playing field and with a system of ramps for entrance, the stadium will be centered on a 160-acre tract containing adjacent parking lots for 14,000 automobiles. A basketball arena seating 17,000 and a field-house are parts of the I. U. athletic plant expansion and will be constructed simultaneously with the stadium. Financing will be through self-liquidating bonds, without cost to Hoosier taxpayers.

PROBLEM CHURCH

Lesson for May 20, 1956

There are two different kinds of problems with children, as every father and mother know. One is the kind of problem you have with a sickly child, who has allergies, won't eat, play or sleep the way a healthy child should; perhaps a retarded child. The other is the kind of problem you have with a child who seems sometimes to be altogether too healthy; growing too fast to keep up with, noisy and hungry; perhaps ahead of his grade in school. The problems of growth may be even more difficult than the problems of illness; but all the same, the problems of development are more to be desired than the problems of decay.

Will the World Swallow the Church?

The Christian church at Antioch, one of the great cities of the world at that time, had its problems; but they were all the kind of problem that goes with growth. Dr. C. R. Erdman in his book on Acts points out that in this church we meet with four new things: a new name for the believers (Christians), a new kind of church (of which more presently), a new leadership, and a new center of missionary activity. Another new thing, which indeed was the mother of the others, was the new kind of city in which the church there found itself. Up to the time the church began in Antioch, the largest city where there were sizable groups of Christians was Jerusalem. That was a city which, so to speak, made religion a specialty. The long-time religion of Jerusalem led right up to Christianity. But what about Antioch. That was a pagan city, religions of many kinds flourished there, and none of them led up to Christianity at all. If the environment at Jerusalem was partly favorable to Christianity, the atmosphere of Antioch seemed more than likely to smother it. Religion in that city was what it is for some cities today—not by any means the most important interest. Antioch was a big busines town, a central city for trade and transportation. People were much more interested in getting rich than they were in religion.

Uncongenial People

One of the problems, new at Antioch, was whether it would be possible to include in the same church groups of persons so different as the Greeks and the Jews. That had not bothered the Palestine church, because there the various races & nationalities kept to themselves. The Jerusalem church was all Jewish, the Samaritan church all Samaritan, and so on. But in big cities people mix and mingle pretty freely, and so it was in Antioch. Would different races, backgrounds and so on mix in one church? Somewhat to Barnabas' surprise, maybe, they did. When Christians are really what they aim and claim to be, the church becomes the "fellowship of the uncongenial." People who ordinarily have nothing in common discover that if they have Christ in common, they are bound by a tie stronger than any other in the world.

Leadership

When Barnabas went up there to Antioch, commissioned by the church in Jerusalem to look around and use his judgment about what to do, we read that he "saw the grace of God and was glad." But the grace of God, in man or church, does not iron out all the problems. We have to think. And Barnabas must have thought long and hard about one problem which concerns every church, large or small: leadership. Barnabas could easily have taken on a smaller church; but that one at Antioch was just too big for one man, any one man. He could have picked up some assistants there, no doubt, and stayed as top man; or he could have invited in one of the Jerusalem leaders. But he needed more than raw "chaplain's assistants." And the Jerusalem leaders would have felt pretty strange in an inter-racial church. So Barnabas took a rather difficult trip, all the way to Tarsus in Cilicia, just to get a man he had never forgotten, the then unknown (or, if known, suspected) Saul. The future of a church depends on its leadership. Blessed is the church with a pulpit committee as wise and far-seeing as Barnabas!

EXECUTIVE OFFICE CABLE ADDRESS—ACDCO

DEAR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS

Our unusual automobile plan originated five years ago when our company president, Mr. Dallas E. Winslow, adopted the plan of giving each associate of our different companies a new automobile each year. Our companies are located at Auburn, Indiana; Springfield, Ohio; Cleveland, Ohio and Detroit, Michigan.

The automobiles that have been driven by our associates have never been traded in on the new cars we purchase. Previously we sold these cars in quantity wholesale to automobile dealers. Due to so many requests from our friends and customers to sell them cars, we decided to offer these select automobiles for sale to our many friends and neighbors.

For the past year we have been visiting with you and telling you of our policy at the Auburn-Cord-Duesenberg Company; our dealings with our associates, and our "terms with a heart". It has always been our desire to provide for our customers any plan that would further extend the cordial relationship and goodwill which we feel exists between us. It is with justifiable pride that Mr. Winslow has announced a new plan -- "ASSURANCE WITH INSURANCE" -- AT NO EXTRA COST TO YOU!!

In a nutshell -- this means that in the event of ACCIDENT, SICKNESS or DEATH, (God forbid), all the remaining payments due the company will be paid in full, under the conditions provided by our group insurance policy. We have further provided -- that in the event of STRIKES or LAY-OFFS, several payments will be made for you without obligation of repayment.

We like to think of our terms as "terms with a heart". By this, we mean any reasonable terms you desire will be considered up to 36 months to pay. Your payments may be made direct to us and you may be assured of our co-operation in case an extension of a payment is needed as we do not sell your note.

IF YOU WILL CALL.....OR COME DOWN to our factory showroom --- S. Wayne Street --- and see our large selection of nearly new and used cars, we will be delighted to further discuss this unique plan to our mutual benefit, without obligation to you.

PARKING FACILITIES -- Open Evenings Until 9 P. M. -- Saturdays Until 5 P. M.

Assuring you of our friendship and co-operation,

Sincerely,

Did you know that it is possible to learn while you sleep?

In an eastern university, speakers were hidden under the pillows of several volunteer students. While they slept, a recorded lesson was played over and over. When quizzed the next morning, the students remembered what they had been taught.

We will not attempt to have a night school for you(while you sleep) but we are going to keep on saying again and again until you learn the lesson—that we are equipped to take care of all your needs in furniture, jewelry and all kindred lines.

Someone advertises that they always sell for less. Yet a prospective customer finds the same chair here for $29.95, whereas the store that sells for less had it marked $39.95. We sold him two chairs. Lessons like that you can learn while you are awake. We will not try to catch you napping.

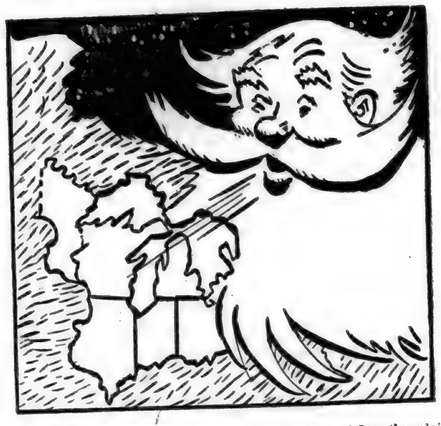
The Indiana Story No 4



Change In the Weather.

Brrr! It's getting colder and colder here in the Old Northwest. The time is one million years ago. Although some of the lakes appear in this cartoon, they had not been formed at that time. For centuries the climate had been changing. Winter seemed always present as frigid blasts tore across a desolate land. Our state and county soon would enter an Age of Ice, the pleistocene era. Some scientists of a future day would blame the change on sun spots robbing our planet Earth of warming rays. Whatever the cause, the effects are seen everywhere in this area. The glacial story is also presented in books at the public library. Our bearded friend in this drawing is — you guessed it — Mr. Zero.

Next: Age of Ice.

Time Trials Start at Speedway Saturday

Veteran drivers predicted record-breaking speeds as high as 145 and 146 miles an hour as mechanics made final adjustments on their cars, for the start of time trials Saturday at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, in preparation for the 40th annual 500-mile race on May 30.

"If weather conditions are good," said Bob Sweikert, last year's race winner, "it will take an average of 145 miles an hour to win the pole position and the man who does it probably will trun at least one lap at 146." The present records of 143.793 for one lap and 142.580 for the full 10 miles were set before most of the track was resurfaced last fall.

Speedway owner Tony Hulman has posted $7,000 in qualifying prizes. Additional cash awards have been offered by accessory companies, and the fastest qualifier can earn more than $3,000 for his four-lap performance.

Saturday's trials will get under way at 11 a. m. (CDT), and continue until 6 p. m. Gates to the grounds will be opened at 8 a. m., and admission will be $1. On Sunday, the gates will be opened at 9 a. m., and trials will be held from noon until 6 p. m.

The same schedule will be followed for the week-end of May 26-27, and the fastest 33 qualifiers among the 59 entrants will form the starting lineup behind the DeSoto pace car on May 30.

Speedway prizes include awards of $500, $400, $300, $200 and $100 for the five fastest qualifiers on each time trial day with $1,000 for the fastest overall qualifier. Another incentive, in addition to the cash accessory awards, is the rapidly growing list of merchandise prizes for the mechanic of the car winning the pole position. These awards will be presented at the "Mechanic of the Year" banquet, open to the public, in the Egyptian Room of the Murat Temple, on the night of May 24.

Sweikert's prediction of record-breaking speed was echoed by many other veteran drivers. All of the 14 who voiced their opinions expect a new one-lap mark of 144.2 or better; and 11 of the 14 predict a new four-lap mark of 143.8 or better.

Ticket order blanks for race day, showing the price and location of all seats still available, may be obtained by writing to the Speedway's new office at 4790 West Sixteenth St., Speedway, Ind.

Three former winners of the annual 500-mile race discuss Saturday's time trials for the 40th annual International Classic at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway on May 30. Bob Sweikert is shown in the cockpit of his new car with Johnnie Parsons and Troy Ruttman.

The director also pointed out that the designation "St. Joe" or "Spencerville" only is used to signify the location where supervised recreation will be offered for that particular day and hour. For instance, on Monday boys from the entire area are invited to attend the program at St. Joe, and on Friday boys from the entire area can participate at Spencerville. The only limitations are as to age groups and this only where indicated.

Auxiliary Members Visit Boys School

Mrs. Norman Moser, president of the Fourth District American Legion Auxiliary and member of Woodburn Unit 377, Mrs. Ruth Andersen of Auburn and Fourth District Boys School chairman, and Mrs. Gretchen Noragon, Fourth District child welfare chairman and member of Leo Unit 409, visited Indiana Boys School Sunday afternoon. While there they gave a party for all the boys who had birthdays in May. Gifts were distributed to each boy and refreshments of ice cream, cake and candy were served.

These parties are sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary and are given each month.

Mr. Cruse, director of recreation, is asking for used ball gloves and mitts in order that ball teams may be organized among the boys. If anyone has such equipment they wish to donate to these boys, call St. Joe 2252.

LUTHERAN WOMEN OF THE CHURCH

The United Lutheran Women of the St. Mark's Church met Thursday afternoon, May 10.

Devotions were led by the president with sentence prayers following.

Mrs. Carl Carpenter presented the lesson on Communism versus Christianity, with an interesting discussion following.

There was a report of the committee on visual aid announcing the purchase of a screen.

The hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Ray Reasoner and Mrs. William Staman who served refreshments of ice cream bars, cookies and coffee.

Mrs. Frank Shull is in charge of the lesson for June on "The American Indian," and there will be an Indian dinner served at noon.

Calling All Bug-Bombers--

This coming Saturday and Sunday afternoons will be important hours as far as the comfort of the community is concerned for the coming few months. At that time a volunteer crew of mosquito-haters will invade the lowlands adjoining St. Joe for the purpose of spreading a killing film of oil and DDT over the breeding places of the mosquitoes.

The process has been carried out in past years and has met with some success. The last few summers have passed in comparative comfort with little need for extensive applications of mosquito repellant by local residents. A custom-built spraying machine constructed two years ago has helped in performing the spraying operation. A mixture of fuel oil and DDT is applied to ponds and puddles along the bottom east of town, utilizing the spraying machine, hand operated tanks and buckets.

Orville Coburn is in charge of Operation Mosquito Saturday and Sunday afternoons and has issued a call to all able-bodied men to help apply the coating of insect killer.

Those who wish to help are asked to meet at 1 p.m. on both days at the town hall.

High individual series scorer during the second half was Bud Shockley with a 679.

The 3-game match for the trophy showed Kregs with 29-30 and Yeisers with 2915.

Save the Children Fedcration
New York, N.Y.
May 10, 1956

Dear Editor:

Many of us have felt a pang of regret when we found ourselves unable to spare funds to help a worthy cause.

Yet there is one cause - the cause of needy children and their families - to which we can give real assistance without having to go any farther than our clothes closets. Thousands of youngsters in our own United States and overseas are desparately in need of good, used clothing. Possessing little more than a few tattered garments, many boys and girls are unable even to attend chool.

The Save the Children Federation, of which I have the honor to be a National Sponsor and a Board Member, is appealing for clean wearable clothing to help needy children and adults. Your readers can render a wonderful service by sending such clothing to:

Save the Children Federation,
Dept. N
Ault Road and Rutledge Pike
Knoxville, Tennessee

The cool autumn and bitter winter months may seem a long way off. But by sending clothing now, your readers can be sure that coats, shoes, jackets and dresses will be available to provide warm protection for needy boys and girls when bad weather sets in.

Sincerely yours,
Faith Baldwin

Dear Ted and Mrs. Ted,

Well, I thought I'd drop you a line and give you my new address since I am shipping out in 28 days. We had our orders for over seas then they got swape to a different class this Army. Have there been any unfortunate men join the Army? Ha. Well things were pretty hot this week end and today about in the 80's. I hope you people have good weather too. I hear Dan Butler was home. Good to hear that. I've lost contact with most of my buddies. All I hear is what is in the News and that sure is nice to get. Ted, have you ever been down south? I've had to learn a new English if you want to call it. Ha. Don't tell Eve Roberts I said that or I would lose one good customer. Say I have a nice little outfit I am going to send my brother. I don't know whether to do it or not. It might set a bad example with the younger kids but I think I'll send it anyhow. I hear my buddies back home are still getting tickets. We'll never learn. Down here its kinda different. If you get a ticket you get your post tags taken away from you and besides get 15-2 which is 15 days restriction to the post and 2 hours a day riding the ranges and they are the old wooden burning type. And civilians think they got it bad. Well, I'm RA so I can't complain too much. Well, how's things back home. I am glad to hear my friends are OK. I sure miss those nice friendly people back home. Well, we have some getting good orders down here so hoping ours come through pretty soon. Tell the boys back home not to think of this evil thing as join the Army. Tell the folks back home I said hello and be glad to hear from them.

Richard Beebe.

Richard included his address in the letter but we understand it has been changed. Richard has quite the sense of humor, eh? —Ed.

Tuesday, May 1
8:30 p.m.

Hello Ted,

I guess it's more than time I let you know what we have been doing. Lloyd and I have still been lucky enough to get to stay together. That sure makes it nice. Now that we have gotten back from our winter training at Camp Hale, Colorado, we also are near Richard Baker now. So I think all 3 of us that came in together have been real lucky.

I guess I haven't written to you since I was in basic. A lot has happened since then. Thank goodness its different than basic was. However I don't think we really had it too rough. It's jut that you had so many things on your mind at that time.

After basic they sent Lloyd and I over here to the company that we are in now. It's not such a bad company except it's a line company and infantry all the way. Right now we have a good bunch of officers, HCO's and other fellows. We are one of the full strength companies here at Fort Riley. However, starting this June we will loose a lot of them.

After basic we never did really get our second 8 weeks of training. Matter of fact we only had 6 weeks. A lot of that was what we had in basic. Then too we got to do a lot of different things, such as going out on some of our night problems in helicopters instead of walking, and getting a pass every night. There's no complaint to any of those.

We have had plenty of changes for them since though. But they say you are not a good soldier if you don't yell some. Most of those changes came when we left the 26th of February for Camp Hale, Colorado, by train.

We did have a lot of fun up there a well as that, that was not so much fun. But I would go again, I think.

The first 2 weeks were getting used to the climate and learning to ski. We would have classes half a day then practice skiing the other half. It wasn't hard at all the first week. We were on level ground then and with a ski pole in each hand it was hard to fall.

Then the second week we got to going down hills. That was more fun, in fact it was more like a circus. Everybody was laughing at everybody else.

The standing itself up on the skiis wasn't so hard as trying to stop them or turn if you wanted to. You would wind up in all kinds of shapes trying to do them. But it was fun.

After that second week for the next 2 weeks we would go on cross country ski marches or skiing of some sort.

Then it started to get rough because we went out and lived in the field for 2 straight weeks. Although we had been living in tents from the very first, they were a lot better with beds, a stove at each end and other things that made it nice.

Those 2 weeks went pretty fact. We didn't do much training. For 3 days we just skied on "Copper's Hill" which is part of a big ski resort out here.

The hill was almost a mile and a half from top to bottom. You really did move out once you pointed your skis down hill. That was when you were glad you learned how to stop.

Also you were glad they had a ski lift to take you back to the top.

We got back in the Friday before Easter. Most of us got a 3 day pass then. Lloyd and I went to Colorado Cprings which isn't far from where Donald Walters is. The 3 of us stayed together and really had a time. Lloyd and I almost got spring fever down there. The temperature was 68 degrees and we were used to below freezing weather. Most of the time we were there it was from 0 to 16 degrees above. During the night and early part of the morning it would be the coldest. The coldest it got was 28 degrees below. Thank goodness it was a dry cold and you didn't really notice it as much as what we are used to unless you stood around.

Our final training came to the end with a 6 day maneuver. We really learned more about cold weather training during that final week than all the other time. Things would get all mixed up. We would travel at night, then have no place to sleep when you got there, and you didn't get much sleep to begin with.

But I guess that was all in the problem and training. It didn't hurt us much. However I think everybody was ready to get on the train the 16th of April when we left there. It was snowing and blowing all the time.

The next morning when we woke up it was just the opposite. By then we were pretty well into Kansas.

Since getting back we haven't done much of anything. They have given us several days off altogether. But this Monday we went back at it again.

Our training for the next few weeks will be with the M-1 rifle. We had it in basic but every year around this time you go out on the range and shoot for record. If we get rid of this rainy weather it will be a lot of fun. This morning we got good and wet before we finally came back in. However, they do need the rain bad out here.

I guess I had better quit my blowing for tonight anyway.

—I got the St. Joe News both at Camp Hale and here so I know its getting around. I want to thank you for sending it as well as for Lloyd and Richard. It doesn't sound like much but it means a lot to us.

Thanks a lot, Ted.

Your friend,
Sammy

Sounds to us like Sammy has a good time anyplace anytime —even in the army. —Ed.

Greetings:

Find enclosed $2.00 for renewal of my subscription, date the starting from the time my subscription ran out.

Don't let the expired time go free, or I will be mad at you.

I would pay in advance for 2 years if I expected to live that long. But my mortal body I believe will be under the ground before next winter is well under way.

If a miracle happens that I survive I will be sure to continue my subscription.

Yours is the best little and concentrated sheet that I have ever seen or read and utterly devoid of the war mongerning wordly strife which characterizes this country today, which also abounds with factional strife and greed for worldly gain, for instance the labor unions. These evils I have mentioned are the mark of the beast in their hands and their forehead: the modern Babylon.

May you continue your excellent work and may God bless you.

SENDING SPIRIT

Lesson for May 27, 1956

If the Descending Spirit is the story of the second chapter of Acts, the thirteenth tells part of the story of the Sending Spirit. People may be very much interested in the Descending Spirit but not enough in the Sending Spirit. People today like Simon of Samaria in olden times, want the Holy Spirit to descend into their hearts—but for the wrong reasons, sometimes. We want the Spirit to help us do what we want to do, to accomplish our plans, to make us persuasive and popular personalities. But the Spirit of God, although everybody's aid, is nobody's aide. The aide to a general is just the general's right arm, his tongue—whatever the general wants done, the aide is there to see it done. The Holy Spirit is no aide!

God Can Break Up Good Plans

The church at Antioch was going strong when the Holy Spirit broke into their plans. We don't know how the Spirit spoke to them, nor how they were sure it was the Spirit. But one thing is pretty certain; they must have had plans which the Sending Spirit broke up. Barnabas and Saul were what we would call today Associate Pastors of that big city congregation. They had been together there only a year, and that is a short pastorate. Very likely Saul and Barnabas both, along with the church, had plans of one kind and another afoot—good plans, evangelistic, sacrificial. But the Spirit said No. The Spirit had other plans. The church must set aside Barnabas and Saul, cut them off from their growing, successful work in the First Church of Antioch, and send them out as missionaries. They must go to parts unknown, to places not nearly so important as Antioch, to the backwoods perhaps. They must go out and endanger their lives, far from the peaceful busy streets of Antioch. The Holy Spirit has often come to men in disturbing ways. He often breaks up our best plans. The thing to remember is that God knows better than we do. God's Spirit never breaks up a good plan unless it is for the sake of his better one.

The Spirit Through the Church

The way the Spirit operated there in Antioch is instructive. The Spirit called Saul and Barnabas; also the Spirit spoke to the church. The command was given: Separate Barnabas and Saul for the work to which I have called them. And the church obediently "laid its hands on" these two leaders and sent them out. The Sending Spirit often works in this way. Most missionaries today are selected and sent out by mission boards of some kind. The boards will not, if they know it, send any one to a mission field who has no sense of being called by the Spirit. But on the other hand, even if a young man feels the Spirit has called him, if in the Board's judgment he will not make a good missionary, they will not accept and send him. This is all in the wisdom of God. It gives a missionary today, and it gave Saul and Barnabas back yonder, a strong "lift" to know that the church is backing them up, praying for them, wishing them well, ready to send reinforcements if they fall by the wayside. Sometimes the only way a call of the Spirit comes to a man or woman is through the church. Older Christians ought to realize their responsibilties here.

The Church Through Men

God does not call all men to be missionaries. But he does call every Christian man, woman and child to be missionary. That is, missionary in heart and purpose. The church that is not sending and supporting missionaries, directly or indirectly, by themselves or through a board of missions, the church that is not out there on the firing line through its representatives, the church that doesn't even know there is a firing line, the church that spends all its money and all its interest on itself—such a church is not even a cousin of the kind of church we read of in the early days, like the Church at Antioch. The selfish congreation is contributing to the death of the church; the sending church is contributing to its life—its own and the life of the Christian fellowship around the world.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE CABLE ADDRESS—ACDCO

DEAR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS

Our unusual automobile plan originated five years ago when our company president, Mr. Dallas E. Winslow, adopted the plan of giving each associate of our different companies a new automobile each year. Our companies are located at Auburn, Indiana; Springfield, Ohio; Cleveland, Ohio and Detroit, Michigan.

The automobiles that have been driven by our associates have never been traded in on the new cars we purchase. Previously we sold these cars in quantity wholesale to automobile dealers. Due to so many requests from our friends and customers to sell them cars, we decided to offer these select automobiles for sale to our many friends and neighbors.

For the past year we have been visiting with you and telling you of our policy at the Auburn-Cord-Duesenberg Company; our dealings with our associates, and our "terms with a heart". It has always been our desire to provide for our customers any plan that would further extend the cordial relationship and goodwill which we feel exists between us. It is with justifiable pride that Mr. Winslow has announced a new plan -- "ASSURANCE WITH INSURANCE" -- AT NO EXTRA COST TO YOU!!

In a nutshell -- this means that in the event of ACCIDENT, SICKNESS or DEATH, (God forbid), all the remaining payments due the company will be paid in full, under the conditions provided by our group insurance policy. We have further provided -- that in the event of STRIKES or LAY-OFFS, several payments will be made for you without obligation of repayment.

We like to think of our terms as "terms with a heart". By this, we mean any reasonable terms you desire will be considered up to 36 months to pay. Your payments may be made direct to us and you may be assured of our co-operation in case an extension of a payment is needed as we do not sell your note.

IF YOU WILL CALL.....OR COME DOWN to our factory showroom --- S. Wayne Street --- and see our large selection of nearly new and used cars, we will be delighted to further discuss this unique plan to our mutual benefit, without obligation to you.

PARKING FACILITIES -- Open Evenings Until 9 P.M. -- Saturdays Until 5 P.M.

Assuring you of our friendship and co-operation,

The Indiana Story No. 5

The Age of Ice.

During North America's Age of Ice our Indiana was several times invaded by glaciers. This story opens with the first visit, of which not much knowledge is at hand, when Mr. Zero centered his glacier-making efforts in Labrador about 300,000 years ago. In that distant land during a long period a mighty ice sheet was born of the arctic storms. Higher and higher it grew until it towered two to six miles above sea level and its weight caused it to spread slowly outward. One of Alaska's spreading glaciers is shown here. The glaciers of Alaska, Greenland and Iceland are familiar sights to servicemen of northeastern Indiana in the Armed Forces who are assigned to far northern bases. There they truly live - today - in the Age of Ice.

Next: The "How" of a Glacier.

LETTERS (continued)

Elliott Hall
Muncie, Indiana

May 16, 1956

Dear Ted,

I would like to register a complaint, not with you but with the officials of Riverdale High School.

The last time I was home for a visit I was told which awards had been given to whom. But in looking over the lisit I found that two very important awards had been either forgotten or left out. These awards are recognition of two senior girls who have been cheerleaders in the high school for their four years in high school and three years for one and two years for the other before entering high school. Sure, they were each given a little 90-cent medal which says "CHEERLEADER" on it but what kind of an award is this when each senior basketball player who may not have played more than one year is given a jacket with a letter and stripes?

It seems little more than fair that a girl who has been a cheerleader for four years should receive an award equal in value and prestige to that given the player whom she is supporting.

Nothing can be done about this oversight this year, but it should be given great consideration in future years.

Sincerely,
Jerry Woodring

In all seriousness—suppose the cheerleaders got an award of of the same value as those presented the basketball team members. Would it be surprising for players to think: "Why shouldn't we get a better award than the cheerleaders. After all, if it wasn't for us, there wouldn't be any cheerleaders!" And then the student body would say: "Why don't we get an award. If it wasn't for us, there wouldn't be a team!" And then Mom and Dad would say: "Why don't we get an award. If it wasn't for us, there wouldn't be any students!"

Silly? Not at all. This condition is present today in our country with the farmer, the laborer, the business man, the unionist, the non-unionist, all feeling entitled to more than what has been received and feeling more responsible than the other for what the other has.

If no mention was made of the years of service given as cheerleaders when the medals were presented, then perhaps there was an oversight. But as far as the worth of the medals is concerned, that is secondary. Respect of fellow students for the service the cheerleaders performed cannot be measured in dollars and cents.

—Or put it this way. . . which would you rather have: a dozen friendly greetings of "Hi Jerry" each morning on your way to class - or a gold-plated recording of "For He's A Jolly Good Fellow" which you could listen to as often as you wanted, all by yourself?

Everyone must answer the same question many times 'ere these days of toil are ended. —Ed.

Mr. Ted Haberkorn, Publisher
St. Joe News

Dear Ted,

I regret that you had to leave the commencement program on Friday night past as quickly as you did, but I understand why and agree fully with you in your necessity. I regret your departure particularly, for in the remarks I made with the presentation of honors on that program, I gave my farewell to the school and community. In that farewell, I gave open, public, warm praise to the tremendous aid given the school by you and your paper.

I could not depart this community where I have lived these two years without conveying to you directly how much I have appreciated your aid. Few but high school administrators would appreciate what great importance public relations are to the success of a school, and your paper has been one of our finest contacts with the public. I have every hope that you will as warmly and loyally support my successor when he takes up the problems of education at Riverdale. With such aid and assistance, he will have a tremendous predisposition to success.

Very warmly, again, I thank you.

Ben Simpson

The only thing wrong with receiving this letter is that it comes in connection with our community's losing something.

When are we going to start keeping our principles and stop losing our principals?

This is Number Three!! —Ed.

Riverdale School News

The year, viewed from this end, has been full of activity. Taken head on, the great number of events would frighten the student, the parent, or the teacher. But, the events were met day by day and month by month. Now, at the conclusion, the number only surprises us.

September—the first days of school with new students, new teachers and new equipment. Classes and clubs were organized. The freshmen were initiated. The month closed with the County Fair, our students winning grand championships, and school out for Fair Day.

October—basketball practice began. The teachers and board had a get-together, get-acquainted party. Students attended the state Tri-Hi-Y Convention at Wabash. The Senior Class Play was presented. Senior Class pictures were taken, yearbook pictures were arranged. Grade cards came out. The Teacher's Institute furnished a two day vacation.

November — ten basketball games (6 varsity and B, 4 junior high), a Thanksgiving vacation, the Beta Club state convention in Indianapolis, second grade card distribution and cooler weather featured this month.

December — six basketball games (3 and 3), the state scholarship tests, class parties, Christmas exchanges, Christmas programs and Christmas vacation sped December on its way.

January — nine basketball games (7 and 2). School profited considerably from the Y. M. C. A. Counseling Program. The County Basketball Tourneys were held at Waterloo and Butler. Semester-end tests and third showing of grade cards, along with cold weather were notable.

February—four ball games and the Sectional Tourney wound up the season for Riverdale. The Junior High team won the county tourney. The "B" team won the Milk Bottle Trophy. A spectacular P.T.A Carnival brought in the money for two pianos. Our contestant won the County Legion Oratorical Contest.

March — a relaxed month, with only the Junior Class Play, the start of track practice and the Good Friday vacation to mark it.

April—a month that made up for March, with the County Spelling Contest, the Senior Class Trip to New York and Washington, the math and F-FA contests, several track meets including the Corner Conference, the band contest at Angola, election of PTA officers for the coming year, and 5th grading period cards.

May—the end is in sight. More track meets, the P. T. A. Achievement Night program, the Junior-Senior Banquet, final examinations and last grade cards, farewells to departing graduates and faculty members and the year snaps shut.

The following activities were not listed above, but they were a part of school life. School assemblies, talent programs, 15 issues of the school paper, field trips of various classes, meetings of the Student Council, the FFA, the Beta Club, and Tri-Hi-Y, incidental interruptions such as collection of cafeteria money every Monday morning, and a host of others fill in the chinks in the schedule.

Important events to the students would include basketball games, the student counseling program, Achievement Night, the Junior-Senior Banquet, and others. To the faculty, it is difficult to separate any one event. Included would be the Senior church service on their trip, the acceptance of responsibility by older students, and the usual settling down of the 7th and 9th grades when they change divisions of school.

What lies ahead? Another year, another group of new and old students, some new teachers, some old teachers, some new ideas and methods, some old methods tried again and altered if need be, and thus passes '55-56 to become the beginning of '56-57.

—Hubert L. Stackhouse.

You've heard the remark, "It's tough when you have to pay 90 cents a pound for meat, but it's tougher when you pay only 30 cents."

We'd like to tell you about our summer furniture. First, you may have a pretty good glider with no good cushions. We have some nice replacement cushions just for you. In addition, then, we have gliders, chaise lounges, upholstered chairs, umbrella tables, umbrella and patio swings. Now I don't know just what a patio is—haven't seen it, yet—but Bill and Bob, who helped Carl buy them at the January market, say they are very nice.

Carl, you know, is the fellow who said when the gang went to the market, "We'll just look around, not buy anything." Ha!

Around the Town

With the Editor

David McCann said he wanted to see his name in the paper and suggested that the announcement be made that he will mow lawns for a nominal fee.

He got a try-out a couple of weeks ago and did pretty good.

There wasn't much of a chance to say much for the last couple of weeks and nothing appeared in this column. But there were still things going on causing some comment, like one of the town's senior citizens walking the dog early Sunday morning—and somebody else falling asleep in church the same Sunday.

—It was one of those rather warm, humid Sundays when it's so easy to doze off for a little bit—until somebody jabs you in the ribs.

The radio is on at the News Office quite consistently, and quite consistently it's turned to that good little station over in Defiance. They have lots of music and also several programs of local interest including school visits and guests from Defiance College.

The other day (Monday) the announcer was interviewing "Eddie" for some time before he closed the interview by identifying the guest as Eddie Hook of Spencerville High School basketball fame.

It was pointed out that Eddie is having a rather busy week end this week what with his getting married Saturday and, being a member of the graduating class at Defiance College, having baccalaureate services on Sunday.

He plans on entering military service following graduation.

Say, it sure is nice to have those mosquitoes back again, isn't it? We've missed their company for the last several years. This is the first spring and early summer in which we can find our little friends flying about as thickly during the day as they usually do at night that we have had for a while.

Welcome home!

SISTERS OF THE SKILLET HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB

The Sisters of the Skillet Home Demonstration Club entertained the Country Charm Home Demonstration Club May 22 at the I&M building at Butler.

The president, Gladys Akey, welcomed the guests. All then sang the song of the month, "Put On Your Old Gray Bonnet," led by Lula Moore.

Leila Moore, who was in charge of entertainment, introduced Mrs. Joe Baidinger who gave a book review on "I Passed For White." Both clubs enjoyed the review. The three Holman sisters sang two songs accompanied by Delores Goings and Mary Baughman on the accordians.

The president of the guest club, Charlotte Fee, thanked the hosts for an enjoyable evening.

Refreshments were served by the committee. There were 8 members from each club present and 7 guests.

The Sisters of the Skillet Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Dorothy Markle, May 24.

The meeting was opened by the president, Gladys Akey. The club collect was read by Betty Romine. Devotions were given by Lula Moore. The song of the month was led by Connie Hollabaugh. The project lesson, "Pardon Me Please and Tablewise Buys," was given by Paula Roberts and Connie Hollabaugh. Both gave very good information.

Secretary's report was read and roll call answered by 10 members and 2 guests. The response was an exchange of plants or seeds.

Betty Romine was appointed to the 4-H committee and also literary leader.

The club then adjourned by singing the prayer song.

Refreshments were served by Leila Moore and Dorothy Markle.

To Make 2nd Attempt At Spraying

Orville (Babe) Coburn has announced that two more excursions will be made this week end to apply oil and DDT to the lowlands surrounding St. Joe in an attempt to rid the community of some of the yet-to-be-hatched mosquitoes which fill the grasses and puddles.

Few persons were on hand last Saturday to make the first field trip. But an application of the insecticide was made Sunday afternoon. Rain which fell thereafter probably nullified some of the effect to be expected from the bug-killer. As a result this second call for assistance has been issued.

Weather conditions this spring, hampering the application of oil and DDT at the customary time, have caused the worst (and biggest) crop of mosquitoes in the community for several years. St. Joe'ers have enjoyed comparative comfort compared to five years ago when the mosquitoes were as numerous during the day as at their usual feeding time in the evening. The condition is especially uncomfortable for children, a few of whom have been "eaten up" as they played outside during the day.

Mr. Coburn also indicated that arrangements are being made to have St. Joe "fogged" sometime in the near future.

Those who wish to help this week end are asked to meet at Yeiser's service station at 1 p. m. on Saturday and-or Sunday.

Bible Schools End, Begin

The St. Joe Church of Christ will present their Vacation Bible School Program Friday evening, June 1, at 7:30 p.m. at the church.

Average attendance for the first six days of school was 58. Offerings taken will be sent to Cecil Todd at Ft. Smith, Arkansas, where he is starting a new nondenominational Christian Church.

Those who have assisted in conducting the school are:

Gladys Akey, Connie Hollabaugh, Donna Dragoo, Leora Shafer, Gretchen Noragon, Rosalind Storer, Wanda Holman, Loretta Musser, Karon Holman, Virginia Baker, Leila Moore, Lillian Keith, Evalyn Shafer, Fern Carr, Faye Strong and Mildred Hansen.

The concluding program of St. Mark's Lutheran Vacation Bible School will also be presented Friday evening, June 1, at the church. This will conclude a two week session of Bible study.

The Daily Vacation Bible School at Spencerville will begin next Monday, June 4, for its two-week program of study for the young people of the community. Classes will be held from 9:00 to 11:00 a.m. in the school house. The school will conclude on Friday, June 15.

Bible school will begin at Newville E.U.B. Church on Monday, June 4, and continue through June 15. Classes will be held from 8:30 to 11:00 a.m.

Dairy Team Wins First Three Games

The Holsom Dairy Pony League team, under manager Ray Moore, has gotten off to a fast start this season, having posted three straight wins in the opening ten days of competition.

With several of the players from last year's team absent from the current lineup due to their passing the age limit for Pony League players, a letdown from last season's good showing would not have been too surprising. But with sparkling pitching performances from Ralph Noragon and Dick Robinson, the locals have taken up where they left off last summer.

Noragon pitched a 2-0 win over Antwerp to open the season last week and Robinson followed with a 2-0 victory over Harlan, striking out 19 in the seven inning contest.

Noragon pitched again against Huntertown this week and hurled a 6-4 win.

Methodist Minister Is Transferred

Three hundred Methodist pastors went home from the North Indiana Annual Conference Sunday afternoon to stay at their present churches for another year or to start packing. At the concluding session of the conference held in the New Castle High School gym, Bishop Richard C. Raines made pastoral appointments which included 76 changes. The new church year begins June 1.

Included in the changes was the transfer of Rev. Wayne Baxter from the Spencerville-Concord charge to Economy in the Richmond district. He replaces Rev. L. G. Miller. Rev. Baxter served at Spencerville and Concord for the past two years. He and his family resided at Spencerville.

Other business at the annual conference included integration legislation making it theoretically possible for a white episcopal area, such as Indiana, to have a Negro bishop and a local white church to have a negro pastor. Miss Ellen Studley, 57, of Mishawaka, was granted full clergy rights, the first woman to be granted such rights. She was included in a class of 19 persons received on trial.

There are 433 churches in the 300 pastoral charges of the conference.

Have you seen any of our ads on the new Speed Queen automatic washers. Perhaps so, and have said, "I'd certainly like to have that new Speed Queen, but just can't afford it now." We think you can — I was walking through the store the other day and overheard someone say, "any terms?" Now that may be stretching it just a little—but you can get "any terms within reason." If you don't believe it, just try us.

The fact is, I wouldn't be surprpised if your old washer would make the down payment—that would leave you with a brand new Speed Queen 2-speed automatic wonder washer and easy monthly payments.

Now I ask you — can we be more reasonable? Not a penny out of your pocket. Start to enjoy easy wash days NOW—and pay later.

TO THE WEST

Lesson for June 3, 1956

In Paul's vision at Troas, his night visitor did not say, "Come over into Europe and help us." He only said "Macedonia." In fact, the word Europe does not occur in the story at all. Paul and his contemporaries were not conscious of moving from one continent to another when they set sail for Macedonia. Nevertheless it was a notable move. The Christian church was moving west, and it has never stopped permanently at any frontier. The little party that took ship for Samothracia was only one of countless groups of Christians westward bound. This was the first step in a great march. The Gospel was carried into every country in Europe, then into the Americas. Here in North America, as the settlers moved inland, westward and ever westward, as the frontier moved across the land the church moved with it. Sometimes the church itself did the pioneering, as the Roman church did in California or the Protestants in Oregon.

Moving and Changing

Pea vines and people often change when transplanted to a different soil and climate. So it is with the church. The church at Antioch was different from the church in Jerusalem, and the church at Corinth was still different and by the time the church reached Rome and settled there, more changes could be seen. Churches in Northern Britain were not just like those of southern Italy. When the church came to America, there were further changes. To this day, a Presbyterian church in this country will be in many ways unlike the church of the same name in Scotland. English Methodists and American Methodists can easily be told apart. A distinguished English Baptist who is now serving in the largest American Baptist denomination has said in public how hard it was at first for him to feel at home here. Even in the Roman Cathodic church priests who have been in America all their lives find some features of European Catholic churches rather srtange, and vice versa. In America, too, as the church moved west it changed its ways.

Always the Same

"The more it changes, the more it stays the same," is a French proverb which might well describe the church of God. It is quite true, the church has gone through many changes as it has moved westward with the years, but at heart, when it has had a heart, it has always been the same. (We say "When it has had a heart" because some churches have last heart, or lost their heart, grown cold and died.) It would be quite a shock for a member of any American church east or west to walk into a meeting of the church at Corinth in St. Paul's time. It would be just as puzzling for a Corinthian to enter any American church—a great cathedral in New York or a country church forty miles from anywhere; neither one would be like a Corinthian meeting. But the heart of the church is the same. In Corinth, Kansas City or the Kentucky hills, wherever people are gathered together who love the Lord Jesus, who adore Him as their Saviour, wherever those who love Christ are united to serve mankind in His name, there is the Christian church at worship and at work. Languages and forms differ, but the spirit of Christ is always the same.

Frontiers of the Future

When the church reached the eastern edge of the Pacific Ocean, had it come to the last frontier? Is there anywhere else to go? Of course there is. Beyond the Pacific are two vast continents. The Christian church has been so busy stretching westward that it has all but forgotten the "East"—which now is literally our Far West. Asia, Africa and the islands of the seas are our Christian frontiers, the frontiers of the future, and the church is (if yet only dimly) aware of them. The churches along these frontiers will be different from the churches "back home" as ours are different from Corinth and Jerusalem. But the Spirit will be there; for wherever there are true churches, there Christ lives and works again.

Church Scores

St. Joe Church League activity got underway Friday evening of last week with the opening twin bill at the local diamond.

In the first game the St. Joe Lutherans defeated Spencerville Lutheran by a score of 13 to 8. The second game was won by Newville-Milford E.U.B. over Concord by a 22-10 score.

Two more games were scheduled for Monday evening. However, the first was forfeited by Spencerville Methodist to Mt. Pleasant because of the lack of sufficient number of players to begin the game.

The second game was won by St. Joe Church of Christ who defeated Newville Church of Christ 17-9.

The Indiana Story No 6

CROSS SECTION OF A GLACIER..

The "How" of a Glacier.

Thousands of years elapsed before the glacier reached very far beyond the area where it was born. In this period the piling ice slowly took the shape of a watch: flat in its upper center and steep at its edge. As the glacier grew it finally developed its own weather system. Air currents settled from the center to the lower levels, with the moisture in the air changing to snow. Top weight caused the outer ice to move, just as soft bread dough, when dumped on a table, will spread. The "how" of a glacier is taught to science classes at high school, or to geology students at college, but it can also be demonstrated by much younger folk amid ominous quiet in the kitchen. So, on guard, mothers!

VOLUME LXXI | ST. JOE (DeKalb Co.). IND. | Thursday, June 7, 1956 | NUMBER 23

Around the Town

With the Editor

This weather sure is the nuts. In the last week or so we've had it cool enough to need a little fire. Now we're back to some decent June warmth in the daytime. But at night it still gets pretty cool. In fact, last Friday night was so cool, the second game of the church league double header ended at the fourth inning because everybody was shivering so much.

Speaking of the church league, a few of the teams are having their troubles getting enough players out for games. Part of the difficulty is due to working second trick, corn planting time, etc. But more of it seems to be that the older boys in the community have dropped out. A few years back most of the teams had plenty of players because these young dads were participating. Must be that the competition got too competitive with the emphasis being placed on winning instead of enjoying recreation for the fun of it.

The league this year has attempted to stress the value of participation for its recreation and fellowship value. Everybody wants to win, but that comes later.

In the last couple of years there have been complaints by parents because faithful Sunday School and church attenders were overlooked in favor of those who had greater playing ability but went to Sunday School or church only during the summer just in order to be eligible to play ball. Some of the younger boys are now getting a chance and it's to be hoped that the condition remains that way. The church league relies on the honesty of its coaches, managers and players regarding the members of their teams and their eligibility to make the league a truly representative "church league."

Now if we could just get back some of those other guys —for the fun of it.

—See what happens when you try to win all the time!

Glen Kinsey doesn't mind, I guess, if somebody wants to borrow his wheel barrow for a while. But the last one who did hasn't brought it back yet. Glen says he'd like to have it back—it's steel with a steel wheel.

—Or should we say it's stole.

Richard Beebe sent an item in his letter appearing in this issue. Pete Walters also was going to make sure it appeared since his daughter was involved.

It sounds like everyone had a good time when Richard visited his sister—or no, it was some other way because Richard doesn't have a sister out east. —Or yes he does too, because she got him off the base despite a restriction order and —now wait a minute, she couldn't have because — oh, well, you'd better ask Ann Beebe about it. She knows more about Richard's sister than I do. —Or does she.

—And we've got to get Bill and Pat Hines in there somehow.

Lynne Mary Lawson sent a nice letter last week. She said she didn't want it printed in the paper but I guess she won't care if I just talk about it.

Lynne Mary hopefully plans to attend Earlham College to major in Sociology. But the dollar signs floating around in the information she has received thus far are a bit frightening.

Joe Pesch brought back a copy of the Plymouth Pilot-News of Saturday, May 26. In it is a picture taken in 1900. The list of names of persons appearing in the photo includes "Mrs. Theo. Haberkorn" and "Miss Charlotte Haberkorn."

Joe wondered if they were relates of mine and I had to admit I didn't really know but didn't think so.

The picture belongs to a former Plymouth resident, Louis McDonald, now living at 1602 Valencia Mesa Drive, Fullerton, California.

—Say, at second look, there's a "Miss Jessie Haberkorn" in the picture, too.

—Here I thought we were the last of the Mo-Haberkorns.

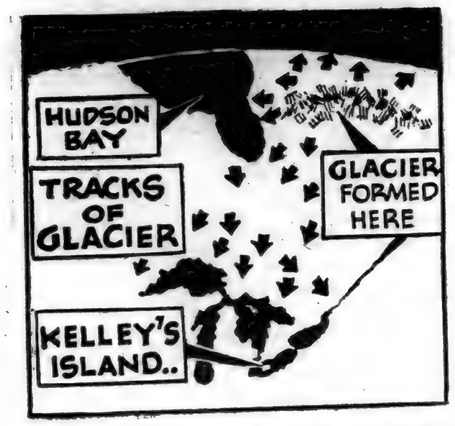
The Indiana Story No. 7



Glacier Tracks.

The Labrador glacier moved out in all directions - to ocean waters north and east and west, as well as toward the southlands. It scooped up soils and surface debris. The ice and its burden became so heavy the rock crust of Mother Earth slowly settled. As this mighty dozer - it has been called "God's great plow" - pushed forward, it tore loose huge fragments of stone which acted as files or rasps, scratching and grooving the bedrock over which the glacier passed. An example - from Kelley's Island in Lake Erie - is next shown. Glacier tracks have been found on a layer of boulders 20 feet below ground level in a gravel pit near Maumee Gateway Park, 10 miles east of Fort Wayne. Where is the largest boulder to be found in DeKalb County?

Next: Kelley's Island Memento.

Eight students from DeKalb County were candidates for degrees at the 104th Commencement Exercises of Purdue University held Sunday, June 3, in the Hall of Music.

Two sessions were held, one at 9:30 a.m. for graduates of all engineering curricula and the second at 2:30 p.m. for graduates of non-engineering curricula.

Dr. Frederick Hovde, president of Purdue, presided at the exercises and conferred the degrees. The address was given by Dr. J. A. Estey, professor of economics, who is retiring from active duty this year.

Included in the list of graduates were Allen S. Haller and Thomas R. Mertens, bachelor of science in agriculture and doctor of philosophy, respectively.

TB REMAINS TOP HEALTH MENACE

During the first four months of this year, newly reported cases of tuberculosis outnumbered diphtheria cases 6 to 1 and polio cases more than 65 to 1. According to preliminary figures released by the Indiana State Board of Health, 467 new TB cases have been reported this year up until the week of April 28, while there have been 70 of diphtheria and 7 of polio. Two other prominent contagious disease statistics for the same period show a total of 58 new cases of meningitis and 9 of typhoid fever.

Marion County continued to lead in number of new TB cases with 125 in the four month period. This is more than one-quarter of the total for the entire state. Lake County was next with 42 new tuberculosis cases.

It is estimated by the Indiana Tuberculosis Association that about 13 per cent, or 60 additional TB cases, must be added to the state total because a study of death certificates in the past revealed that this portion of tuberculosis cases are not reported to the State Board of Health in time for inclusion with current statistics.

The Indiana Tuberculosis Association further reports that deaths from tuberculosisi continue to outnumber those from all other contagious and infectious diseases combined.

Letters to the Editor

May 27, 1956
Sunday 11:30 a.m.

Hi Ted,

How are you, Ted, and everyone back that way?

It sure has been nasty down here for the last week. Just about all it has done is rain, rain. It was nice this morning but it turned off and rained again.

How is the church league doing right now?

It sure is good to get the St. Joe News and see the news from back home.

They broke up the softball league down here and made a new schedule. We are supposed to play our first game this week sometime. My company had played 3 games and lost all 3 before I started playing.

I have been pitching and I have played 4 games and we won all 4 games. So when they broke the league up our record was 4 wins and 3 losses.

I can't hardly wait until the basketball season gets here because I sure like basketball. The biggest reason will be because I will only have 2 or 3 months to go in the Army.

And Boy! that is the day I am looking for!!

I'll close for now but will write soon again.

Bye for now, Ted.

A real good friend,

Donald Walters.

P.S. Ted, my address has changed a little bit since I made Cpl. or SP3C.

The SP3C is the new deal the Army has out on rank.

Dear Ted,

Well I thought I'd drop you a line and give you my new address, which is a dilly. Well I have a new experience here and a great chance to learn something, which I hope I do. Right now I'm learning the business and it's really new.

Well I hope things are good back home. I have a news item for the paper. Visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Hine of Baltimore, Md., for Memorial Day were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hine and I. Of course we had a great time and did a little painting. When I got back to base, I scraped the green paint off with a little turpentine. Bill's sister, Ethel, came over for a while and we had a great discussion about Indiana until me and Pat started getting homesick. Well I think I got in a good outfit. At least we have good Joe's here, a great bunch of men and intelligent officers as well as men. Well have to get to bed, so long for a while, hope to see you soon.

As always,

Richard.

FIGHTING PAGANISM

Lesson for June 10, 1956

Chrisitanity has seldom if ever spread smoothly and easily like gravy over mashed potatoes. Its history is more like a river which meets with immense rocks and boulders which tear the water into foam and spray. As the Colorado river has to fight to make its way westward, so the Christian church has had to fight. It is not true that all men are eager for the Gospel and that all we have to do is to tell people about the love of God and they will all be grateful and glad to hear it. On the contrary, Christ has his enemies now as he did in Galilee, and has always had. The name "paganism" is sometimes given to everything in contemporary life and thought which is actively hostile to Christ and his cause.

Did the Church Conquer Paganism?

Already in the city of Ephesus, when St. Paul was the main preacher there, Christians ran into trouble. We sometimes think if we could get rid of our preachers and get the Apostleh to take charge of our churches for a while, we would eliminate all our troubles; but St. Paul for one would not have agreed with us. We hear of opposition that became quite serious. Certain men "were hardened", "did not bliеve", and far from keeping their unbelief to themselves, "spoke evil of the Way" (i.e., Christian life) in the most public places ("before the multitude"). This is a sample of what Christianity, the Christian church and individual Christians, have to contend with in all ages of the church; hardened men, who are not only without faith but who will go out of their way to attack the Christians' faith. This is paganism; it has many forms but its spirit is always anti-Christian. The church both has and has not overcome paganism. It has won many of these enemies of Christ to become his followers, and is still doing so. It has taken the control of society out of their hands, in various times and places, as happened at Ephesus for a time. But the fact is, paganism is far from dead. In one form or other its attacks go on and on.

Missionaries of Paganism

When an army stays for any length of time in a foreign territory, it usually leaves behind it words or phrases which the natives pick up, and which may become a permanent part of the local language. It was so with the English language. The Roman military occupation of Engand, which lasted into hundreds of years, left many souvenirs in the English language. One of the first words the Britons learned from the Romans was "wine" from the Latin vinum. (Incidentally, also, another word borrowed but not now used in English was a word for "buy" that comes from a Latin word for tavern-keeper.) So our very language bears testimony to the fact that the pagan Romans were everywhere missionaries of paganism, and that part of the gospel of paganism is, Liquor is a Good Thing. . . so let's all have more of it! Paganism still sends out its missionaires. On a slow boat to China not many years ago two men shared the same stateroom. One was being sent out by an American Christian church to preach the gospel of Christ. The other was a man who was keeping his son in college by selling liquor in China—sent out by a large distillery firm. Every convert made by the liquor-missionary was going to make it more difficult for the Christ-missionary: and also the other way around.

Paganism's Progress

Christians too easily sit back in their easy pews and think, Paganism has been licked. St. Paul licked it, or Luther, or Wesley or somebody. We live in a Christian era, in a Christian land. Do we or don't we? There are some figures that ought to make us think. The statistics of the Internal Revenue Service of the United States, as analyzed by the Methodist Board of Temperance, show that for every church being erected in the U. S., seven retail outlets for liquor are being licensed. As of the latest count, there are 141,733 more saloons, cocktail bars and stores selling alcoholic beverages than there are churches, synagogues and temples combined. The breakdown shows 441,789 "spirits sources" as against 300,506 "spiritual sources."

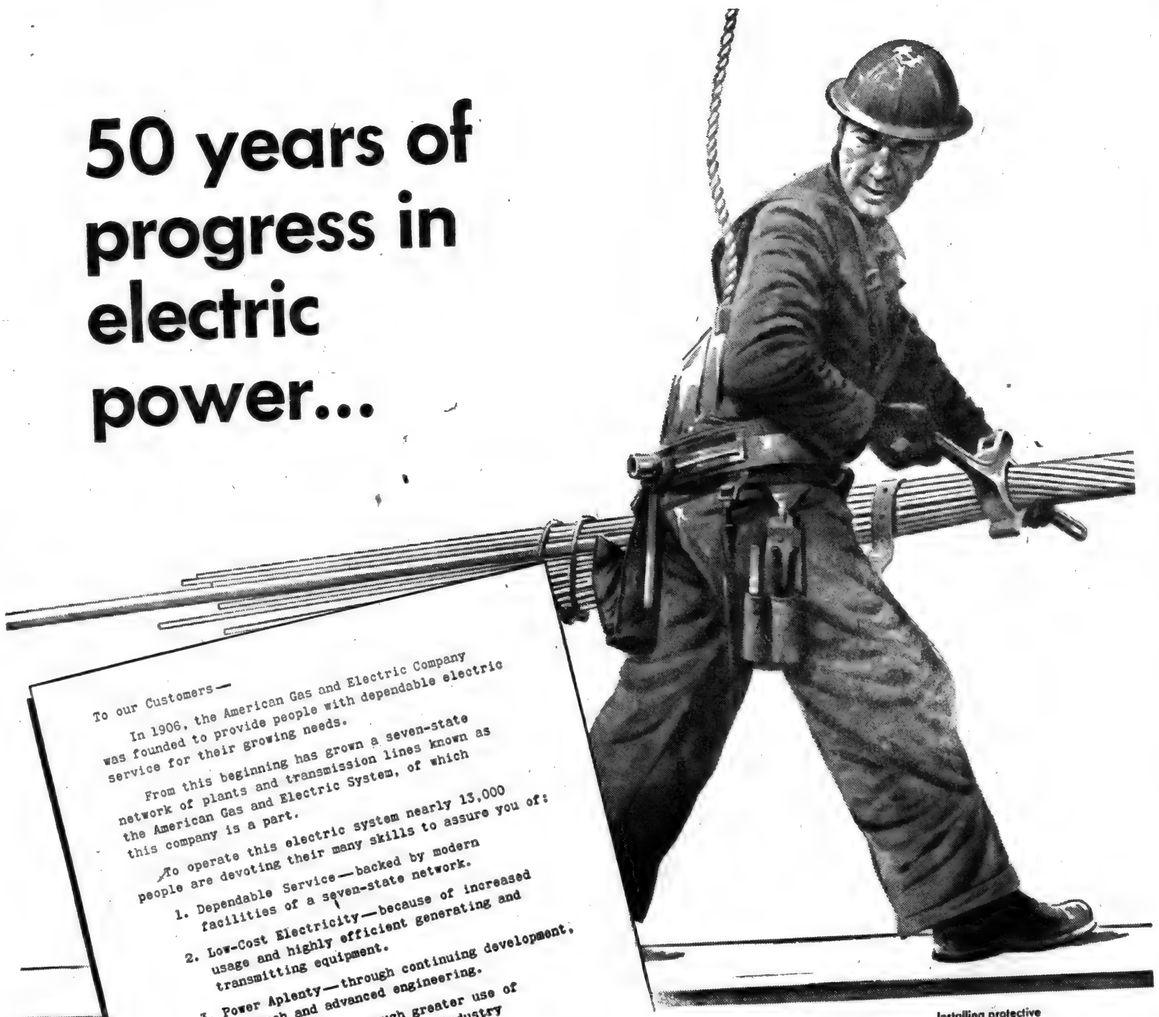
50 years of progress in electric power...



Installing protective aluminum armor rods around 330,000-volt transmission cable.

To our Customers—

In 1906, the American Gas and Electric Company was founded to provide people with dependable electric service for their growing needs.

From this beginning has grown a seven-state network of plants and transmission lines known as the American Gas and Electric System, of which this company is a part.

To operate this electric system nearly 13,000 people are devoting their many skills to assure you of:

1. Dependable Service—backed by modern facilities of a seven-state network.
2. Low-Cost Electricity—because of increased usage and highly efficient generating and transmitting equipment.
3. Power Aplenty—through continuing development, research and advanced engineering.
4. Better Living—through greater use of electricity in home, farm, industry and community.

As we start the next fifty years we foresee an even greater role for electricity in the economy of America. Our job will be to stay ahead of the growing needs of all our customers.

Around the Town

With the Editor

Here we are in the good old hot summer time. It may be a bit uncomfortable coming on short notice, but there is one result that is for the good — a few days of this 95-degree weather and the mosquito population is noticeably absent, at least during the day.

The town got a fogging on Friday night. It was a pretty good night for it, too, with no breeze for some time. The fog hung motionless and had a chance to soak in—if that's what happens when you fog for mosquitoes.

It hung for quite a while at the ball diamond. The second church game was held up for a while, then we decided to start playing. The outfielders were barely visible at times and we called once in a while, "Hey, Red!" to see if Richard Stromebck was still out there. Every time we got an answer, "Yeah, I'm here!" and the game continued.

Jim Surfus really got hold of one and the last the infielders and spectators saw of the ball it was sailing into the thick of the fog in left center—and "Red" disappeared on the ground. It was quite some time before either reappeared and by that time Jim had strolled across the plate.

I do believe "Red" had to make an excursion into Spencer Township to retrieve the ball.

You know, sometimes we think the kids are unthinking and inconsiderate in the remarks they make or the things they do. But sometimes they reverse the process and surprise their elders.

The other evening I finally got to trimming several bushes around our house — the hedge still isn't done yet—and the sweat was arollin' and the flies were abuzzin' and the mosquitoes were abitin' and in general yours truly was having visions of how nice it would be if those bushes were done away with. . . . when around the corner of the house came our little one hard on the trail of a bank robber or an ornery sidewinder or somebody. He stopped short and with all the enthusiasm you'd want to hear he proclaimed, "Gee, Dad! It really looks like you're doing a pretty good job!"

—And just like that those bushes became quite valuable.

The Cub Scout adult leaders held their monthly planning meeting Wednesday night at the home of the Harvey Carrs. One conclusion I came to during the course of the meeting—the Carrs have as much trouble keeping track of their kittens as they do keeping track of their kids.

Local Women Attend Purdue Conference

Thirty-four DeKalb County women, members of home demonstration clubs, left Auburn at 5:45 a.m. Tuesday for Purdue University to attend the annual summer conference.

The delegation was led by home agent Isabella F. McClellan and Mary Wilder, apprentice home agent.

The group included Mrs. Edna Perkins, Mrs. Kathryn Krieg, Mrs. Leila Moore, Mrs. Gladys Akey and Mrs. Doris Yeiser, all of St. Joe.

The conference opened Tuesday and extended through Thursday.

Two Injured In Accident

A Spencerville motorist and a 64-year-old DeKalb County farmer were injured, neither of them seriously, when a car rammed a farm tractor on a county road near Spencerville last Thursday night.

Injured in the accident were Victor Kelley, 33, of Spencerville and John Imler, 64, a farmer residing on R1, Spencerville.

The crash occurred about 9 p.m. on a county road two miles east of Spencerville.

The two men were taken to the Community Hospital at Hicksville for emergency treatment and released a few hours later. Imler sustained a head injury, cuts, injured left leg, shock and bruises. Kelley suffered injury to his right knee, cuts on his head, possible fractured ribs, shock and bruises.

The officers investigating the accident said Imler drove his farm tractor from a farm driveway and said he believed he could safely drive to a second driveway a short distance east before Kelley's car arrived at the scene. Kelley stated he saw the farm tractor pull from the driveway into the path of his car but he was unable to stop in time.

Kelley was driving a 1955 Ford west on the county road. Damage to the car was estimated at $500 when it plowed into the rear of the tractor.

The 1946 John Deere tractor was demolished.

Trucks Collide At Intersection

Two pickup trucks were damaged Wednesday afternoon of last week in a crash that occurred at the intersection of state road 101 with a county road three miles east and a mile north of Spencerville.

Involved were a 1948 Ford pickup driven by Merritt A. Butler, 82, of R1, Spencerville, and a 1948 Chevrolet pickup operated by 16-year-old Jerry Thomas Kerns of R3, Hicksville.

Officers said Butler was driving east on the county road and reported he stopped at the state highway intersection to permit northbound traffic to pass. He failed to see the truck driven by the youth, also northbound, and proceeded into the intersection. The youth said he swerved and attempted to brake his truck but was unable to avoid the accident.

Damage to the Ford pickup was estimated at $100 with approximately $100 damage to the Chevrolet.

Mary Wilder Serving Apprenticeship

Mary C. Wilder of near St. Joe recently began duties as an apprentice home demonstration agent at the DeKalb County Extension Office.

Miss Wilder, now a student at Purdue University, was an outstanding 4-H girl in the county before entering the university for study as a home agent. She completed seven years of 4-H work.

Announcement of her appointment to serve during the summer months was made by Mrs. Isabella F. McClellan, home agent. The apprentice agent program is designed for Purdue girls who have had a good 4-H club background and are in their junior or senior college year. These girls work through the summer to become better acquainted with the home demonstration program and to help the home agent with the heavy summer program.

Primary purpose of the program is to give the girls experience in their chosen occupation.

50 years of progress in electric power...

The Symbol of an Age Stands Guard Across America

WHO hasn't seen the high voltage towers, carrying the electric power that means life to the steel mill, assembly line, community and home? These towers are the symbol of an age and their numbers indicate the strength of America.

Fifty years ago, when the American Gas and Electric Company was founded, there were no such towers. America had known of electricity for only a quarter of a century. Methods of producing and delivering it were crude and inefficient, and its uses—even in industry—were limited.

To improve service, increase the supply, and lower the cost (which was four times higher than it is today) this company embarked on a full-scale development and research program. This has resulted in many technological advances in our industry and will continue to do so at an ever increasing rate.

For example, in 1916, as a result of this research, the first 132,000-volt transmission lines in the world were pioneered by our System and became the standard throughout America. Another great stride came in 1953 when the highest voltage lines in the U. S., carrying 330,000 volts, were put into service on our System.

Today, as a company in the seven-state American Gas & Electric System, we are proud of this "50 Years of Progress in Electric Power"—progress that has enabled us to give you better service at lower rates.

Did you read the scientists' report about receiving radio signals from Venus? They have been getting these signals for quite some time. The signals are like static and could be caused by electric disturbances on Venus similar to those that cause our static.

Oh, well, why reach out so far for static when we get so much right here? Even Venus de Milo wouldn't be worth reaching out for if you had to take a lot of static with her!

You have forced us to do it and we are glad! We have added another watchmaker to our force. He's a home town boy, Joe Cattell. Kelley's Island Memento

The trail of the mighty glacier that invaded DeKalb County can never be erased. Everywhere are signs of its passage. When it crossed above the bedrock limestone on Kelley's Island (Ohio) in western Lake Erie, the glacier carved deep grooves in a northeast to southwest direction. A slab exhibitied at the Cranbrook Institute of Science, Bloomfield Hills, Mich., is evidence of the glacier's tremendous weight. The cutting tools were the boulders and rock frogments in the glacial base. This happened about 50,000 years ago during the second invasion. How old are the limestone formations below the glacial soils of DeKalb County? Known as the Devonian and Mississippian, they were laid down between 280 and 350 millioin years ago.

GOD'S AMBASSADOR

Lesson for June 17, 1956

Very few readers of this column have any chance of being appointed as the ambassador of the United States to any important foreign country. It isn't that you are not good enough. You are not rich enough. Ambassadors are expected to live in a high style. (Did you ever inquire what just one pair of striped pants, made to order, would cost you?) They are not expected to live on the salary the United States pays them. They have to live in mansions for which the mere housekeeping bill is enormous, they have to give parties and dinners costing more than you earn in a month.

God's Ill-Housed Ambassador

Strange as it seems, the ambassadors of God are not usually looked after in such sumptuous style. They always have housing, of a sort; but it is seldom palatial. Indeed one of them wrote, "If we have food and clothing, with these we shall be content." Nothing said about housing. One of the very greatest of God's ambassadors to this world suffered from something quite a bit worse than leaky roofs or lack of plumbing. If the Apostle Paul were to visit our town today, even people outside the church would want to have him put up at the best hotel in town, or entertained at the finest homes. Paul sometimes got this sort of treatment, but a great deal of the time, indeed for years on end, he would be actually in jail. Not only that, but he would have to wear chains on his arms and legs as if he were a member of a chain gang. Strange to say, too, this did not make Paul unhappy or bitter. After two solid years of that sort of thing, some men might be willing to quit. But not Paul. Standing before a king, his hands weighted down so that it was hard to move, Paul said, "I would to God you were just as I am—except for these chains." He would not wish his chains on anybody; but otherwise he knew he was better off than a king, for he was still the ambassador of God. There is no higher place.

Spokesman For God

We must not blame God for the poor treatment his ambassadors receive. It is not his fault. But God's men understand this. Paul understood it, and went on speaking for God wherever he was. Some Christians might think that if Providence had dumped them in jail they could be expected to take a vacation from witnessing to their faith. But Paul knew that there never is a real vacation from being a Christian. There have been some peculiar characters appointed as ambassadors now and then by human governments; but no emperor, king or senate ever appointed a dumb man to represent his country. There was a great convention of Christian business men in Louisville, Kentucky, last winter. Three of these men were on their way afterwards to the airport in a taxi. What would you have done in their places? The convention was over, business and families were expecting you home. No time, no place, for Christian work in a taxi, surely? But these men did see it that way. They talked to the driver, found he was not a Christian. Never mind the plane, they said, just drive us to your own home. There they talked with him, prayed with him, and he gave his heart to Christ. They missed the plane, but do you think they regretted it?

The Chains Still Rattle

Actual iron chains do still imprison some of God's people. There are parts of the world where it is almost a crime merely to be a Christian. But even where that is not true, the men and women who represent God have to work against many kinds of handicaps. Sometimes it is only being thought peculiar, or superstitious. Sometimes it is having to work under a government which is unfriendly to religion, as is the case in some mission fields. Sometimes it is some local "industry" which is vicious and powerful and will strike back at any person or group, religious or otherwise, that threatens to cut down their profits. Sometimes these invisible chains muzzle the mouth of a minister whose people will not let him speak up for his own Christian ideals. Well, chains may hold back God's kingdom; but they will never stop it!

The St. Joe News

VOLUME LXXI ST. JOE (DeKalb Co.). IND. Thursday, June 21, 1956 NUMBER 25

Around the Town

With the Editor

Last week the paper reported that Mel Hershberger was home on leave from his stint in the armed forces. But Mel informed me last week that he is out now for good.

That was one error that could have been worse. What if we had said Mel was out of service and he hadn't been discharged. That would have been irritating.

The ambitious young missionary asked his guide to take him to a remote section inhabited by cannibals. Upon meeting the tribe's chief, the missionary told the interpreter: "Ask him if he knows anything about religion."

After a bit of grunting and sign language, the interpreter replied: "He says he got a little taste of it when that other missionary was here."

I made a remark to Don Knop the other day that pretty soon he'd be driving a semi on his dairy route. He's driving the new big refrigerated job now for Holsom. He said, "Yeah, it's pretty nice. When it gets too hot like today, I can just get in the back end and cool off for a while."

Some guys have all the luck.

Ben was having trouble getting up of mornings, so his doctor prescribed some pills. Ben took them, slept well and was awake before he heard the alarm. He took his time getting to work, strolled in and said to the boss: "I didn't have a bit of trouble getting up this morning."

"That's fine," replied Jiggs, "but where were you yesterday?"

Between painting jobs, Elwood Savage manages to get time in on his favorite pastime, fishing. I hadn't known before last week, when he related some fish stories of his luck, how big the big ones in the St. Joe River really are.

He told of the big "cat" he has hooked in the past; then this week he picked up several four or five pounders. The Chapmans had one for supper, I hear.

He has one complaint about his hobby. That's some of the people who spoil it. He, and a few other, boat owners frequently find their craft swiped and left up the river. Elwood purchased a new set of oars recently to replace a stolen set. And he has lost several minnow bucket screens via the same route. "I even left a few minnows in the bucket down at the river in case somebody wanted to do a little fishing. It makes you feel kinda funny when they use the minnow and take the bucket, too."

. . . . Give 'em an inch . . .

Finding that mastadon skeleton is rather timely, isn't it, right at the time when this paper and several others are running an educational series on DeKalb County's background.

Find Skeleton Of Mastadon 9,000 Years Old

A ditching contractor working on a drain on the Howard S. Grimm, Sr., farm east of Auburn uncovered Thursday the fossil remains of a giant and apparently prehistoric animal believed to be a mastodon.

The near-perfect remains were uncovered at the Grimm farm five miles east and a mile north of Auburn by Arthur Yarde as he was constructing a drain through a section of muck soil on the farm.

The Chicago Museum of Natural History, informed of the discovery late Thursday, had planned to send a team of experts to the scene Friday. Later plans revealed that a team of experts will not arrive until next week.

Parts of the skeleton already uncovered include the pelvic structure which measures 69 inches across and weighs approximately 100 pounds. The huge skull of the animal also was excavated. It is an estimated four feet across and the jaws contain seven teeth on each side of the lower jaws and six on the upper jaws. The teeth, hard enamel in near perfect condition, measure more than three inches across and approximately the same in depth.

The rib bones are an estimated five feet in length. The vertebrae sections are more than six inches in diameter.

The tusks of the animal are an estimated 10 feet long.

The position in which the animal was found and the soil in which it was buried would indicate that the animal floundered while walking on thin ice during the Wisconsin glacial age.

Descriptions of the animal show it definitely was an American mastadon of rare specie.

Finding of the rare elephant-like mastadon of very recent origin — approximately 9,000 years—marks an important discovery, particularly because of the finding of the complete skeleton.

Two Die From Explosion Injuries

Double funeral services were held Monday in Garrett for Benjamin L. King, 66, of near Garrett and his granddaughter, Diana Lee Cracraft, 10, who resided with her grandparents. Mr. King died Saturday and the little girl on Sunday from injuries suffered in an explosion in the King home southwest of Garrett.

The girl was the daughter of Mrs. Virgil Furnish of St. Joe and Henry Cracraft, address unknown.

The fatal explosion occurred Friday noon when Mr. King struck a match in the gas-filled basement of his home as he sought to detect the cause of the odor. Mrs. King reported that she noticed the odor of escaping gas Friday morning and went to the basement to investigate. She said she attempted to turn off the gas on the water heater but apparently did not completely close the unit.

Shortly after noon Friday the family again detected the odor and Mr. King, accompanied by his granddaughter, went to the basement. According to Mrs. King, her husband struck a match. The resulting blast in the gas-filled basement touched off flames that engulfed the farmer and his granddaughter.

The explosion blew off the kitchen door and wrecked the interior of the basement and a part of the house.

Mr. King grabbed his granddaughter and carried her to the kitchen. Mrs. King said the child's clothing and that of her husband were flaming. Mrs. King tore the remaining burning clothing from the child and from her husband, then summoned Garrett firemen.

Mr. King suffered third degree burns. His granddaughter suffered second and third degree burns over about 75 per cent of her body. Doctors said that she probably would have been blind if she had lived.

Mrs. King's hair face and arms were singed by the flames but she did not require medical attention.

Surviving the girl girl are her parents, grandmother and a half brother, Virgil E. Furnish, of St. Joe.

Community Has Two New Business Firms

The roster of business establishments in the St. Joe-Spencerville area is in the process of being increased in number by two. One business is now in operation, the other will be in a matter of a few weeks.

Jack Haas of Spencerville is now operating "Jack's Grocery" in that community and has been since opening for business a few weeks ago. The store is located in the building owned by Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Conley. Mr. Haas has leased the portion of the building formerly operated as a grocery by the Conleys but later used for their appliance and hardware business. The Conleys continue to operate their appliance and hardware in part of the same building.

Mr. Haas was employed in Fort Wayne before going in business for himself. He served with the U. S. Army previously and was discharged in June of 1955.

The second business will be placed in operation around August 1, according to plans revealed by Roger Laub of Butler. Construction is now underway at the west end of St. Joe of a service station to be leased by Mr. Laub, area agent for the Socony Mobil Oil Company. Tentative plans call for a seven-day per week operation on a "super-service" basis. The new station will contain two car stalls for service and maintenance work. A complete concrete driveway will be poured soon at the new station site for a two-pump installation.

The August 1 date is tentative, pending completion of the station and the leasing of the business.

The Indiana Story No. 9

Great Ice Dams

Do you know that our streams, as well as our lakes, large and small in northeastern Indiana, are nearly all a result of the Ice Age changes? Before the time of the glaciers the Great Lakes were mere river valleys ,with bedrock of soft shale. In these basins the ice moved more rapidly, gouging and deepening and widening them. Of course, the north-flowing streams which met the glacier were dammed by the ice. Do you know that a pre-glacial river headed eastward from DeKalb and Steuben counties? Where did it end? This buried valley of a million years ago is depicted on a map included in Geological Survey Circular No. 1, published in 1952 by the Indiana Department of Conservation. Consider, also, the mighty Teays (Taze) River, a lost "father of waters."

The boys and girls at the meeting were given numbered tickets for rides on their four-legged friends.

Short skits were given by the dens under the direction of den mothers Charlotte Hudson, Josephine Crowl, Esther Haberkorn, Virginia Laux and Fern Carr.

The planning committee announced that the July pack meeting will be held on Sunday, July 15, as an afternoon and evening picnic for the cub scout families. It is planned to hold the meeting at a nearby lake. The exact location has not as yet been determined.

FORD sets 500-mile record at Indianapolis Speedway

Again proves nobody outperforms Ford

. . . dramatic demonstration of the kind of performance and roadability that makes all your driving more fun in a Ford!

Ford's record was timed and certified by the United States Auto Club

A Ford V-8 hurtled across the brick and asphalt surface of tough and testing Indianapolis Speedway . . . whirling through the tight turns and flashing over the straight stretches . . . to set a mark that no stock car ever reached before!

Previous to Ford's record run, no other stock car had gone even one lap at Indianapolis at 100 m.p.h., but one of Ford's laps was timed at the electrifying speed of 113.7 m.p.h.! And Ford averaged over 107 m.p.h. for the full five hundred miles . . . close to the average set by the extremely costly, specially-built racer which won the Memorial Day "500"!

Ford fully realizes that the welter of claims and counter claims about "racing victories" (many of them completely contradictory) must be confusing and disillusioning to the public. Ford ran this race against time, over the true "Classic" distance and at the most famous track in America, in order to dispel this cloud of doubt and disbelief and prove that no one outperforms Ford!

Peter de Paolo, leader of the team of drivers that piloted the winning Ford, states flatly: "No other stock car could have equalled this performance!" And Pete de Paolo should know, for he was the first driver to win the "500" Classic with a better than 100 m.p.h. average. And now he comes back with a group of drivers to establish a stock car record with the great '56 Ford!

Ford wrote this new mark large and bold in the record books. And the whole Ford did the trick. From the hood-full of throbbing horsepower to the road-hugging rear end, Ford demonstrated that it has what it takes to make your driving more enjoyable. Convince yourself that driving a Ford can be real fun. Test drive a '56 Ford. There's a set of keys waiting for you, so come in and see us soon.

This choice bit is from Anne Lindbergh's "Gift From the Sea." "Actually these are among the most important times in one's life — when one is alone. Certain springs are tapped only when we are alone. The artist knows he must be alone to create; the writer, to work out his thoughts; the musician, to compose; the saint, to pray."

Keen, isn't it?

The following is written mostly for our out of town readers. However, you local folks can read it, too; then you'll understand how we are trying to be a good neighbor to all of the people in the surrounding area.

We know that many of you folk come to Garrett without the need for anything in our line of merchandise or service. You may only want to use a telephone. Ours is at your disposal. Or do you want to know where some one lives, where the various doctors' offices are, where there is a good eating place, where the post office is, where the various churches are.

That ought to be enough suggestions to let you know that Ort's Stores are at your service. Come in!

50 years of progress in electric power...

How modern power plants helped reduce the cost of electricity

IN 1906, when the American Gas and Electric Company was founded, power plants were small and inefficient, and production of electricity was very expensive. For example, it required 5.4 pounds of coal to generate one kilowatthour.

For the past 50 years, the American Gas and Electric System—of which we are a part—has pioneered in the development of more efficient generating facilities. Indicative of the progress that has been made is the fact that four of the AGE System's 12 major power plants today are among the top seven most efficient generating stations in the world, and for five of the past six years an AGE System plant has been *first. And the best of these plants can produce a kilowatthour from less than ¾ of a pound of coal.

What's more, larger and more efficient plants are being built and still others are on the drawing boards.

The AGE System uses more than 10,000,000 tons of coal a year to produce more electricity than any other investor-owned power company in the world. Generating this much electric power as efficiently and economically as possible has helped to lower the cost of electricity to less than ¼ its 1906 level. This is just one result of "50 Years of Progress in Electric Power."

*Efficiency is a measurement of a power plant's performance and is based on the amount of heat, coming from the fuel burned, used to generate 1 kilowatthour of electricity.

WIDENING CIRCLES

Lesson for June 24, 1956

The doctor who wrote what we call the book of Acts must have known that his story was not the whole story. He throws his spotlight first on one leader, then on another; occasionally on a whole church. During more than half his book he follows one man, Paul. Luke could not have supposed—for his friend Paul would not have let him make such a mistake—that the story of Paul was the whole story of the church. But he knew that it is men who make history. Paul was both outstanding and typical. He was outstanding in that there is no record in the New Testament of any leader as great as he. He was typical in that for him as for others, Christianity is not a quiet stand-still religion; it must move.

Pioneers

In the book of Acts the reader sees Christianity moving always in one direction: west. It has been going west ever since. But there were already pioneers in other directions. To the north went missionaries into the countries now known as France, Holland, Scandinavia, Great Britain. To the south went the pioneer Christians who founded the churches along the southern side of the Mediterranean and even penetrated up the Nile. To the east went pioneers who brought the Gospel to what is now Iraq. It was not long before there were Christians as far away as India. The Book of Acts closes with Paul in the world-capital of Rome. But the story of the Acts of the Holy Spirit through the Christian church is still being told. It is an unfinished story. It will always be an unfinished story so long as there are persons yet to be won. Life Magazine carried a story about the martyrdom of some young missionaries to the Aucas, a tribe of Indians in darkest Ecuador. It is safe to say that most of the readers of Life had not heard of the Aucas before. Indeed most Amrican church members had never heard of them. But the point is, some Christians had, and to hear was to want to go and tell them the story of Jesus. Now there are five dead missionaires, and five widows . . . but it is safe to predict that some of these will go back, and others will follow, and one day it will be as safe to live among the Auca as it is on your own street. You cannot stop the pioneers.

A World Religion

Why has the Bible been translated into so many hundreds of languages? Not for fun. They don't first translate the Bible into (say) Mayan, and then start looking for some Mayans to try it on. It is the other way around. First some missionaries go to the Mayans, and they win some to Christ. And then both the missionaires and the new Christians want a Bible in the language of the land, so some one starts to translate it into Mayan, and after some years of hard work there appears a Mayan New Testament. Some day the Old will appear, too. Every translation of the Bible is evidence that missionaries have been at work. If the Christian religion had stayed where it started (it would have died, but let's suppose it lived) there would be no English Bibles, no Latin, no French, only some obscure dialect of Hebrew. The existence of Bibles in English points to the work of missionaries centuries ago who brought not only culture but religion to our wild ancestors.

Miles Are Made of Yards

We talk about the spread of Christianity, and indeed it has spread around the world. But it never spreads any farther at one time than from one person to one person. Drop a stone into a pond and presently the ripples reach every shore. But the first ripple is hardly bigger than the stone, Every road, no matter how long, made up of very short stretches. Every mile is made up of yards, yards are made of inches. You can't cover ten thousand miles without covering every inch of all that distance. A plain church member calling on a neighbor and saying a good word for Jesus Christ may not feel like a "world Christian"; but that is what he is. If the world is ever won for Christ it must be man by man. No less a person than Billy Graham has said that the most effective kind of evangelism in the world is visitation evangelism: one plus one plus one.

The new Bel Air Convertible—one of 20 sassy-styled new Chevrolets.

Want to take the wheel of one of America's few great road cars? Want to send pleasant little tingles up and down your spine? Then hustle on in and try out a new Chevrolet V8!

Now showing—the happiest "double feature" of the year! One part is bold, new Motoramic styling. The other is record-breaking V8 action.

Hollywood has a heap of words that describe it: colossal, stupendous, magnificent. We'll settle for just the name—Chevrolet.

Because once you've driven this sweet-handling showboat, the adjectives will take care of themselves. Horsepower that ranges up to 225 makes hills flatter and saves precious seconds for safer passing. And the way this Chevrolet wheels around tight turns would gladden the heart of a dyed-in-the-wool sports car fan.

Stop in sometime soon and highway-test this new Chevrolet.

Around the Town

With the Editor

Never underestimate the power of the press.

—Or maybe it's just coincidence. But Elwood Savage reported Monday that his minnow screen had been returned since that little item here last week. And in the last week Glen Kinsey reported that his wheelbarrow is back home again.

Forrest Brattain is still hobbling around on a game ankle. He hopped out of a truck at Spencerville a few weeks ago and landed on a pipe, turning the ankle and tearing the ligaments loose. Frosty said the ankle was weak anyhow and gave him trouble before even in walking over small stones and pebbles.

This year really seems to be the one for fishermen, at least thus far in the fishing season. Besides the previously mentioned luck of Mr. Savage in the river waters, some of the vacationers from this area report catching all they wanted. The Yeisers went angling Sunday and had good luck and Ed Storer said Monday, "I never saw such fishing." I took it to mean good fishing, although that remark could be taken another way. Tom Badman was up in Michigan for a week and pulled 'em in repeatedly. He said he saw rock bass (caught by other fishermen) "that long", with hands held about sixteen inches apart. And the Stemens had their difficulties with Fred having a time getting Elizabeth to call it quits. He said they were biting so good she didn't want to quit. They finally had to sort out the smaller ones and throw them back in as the fish kept biting and biting and biting.

This was sent out over the wires of the United Press recently under the heading, "Surprise For Supper."

"Chicago (UP) - Mrs. Jo Ann Peretti, a 23 year old practical nurse, served her husband's evening coffee and then announced a 'surprise'. An hour before, she said, she had given birth to a boy. There was no time to call a doctor, so she delivered the baby herself."

Now there, ladies, is a new way to surprise the old man.

The Fourth Of July

Next Wednesday is the Fourth of July. "Fourth of July" brings memories of fireworks and noisy observances of the national holiday. These memories are a thing of the past now for the dangers accompanying the use of fireworks were eventually recognized as being too great in relation to the useful purpose they may have served. There are those memories, though, which should never become a thing of the past because they are the memories which perpetuate the observance of such an historic date in American history. These are not memories of personal experience, for the date July 4, 1776, is long past. They are memories gained from the knowledge of the experiences of others who made it possible for those of us in the United States today to enjoy so many advantages that have come from man's assertion of freedom as contained in the Declaration of Independence.

Too often today the Fourth of July, along with other national holidays, are becoming just that, national holidays. The significance is lost as we seek to use these important dates more for personal comfort and enjoyment only, rather than for a rededication to those ideas which were the causes for making certain dates so important.

That this Fourth of July may not pass unheeded as to its significance in American history, the text of The Declaration of Independence is presented herewith for our readers. We suggest that careful scrutiny of the thoughts contained in its words will reveal that much of our national turmoil is present now because we have NOT rededicated ourselves on past Fourth of July observances to principles which gave this nation its beginning.

DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

In Congress, July 4, 1776

The Unanimous Declaration of the Thirteen United States of America

When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume, among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident: That all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. That, to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; that, whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or abolish it, and to institute new government, laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shown that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing envariably the same object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such goverment, and to provide new guards for their future security. Such has been the patient sufferance of these colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former systems of government. The history of the present King of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute tyranny over these states. To prove this, let facts be submitted to a candid world.

He has refused his assent to laws the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

He has forbidden his governors to pass laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his assent should be obtained; and, when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of representation in the legislature,—a right inestimable to them, and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, incomfortable, and distant from the depository of their public records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved representative houses repeatedly, for opposing, with manly firmness, his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused, for a long time after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected, whereby the legislative powers, incapable of annihilation, have returned to the people at large for their exercise; the state remaining, in the meantime, exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without and convulsions within.

He has endeavored to prevent the population of these states; for that purpose obstructing the laws for naturalization of foreigners, refusing to pass others to encourage their migration hither, and raising the conditions of new appropriations of lands.

He has obstructed the administration of justice, by refusing his assent to laws for establishing judiciary powers.

He has made judges dependent on his will alone for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of new offices and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us in times of peace, standing armies, without the consent of our legislatures.

He has affected to render the military independent of, and superior to, the civil power.

He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution and unacknowledged by our laws, giving his assent to their acts of pretended legislation:

For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us;

For protecting them, by a mock trial, from punishment for any murders which they should commit on the inhabitants of these states;

For cutting off our trade with all parts of the world;

For imposing taxes on us without our consent;

For depriving us, in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury;

For transporting us beyond seas, to be tried for pretended offenses;

For abolishing the free system of English laws in a neighboring province, establishing therein an arbitrary government, and enlarging its boundaries, so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these colonies;

For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering, fundamentaly, the forms of our governments;

For suspending our own legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated government here, by declaring us out of his protection and waging war against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our coasts, burned our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is at this time transporting large armies of foreign mercenaries to complete the works of death, desolation, and tyranny already begun with circumstances of cruelty and perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow-citizens, taken captive on the high seas, to bear arms against their country, to become the executioners of their friends and brethren, or to fall themselves by their hands.

He has excited domestic insurrection among us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers the merciless Indian savages, whose known rule of warfare is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes, and conditions.

In every stage om these oppressions we have petitioned for redress in the most humble terms; our repeated petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A prince whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a tyrant is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.

Nor have we been wanting in our attentions to our British brethren. We have warned them, from time to time, of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity; and we have conjured them, by the ties of our common kindred, to disavow these usurpations, which would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They, too, have been deaf to the voice of justice and consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity which denounces our separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, enemies in war, in peace, friends.

We, therefore, the representatives of the United States of America, in General Congress assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the name and by the authority of the good people of these colonies, solemnly publish and declare, That these united colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent states; that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown, and that all political connection between them and the state of Great Britain is, and ought to be, totally dissolved; and that, as free and independent states, they have full power to levy war, conclude peace, contract alliances, establish commerce, and to do all other acts and things which independent states may of right do. And, for the support of this declaration with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor.

Auxiliary Water Supply

A few weeks ago local water users were inconvenienced for a day or two by a breakdown in the system which supplies water for the residents of St. Joe. It was necessary to send out a warning on the spur of the moment to every home in St. Joe to keep the use of water to a minimum until the situation was corrected.

It is thought by some that a standby water supply in the form of an auxiliary well should be provided so that such a loss of water service might not happen again. However, it is not just the use of water in the home that is affected, it is the possible need of he water system in case of a fire in the limits of the town. So the installation of an auxiliary system would fill the needs of sanitation and safety.

The installation would be provided for by an appropriation in the town budget. It would be well for townspeople to think about the problem and voice their opinions to the town board and the town clerk. Attendance at the next board meeting for further discussion would also be helpful.

CITIZENS GO TO SLEEP

There are three very real factors challenging the very existence of our great American system with its freedoms, its incentives for individual advancement, its unmatched living standard, and its constant dynamic surge of progress. They are (1) the natural lethargy of human nature, (2) a powerful, well-directed, world-wide Communist conspiracy to dominate the world, and (3) a powerful, well-financed effort to undermine the foundations of our freedom through infiltration of every segment and function of our American society.

The fact that lethargy is a human characteristic is found throughout the history of the human race. At no spot on the earth's surface has good government or a good economic structure been preserved for very many generations, through all human history. Greece lost her Democracy, Rome lost her Republic. The fall of these two world leaders of their day, one after the other, didn't come because either of them had fulfilled her mission. In each instance the fall came because human lethargy in time replaced the citizenship interest which had created a new kind, and better government than had existed in the past.

Rome's fall ushered in the period known in history as the Dark Ages and the human race stagnated for nearly a thousand years. When we examine history we find the rise and fall of 19 different civilizations; and in each instance where the citizenry itself had a part in creating the mode of life, the apathy of the citizens led finally to the fall.

We in America are now six generations from George Washington and Patrick Henry, both of whom represented the height of citizen interest in a government providing individual freedom. Through the years we have lost much of our love of freedom. We are affected with much complacency. We are trusting that our children will just catch Americanism like they catch the mumps and the measles. We're moving gradually toward bigger and bigger government with more and more dependence on central government.

Government is already the biggest economic factor in our lives. The Federal Government, to which our local governments are more and more giving up responsibilities and powers, takes in and spends about one-fourth of all the money in circulation, one-fourth of all the wealth produced. The Federal Government is the biggest lender in America. We have private banks that have loaned throughout the history of our nation and these banks have played no small part in the development of our economy. But today the big lender is the Federal Government.

The Federal Government, of course, is greatly in debt. And yet Uncle Sam is lending money at a lower rate of interest in some cases than he borrows it. Yes, actually the Government is borrowing money at three per cent, in some cases, and turning around and lending it at two per cent. It's costing taxpayers generally 200 million dollars a year to make up the difference and pay for the administration.

Still another factor in the big government lending agencies is the factor of politics, mismanagement and graft. Only a deep-seated citizen apathy would have condoned the gross incidents of graft which occurred, for instance, in the RFC from 1945 to 1950 as exposed by a sub-committee of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee in the latter half of 1950. Millions upon millions were loaned to questionable enterprises through the influence of political hacks. Millions of taxpayers money were squandered. This kind of operation is characteristic of government which has become too big.

Personal freedoms are being restricted in proportion to the growth of big government. It is a simple equation: what power the government has it must, of course, take from the people. What money it has must come from the people. When the Federal Government takes over a new responsibility —whatever it may be—people must give up that responsibility. And when they give up a responsibility and become dependent upon the government for that particular thing, they lose independence, freedom.

Yes, apathy, human lehtargy is one of the great threats to all we hold dear in America. Is your interest in freedom active?

—Dr. George S. Benson, Director, National Education Program, Searcy, Arkansas.

THE FEDERAL INCOME TAX

"Let's get rid of the income tax!" That has been said by many a beleaguered citizen, after sweating his way through the tax forms and dredging deep to find the money to pay the bill. Usually it is amplified with unprintable adjectives.

But now that has been said, in all seriousness, by a top authority, T. Coleman Andrews, the former Commissioner of Internal Revenue. It is the title to a strong article which Mr. Andrews recently contributed to The American Weekly.

Mr. Andrews denounces the income tax, as it is now constituted, on just about every conceivable ground. Here, in summary, are some of the things he has to say.

The tax amounts to legalized confiscation. It begins at 20 per cent and goes up to 91 per cent. A man with a $40,000 income pays 47 times more tax than the man with a $10,000 income. And people receiving income from dividends get even a worse deal - the corporation tax takes about half of corporation profits before they are divided among the shareholders, where they are taxed again. Mr. Andrews says: "We have failed to realize, it seems to me, that through our tax system we have been playing right into the hands of the Marxists, who gleefully hail the income tax as the one sure instrument that will bring capitalism to its knees."

The tax is too complicated. Comparativey few people can accurately figure their tax without help. In this connection, it is significant that members of Congress commonly call on Revenue Service experts to prepare their returns.

Few people, if any, really understand the tax. As an example, 20 months after the Income Tax Code of 1954 became law, the official Treasury Department interpretations had not been issued. The difficulty lies in trying to figure out what Congress meant in wording the law, and then trying to plainly express Congress' intentions.

It costs the government too much to collect. Mr. Andrews has high praise for Internal Revenue Service personnel. But even the 50,000-plus people in the Service cannot assure adequate enforcement. It also costs the taxpayers too much. Huge sums of money go to lawyers and accountants to fill out and to defend tax returns.

It is unstable. As Mr. Andrews puts it: "Being based upon income, it's a low producer in slack times and a high producer in good times. Thus, theoretically, rates must be raised when people are least able to pay, and they may be lowered when everybody is most able to pay."

It is destroying the middle class. This is among Mr. Andrews' most serious indictments: ". . . the middle class is being taxed out of existence and the nation, thereby, is being robbed of its surest guarantee of continued sound economic development and growth and its staunchest bulwark against the ascendancy of socialism."

Mr. Andrews proposes the appointment of a Hoover-Commission type group to completely study the income tax and the whole tax system. Then a program can be adopted, he believes, for starting afresh. And time's a-wasting!

This article is written in the cool Statler Hotel in Wasington.

This afternoon I spent six hours in the gallery of the greatest deliberative body in the world—the Senate of the United States. I was there from the beginning of the session and hear the prayer of the Senate chaplain.

With such a beginning and with such great men in the body we cannot but get the finest laws possible for all our people.

With our nation's birthday coming up soon, I thought that this, "The American's Creed," by William Tyler Page, would be quite appropriate for these days.

"I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many sovereign states; a perfect union, one and inseparable; established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

"I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it; to support its constitution; to obey its laws; to respect its flag; and to defend it against all enemies."

—William Tyler Page.

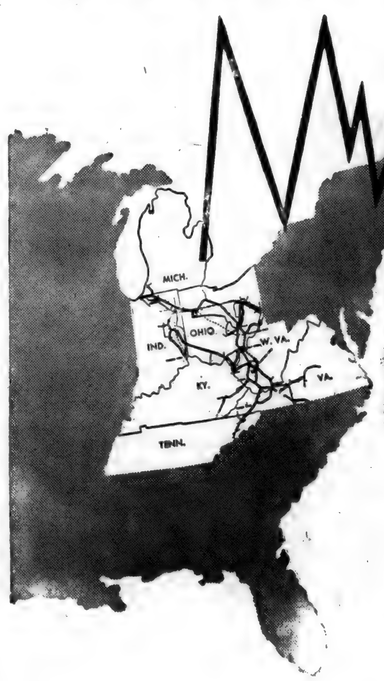
50 Years of Progress in Electric Power...



He listens in on seven states to save you money

It's cloudy in Michigan, but down in Kentucky the sun is shining. A major manufacturer in Tennessee has shut down for annual vacation, but production is round-the-clock in a big West Virginia Chemical plant. And in Indiana, a big generating unit in a power plant is out of service for maintenance. Reports like these come in 24 hours a day to this man in the Columbus, Ohio, load and generation coordinating center of the six-company American Gas and Electric System of which we are a part.

It's his job to determine, and quickly, how much electricity each AGE System power plant should generate for every condition of demand and then route this power the most economical way over the seven-state network of high-voltage transmission lines that link these plants with each other and the communities they serve. This integrated system, can thus deliver an uninterrupted flow of electricity to almost 5,000,000 people at the lowest possible cost.

Fifty years ago, when the American Gas and Electric Company was founded, there were no integrated power systems. Towns that had electricity got it from their own small, inefficient plants. Breakdowns, which were frequent, meant no electric service until repairs could be made. Yet, this unreliable service cost 4 times more than today's dependable service.

The integrated system is just one of the many technological advances that have resulted from a continuous research and development program. Our "50 Years of Progress in Electric Power"—has enabled us to give you better service at lower rates.

THE BIBLE SPEAK

International Uniform Sunday-School Lessons

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Background Scripture: Luke 9:28-36; Hebrews 13:9, 18-25; I Peter 1:1-2; 2:19-25; 2 Peter 1:-1-2, 15-18; Jude, verses 3, 17-25.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 20.

NINE LETTERS

Lesson for July 1, 1956

Thousands of Sunday schools for the next three months are going to be studying nine short but immortal letters. These letters are the forgotten parts of the New Testament, for many people. Out of the 27 "books" of the New Testament, all but five are letters. These nine—from Hebrews to Revelation inclusive—make up about 50 pages or one-sixth of the whole Testament. It would be worth the reader's while to make a special study of these letters this summer. Perhaps all the teachers in a Sunday school could chip in and buy a commentary or two.

Letters From . . .

No two people write quite alike. All letters bear the mark of their writers even when they are unsigned. So it is with these nine. Some of them are signed, some are not. But the writers can be told apart without any trouble. If Hebrews and James were printed together without a break, a high school student should be able to notice the difference between them. The writer of the first letter is plainly a highly educated man, a man who is keenly interested in ritual and in the history of the Hebrew people. The writer of the second is less highly educated, but a more practical man all around. Not that his advice is any better, but he loses no time getting down to particular problems. The first man is greatly interested in theology, the second is so little interested in it that his letter has worried some people like Luther, for example, who wondered whether it really belonged in the New Testament. Or again, comparing Hebrews with the letters of Paul, the reader can see why scholars are for the most part quite certain that Paul never wrote this one. It is obviously written by a different kind of man—one who used a different vocabulary, went at problems differently, constructed a letter differently, quoted the Old Testament in a different way; indeed while all of Paul's letters are carefully signed, Hebrews is not signed at all . . So one may go through the rest of these letters seeing the writers through what they wrote.

Letters To . . .

Letters vary acocrding to the persons to whom they are written. A woman writing to her mother, her husband, the tax collector and her boy at school will write four different kinds of letters. So these nine letters were written to different kinds of people. To be sure, some of them were sent to a pretty wide circle of readers (Peter for instance), but even so, that wide circle had something in common: in this case, suffering and persecution. Is it too much to suggest that the Christians John has in his mind's eye as he writes his letter are much more mature than the Christians to whom James writes his plain advice? Now the interesting thing is that the various kinds of Christians to whom these letters were addressed are matched by Christian types today. That is why one Christian will sometimes get more out of one part of the New Testament, while another Christian finds more meat in another part. And yet for all the differences there are some important likenesses, and the noticing reader will find them.

Letters About . . .

Few if any of these letters, or any others in the New Testament, are about "things in general." They usually speak to some particular problem, situation or trouble. The New Testament does not consist of a series of theological essays neatly arranged by topics. Rather, it consists of fairly short letters speaking to certain specific problems that had been distressing the readers. Some of these problems emerged in more places than one at the same time, just as happens today. In the short passages selected for special study in most quarterlies, two problems are highlighted, as the reader will find: false teachings, and persecution. In these times in which we live, with half the world in a ferment against Christianity, and even in the "Christian" part of the world a bewildering jangle and wrangle of sects and "isms" soap-boxing all over the place—the Christian church threatened by enemies without and "crackpots" oftentimes within—who can call the New Testament's themes out of date?

Around the Town

With the Editor

Old Barber Tom has been a-fussin' now and then here lately about business being a little slack. But last Saturday evening he got his.

I wandered over to the shop at about 7:20 p.m. having forgotten that he probably was getting close the the leaving point (we had a pretty good ball game going on in the back yard). But I went over anyhow just in case there was a chance. Tom had one in the chair and Andy Monroe waiting his turn. Harold Yeiser was there, too, but just for shootin' the breeze. When I came in, Tom looked at the clock, then at Andy and said, "Well, there you are." It turned out that Andy had been commissioned to throw out the next customer who came in—it was past 7:00 p.m. quitting time. But Andy was tired and let me be. I said I'd come back "next week" but Tom said, "Sit down, I'm in no hurry."

So down I sat and things were going along pretty evenly with Andy now up in the chair and just yours truly keeping Tom from closing the door to head for home—and supper.

—When what happens but - bing, bing, bing, bing — four customers come in just as close together as you could get them. . . Aaron Holman and son and two other men I didn't recognize. Well, old Tom was so flabbergasted he ALMOST was at a loss for words.

—That was probably the latest supper he's had for a while —if he got one.

During the preliminary time to the above episode, Harold Yeiser said Kathy had won a fourth place rating in baton twirling during the week. She had previously indicated that she was going to drop out of the twirling class. But now that that fourth place has popped up, she is going to continue and go back next year for another ribbon.

Cathy's just exercising a woman's prerogative — that of changing her mind.

Say, I like the way the folks from Newville and Mt. Pleasant show up for their church team games and give the boys moral support. They've really got the enthusiasm. Last Monday night it sounded like Cleveland playing the Yankees here in St. Joe instead of our little ol' church league, what with all the vim, vigor and vitality exhibited. There seems to be a little more interest in the league in the last couple of weeks than previously, but still could be lots more, generally speaking. It's sort of discouraging, for instance, to see a couple of hard-working and eager young men like Jack Haas and his partner, "Yogi" Speaks, having trouble getting nine players for their games.

50 Years of Progress in Electric Power

Electricity costs ¼ as much today

In 1906, when the American Gas and Electric Company was founded, electric power was expensive to produce and deliver... and the cost to the average residential consumer was over 10¢ a kilowatthour.

Today, the cost to the average residential customer served by the six-company American Gas and Electric System is less than a quarter of what it was fifty years ago... or less than 2¼¢ a kilowatthour.

Yet this tremendous reduction was achieved in an era when the cost of practically everything has skyrocketed.

As a result of its continuous research and development program the System today has in service the most modern and efficient power plants and transmission lines available. They make available an abundant supply of low-cost power to every home, farm, factory and store in a seven-state area.

More efficient methods of producing and delivering electricity, together with its greater usage by everyone, have resulted in lowering the cost by more than 75%. This is an example of "50 Years of Progress in Electric Power."

Since my muse is not on the job today here is a gem for you from an unfailing source. 1. The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want. 2. He maketh me to lie down in green pastures; he leadeth me beside the still waters. 3. He restoreth my soul; he leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake. 4. Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil; for thou are with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me. 5. Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies; thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over. 6. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life; and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever. The 23rd Psalm.

Brass Tacks - 1st In A Series

One of the quickest ways to get into an argument, or maybe even a fight, is to imply that certain acting or thinking is "un-American" or "un-patriotic." It's just as easy to become involved in a discussion regarding "un-Christian"-like conduct. That is because both are so closely related and because both are a matter of individual interpretation, to some extent. One person may accept certain things as being within the concept of "American principle" or "Christian principle" and the next person may not. It is not easy to say that one is right and the other is not because there are so many ways to interpret what we call "principles" - at least some people think so. There are many phases of American life today which are seemingly of great benefit to the individual. But a strict interpretation of "principle" will show that there are, indeed, many ways in which millions of Americans are both un-patriotic and un-Christian.

It's impossible to be a perfect American, just as it's impossible to be a perfect Christian. But the challenge of the American life is to TRY to the best of one's ability to be a perfect American. It would be much better if we were to try, first, to be a perfect Christian, for in so doing we would be accomplishing the former. But despite our standing (or our own opinion of ourselves) as a "Christian" nation, there are those citizens who put the worldly considerations before the spiritual. Therefore, it becomes even more difficult to accomplish the spiritual goal because materialism is given preference.

No matter how much importance we may place on principles, no good is accomplished unless the question is asked, "How does this apply to me." No advancement is made in principle if we only listen to orators speak of "protecting our American heritage" and "protecting the rights of free men" if we don't ask that question - "How does this apply to me - how am I protecting my American heritage - how am I protecting the rights of free men." And the only way to answer the question - or the questions - is to put it in terms of today's living, apply it to everything we do.

Every so often we have read in the past of our country being referred to as a decadent democracy. When we see this and think of the high standard of living we enjoy in comparison with the remainder of the world, of the clothes, cars, food, recreation, etc., that is now associated with the American way of life, we think, "What a laugh, us a decadent democracy!" Yet just last week a photograph was seen in the daily newspapers of two steelworkers holding up their "last paychecks" and laughing at the prospect of being out of a job. The two men in the picture are not the only ones who lightheartedly are going through the steel strike. Those two laughing men represent an attitude prevalent in this country today accepting little or no responsibility for the preservation of what we call the American heritage. They represent today's America, born in a land of plenty, which how has replaced one attitude - "I can never repay my debt to my God and my country for the privilege of living in this land of freedom, but I will try" - with another - "I was born in this country, I've got it coming. Why shouldn't I have more money, more clothes, more of everything I want when I want it?"

It's dificult to say "no thank you" when someone says "I'll get you more", but that is what we must do. It isn't just steelworkers, who are now striking, who have the responsibility alone of saying "no thank you". But the responsibility is theirs at the moment. It will pass to others at other moments in the future. And it isn't just a matter of money, for the demand for money and benefits are made not by the workers directly but by the men who represent them, the leaders of the present day union organizations. A greater responsibility lays upon them for the power the union holds over this country today can determine how "American" in principle we remain.

Criticizing the worker's so-called right to strike will bring on comments justifying that right. And in the conditions which forced labor to organize it must be recognized that protecting the worker may reach the point of work stoppages. But upon looking at the plight of labor today, it would take a far-fetched interpretation of the word "abuse" to justify shutting off the production of one industry during contract negotiations just because a contract has expired and it is time to sign a new one - seeking more money, etc. It is true that a worker has certain rights, but it is also true that that worker has certain responsibilities toward other workers. And when his work stoppage jeopardizes the income of another, the limit of "rights" has been passed, particularly when the striking worker can hold up his "last paycheck" and laugh.

—Decadent democracy? ? ?

All of the above is actually just a "skirting around" the real issue. The real issue, in plain words, is - are labor unions today un-American and un-Christian? Do they strengthen their member's position as an individual or make him a part of a group? Do they place emphasis on moral responsibilities and rewarding compensation or on rights to greater material possessions?

The answers given by a Christian nation must be determined by Christian principles. There can be no expedient exception. And if the answers indicate a lack of Christianity, they will also indicate a lack of Americanism.

LESSON FROM ENGLAND

Some of the clearest, most efective writings on the danger of expanding government power has come out of England in the last 10 years, as political control over this once great nation has seesawed from the Conservative Party to the Labor-Socialist Party and back again to a Conservative Party which might well now be labeled, "Conservative Socialist Party", since it is passively operating a nation that is pretty well socialized.

Some of the most powerful indictments of Socialism have come from writers such as Alfred Edwards and Ivor Thomas, both Labor-Socialist members of Parliament at the time the Socialists took over. As Labor-Socialist leaders they saw what State (or Government) control over the economic system did to the individual freedom and initiative of the people, and they loudly called for a "halt!" But their Party ran roughshod over them and continued to make the State the lord over all economic life in Britain.

L927

Ivor Thomas wrote a book which was powerful in its story of awakening. It was entitled, "The Socialist Tragedy" (published in America by The MacMillan Company). But alas, although the so-called Conservative Party is back in control in England, the Socialist "tragedy" continues to run its course. Anthony LeJeune, member of a little band of Englishmen calling themselves "The Society for Individual Freedom," has written an article in the Society's quarterly magazine, "Freedom First," published in London. The article entitled: "The Suffocation of Freedom."

"Individual freedom can be killed as effectively by economic suffocation as it can by the interdicts of a police state," LeJenue observes. "The combined effects of inflation, confiscatory taxes and ubiquitous 'social services' have gone a long way towards making us all (the people of England) pensioners of the State.

"As governmental activity increases, the State demands more money; as it gets more money, it becomes more powerful compared to the individual. Every time I am compelled to give the State an extra shilling, the State increases its economic power over me by two shillings — the shilling it gets and the shilling I lose. The process has been gradual and cumulative. Fifty years ago, nobody would have believed that free people would stand such a burden of taxation; but then nobody would have believed that free people would stand so much interference by the State. . . .

"When the government does for me what I might or might not be doing for myself, when the government takes and spends my money, when the government makes my decisions for me, I am deprived of freedom. . . Worse still, many politicians want to take my money, not because the State needs it, which might be defensible; not because they want to spend it themselves, which would be understandable; but simply because they think it is a bad thing for individuals to keep their own money.

"The policies of State interference and high taxation are inextricably connected. . . Just as the transfer of economic power from the individual to the State inevitably reduced the freedom of the individual (in England), so his freedom would automatically be increased if the process were reversed. Individualists could do far worse than press for the one dull basic reform which would simultaneously increase the freedom of the individual and restrict the activity of the State; that is, the really drastic reduction of taxes."

This Englishman describes cutting taxes as "a dull basic reform." It is "dull" in that it has none of the romantic splendor which many politicians can generate when sponsoring big spending projects. It is a "basic reform" because reducing taxes would halt the growth of government in an era when the trend everywhere is toward expansion of government. Holding down the growth of government is the only way people can preserve their individual freedom. This is a lesson which I hope all Americans will learn before it is too late.

—Dr. George S. Benson, Director, National Education Program, Searcy, Arkansas.

LET'S SOUND OFF

Recently a nationally-syndicated Sunday supplement published a story in which a public administrator was reported to have advised the American people to get rid of handguns as a menace in the home and an invitation to crime. Even more recently a television program, of the expose type, on the nation's channels has been asserting that guns in the home are a major source of tragedy. Stories of heartbreaking accidents involving firearms are unfolded and the inference glibly drawn that guns themselves are at fault and that America would be better off if guns were outlawed from the home. A police officer is introduced to clinch this argument by stating his opinion that guns in the home are an open invitation to crooks to enter because guns are what crooks like to steal.

A booklet given wide national distribution on the employee reading racks of industrial plants hints broadly that the country's crime problems are traceable almost directly to the fact that children are permitted toy guns and that some boys are encouraged to learn to use firearms. Typical of the book's logic is the statement that 90 percent of all crimes involving the use of firearms are committed by persons who played with toy guns as children.

All of us are familiar with local manifestations of the same violent prejudice.

In a small city in an Eastern state a suburbanite is struck by a stray .22 bullet as he is sweeping his garage. In that day's paper the chief of police assures the populace that 'juvenile delinquents' are responsible and loudly promises to round up every youngster who owns a gun. The prejudice spreads and is only partly corrected the next day by the chief's public statement that the bullet was fired by one of his own men who, at the request of the local dog catcher, was trying to kill a stray dog.

The man with the misfortunte to live where he must have some official's approval to purchase a handgun is frequently told, with what amounts to a pat on the head, "You don't need to protect yourself, that's the job for the police."

What kind of talk is this for America? Are we becoming a nation of defeatists, devoid of personal pride and content to rely entirely on our police for protection? Are we ready to deny to ourselves and to our children their American heritage—the right of personal protection and the pleasure of shooting and hunting for recreation? If so, we are in a bad way indeed!

The truth, of course, is that it is not so.

Certainly, gun acidents happen when people are careless but, by National Safety Council statistics, nine times as many people are killed in falls, three times as many accidentally burn themselves to death, many more accidentally take poison.

Certainly, guns are used for criminal purposes—some sort of weapon always has been —but anyone knows that boys have played with toy guns, swords, spears, or what-have-you, ever since tht world began. In spite of over-emphasis on 'juvenile delinquency', we have today more and better youngsters than ever before.

Certainly, circumstances alter cases and there are times when a prudent man does not attempt to 'outdraw' a determined criminal. But many competent police officers agree that fewer crimes of violence would take place if more honest citizens had guns and knew how to use them.

What is wrong, then, that we hear so much of this idle, incompetent, anti-gun propaganda? We think that the biggest fault is ignorance—ignorance of the lessons of history, ignorance of guns and the joys of shooting and outdoor living, ignorance of the millions of sportsmen who own guns and use them safely and well, ignorance of the supervised shooting programs of the National Rifle Association of America which give fascinating, challenging and safe recreation to thousands of boys and girls. We are to blame, all of us —all shooters—if this ignorance continues to breed prejudice and fear and opposition to guns and shooting. We are the ones who know better and we are millions strong. Why take it? Why grumble and complain? We know the answers to give these shallow thinkers—let's sound off!

—The American Rifleman.

SLOW TRAFFIC LAWS WASTE FAST ROADS

We must modernize our traffic laws or prepare to accept less than full value for the $50,000,000,000 federal highway program we are about to undertake.

Although the cost of new regulations would be negligible, modernization in this field may be more difficult than raising billions for construction. It will mean upsetting some time-honored ideas in highway control.

Ever since the first automobile chugged its noisy way among the startled horses and amazed public, the motor car has been subjected to every restrictive traffic law conceived by man. There has been a concerted effort to curtail its movements with stop signs, traffic signals and speed limits. This attitude is already costing us much of the advantage we might gain from improved automobiles and highways. Unless we think more in terms of "go" than "slow" in drafting regulations, it is going to cost us more.

If we are to have effective traffic control we need to answer several basic questions:

Are current traffic regulations realistic?

Do they recognize the trend toward higher speeds and the need for uninterrupted frow of traffic?

Are speed limits high enough to insure that a violation is a gross misdemeanor or do they make violators out of reasonable drivers?

Is enforcement too rigid for less important traffic law infractions and not rigid enough for serious offenses?

Hundreds of studies show that the answer to these questions is no. Today the majority of our drivers are consistently violating the legal speed limits. This doesn't mean that the motorists are willful law breakers. It does mean that something is wrong with our regulations.

Traffic studies show that:

Most autoists drive reasonably and properly most of the time and are capable of recognizing conditions that require greater caution.

Speed limits aimed at the few grossly reckless drivers make law violators out of normally good drivers and are of questionable value in controlling the violators.

Speed limits must be reasonable to be observed.

A reasonable speed limit is one that will include the speed of all but a few of the fastest drivers.

Speed limits should encourage uniform speeds.

There is no such thing as a safe speed limit.

Many factors are more important than speed in causing accidents.

Stricter enforcement is needed for many traffic violations formerly considered minor.

The Lost River.

For nearly fifty years geologists have been searching out the secrets of an ancient lost river of the Middle West, as shown here. Called the Teays after a valley in West Virginia, this stream started in the mountains of North Caroline. It entered Indiana south of Decatur and departed from the state at a point west and slightly north of Lafayette. At Lincoln, Ill., it was joined by a large tributary, the upper Mississippi. North of St. Louis, Mo., the preglacial Teays emptied into an arm of the Gulf of Mexico. To the westward of DeKalb County a tributary of the Teays had its origin. It is called the Metea, and coursed southwest to a junction with the Teays west of Logansport.

50 Years of Progress in Electric Power...

Helps you live better electrically

IN 1906, when the American Gas and Electric Company was founded, electricity had not been put to too many uses... the supply was limited... and the cost was 4 times higher than it is today. Because of these factors very few people had electric service.

Today, the American Gas and Electric System, of which we are a part, serves every home, farm, store, and factory in parts of 7-states with all the electricity they want... and extra power is available for the new people and industry to come.

The results of having an abundant supply of low-cost electric power are evident everywhere. Thousands of products come off assembly lines in quantities undreamed of fifty years ago. The farmer too produces more and can now enjoy what were once thought of as "city comforts." Homes, towns, and stores use electricity in so many ways that we think of it as indispensable to our daily lives.

Helping you to live better electrically is a result of "50 Years of Progress in Electric Power."

The Teays in Indiana

Here our artist depicts a southward bend of the ancient Teays River north of Logansport, Ind. A frozen avalanche is about to block the great valley. Of course, this is an imagined scene. We cannot know where or just when a glacier closed this immense drainage route that dominated the Indiana landscape a million years ago. Perhaps the valley was not entirely filled with soil until the final departure of the ice. The buried river that headed eastward from DeKalb County has been mentioned. Worthy of notice is still another valley hidden beneath glacial soils that coursed northwestward from the Warsaw area toward Michigan City. Other Ice Age oddities of Old Northwest also merit attention.

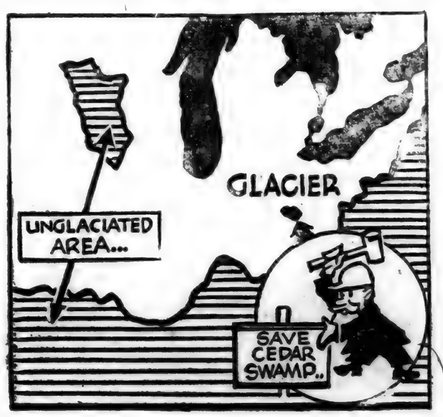
The Indiana Story No. 12



Ice Age Oddities

The earliest glacier to invade Indiana from Labrador is called the Illinoian. Its duration has been estimated at 100,000 years. In southeastern Indiana it crossed into Kentucky. Its southwestern limit in Indiana was near New Harmony, northwest of Evansville. Note the area in Wisconsin which was missed by the two Labradorean glaciers, and also by an ice sheet - the Keewatin - descending from west of Hudson Bay. This "driftless" area, particularly at Wisconsin Dells, is celebrated for its rugged scenery. Do we find there a minor image of the ancient Teays valley of Indiana? Another Ice Age oddity is Cedar Swamp, located along Mad River, between Springfield and Urbana, Ohio. Its white cedar trees, strange plants and treacherous holes are a rare reminder of the glacial age. Naturalists oppose draining of Cedar Swamp.

The Indiana Story — No. 13

White Empire

North America's pleistocene era is a subject of scientific interest the world over. By the study of living glaciers of today we learn more concerning the glaciers that came to DeKalb County in the long, long ago. Although the Labradorean and Keewatin mantles have melted away, remnants of still a third ice cap - the Cordilleran - are found in Glacier National Park, in British Columbia and in Alaska. Probings by a French expedition are causing students to wonder whether Greenland's ice, two miles thick in places, conceals not one but three islands. The numbers on the map indicate approximate areas where these four glaciers of North America were born: 1 (dot) Labradorean; 2 (dot) Keewatin; 3 Cordilleran; and 4 Greenland. In Indiana nearly every county contains its own Ice Age mysteries.

Brass Tacks - 2nd In A Series

One of the handicaps in presenting an opinion on the causes of strife and distress in this day and age is the disinterest shown when the subject of religion and God is interjected in that opinion. In this series the purpose is to attempt to show the failure of men in their pursuit of peace because of their failure to practice what they preach - more specifically the failure of American men. And if it is distasteful to the reader to consider religion as matter-of-factly in his conversation and thoughts as he does the scores of the baseball games or the condition of the President's health, then he may as well stop reading at this point. For it is this void in the American life, this lack of Godly considerations in everyday application, that is the reason for all our troubles. If these words seem to be turning into a sermon rather than an opinion, it would seem to be also an indication of how closely related are our lives as part of a nation and our lives as part of a way of life, as Christians.

When someone describes another person as "religious", perhaps the first mental impression that comes is a quiet, hands-folded-on-lap figure who has little "fun" as most human beings consider fun and maintains a pious attitude throughout all his life without "letting his hair down". His conception of being religious is that a person becomes more Christian the less human he acts. There is only one thing wrong in that idea and that is that men ARE human. And clergymen are few and far between who will not say that a Christian life is an active life. And a person who leads an active life just can'thelp being human.

There isn't anything in the Bible which dictates a life of drabness. It's possible to be a Christian and enjoy life; in fact, that is the purpose of this concept of living, a richer fuller life through God - or, The Church . . . one is the other. It's also possible to have worldly "fun" without violating the will of God. When a person becomes conscious of his "fun" and mentally looks over his shoulder to see if anyone is looking, then the rule of temperance is broken and "fun" ceases. For the moment over-indulgence in anything may seem "fun"; but without exception over-indulgence brings a penalty.

Americans today are "over-indulging" in the "fun" of not going to church. The penalties are all about in the presence of national and international strife, individual and seemingly perpetual dissatisfaction with what we have . . . a general floundering about, looking for some man-made solution but not willing to admit that the only help is at hand in The Church.

One of the favorite reasons given by many inactive Christians for their not supporting The Church is that they would become hypocrites "just like the others". These inactive Christians can be divided for the most part into two major groups. One of them is afraid of being seen in a church or afraid of being seen with bowed head because it would be a sign of "weakness". These are also the ones who are "self-made". They admit to some extent that there is some Supreme Being who has created the universe, but as far as there being any individual influence on their lives or there being any directing of their destinies, that is unacceptable. These are the ones who cry "hypocrite" the loudest when it comes to The Church simply because they do not wish to subtract any credit from "self". They point out the failures of the church-goer and justify their own inactiveness by saying, "Look at him, he goes to church and says he shouldn't do a lot of things he does, but he does 'em anyhow. I know I can't keep from doing 'em so why should I go to church?"

The other group is composed of those who also admit to the existence of this Supreme Being and may even go further and call God by name. But they do not feel any particular need for The Church. They are not egotistical as is the above group; they just do not have a place in their lives yet for anything more than worldly things. The two groups have one thing in common, however. That is their willingness to call upon The Church to help set them straight with the Supreme Being - or God - when the occasion calls. Their offspring are baptized, they themseves may even attend services of Communion or The Holy Supper. And when they die, The Church is there to help open the pearly gates, if it is possible to get them open.

Figures show that church attendance is increasing; so, too, is the population. In some ways people indicate a greater interest in religion nowadays, but unfortunately this interest is not enough. For a nation such as ours, which has its freedom based upon Godly principles, it takes more than "interest" to preserve the richness we have achieved. It takes more than numbers to show the true feelings of people toward their God and country. And it takes a lot less of "self" in the American attitude before we become more a Christian nation. Humility is a basic trait of a sincere Christian. Without it a person remains un-Christian and un-American.

The basic element of Christian humility is attending church. Therefore, the basic element of an American is his attending church. From there he becomes a better Christian and a better American. He cannot be one without being the other.

Of Pigs And Potatoes

If we occasionally wonder why these days are so confusing, reading of the requirements for participating in the Soil Bank Acreage Reserve Program, another name for an attempt to justify our country's violation of the basic law of supply and demand, will quickly show why.

"To take part in the acreage reserve program, the farmer must first comply with the corn base and all other acreage allotments or marketing quota provisions set for the farm. His corn base acreage will be about 18 percent above his former 1956 corn allotment. He must harvest an acreage of corn less than the base acreage, and his land in the acreage reserve must not be grazed after June 22, 1956, and must not be cut for hay or any crop removed for the entire year of 1956. On the reserved land he must control noxious weeds.

"The most acres that a farmer can place in his acreage reserve are half his corn base acres or 50 acres, whichever is larger. Reserved acreage may not exceed the number of soil bank corn base acres on any farm. The lowest amount of corn acres that can be placed in the acreage reserve is 10 percent of the soil bank base acreage or five acres, whichever is larger. Where the allotment is less than five acres, the minimum is the soil bank base acreage.

"Payments under the soil bank program may be earned for corn in one of three ways. A farmer may underplant his corn base and certify that this was done because he expected to comply or because of adverse weather conditions. Or he may comply with his corn base and not harvest an acreage of corn because of destruction by natural causes. Or he may plow under, clip, or mow enough acres of corn within his base acreage to comply. This must be done after May 27 and before August 1, the date set by the state ASC committee.

"Payments to the farmer have been set on a national average rate of 90 cents a bushel for the 1956 corn crop. If he underplants, his payment will be based on the normal yield for that acreage.

"Where his corn on the reserve acreage has been destroyed by plowing, mowing, or by natural causes, the payment will be based on an appraised yield.

"Farmers in commercial corn areas such as Indiana can continue to qualify for maximum corn price support by complying with their corn acreage allotments as previously set up. They can now also qualify by complying with the new soil bank requirements. This means the farmer must place an acreage equal to 15 percent of his corn base in either the acreage reserve or in the conservation reserve and he must not exceed the farm corn base."

In the old days it used to be pigs and potatoes; now it's corn. But now it's different, too, because the "other party" is doing it.

GREAT COMPANY
Lesson for July 22, 1956

Man is not made for loneliness. He not only feels incomplete when circumstances force him for a time to live alone; he is actually incomplete. It is only through existence with others that we arrive at our true selves. People who have never thought this through know it by a kind of instinct. That is why there are so many organizations and societies and fraternities and groups of innumerable sorts in the new world. Even when an organization has no very important reason for its existence, its members just like to get together.

The Great Company

Of all groups of human beings, the greatest is the "great company" we call the Church. Belonging to it is more than joining another organization. It is more than any denomination, more than any existing list of members, even if you put all the members of all the churches into one master list. The writer to the Hebrews, thinking of the heroes of faith, does not think of them as past-and-gone saints. They live now; they are the great "cloud of witnesses"—the cheering grandstand, we may dare to say—in whose presence our own race is being run. They are living members of the Fraternity of Faith. All those who have dreamed God's dreams after him, all who have looked beyond their times to the heavenly city yet to be, all who have toiled to make this world a bit more like the world of God's intention, who have by faith seen what God promised and greeted it from afar; these make up the company to which every man and woman is invited; these are the light-bearers, the builders, to whose fellowship every Christian belongs. Men of faith often have to live lonely lives; they can be misunderstood, imprisoned, tortured and killed; but they take heart, knowing that they do not stand alone.

Marching With the Heroes

For some persons, precise accuracy of belief is what makes a good Christian. Surely accuracy of belief is a good thing. To say the least of it, there is no point in believing what isn't so, or not believing what is so. But from the standpoint of this letter to the Hebrews, indeed from the standpoint of Jesus himself, accuracy of belief and completeness of understanding are not the last word in what makes a Christian. Faith, in the way the word meets us in the famous 11th chapter of Hebrews, is not voting "aye" to a set of propositions. Faith is doing something for man and God. It can be expressed in a slogan, "Expect great things from God; attempt great things for God." Faith of this rousing, robust kind is more than thinking, it is doing. It is thinking too; faith certainly is no substitute for thought. Reading the stories of the men and women the writer to the Hebrews lists in his roll call of faith, one finds them planning ahead, working, fighting, never blindly but with the determination that comes from a thinking faith. Heroes think, plan, believe; but also heroes DO. It is the doing that makes them heroic. So the Great Company is a marching, fighting company, marching at God's orders fighting God's war.

Supermen?

Thinking about such things, and such men, has put iron into the blood of many weaker men and women, struggling through their own battles on this earth. But it has a discouraging side, too. These men — Abraham, Moses, all the rest, and all the others that Christian history can name—these heroes of faith were supermen, we feel. Quite out of our class. In such a company, many a humble Christian feels like a boy who can't do simple arithmetic being elected by accident to a Mathematical Society, or a boy twelve years old suddenly finding himself in the middle of a football game between Notre Dame and Texas. It's embarrassing. But no—that is a mistake. The men named to that Roll Call of Faith were not really supermen. Indeed, some of them felt so small that they tried to resign before God elected them. By themselves they would have been no more remarkable than ourselves. For after all, it was not their faith, or their character, or their power, that made them; it was the God in whom they had that faith, who made them. And God still makes men!

"Flattery, like perfume, should be smelled but not swallowed."

We are just back from the Chicago furniture market. This great affair, held both in the American Furniture Mart and the Merchandise Mart, is the show place for everything new in furniture and kindred lines. Merchants can go there feeling that their stock is ample so they just go and see what's new. Our opinion is that they have to be both blind, deaf and very strong, or should I say weak, to resist the new, lovely, useful and so very attractive items presented at these markets.

Well, we were dazzled by all the nice, new things shown and, as always, we bought! We will not take time to tell you all about the fine things that are in store for you at this time. However, as time goes along you'll be kept informed of our plans.

In the meantime, when you need furniture, jewelry, anything in our line, may we see you? Thank you!

Now for some frivolity — "some of you pedestrians walk about as though you owned the streets."

"Yes, and some of you motorists drive around as though you owned your cars."

Services Held For Frank Shockley

Funeral services were conducted Saturday for Frank Shockley, 87, who died in a rest home at Butler Thursday of heart disease and complications.

Mr. Shockley, who resided with a son, Hearsel Shockley, at Spencerville for 12 years, had been taken to the rest home three weeks ago. A retired farmer, he had resided previously on a farm near Muncie until moving t his son's home. His wife, Maude Oxley Shockley, died in 1930. They were married in 1893. The deceased was the son of the late Valntine and Martha Gibson Shockley.

Prayer services were held at the Walter Funeral Home in Spencerville at 10 a.m. Saturday with Rev. Henry Weber of the Methodist Church officiating. Funeral services and burial were then held at Muncie.

Surviving besides the son are 9 grandchildren and 20 great - grandchildren. Mr. Shockley was the last of a family of 13 children. Another son and a daughter preceded him in death.

Lad Drowns In Lake Tragedy

Final rites for young Stephen Reese Weber were conducted Tuesday afternoon at Memphis, Tenn. The 4-year-old son of Rev. and Mrs. Henry Weber of Spencerville apparently jumped from a pier at Hamilton Lake Sunday afternoon and drowned. Efforts to revive the child at the pier failed and the body was taken to the Walter Funeral Home at Spencerville for burial preparations. The parents and their 2-year-old daughter, Tricia, left Baer Field Monday for Memphis and the body was sent by air express the same day. Funeral rites and burial were held at Memphis.

The Weber family came to Spencerville last spring when Rev. Weber was assigned to the pastorate of the Methodist Church there after serving as pastor of a church at Jacksonville Fla.

Sunday morning, after services at the church, the Weber family went to the Bert Fisher cottage near Cold Springs resort on invitation from Mr. and Mrs. Fisher's son, Lynn Fisher, his wife and family. The family reported that the little boy before dinner had watched Linda Fisher dive from the pier and had commented that he was 'going to dive in, too," when he went swimming.

Shortly after 2 p.m. the boy's father told him he would take him swimming and the youngster put on his swimming trunks. His mother cautioned him to wait on the steps of the cottage for his father. Inside the remainder of the group were finishing their dinner.

Mrs. Weber said the boy promised to wait on the steps for his father. But he didn't wait. He apparently ran to the pier and jumped in. A few minutes later Rev. Weber stepped from the cottage. The boy was not in sight. A hurried search of the cottage and lake shore area was futile. Persons nearby said they had not seen the lad nor heard any splash of water. The father waded into the water to the end of the pier and found the child's body at the end of the pier at 2:25 p.m.

Authorities were summoned and the father and others attempted to revive the boy by artifical respiration. An inhalator was applied in a last effort to restore life. At 3:20 p. m. the child was pronounced dead.

Assisting in the attempt to revive the boy were conservation officers John Conrad and Mearl Moss and State Police.

Surviving, in addition to the parents and the sister, are the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Reese C. Weber of Memphis and the Rev. and Mrs. Paul F. McClare of Sedalia, Ky., and the paternal great - grandmother, Mrs. J. D. Ballard, of Memphis.

He Lives. . . .

What words of comfort can there be for grieving parents?
How futile are human attempts to ease their sorrow.
How much more stunning is death when it comes for the little one,
Who sees nothing but joy in the gentle ripples of the water.
A picture of complete innocence is the mind of a four year old
As he views the fun enjoyed by others,
Eagerly awaiting his turn to know that joy.
His innocence sees not the danger that lurks
Even in the pleasures we know.
His experience does not encompass that of Mom and Dad
Whose years have taught that one must be prepared for sorrow.
And even they may be caught unawares, as now,
When but a few minutes of youthful eagerness have brought Eternal separation.
But no, it is not so, for to all men there is The Promise - -
- - To all men - and little boys.
Even now as we grieve, yet we know there will be Life Eternal for him and all who believe The Promise.
Once again, words of men cannot replace the comfort that comes
To the faithful.
As in all things we mortals find
There is but One whose kind words bring strength.
One day all will meet in His Kingdom and find
The joys of life that each treasures - -
Yes, even perhaps a lake where there is no sinking,
And death no longer lurks beneath.
Life brings death, and death brings Life which has no ending.
No comfort in these words, a little one is lost;
No solace from utterances of men.
But wait, remember The Word.
And the Son of God-it was who said
(Can this be for us today?)
". . . suffer little children to come unto me. . ."
. . . . Father. . . . one approaches.

Seek Molest Suspect

State police reported Saturday that a known Chicago sex criminal has been linked as chief suspect in a May 11 case in which an 8-year-old Angola girl was picked up and molested before she was released at St. Joe three hours later.

State police detective Russell Huffman said the suspect, still at large and wanted by Chicago police for questioning in sex offenses there, is Norval DeGrove, alias Orval Grove. DeGrove has a prison record for molesting, child rape and other sex offenses involving children.

Detective Huffman traced the May 11 crime to DeGrove through the license number on his car obtained by an alert Angola housewife. The woman observed the child talking to the man and getting in his car and took the license number.

Did you know that Mozart composed his first symphony at age 4? His musical genius is acknowledged today, yet he was buried in a common pauper's grave, the site of which was soon forgotten.

Martin Luther said about music, "Music is one of the fairest and most glorius gifts of God, to which Satan is a bitter enemy, for it removes from the heart the weight of sorrow, and the fascination of evil thoughts."

Have you hear any of your favorite records on a Hi-Fi record player? You should hear the difference!

Hi-Fi really brings out all the finer tones, both vocal and instrumental, that were put into the record in the first place. You have not heard a good reproduction until you have heard it on Hi-Fi.

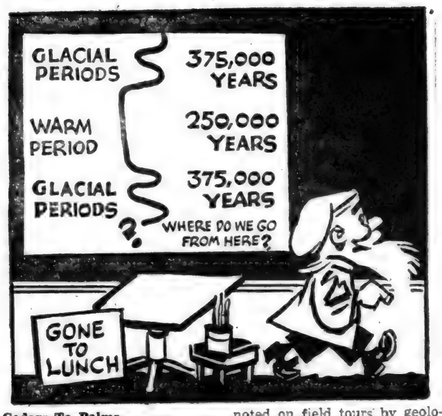
The Indiana Story No. 13



Cedars To Palms

In the million years of Ice Age history, the first two glaciers known to the Middle West were the Nebraskan and Kansan. The third invasion -- the Illinoian -- ended about 205,000 years ago. This was followed by an interglacial period of an estimated 135,000 years' duration. It brought a climate to Indiana milder than today's, perhaps warm enough for palm trees to flourish. A dark top soil formed in this state and is a feature often noted on field tours by geologists. Remains of buried forests sometimes are found below the soil deposited by the final ice invasion. Some observers predict a much warmer climate is ahead of us. Our artist has learned that the Age of Ice can become a topic of heated debate. So, in this drawing and in two to follow he is having a little fun. Won't you join us?

OF SUFFERING

Lesson for July 29, 1956

What they did in ancient times without the mimeograph machine it is hard to imagine. If a modern church executive said to his secretary, "Miss Jones, take a letter; get it out to all the Christians in Pontus, Galatia, Capadocia, Asia and Bithynia," Miss Jones would hardly know what to do without a typewriter and carbon paper at the least. She might wonder, too, what Christians in places as out-of-the-way as Bithynia might have in common with Christians in Asia. However, when Simon Peter wrote his letter, he knew what all those Christians had in common. "Now for a little while (he meant, to the end of their lives) you may have to suffer various trials. . ." Trouble, trials, affliction, suffering—how many words there are for it, how many different kinds of it! St. Peter's letter, written so long ago in Greek, now in English has a fresh contemporary look about it. For trials and troubles are very ancient, but they are as new as the morning paper, they are as universal as the human race.

Suffering and Prayer

Christians in particular are bothered, when they think about suffering — especially their own or that of other Christians—in two ways. What is the USE of suffering, and why should Christians suffer? These are the problems which Peter rolls into one problem: what use is it to Christians to suffer? He brushes off one kind of suffering—when one gets into trouble on account of one's own wrongdoing. That is no puzzle. The puzzle comes when the good man, the Christian, suffers perhaps because he is a Christian and for no other reason. One use of suffering Peter remembered from his own experience. When he was in jail in Jerusalem, the church held a prayer-meeting for him. Somewhat to their astonishment, their prayer was answered. Can we suppose that Peter himself had not been praying? His trouble, in short, had brought both himself and his friends to their knees; it had made them acutely aware of their need of God, and God in turn had made them know his power. Some people make fun of "foxhole religion"; but isn't it better than none?

Genuine Faith

Faith that has never been tested can be real; but only God knows it. Faith tested by suffering, when it endures, demonstrates how real it is. A missionary in India was trying to talk to an Indian about Christ. The Indian, who had just lost a wife he deeply loved, cried, "You lead a happy life, everything comes your way. If you had to go through what I go through, you'd not talk about faith!" Within a few months the missionary too lost his wife by death. At the funeral he stood by the casket and said: "If the man is here who told me I had never been through what he went through, I want to talk with him after this. Now maybe he will believe me." To make the story short, the Indian did come to believe as a Christian.

Everybody Has a Heartache

Another use for suffering is that it can open the heart wide. It does not always do this. Suffering by itself has no magic. It is only when the sufferer reaches up in trust to God that anything like "magic" comes to pass. But when one who is afflicted trusts in God even then, he may not have his pain—physical, mental or spiritual, whatever it be—removed; but he will find that he has joined the great fraternity of pain. His heart, hitherto in-turned, now turns outward. He knows the password to every human heart. For every one has his own heartache, and those unacquainted with grief find no entrance. Your own heartache is the key to the hearts of all men everywhere. Suffering "as a Christian"; this above all, as Peter says, is a mark of brotherhood throughout the world. The minister in Mississippi who loses his pastorate because he says a word of sympathy for wronged Negroes; the Indian who is stoned from the village well because he has turned from Mohammed to Christ; the Spanish Christian who is not allowed to worship except in forms approved by the government; the Chinese Christian who is forced to march in a parade at the hour of church worship; do we not suffer with them? For they are our own.

The school calendar was also revealed showing opening day of registration slated for Friday, August 31. Teachers will attend institute on August 30 during the morning hours followed by meetings in each school in the afternoon.

On Friday, August 31, the school buses will travel their regular routes to pick up students for registration day. Registration will begin at 10:00 a. m.

No school will be held on Labor Day, September 3, but the first full day of classes will be conducted on Tuesday, September 4.

The grade faculty will be as follows: Violet Baker, Iva Potter, Blanche Middaugh, Mabel Miller, Katherin Haller, Gladys Impton, Margaret Bacon, Mary Platter, Freida Guilford and Forrest Bevington. Howard Hill will return for his third term as grade principal.

The book rental plan will be in effect again this year. However, the cost has not yet been finally determined and will be announced at a later date.

Town Board Sets Penalty For Loose Dogs

The St. Joe Town Board took steps Monday night to curb the abuses evident in the town on the part of some dog owners. After complaints were heard from two home owners and discusion was held concerning the problem of loose running dogs, the board officially declared all dogs running loose a nuisance and issued a warning to local dog owners. In the future all loose dogs will be caught and, unless provision is made by the owner for the dog's confinement, it will be destroyed.

The board does not make criticism of those dog owners who do make a reasonable effort to care for their dogs. But the dog population has increased considerably and some are left to wander as they please.

The board bases its action on the assumption that those who love their dogs will take care of them.

Barn Destroyed By Fire

A frame barn at the Robert Bailey farm a mile west and a half mile south of St. Joe was completely destroyed by fire on Wednesday, July 25.

The loss was estimated at approximately $4,000.

The fire was started by small children who were playing with matches near the barn. A stiff breeze fanned the flames and the structure was completely ablaze before firemen from the Spencerville and St. Joe fire departments could arrive at the scene. Firemen confined their efforts to saving a nearby tool shed and extinguished a blaze in a wheat field across the road from the flaming barn. The only damage to the tool shed was a small portion of the roof which was burned.

Sheep kept in the barn on occasions were mostly out of the barn when the fire started and the remaining few were herded out in time to save them.

In addition to the loss of the barn the flames consumed nearly 200 bales of straw, 50 bales of hay and other grain. Many small implements in the barn were also destroyed.

The loss was partially covered by insurance.

"God has made no one absolute. The rich depend on the poor as the poor on the rich. The world is but a magnificent building: all the stones are gradually cemented together. No one subsists by himself alone." —Feltham.

While reflecting upon the truth of this quotation, I thought of how dependent we, here at Ort's, are upon you folk who read this corner and who so graciously bring so much of your business our way.

We also like to think that you do depend on us somewhat too.

I do know that we are continually trying to find new ways in which we can make ourselves helpful to you. If you know of any additional ways, let us know, will you? We'll try!

The Indiana Story No. 15

Northward Ho, Tomorrow?

It is estimated that 4,300,000 cubic miles of ice are present in the Artic and Antarctic regions. If a warmer age is dawning, will people migrate toward the Arctic? They may need the northern lands for farms and cities, because the melting of polar ice would lift our ocean levels, drown present seaports and submerge low plains. Once upon a time lush vegetation covered the now-barren polar regions, as evidenced by deposits of coal that have been discovered there. Unusual uses for polar ice are sometimes proposed. One suggestion calls for towing huge ice islands northward across the Equator from Antartica, so that their melting waters might be piped ashore to thirsty California, where freshwater suplies are scant.

what do you mean quality Electric Service?

"I CAN'T SEE IT? feel it? taste it? Yet you say there's quality in electric service. What do you mean?"

Yes, ma'am, we've got a quality product. But you see, I&M can't wrap up electricity in a package (like other products you buy) and label the contents as top quality . . . still the quality is there!

Your appliances and lights work so well that you seldom give them a thought. But it takes plenty of electricity and quality service to make them work well. I&M, to keep the supply dependable, works 'round the clock . . . building new lines, maintaining present facilities and planning for your future use.

It takes a big crew of skilled people and modern facilities to keep you supplied with quality electric service all the time.

Polar Pixies

Blast apart the polar ice packs and force them to melt or our civilization is doomed! This is the warning put forth by one worried weather student. He predicts that the globe may tip, if the weight of polar ice is not lessened. He contends that such a tipping has occurred in ages past, causing tropical regions to become frigid, and causing vast land areas to disappear beneath sudden floods. But nothing dire will happen in a hurry. This drawing is "just for fun", as we return to our Indiana story. The glacier has pushed southward almost to the Ohio River. Only a few Indiana counties will escape the icy onslaught. Let's head for the Hoosier hills.

Just a year ago today I was returning from the jewelry show in Chicago, as I am today and wrote the first article for "In This Corner."

This is what I wrote at that time. "We have planned for a long time to use such a corner as this to get better acquainted with all the people in this area and to keep them informed of all the goods and services which we are able to supply. It is our hope to keep the corner interesting as well as informative so you will be looking for it each week.

"We may want to find a better name for it one day and if we do we'll want you to help us. If, as time goes on, you want to express your opinion to us about the corner, we'll be glad to hear from you."

In the year that has passed since then, we feel that we have kept the corner both interesting and informative, judging by the many nice comments from you folks.

We only remember one week in which we did not write the article. Lacy Satterfield was visiting and the time was too short.

This B&O Columbian is a great train to ride on. Try it some time! Time to get off now as we are approaching Garrett.

Ice Age Frontier

The Labrador glacier moved ahead very slowly. By dumping boulders, gravel and soil brought from Canada, it reshaped the surface of northern and central Indiana. Finally, the ice sheet -- known as the Illinoian -- achieved its most southerly advance in the counties numbered on this map, namely, 1 Floyd, 2 Clark, 3 Washington, 4 Jackson, 5 Brown, 6 Monroe, 7 Morgan, 8 Owen, 9 Green, 10 Martin, 11 Dubois, 12 Pike, 13 Gibson, 14 Vanderburg and 15 Posey. Only seven counties remained free of instrusion. The students depicted here on a geology trip are learning first hand about the ice age frontier. The rugged terrain below the glacial boundary also is a vacation lure.

Background Scripture: Matthew 6:25-34; I John 2:28—5.-21.

"WE KNOW"

Lesson for August 19, 1956

"I don't know, I hope so," is the answer you will often get when you ask some one if he is a Christian. It's a common answer but it doesn't make sense. Are you going to be sick tomorrow? Are you descended from William the Conqueror? Will you ever be famous? You may well say "I don't know," for various reasons, to such questions. But being a Christian is something different. Are you one? You ought to know. You're not a perfect one, you may not yet even be a very good one. It is quite right to say you don't know just how much of a Christian you are, for only God knows that. But if you have ever decided for Christ, if you ever accepted Christ as Savior and Lord, then you are a Christian-by-intention. If you never settled that before, you can settle it before you read another line.

"That You May Know"

There is one of the New Testament letters which has as its theme, "We Know." It was written by the same person who wrote the Fourth Gospel. In both the gospel and the letter, the author says plainly why he has written what he did. To the readers of the Gospel, John says, "These things are written that you believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that believing you may have life in his name." (John 20:31.) Now there must have been a number of people back yonder, as there are now, who were uncertain whether they really "belonged" as Christians or not. If you asked them, "Are you sure you have eternal life?" they would say, like their modern descendants, "I don't know, I hope so." John writes to just such people, so that they won't have to give such a timid uncertain answer any more. "I write this to you who believe," he says—"that you may know that you have eternal life." (I John 5:13).

"By This We Know"

You know you have a wart by looking in the mirror. You know you have a farm because the deed is on record at the court house. You know you have sixty dollars in the bank because the bank statement tells you so. But how do you know you have eternal life? It is infinitely more important than any of these things. Knowing you have it is likewise the most vital knowledge you can have. This first letter of John is not content with "We know"; the apostle goes on to say WHY we have every right to be sure. One outstanding reason is expressed in the sentence, "We know we have passed from death to life, because we love the brethren." (3:14). You'll not be much of an athlete if you don't like athletes. You'll never make a farmer if farmers don't appeal to you and you have nothing to do with them. If you are a Christian, furthermore, you will surely love Christians. If you do love them, it's a good enough sign for the apostle John.

Listening To the Word

The reader will find various other signs by which, John says, we can know whether we have eternal life. This life cannot be looked at, it cannot be photographed, weighed or measured. Like any other kind of life, it can be known by its effects. You know a plant is living by the fact that it puts out shoots and leaves. You can't cut the plant open and see the life, but you can see from the way it behaves that it is living. So with eternal life. (And by the way, the reader will note that John speaks of "having", not "going to have" eternal life.) One more point may be noted here. John has different ways of expressing this assurance: we know we have passed from death to life . . we know he abides in us . . we know we are of the truth . . we know that we abide in him . . we know that we are of God. "Whoever knows God," he says (4:6), "listens to us." In other words, those who know God listen to one who speaks the Word of God. What kind of a lover is it who will not read his sweetheart's love letter? What kind of soldier is it who never reads nor opens an order from his superior officer? What sort of sports lover is it who never looks at the sports page? So it is fair to ask: how much of a Christian is one who never reads what his Father in heaven has to say to him in his Word? God's people love God's words.

Around the Town

With the Editor

Well, well, it's been a long time since I been here, ain't it.

Last week's missed issue wasn't intentional. The little woman and I went up to Rochester, Minnesota, where she went through the Mayo Clinic. We hadn't figured on an 8-day stay which it turned out to be. So the News wasn't published last week.

If you ever have a chance to visit Rochester, don't miss it. There really isn't a lot to do in the town, but the people are so friendly and happy that it's worth it just to come in contact with them. The population is around 35,000 but it is estimated that there are around 10,000 more in the town continually for the purpose of entering the clinic and hospitals for examinations, operations, etc.

The most enjoyable part of our stay was the eating. We didn't find a "bad" place to eat while we were there, except for a late hour restaurant where my roast beef sandwich chewed more like roast shoe leather. Otherwise you could find the best prime ribs and steaks in every restaurant and supper club.

We enjoyed the smorgasbord twice at the Martin Hotel. The chef is Art Nielson who has been there only a short time but really knows how to please your taste. -And Michael's served us de-e-elicious thick steaks. But the best, as far as we were concerned, was the extra special steak dinner for two at the Continental Room of the Carlton Hotel (where we stayed). We got acquainted with Tommy Thompson, the organist there, who always broke in to "Back Home Again In Indiana" whenever we entered. One of the bartenders there caught our eye, the distinguished looking gentlman with the mustache. We got to know him, too, and he turned out to be quite an artist, having done the murals in the Continental Room and also in another supper club in town. Everyone called him "Henry" but his accent hinted that there might be more to it than that. He wrote his name out for us - "Enrique Arguellas". He hails from way down in Mexico and has twin sons attending the University of Minnesota and Valparaiso (I forgot to ask him which Valparaiso).

-Omigosh. I almost forgot that other friendly gentleman at the Continental Room, Pete. I don't know his last name, but he's the guy with the big smile.

We also got acqainted with Don Edwards who is the news telecaster on WROC-TV always having trouble with his commercials. He hosted us one evening to the entertainment of Doc Evans and his dixieland band. -That's another thing. The town's only 35,000 strong, yet they've got a modern jaxx outfit with rock and roll, dixieland jazz, piano music and three or four organists working in the town. My oh my!

With all of the visitors in the city, perhaps the above mentioned folks won't remember the missus and me when they read this. But I think Henry will remember me if I say "I don't know."

We went to a baseball game one evening and such enthusiasm! Two of the home team hit homers and the fans in the "Fans In the Stands Club" stood up and clapped and hollered and whistled and you'd have thought it was the Yankees at bat. Even Hoosier basketball rooters haven't anything on those folks.

They call Fort Wayne the city of happy people. I don't know, but I think Rochester, Minnesota, could put up a pretty stiff challenge.

If you want to get comments from just everybody, boys, just start growing a few chin whiskers. During our vacation I left the whiskers grow and by the time two weeks had passed, I had a pretty good bunch started. After trimming them once or twice and reappearing on the local scene, there were comments like these, and minny, minny more-

Lazerne Keller: "If you're going to keep it, go back to the lake."

Nellie Moore: "When's the centennial?"

Dick Roberts: "Need a quarter for blades?"

Warren Clauser: "When's the centennial?"

Ray Moore: "Having a contest with Corbin?"

Doris Yeiser: "Omigosh!"

Harvey Hull: "When's the centennial?"

Mose Yeiser: "Baa-a-a-a!"

Joe Baidinger: "How does the wife like it?"

Margaret Chaney: (speechless).

Jerry Vinson: "Hey, Charlie Chan!"

Mrs. Clauser: "You look terrible!"

—I don't have whiskers any more.

Here's another one of those times when I've got a little space at the bottom of the page with no — oops there it's all filled up!

4 Year Old Run Over By Tractor

Tommy Bishop, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bishop of St. Joe, miraculously escaped death last Wednesday when he fell from a tractor and a rear wheel of the tractor passed over his head.

The accident occurred as Mr. Bishop returned from field work with Tommy, his brother Danny and cousin Brinda riding on the tractor. The younger boy evidently slipped and fell from his perch unnoticed by his father. Mr. Bishop stated that he thought he had run over a rock and turned to investigate. He saw Tommy lying on the ground where the tractor had run over him.

The injured boy was taken to the hospital where he remained for 2 days. He suffered a punctured ear drum and abrasions to both sides of his head. He is now recovering at home satisfactorily but is evidently suffering an impairment in hearing in one ear.

One Of Two Polio Cases From St. Joe

DeKalb County's first two polio cases were reported in the past two weeks when illness of Charles Christman, 25, of St. Joe, was diagnosed definitely as bulbar polio and Mrs. Virginia Milks of near Ashley was stricken with a "low grade" polio last week end.

Mr. Christman entered Lutheran Hospital in Fort Wayne August 8 when he began having difficulty swallowing. The disease was slow on taking effect at first but doctors then diagnosed it as a relatively light case of bulbar polio.

Mrs. Milks, wife of the county surveyor, Arnold Milks, complained for several days of stiffness in her back, shoulders and neck before the illness was diagnosed as polio.

Both persons are reported to be recovering satisfactorily.

There were no polio cases in the county in 1955. The last cases occurred in 1954 when four resulted in one death.

The peak outbreak of polio in DeKalb County came in 1950 when 29 cases were reported, five proving fatal.

There were 3 cases in 1951, 8 in 1952 and 19 in 1953.

Spencerville Community Club Seeks Park

The first meeting of the Spencerville Community Club was held Monday evening at the fire hall in Spencerville for the purpose of outlining objectives of the new club and electing officers. Rev. Henry Weber served as acting chairman during the early portion of the meeting attended by approximately twenty persons. He gave a brief account of the events leading up to the Monday night meeting which indicated that there is some community concern over the lack of public recreational facilities in the area. Rev. Weber stated that he had been in the community only since June, but being interested in the welfare of young people, he was aware that "Spencerville has nothing to offer to the young people. We often wait until they do something bad and then look down our noses at them, when we should look at ourselves and find out where we failed."

The group held an election of officers and Rev. Weber was selected to serve as president. Glenn Moore was elected vice president and Janice Hollabaugh was named secretary-treasurer.

Possible projects for the club were discussed. In the matter of goals of the club, Rev. Weber stated that "we are aiming high." Mentioned in the hopes for the future were such recreational facilities as ball diamond, tennis courts, swimming pool and general park conveniences.

The next meeting of the organization will be held on Monday, September 17. All persons interested in helping to achieve the goals set forth by the club are invited to attend this meeting and all future meetings. Meetings will be held in the fire hall at Spencerville.

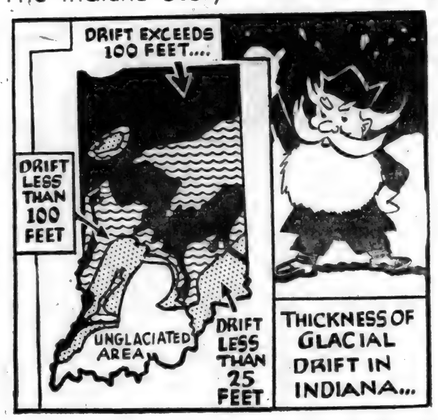
The Indiana Story No 18



Second Invasion

Housekeeping was indeed a chore for Mrs. Indiana in the Age of Ice; strangers are such trouble! The first glaciation from Labrador - called the Illinoian - occupied areas 1 and 2, above. A mature black soil developed on the surface of Indiana by the time of Mr. Zero's second invasion. Known as the Wisconsin glaciation - the number 2 area on map - the movement ended in twelve Indiana counties. This second glacial boundary across our state starts in northeast Dearborn County at the Ohio line and crosses Franklin, Fayette, Decatur, Jennings, Bartholomew, Brown, Johnson, Morgan, Putnam, Parke and Vigo. The U marks unglaciated area.

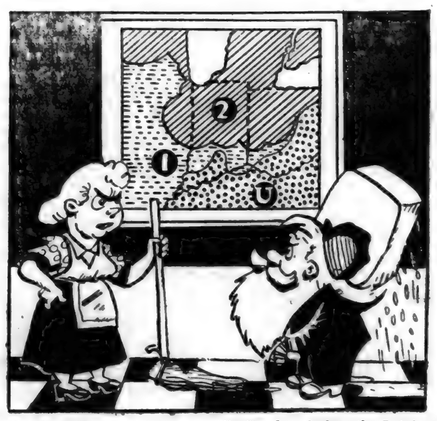
The Indiana Story No. 19



Indiana's Drift

"Glacial drift" is the name given to boulders, gravel and soil deposited in Indiana by the ice sheet. The drift in DeKalb County varies from 250 feet thick in southern townships to an extreme thickness of 500 feet in two small areas of the north-central and the northwest! Below the drift is a shale bedrock that has received the name of "DeKalb Lowland", extending across all or parts of twelve counties.

In the days before the Ice Age, DeKalb County was a part of a drainage system that sloped eastward to the Erie basin. According to William J. Wayne, glacial geologist of the Indiana Conservation Department, the name "Butler Valley" might be given to the drainage area, "inasmuch as the lowest bedrock altitudes that have been recorded are along a line that passes through Butler, in eastern DeKalb County."

ROYAL LAW

Lesson for September 2, 1956

"Love your neighbor" is called the "Royal Law" once in the Bible. It becomes and is the royal law only when all of it is meant: Love your neighbor as yourself. Everybody loves his neighbor a tiny bit. At least you don't want to see his house burn down, and if you heard that his children had been eaten by an alligator, you would have (it is hoped) some tinge of regret. But loving your neighbor as yourself - ah, that is something quite a lot harder to do. But the Royal Law demands that we love our neighbor, any neighbor, all neighbors. This is a Royal Law, as James called it, because it is the law by which the King of the Universe operates. To be sure, we cannot say that God has "neighbors" just as we have; but when God was here on earth, focused (you might say) in one person, this Son of God, true royal if ever a man was, lived by the Royal Law.

No Exceptions!

James writes that keeping the law means keeping all of it. To fail in one point means failing, period. We can apply this to the Royal Law. If we are (as Jesus called us) sons and daughters of the Most High, then we are under a kind of regal obligation to live as befits our high privileges. The more truly we live as children of God, the less we can afford to make exceptions, on our own, to the royal law of love. But most of us do make exceptions. Jesus knew what they are; so did James. Jesus mentions people who love those who love them in return. We all know the type —maybe we ARE the type!— the person who treats his friends like princes and other people like dirt; the family who are very warm-hearted and devoted to one another but whom the minister has a very hard time enlisting in any project for community betterment; the college student who is a very loyal fraternity brother but who hardly knows, and doesn't care to know, the student without money to spend. Jesus' parable of the good Samaritan showed up two men who made exceptions to the Royal Law. The priest must have loved his neighbor priests; but the beaten stranger was no priest, so this priest didn't bother with him. The Levite mut have had friends; he belonged to a class of professional philanthropists. But Samaritans were not on the Levites list of Worthy Causes. So he wasn't bothered. As for the Samaritan, there was every reason to cross off that battered stranger by the roadside. By every Samaritan standard, he didn't "belong". But the Samaritan kept the Royal Law without making exceptions.

For Whom Do We Pray

One way the reader can test how well he himself keeps this Royal Law is to reflect on his own prayers. We get around to more people in prayer than in actual visits. It is true that on a given day we probably don't pray definitely for every sort and condition of men; but the question which really probes us is not "Do you pray for every one" but "Are there any kinds of people for whom you would not pray?" If you are a democrat, do you pray for a republican? If you are a white person, do you ever pray for negroes? If you are Protestant, do you pray for Roman Catholics? For the Pope? If you are an American, do you pray for Russians? For Chinese? If you are a business man, do you pray for your competitors? As a law abiding citizen, do you ever pray for the men and women in the state penitentiary? You see how it is. The Royal Law is the hardest law there is.

With Whom Do You Pray

James draws a sarcastic little picture of some church ushers he had very likely seen — polishing the apple of the well dressed visitor to their church and shoving the poore man around so that he would be almost sure never to come back. How is it in your church? You may have hanging on the wall somewhere a copy of the Royal Law; but does the church itself keep it? Are there people, negroes perhaps, who if they risked showing themselves at your church, and wanted to worship with you, would be shoved into a corner or perhaps refused admission entirely? Does your church set the example for its mmbers, the example of love without exceptions?

Nothing takes to the road like a Chevy!

Once in a blue moon a car like this comes along—a design so advanced in performance, so beautifully balanced that it stands out above every other car on the highway.

It has a solid, sure-footed way of going that makes driving safer and more pleasant on any road. And you feel a very special sense of security in its rapid-fire responsiveness to your touch on the wheel, brakes and accelerator.

You can see that the '56 Chevy is a standout for style. But until you have driven one you're missing the best part of the news—the fact that Chevrolet is the smoothest, solidest, most wedded-to-the-road automobile you ever bossed. Try it and see.

OUR HOME

Our home is along the highway, one hundred and one,
And in our little palace we have had a lot of fun.
Fern worked in her garden and in her flower bed,
While I milked the Jerseys to earn our daily bread.
There was music in the parlor, when our daily work was done,
And there at that piano we had a lot of fun.
She played the piano while I sat by her side,
And sang that old, familiar hymn, "Lord with us abide."
The piano it is silent, since she went away,
And it is pretty lonesome, when in that room I stay.
But I am looking forward to the time that we can be,
Singing with the angels in the Eternity.

When sickness and death, on us descend.
We wish to thank each and every friend,

They boosted our spirits to the sky.
We also thank you for the flowers,
They brightened her room for hours and hours.

The Indiana Story No. 20

Boulder Belts.

Pioneers who cleared away the forests of Indiana faced still another challenge to farming: giant rocks left by the glacier. Each generation held to the task of their removal. Often the larger stones were hauled to historic sites as markers, an activity depicted here. Wells and field enclosures and occasionally buildings were constructed from boulders. When the glacier deposited rocks at the surface along the edge of a moraine, during a pause in the retreat of the ice, so-called "boulder belts" were formed. Where is the largst glacial boulder in DeKalb County? Can it match the size of a boulder reported by a reader of this feature, living near Lafayette? Farmers, naturalists and hikers are invited to nominate their DeKalb County boulder "champ."

WHY MEN FIGHT

Lesson for September 9, 1956

If some angel who had never heard of this earth, or some man from outer space living on some planet never invaded by sin, should get acquainted with the human race for the first time, probably the thing that would astonish them the most would be the human hankering for a fight. Here we are, clinging to the surface of a tiny planet, with every reason to hang together; and yet to us who are born here and live here, fights are so common they seem quite natural. People quarrel at home, they get into arguments on the street, congressmen have to be restrained from fist-fights, business men are alway at one another's throats, labor and management are on opposite sides, and there is even talk about the "battle of the sexes." As for nations, a man the other day refused flatly to pay a cent of income tax, on the ground that he did not believe in war and he knew that most of his tax would be spent for war, past or prospective. Nobody wants the next war, but who really thinks it will not come?

The Tongue Is A Fire

Why do men fight? Let us admit that there may be times when it is good to give battle. There have been evils, and there still are evils, which are not going to fold up and go away without a fight. But all the same, everybody with sense admits that a vast amount of the fighting we do, whether in our homes or in politics or business or in the mighty struggles between nations, simply gets nobody anywhere. Most fights are a sheer waste of energy no matter who wins; and many fights (like our present and future wars) are such that nobody wins. What starts all this mess? One reason is, people talk too much. James, the salty saint who wrote the letter in the New Testament which bears his name, put his finger right on it. The tongue, he says, is a little thing, but it's wild. Nobody has ever quite tamed it. The tongue is a fire, it can set the world on fire. It is a flame from hell. Of course James does not mean that all talk is wrong. He recognizes happily the good the tongue can do. But the tongue does start fights. How many family quarrels would have died aborning if only he and she had done one single simple thing: shut up! How many quarrels had started, and how many made worse, just by people who can't keep their mouths shut! When Hitler was about to set the world on fire, he started by talking, long before his armies took the field.

Wanting Too Much

Plain-spoken Admiral Sims once told a feminine audience in Boston that they were the chief cause of war. You have no limits to your wants, he said. Your husbands have to keep working harder to satisfy you, manufacturers have to keep looking farther and farther for the raw materials to make the things you want, and presently we get into quarrels with other nations that either want the same things or don't want us to have them; and then you have the makings of a war. Admiral Sims might have been reading the letter of James. Wanting what we don't have, wanting what we actually don't need, he says, is a major reason for quarrels and fights among men, even among Christians, because he is writing to Christians. Was the admiral right? The reader who feels like arguing with him will have to argue with the writer James no less.

Cure For Quarrels

James no doubt knew as well as the Apostle Paul did that it is not always possible to live at peace with all men. But it is possible to cut down the quarrels. The secret is to see things as God sees them. Let no one say this is impossible. We not only can, but, if we are to survive, we must have what James calls "wisdom from above." What he means is nothing weird, out-of-this-world, impractical. "The wisdom from above is first pure, then peaceable, forbearing, concilliatory, full of mercy and wholesome fruit, unambiguous, straightforward." (Moffatt's translation.) If Christians would begin by setting the example, both in our homes and in our nations, of clamping down on our quarrelsome tongues and typewriters, and living by God's wisdom, the reign of peace would be at least much nearer.

Perfume salesgirl to blonde: "Just a word of advice, honey, don't use this stuff if you're only bluffing."

And we're not fooling when we say that the small fry of the area really enjoy coming into our stores. We cannot put our finger on any one particular reason for their desire but we do know that it exists.

For instance, just this morning a lad came in with his mother who said that he was disappointed the last time he came in because he didn't get to go to the basement. Well, this morning he did get to go. So after he took a ride on black beauty and on the bicycle built for two he was happy again.

Some others, like the two small girls this morning, just entertain themselves by looking at the tables, lamps, chairs, sofas, radios, pictures and mirrors, taking this one for me, that one for you, etc. Let your children come with you when you come to shop.

Daughter: "Tomorrow's Dad's birthday. What shall we do for him." Son: "Let him have the car."

A new $58,000,000 electric power plant, to house the world's largest generating unit, will be built by Indiana & Michigan Electric Company on the Wabash River south of Terre Haute, Ind. The power plant will be served by a new coal mine opened nearby. The mine and power station will be connected by a private six-mile railroad to be built, owned and operated by Ayrshire Collieries Corp., developers of the mine. It is estimated that the mine and railroad will cost in excess of $4,000,000.

VOLUME LXXI — ST. JOE (DeKalb Co.). IND. — Thursday, September 13, 1956 — NUMBER 35

Indiana State Library

Now we've got a pretty, new white line marking the center of the road. The special car for laying the line went through last Wednesday just as straight as an arrow right down the center.

An Indian had gone to see the doctor, who, after examining him, told him to be careful about what he ate—in fact, not to eat at all until he got an appetite. Meeting the Indian a few days later, the doctor asked how he felt.

"Oh, I feel fine now," he replied. "I wait one day, appetite no come, wait two day, appetite no come, wait three day, appetite no come, get so hungry eat anyway."

The movies are over now, but it isn't too late to remark about the efforts of the men working at the Conservation Club directing traffic. At the one full evening I spent there in the middle of the summer, they had traffic well under control, directing cars from the grounds in orderly fashion.

Colonel Cavendish had been sunk in a chair at his club for days and looking so gloomy that another member finally came up to find out the trouble.

"It's the wife," said the Colonel sorrowuflly. "She says she's going to leave me if I don't stop running around with women."

"A pity," consoled his friend. "Righto. I'm going to miss her."

Got a letter from PFC Richard Beebe ("PFC" underlined) who says he'll be 2 hours closer to home when he gets on permanent site. He hoped to get home for the Labor Day week end—which he did.

His new address is: PFC Richard C. Beebe RA16513432, Btry. C, 602d AAA MSL BN, Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md.

Red Strombeck has been carrying a clipping around for some time which he got from his father-in-law. The item is clipped from a newspaper in St. Joseph, Mo., aid carries the heading: "St. Joe, Ind., Once Home of Indian Tribes."

The remainder of the article is as follows:

"(Editor's Note: There are 11 cities and towns in the United States which bear the name St. Joseph, St. Joe or Saint Jo. This is the last of a series of stories about the communities telling how they received a name similar to that borne by this city and other interesting information.)

"The link of Indian migration is a tie between St. Joe, Ind., and St. Joseph, Mo.

"Kickapoo and Potowatomie Indian tribes, which once roamed the area where St. Joe, Ind., is located, later moved to Northwest Missouri. Today descendants of the two tribes live at the Kickapoo-Potawatomie reservation at Horton, Kan.

"St. Joe is located in northeast Indiana in DeKalb County, 23 miles northeast of Fort Wayne. French explorers, as early as 1680, reported an Indian settlement at the location which is located on St. Joseph River.

"The town, with a population of 490, was incorporated in 1875 after the coming of railroads to the area. It derived its name from the nearby river. The St. Joseph River and St. Mary's River, which join some miles to the south to form the Maumee River, were named by Jesuit missionaries.

"The town is located on both the New York Central and the Baltimore & Ohio rail lines. Surrounding it is a general agricultural area and both feed and flour are produced locally. The town is sometimes referred to as the "Pickle Capital of Indiana," because of the location of pickle factories in the area.

"Many of the residents of the town now work in Fort Wayne factories and business establishments, according to Edward Storer, who has been postmaster for 21 years.

"There is a consolidated school, offering both grammar and high school courses and two churches."

The bashful bride whispered to her husband as they entered the hotel: "Jack dear, let's try to make the other people think we've been married a long time."

"All right, honey. But do you think you can carry both suitcases?"

Joe stopped to chat with his old friend Henry while they were shopping one day. Joe was astonished to note from the labels of the boxes Henry was carrying that he had bought flowers, perfume and lingerie.

"What are you buying this folderol for?" he demanded.

"It's all right," he said, smiling. "Some men, when they get to middle age, start looking for greener pastures, but I —well, I thought I'd cultivate the one I have!"

Who Are THE LUTHERANS?

Early in the 16th century, there was only one Protestant in the world. He was Martin Luther — a Roman Catholic priest, scholar and theologian.

Through years of inner agony — long days and nights of Bible study — intensive comparison of the theologians — Luther had come face-to-face with the painful fact: 13 centuries had gradually changed the historical church into something radically different from that which had been founded when God came to earth and died on a hill called Calvary.

Luther's open "protest" began when he nailed the Ninety-Five Theses to the church door in the little university town of Wittenberg, Germany, on October 31, 1517.

Less than 50 years later, the Lutheran rediscovery of New Testament Christianity had touched the whole western world and was flourishing across most of northern Europe.

Today, it is the faith of 70 to 90 million people. No one knows exactly how many they number — because once again millions of Lutherans are martyrs, this time behind the Iron Curtain.

The "Mother Church of Protestantism" is by far the largest of all Protestant churches. She includes more than one-third of all the Protestants in the world. You, too, may wish to learn more of her faith and life.

Clip and fill in the coupon and mail it. Lutheran laymen will welcome the chance to visit with you.

Ontonagon Copper Boulder

In pioneer times of the Old Northwest, temporary excitement resulted from chance discoveries of copper - bearing rock in the glacial drift. Hopes were kindled that rich copper mines might be found. However, these rocks had merely been brought down during the Age of Ice. A huge copper boulder in the bed of the Ontonagon River in upper Michigan became a probable source of copper legends that reached the French founders of Canada in the earliest days. It was visited by an Englishman in 1766, and again - by Governor Lewis Cass of Michigan Territory - in 1819. His ascent of the river from Lake Superior to the boulder is depicted here, based on an old drawing. In the 1840's the Ontonagon boulder became a prize among promoters who paid for it a princely sum of $1,365.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
International Uniform Sunday School Lessons
BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Background Scripture: Matthew 18:20; John 21:1-14; Revelation 1—3.

Devotional Reading: Revelation :7-13.

REVELATION

Lesson for September 16, 1956

The book of Revelation was several hundred years old before the whole Christian church accepted it into the Bible. Even after it became an official part of the new Testament, there were Christian scholars who questioned it. Saint James places it somewhere between the "canonical" and "appocryphal" books —that is, between Bible and not-Bible. Luther's first preface to his German translation of the New Testament said of Revelation that it did not seem to be either apostolic or prophetic. He came to think better of it, but he never did print Revelation except as an appendix to the New Testament. Zwingli, the Swiss reformer, considered Revelation "not Biblical"; and John Calvin, who wrote commentaries on almost every other book of the Bible, never undertook to write on Revelation.

A Strange Book

One of the reasons why so many distinguished Christians have had difficulty with the book of Revelation is the simple one: it is extremely hard to understand. Its pages swarm with weird monsters; fire and blood flow through its scenes; it is loud with the agonies of a crashing universe. Literally hundreds of persons, fascinated by the puzzles here, have written out their answers in books and commentaries; but the very fact that these commentators do not agree among themselves is eloquent testimony to the fact that no one yet has found the key that gives an answer the whole church accepts. What makes the book so strange is that it is written in the language of symbols. As one eminent conservative scholar, Dr. Warfield, said (with some exaggeration), everything in the book means something else. The author as it were puts us on notice when he tells us himslf that his "stars" mean angels, and "lampstands" mean churches, and "incense" means prayers. Even the numbers in this book are symbolic—that is, not to count with but to express ideas. Readers who wish to pursue the study of Revelation more fully should write to their denominational headquarters and inquire whether their church has authorized some particular interpretation of this book. So wide are the disagreements that this writer could not recommend any one book without raising objections from some part of the church or other.

Some Things Are Clear

Sunday school lesson planners seldom select from Revelation; but those who planned our current series, used in more than 80 denominations, wisely selected three studies based on parts of Revelation about which there can be little dispute. For some things in this obscure book are clear as day; and it is probably in gratitude for these things, rather than in hope of unraveling all the knots, that the church, in spite of its uncertainties, has kept this book at the end of the Bible all these centuries. One of the clearer and best-loved sections is in the first three chapters, where we have seven letters to seven churches of Asia Minor. There is obscurity here; too, but also much light. Those seven churches have gone the way of all flesh, long since. But in those sharply etched pen-pictures the modern reader can see portraits, amazingly modern, which come close to describing church we all have seen.

Christ In His Churches

The warnings and the promises to those far-off and long-gone churches are good today for us. One thing stands out in every one of these short piercing messages to the "seven churches": every true church—then, now always—is a true one only when and so long as it keeps faithful to Christ, so long as he can be satisfied with it. What are the points of a church Christ approves? The reader of Revelation can make his own list and should not skip the first two in the very first letter: "hard work and patient endurance" (to follow Moffatt's translation). It should be noted too that even in the church most praised (Ephesus) the thing that comes in for blame is their letdown of love. For of all things that make a church weak and un-Christian, loss of love is the most serious. Even Christ's severest judgments are judgments of love. To the weckest and worst church of the seven, the word is, "As many as I love, I rebuke."

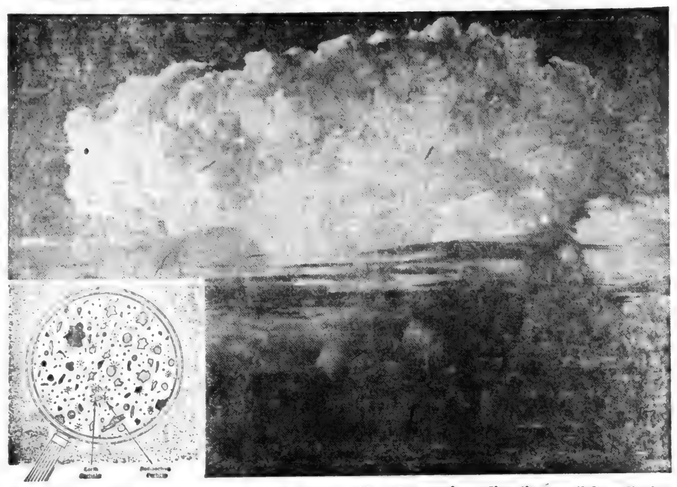
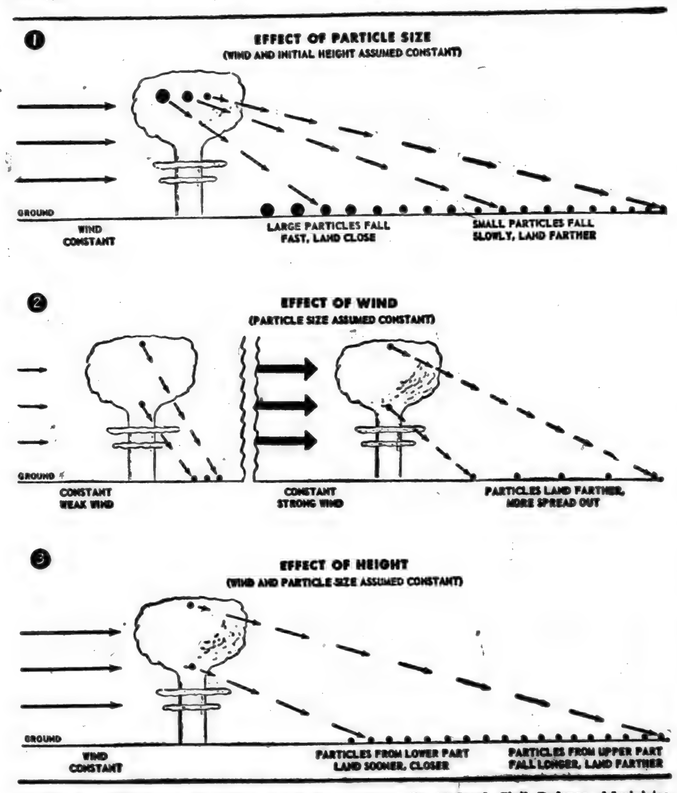
What Is Fallout?



FALLOUT CLOUD from the first H-bomb blast, towering 25 miles high, begins to drift off to the left after nuclear device, rated in millions of tons of TNT, was touched off in mid-Pacific in November 1952. If the cloud could have been magnified, it would have looked much like the inset, with microscopic radioactive particles clinging to larger earth particles which were blown skyward by the blast. From tests such as this, the Federal Civil Defense Administration learns the basic facts about fallout necessary to plan future defenses against it. (U. S. Air Force Photo)



FACTORS AFFECTING FALLOUT distribution over countryside downwind from a nuclear blast are the size of the earth particles carrying the radioactivity, their altitude and the speed and direction of the wind. Generally, in the United States, the winds which would dominate the direction of fallout would be the strong, usually west-to-east winds at about 40,000 feet. For this reason, the Federal Civil Defense Administration warns that only weather experts, with their methods of tracking high-altitude winds, can predict with reasonable accuracy the area to be affected by fallout. Men with radiation monitoring instruments are also required to determine whether an area is "safe" from radio active fallout after a nuclear attack. (FCDA Photos)

WEATHER MAN at Federal Civil Defense Administration headquarters at Battle Creek, Mich., plots areas affected by simulated fallout during Operation Alert 1956. Radiation fallout predictions, based on twice-daily nationwide high-altitude wind observations by the Weather Bureau, are plotted daily by an assortment of government agencies at all levels as routine preparation for the day when those winds might be carrying real fallout. (FCDA Photo)

FCDA Offers Practical Defense Against Fallout

In a split second during the pre-dawn hours of a morning in November 1952, radioactive fallout came of age as a potential hazard to every living thing.

Since then, millions of words have been written and spoken about it. We are told that it cannot be detected by any of the human senses, only by radiation detection devices. It can hitch a ride on the wind for hundreds of miles from a nuclear blast, settle to earth even in remote places and make entire areas temporarily uninhabitable.

BUT WHAT, ACTUALLY, is fallout? Can its movement be predicted? And what can people do to protect against it?

Fallout is nothing more than tiny dust particles blasted into the air when a nuclear weapon's fireball intersects the earth's surface. This material is then made radioactive by the fireball, and thus carries dangerous radiation to wherever the dust falls.

By plotting high-altitude winds, weather men can predict the area of fallout, and tell approximately where it will land. Radiological monitoring would then establish specific fallout patterns.

People can protect themselves mainly by staying under cover, and tuning a battery-operated radio to emergency civil defense frequencies for expert instructions. A basement makes a fair shelter, an old-fashioned root cellar an excellent one. This is because only 1/5,000th of the radiation that would hit a person in the open will penetrate three feet of earth.

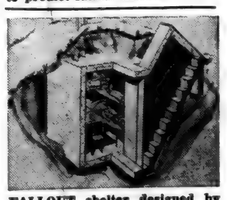
MOST IMPORTANT, remember that fallout leaves no margin for errors, or amateurs. For example, just because the surface wind is blowing from a "safe" direction doesn't mean that the winds above 10,000 feet —which would usually dominate the direction of fallout—weren't blowing some other way. Only the experts have the equipment to predict fallout areas.



FALLOUT shelter designed by the Federal Civil Defense Administration would provide almost complete protection from fallout at low cost if built as a do-it-yourself project. It would also be a welcome tornado and hurricane haven. (FCDA Photo)

RADIOLOGICAL monitor at Springfield, Ill., food store uses "survey meter" to measure mock "fallout" during Operation Alert 1956. Thousands of these and similar instruments are being stockpiled, and personnel are being trained by the Federal Civil Defense Administration against the day when they would provide the only way to detect "hot" areas and warn people to avoid contaminated articles.

LYLES. LEAS

Democratic Candidate for JOINT STATE SENATOR

DeKalb, Steuben & LaGrange Counties

We believe all the voters have the right to know about the candidates who are running for office. We of the Democratic Central Committee are proud to present to the voters of LaGrange, Steuben and DeKalb counties Lyle S. Leas, Auburn super-market operator, for State Senator to represent us in the next State Legislature. We feel he is the kind of man we need, a progressive businessman - a go-getter in everything he has tackled - who has lived both in town and the country and knows our common problems. He will not be just an office-holder, but a man who will fight for the interests of the people of LaGrange, Steuben and DeKalb counties. He does not lay claim as a politician, but if elected, he will be a hard worker for the interests of Northeastern Indiana.

Lyle S. Leas was born on the Marvin Leas Farm near Hudson, Indiana, in Salem Township, Steuben County, July 12, 1911. He was the second son of the family of nine children of Warren and Leola Spangler Leas. The family moved around while Mr. Leas was a young boy and he attended grade school at Ashley, Hudson, Clink one - room school, Helmer and at Salem Center. While in grade school Mr. Leas took up music and along with other members of his family, played in their own family orchestra, led by their mother who played the piano. He also played in the Steuben County Orchestra and Band and the Angola City Band under the direction of Fred Richardson.

Mr. Leas' family raised onions and potatoes as well as doing general farming. As a boy Mr. Leas spent his summers astride an onion row and winters in school, doing chores, and cutting corn in the fall and wood in the winter. Saturdays he attended County Orchestra or Band practice at Angola.

Mr. Leas attended and graduated from high school at Salem Center. While in high school, he played on the basketball, baseball and track teams. He played in Orchestra and Band and won recognition in County Essay, County Constitutional Oratorical and Music contests. After high school he ran a gasoline service station and raised onions and potatoes. He organized and directed Ashley Town Band and worked as officer of the DeKalb County Sunday School Association in its Young People's Division and was superintendent of Reform Church Sunday School. He attended one year at Indiana Law School, but due to the depression and getting married, had to quit.

LYLE S. LEAS

He married Miss Helen Mason, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mason, dairy farmers of Jackson Township, De Kalb County, in 1934 and he and his new wife bought the Country Store at Alvarado, Indiana, located south of Metz, Indiana. His two older children were born at the store, which was both business and home for his family. He drove a school bus and worked for neighbor farmers to help the family income.

Upon the death of his father-in-law in a tragic tractor accident, he and his family moved to the farm in DeKalb County. He worked on the farm and part-time in the Auburn Kroger Store.

In the fall of 1937, having obtained a full-time job at the Kroger Store at Angola, Mr. Leas and family moved there. Mrs. Leas kept students and with working in the store, they bought a home in Angola and lived there for five years. Mr. Leas started in the basement working stock, was promoted to produce manager, to relief manager and manager of produce department of the Fort Wayne Kroger Drive-In Market at Wayne and Harrison streets in Fort Wayne. In 1942 he was appointed store manager at Auburn and then to district manager for the Kroger Company at Fort Wayne. He asked for transfer back to the store at Auburn and was store manager until he resigned to go into business for himself in 1950. He owned and operated the Star Theater at Fremont, Indiana, nearly a year, sold the theater and opened Leas Quality Super Market in 1951 on the north side of the square at Auburn, Indiana. He has built the business to one of the finest independent super markets in Indiana.

Mr. and Mrs. Leas have three children: Mrs. Beverly Leas Timberlin, a baton twirler of national reputation; Richard Lyle Leas, a freshman this past year at Ball State Teacher's College; and Natalie Elaine, a second-grade pupil this fall at DeSoto School in Auburn.

Mr. Leas is a member of Auburn Methodist Church, Auburn, and State Chamber of Commerce, Union Township Farm Bureau, on the Board of Directors of Indiana State Grocers and Meat Retailers Association, member of Odd-Fellows and K-P lodges, Auburn Lions Club and Methodist Men's Club, and Parent Teachers Association.

Mr. Leas states that this is the first elective office he has ever sought and he personally feels that we as laymen must take an active interest in government and that too many of our laws have been formulated by lawyers and not enough have been made by laymen who live close to the situation and know better the everyday problems we all face. He believes our Government, as America's largest business, needs to be more businesslike to be successful. That Government is for all the people and not for any select few is his opinion. He recognizes the need for taxes, but taxes must be equitable and characterized by justice and fairness. He says our present Gross Income Tax has many inequalities. For the retailer; wholesaler, real estate man, contractor, farmer, it is miscalled Gross Income when in reality it is a Gross Sales Tax. Last year many farmers raised and sold hogs, chickens, beef cattle and milk at a loss, yet had to pay on Gross Sales which was by no means the Gross Income. Government is by the consent of the governed. If a community wishes to hold a fair or community celebration within its confines, no governor has the right to forbid same because of a state road issue, if detours can be arranged. If a bridge is out, we just detour the road. How foolish it is to think we cannot have a detour because of community interest. In Indiana we are faced with a big tax problem, a big road building program, with state dollars matched by U.S. Government dolars. He personally wants to see that LaGrange, Steuben and DeKalb counties each get its share and not let it all go downstate as it has been in the past. We face a growing Indiana and we must be businesslike in our approach to Governmental problems and face reality and not mortgage future generations with our reckless spending today. He is in favor of anything for the betterment of all the people, but he is not in favor of any betterment at the expense of any group, be it a majority or a minority. He believes that progress to be good must be what we can afford and not based on wishful thinking. If elected Mr. Leas states he will work for the interest of all the people of LaGrange, Steuben and DeKalb counties, regardless of religion, politics or group status. Right is right and wrong is wrong from the beginning of time. The future is bright for our counties, our State and Our America; we need to make it safe by having sound Government. We should never forget that Government in America is only by consent of the governed, so vote your convictions in November. Mr. Leas, in seeking the office of Joint Senator, solicits the support of friends and friends of good sound government in LaGrange, Steuben and DeKalb counties in the coming November Election and promises to do his best if elected.

Here's what one first grader said after spending about one and a half hours in school, "I was there so long I expected it to be dark when I got out."

Learning is a great thing but it hardly takes the place of wisdom. Here are a few things that some famous people have said about wisdom—

Common-sense in an uncommon degree is what the world calls wisdom. — Coleridge.

You read of but one wise man, and all that he knew was — that he knew nothing. — Congreve.

Much wisdom often goes with fewest words. — Sophocles.

Among mortals second thoughts are wisest. — Euripides.

The wisest man is generally he who thinks himself the least so. — Boileau.

It is more easy to be wise for others than for ourselves. — Rochefaucauld.

The intellect of the wise is like a glass; it admits the light of heaven and reflects it. — Hare.

True wisdom is to know what is best worth knowing, and to do what is best worth doing. — Humphrey.

In seeking wisdom thou art wise; in imagining that thou hast attained it thou art a fool. — Rabbi Ben-Azai.

Those fellows probably never dreamed that their wisdom would find its way into these newspapers. I dare say that the circulation of these papers plus that of the Chicago Tribune will total more than 750,000.

VOLUME LXXI ST. JOE (DeKalb Co.). IND. Thursday, September 20, 1956 NUMBER 36

Indiana State Library

Around the Town

With the Editor

. . . there, we didn't forget the heading this week.

This has been a funny summer, hasn't it? We really didn't have any lengthy season of what you'd call really good baseball weather, what with the cool nights and occasional days with once in a while good warm weather. And here it is with the leaves turning, time to start thinking about - football? - maybe - basketball? - definitely.

Oh well, you know how fidgety tempus gets.

Charley Woodcox's garden yielded a potato vine with about a 65-inch top this summer. Paul Moore brought it in last week to show it. Charley got 8 potatoes off it despite the heavy top growth. Of course, it all had to be explained to me because I wouldn't know a potato vine from a big clump of spinach.

—Does spinach grow in clumps???

In case anyone is interested, a news release received this week announces that the 12,000,000th case of Old Quaker will be produced this week at Lawrenceburg.

Mrs. Platter contributed an item for the school news this week. We don't have that department ready to go, however, so we'll just enter her contribution here. Mr. Stackhouse is preparing the groundwork for the school news column and it possibly will be ready to go by next week.

Mrs. Platter reports that her room has 32 boys and girls. Buddy Morr is back again after being absent with a sprained leg. Everybody seems happy "and we feel we are going to have an enjoyable year together."

When Karen Holman began her little talk at the P.-T.A. meeting Tuesday evening, she evidently thought she had started on the wrong foot and stopped short to cut off her speech instructor before he might make any criticism with, "Oh, you aren't suposed to start a speech like that so, Mr. Stackhouse, just wait - -", and then she started over.

Mr. Sechler had a novel idea. He said if the grade school gets too crowded, we may have to put another layer of desks on top of the present ones.

That might just lead to more arguments, though. You know how it is when it comes to deciding who gets the lower berth.

Speaking of school maybe you have experienced the kids coming home from school with a story and they don't have it exactly straight or leave out some of the details, resulting in some occasionally startling pronouncements? Well, we've had the experience a few times in the short time school has been going this fall and we've had some fun out of it. It comes from the fifth grade's science studies and the awe with which the youngsters view the facts of science - and understandably so. Usually these stories from school come into our conversation during the supper hour and we now have worked out somewhat of a routine - at the expense of our Mike and Mr. Bevington.

It happened like this. . .

One evening during supper Mike said, "You know the Empire State Building is the tallest building? Well, they're gonna build a new one a mile high!"

"WHAT!" Esther and I chorused. "Who told you that?"

"Mr. Bevington said so," replied Mike.

So, a few nights later he again brought home some information. "Do you know the sun's going to quit shining and it's going to get dark all over?"

"WHAT!" we again chorused. "Who told you that?"

"Mr. Bevington said so and it's in our science book. The sun's going to quit shining in eight billion years."

The third time he gave some further information, it concerned the proposed satellites that will hover over the earth. By this time Esther and I had sensed a familiar pattern and we again chorused, "WHAT! Who told you that?"

But before Mike could answer, we beat him to the punch and put him on a little by exclaiming, "MR. BEVINGTON!"

"WELL, he DID!" pouted Mike.

—Sometimes Mike he don't like us too good.

Hey, I got to be a privileged character Wednesday and didn't know it till it happened.

I took a letter over to the post office after the evening mail was up and made some remark about the new post office equipment being ready to use.

"Yep," said Postmaster Ed, "your letter is the first one to go in that slot."

—Don't I win a refrigerator or pink Cadillac or something?

P-TA Hears Report On Financing

The Riverdale P.-T.A. held its first meeting of the 1956-1957 school year Tuesday evening at the gym in St. Joe.

The meeting opened at 8 p. m. with the school band, under the direction of Miss Betty Boggs, playing two selections. J. W. Mellick, pastor of Coburntown Church of Christ, then led devotions and prayer. Virgil Smith, president of the organization, introduced Mr. Howard Hill and Mr. Joe Smith, principals of the elementary and high schools, respectively, who in turn introduced the faculty members of the school. Mrs. Violet Baker read a report of a meeting held for the purpose of making committee assignments. These committees are listed below.

Miss Karen Holman gave a report of her trip to Girls' State and a similar report was given by Philip Carpenter who attended Boys' State. Mr. Smith then called on Mr. Ralph Sechler, president of the Riverdale School Board, who gave a report on the conditions facing the school relative to new building construction and the three possible methods of financing such construction. He pointed out that time may have an important influence on the manner in which a new school will be financed. Mr. Hill and Mr. Joe Smith assisted in the report and indicated that conditions in the next few years will bring a critical point in the need for more school rooms and teachers.

The meeting then adjourned.

P.-T.A. committees for the coming year are as follows:

Program

New Equipment Installed In Post Office

Patrons of the St. Joe Post Office are now making use of the new mailing facilities installed in the post office building during the past week, as is Postmaster Ed Storer who now has up-to-date equipment for use in handling incoming and outgoing mail.

Included in the new installation is a new arrangement of lock boxes and enlarged windows for servicing packages and money orders. The boxes, windows and mailing slots are all contained in a new "front" inside the building. The unit is all-metal with simulated marble trim. Screening extend from the top of the unit to the ceiling of the building.

The old lock boxes have been removed. New box numbers are being assigned to local boxholders. This new equipment and other fixtures received in recent months have given the inside of the local post office building a completely new look and will add to the convenience of post office employees and patrons.

Adult Scout Leaders Plan Fund Drive

Mr. Herman Kruekeberg of Decatur, Indiana, has been appointed chairman of the coordinated finance campaign of the Anthony Wayne Council Boy Scouts of America. The Anthony Wayne Council's finance program will be staged in conjunction with a state-wide campaign which is designed to coordinate all functions of Indiana Scouting.

Mr. James Kees of Auburn has been named chairman of the campaign for DeKalb, Noble and Steuben counties. The Anthony Wayne Council is made up of Scouting units in Allen, Adams, DeKalb, Huntington, Noble, Steuben, Jay, Wells and Whitley counties.

The state-wide finance drive will open on October 9. During this period the public will be asked to support their Council's Scouting program by contributing to the coordinated campaign. Walter Ervin of St. Joe is at present recruiting a local committee to assist in the campaign in this area.

Money collected in the drive will remain in the council district where it is donated. This new fund raising campaign will make it possible for the council budget committee, made up of lay Scout workers, to prepare a Scouting program in advance, without curtailing the Scouting program which is necessary when funds are not available. Under the coordinated finance program, Scouting units which do not benefit from any established fund such as a county united fund or a community chest will be served through increased council service.

LADIES LTERARY CLUB

On Wednesday evening, September 12, the Ladies Literary Club began its club year with a dinner meeting at the home of the new president, Mrs. Maurice Kline.

The president called the meeting to order and the collect and pledge to the flag were given in unison.

19 members and 2 emeritus members, Mrs. Lora Leighty and Mrs. Inez Hadsell, responded to roll call, "vacation reminiscences."

A short business meeting was held after which Mrs. Carl Sipe and Mrs. Claude Laub conducted entertainment.

The next meeting will be held September 26 at the home of Mrs. Allen Haller.

Season Closing On HS Baseball

Coach Price Brookfield's high school baseball nine have been shivering through their games of late due to the weatherman's furnishing a climate more suitable to football than the national pastime.

The season is drawing to a close with only two more regularly scheduled games to be played in the Bi-County Baseball Conference plus one make up game.

The Riverdale nine was defeated in a semi-final play-off game Saturday by Fremont, dropping a close 5-4 decision. The locals had previously defeated Wolcottville 12-6 to advance in the Corner Conference Tourney.

Saturday's loss was a tough one for hurler Gerald Lothamer who saw 2 unearned runs determine the winner of the game.

The locals play Butler here on Thursday of this week and Waterloo here next Tuesday.

Test Closures At Pickle Plant

Personnel from Ball Bros. glass company of Muncie, Indiana, made use of the processing and packing facilities of Sechler's pickle plant recently to make test runs on new type glass jars and metal tops.

The tests were run on Tuesday, September 11, at the local pickle plant with four members of the Muncie firm in charge. They were Clarence Hamilton, chief engineer of the Metals Division, Max Michaels, engineer in the Metals Division, Don Hanna, sales manager, and Russ Apitz, closure engineer.

The average person may not realize the research that goes before marketing food products in glass containers in seeking efficient tops and closures for the containers. The research represented by this test at the local plant is indicative of the glass industry's concern for good packing methods and also for convenience to the consumer. Also indicated is the processor's desire for maximum efficiency in marketing his products.

The glass containers used in the recent test run have a lug-type top sealed with a similar metal lid. A standard capping machine was used with certain modifications made by the engineers to suit the requirements of the new containers and lids and also to conform with the requireemnts in processing a particular food product. The machine is capable of capping up to 150 jars per minute of larger size containers and up to 250 per minute with smaller containers.

The machine is taken to various processors from time to time to record results possible in processing different types of food products. At Sechler's the tests were made on fresh pack pickles.

Two Parties On November Ticket

The DeKalb County election ballot which will be presented to voters at the general election on Tuesday, November 6, will be limited to Republican and Democrats. The September 1 deadline for certification of candidates not nominated in the May primary passed without action by the Prohibition Party.

This will mark the first general election in several years in which the party, which maintains national headquarters at Winona Lake, Indiana, has not certified candidates for at least several positions on the county ballot.

The deadline also passed without certification of a Democrat nominee for county surveyor. Incumbent Republican Arnold Milks, therefore, will gain the office by default.

IS THE LUTHERAN CHURCH
"too catholic"?

Let's look at that word, "catholic."

It doesn't mean just one particular denomination. In fact, it means quite the opposite.

It comes from two Greek words — one meaning "down," the other meaning "whole." And that is precisely the Gospel: The downward movement of God for the whole human race — never the upward climb of a few humans who feel they can qualify!

In Christ: God comes down to us who have no way up to Him. In Scripture: God comes down to us who can know nothing of Him except whatever He chooses to reveal. In the Holy Communion: Christ comes down to bring forgiveness to us who can offer Him nothing except our guilt.

That is why the most catholic doctrine in the world is "justification by grace, through faith."

It means simply that God comes down and does everything that needs to be done. He has to, because we are helpless — because the very effort to save ourselves by our own "good works" is blasphemy, idolatry, arrogance, presumption, the very essence of sin.

Let God be God. That is the catholic faith.

Let Him be born in a stable for you! Let Him agonize on a Cross for you! Let Him forgive your sin simply because He wants to — not because but despite what you are and do! Let Him save you!

If you have not understood the catholicity of genuine Protestant faith, you owe it to yourself to find out the facts. Clip, fill in and mail the coupon.

Bowlers Having Big Year

Bowling enthusiasts in the St. Joe-Spencerville area are getting into full swing in their respective leagues with competition having begun in the last few weeks. St. Joe Tax Levy Cut 15c By Board

The DeKalb County Tax adjustment Board reviewed the proposed levies in the 24 taxing units in the county Monday, September 10, and made rate cuts in 6 of the units. Included was the tax rate of St. Joe Town with 15 cents taken from the general corporation levy, reducing it from $1.27 to $1.12.

Other cuts came in the Fairfield Township, Auburn City Schools, Auburn - Jackson Schools, Altona and Ashley.

In the Auburn and corresponding Auburn - Jackson school budgets, the board cut 2 cents from the special schools fund, reducing it from $1.17 to $1.15, and cut 2 cents from the tuition rate, from $1.02 to $1.

Fairfield Township received a 2 cent reduction in the tuition rate, from 87 cents to 85 cents.

Altona received a 2 cent reduction in the general corporation rate from 59 to 57 cents.

Ashley's general corporation rate was cut 10 cents, from $1.55 to $1.45.

The board found no reason for reductions in the proposed 1957 county general levy of 53 cents. The county council had sliced $6,000 from the county and welfare budgets but the proposed levies for both will raise slightly less than the required amounts and reductions by the board were not possible.

The welfare levy was left at 13 cents. Also left intact were the 5-cent levy for general ditch improvement and 10 cents for the cumulative and bridge building fund.

Proposed rates in 18 of the taxing units were unchanged. These include Butler Township, Concord, Franklin, Grant, Jackson, Keyser, Newville, Richland, Smithfield, Spencer, Stafford, Troy, Union and Wilmington townships and Garrett, Butler city, Corunna and Waterloo.

VISION OF VICTORY

Lesson for September 23, 1956

After the battle, as Homer's poem tells it, the Greeks and Trojans who had been killed went right on fighting. Whoever won the flesh-and-blood war, the ghost-war went on and would go on forever. That was primitive Greek religion. But the same kind of notion is to be found in other religions. In the Zend-Avesta, sacred book of the ancient Persian religion, there is the picture of the good God Ahura-Mazda and the evil God Ahriman, in perpetual never-ending war with each other. Strangely enough, this same idea floats around in people's heads who have been Christian long enough to know better. They pray, "Thy Kingdom come"; but nothing would surprise them more than if the Kingdom of God really came!

Desperate Battle

The ancient Persians were not entirely wrong. Life is a battle, a desperate age-long war between good and evil. God, and the friends of God, do not run over all opposition. The cause of God has had defeats. As a modern writer puts it, "Victory has many wounds." There are those who cannot see this. All things are good, some wish us to believe. But it is truer to the facts to see that not all things are good, but there are persons and forces going all-out to destroy what is good. No matter how good a man is, no matter how good a cause is, if it prevails in this world there has to be a fight first. The book of Revelation in our Bible is a book of battles. Its pages are red with flame and blood. The white-robed saints in light have come through "great tribulation." The young Christian who finds the going rough, the veteran Christian who becomes discouraged over the defeat of some cause that surely ought to have won,—all need to read the Bible again. Victory for God and the right there will be; but not easily and probably not today.

Personal Victory

In all the wars of this world some on the winning side have never struck a blow or got into the fight at all. The armed forces do the fighting, the stay-at-homes celebrate the victory when it comes. It is different in the world-wide, age-long struggle between God and all that is anti-God. If the Bible teaches anything plainly it is that no one will share the victory of God who has not taken part in the struggle on God's side. Many Christian hymns express this idea, such as "Am I a Soldier of the Cross?" and "The Son of God Goes Forth To War." First the war, then the victory. Now there are many religions that teach something like this. Valhalla, Paradise, Nirvana, heaven, whatever it is called—most religions look forward to a time and place where everyone is, so to speak, a veteran of a successful war. But what do they do with their victory? Here the Christian religion stands out alone. "His servants shall serve Him," the Bible says. So John Sutherland Bonnell says in his little book, "Heaven and Hell," (Abingdon Press, $1.00). "The rest which is promised us in heaven is not the rest of passivity or indolence. There will be constant opportunities for spiritual development and service."

Christ Will Reign

But the church is sure that that the Christian can look forward to final victory only because he is fighting in the cause and army of Christ. It is his victory after all, not ours. If he lost, we would lose. There is a great future tense in our faith in Christ. There is a past tense first: He has conquered death and evil, by the cross and resurrection he struck the forces of evil the fatal blow. But not the final one. For there is the present tense: In the lives of Christians, in his church, he wins victories today. But the future tense is equally important. Christian people have never been agreed in the details, but all Christians everywhere are one in affirming: CHRIST WILL REIGN! Not only in heaven but on earth. A Christianity that does not look forward to Christ's final triumph, complete and world-wide, is not only untrue to the Bible but is like that old Persian belief, courageous to be sure, but dismal—that outlook on an eternal future just as uncertain and mixed with evil as is this present age. No—the How and When are God's secret, but it is no secret that Christ will be Lord of all.

The Indiana Story No. 22

A National Exhibit

More than a hundred years ago a young American was stirred by the efforts under way in Michigan to bring to national view a rare glacial relic. It was the celebrated Ontonagon copper boulder. In 1843 it was shipped down to Detroit from the Lake Superior region. Twenty-one men had labored a week to move the stone out of the river bed where the glacier had dropped it. The owner planned to exhibit the copper rock in eastern cities, as evidence of wilderness wealth. Shortly the federal government seized the boulder as a national treasure. As the exhibit moved slowly toward Washington, souvenirs were chipped from it. In reduced size the Ontonagon boulder is on display today at the Smithsonian Institute for teachers and their pupils.

DST Question On Hoosier Ballots

DeKalb County voters and voters in the remainder of the state of Indiana will be handed a ballot on November 6 to express their views on daylight saving and central standard time.

Since October of 1954, when Fort Wayne went on year-around daylight saving time by city council enactment, DeKalb County has operated on daylight saving time. County clerk Ralph Bruce said the time ballot will serve as a guide to the Indiana legislature at its biennial session next January. The referendum is intended to determine definitely whether Hoosier citizens as a whole, prefer central standard or daylight saving time.

For several years previous to the change in 1954, local communities had operated on daylight saving time only during the summer months. When the Indiana General Assembly passed a law that all government business be transacted on central standard time, communities adjusted the opening and closing of governmental offices to circumvent the requirement.

Fetters sustained a deep cut on the right side of his neck which severed an artery. He was taken to the Souder Hospital for emergency surgery. He also sustained bruises and shock.

The other driver, Phillip Edward Beck, 16, of R2, Auburn, was taken to Sanders Hospital for treatment of cuts, buises snd shock. He was released the next day.

Investigating officers indicated that charges of driving on the wrong side of the road would be filed agsinst Fetters. They also reported he had been drinking.

The accident occurred at 6:10 p.m. about 500 feet west of the B&O Railroad crossing on the South Auburn - Garrett blacktop at Auburn Junction.

Beck told officers that Fetters' car was traveling on the wrong side of the road. Beck said he swerved to the left in an unsuccessful effort to avoid the collision. The impact spun Fetters' 1956 Chevrolet around in the highway but neither vehicle upset. Beck was driving a 1947 Pontiac. Estimated damage to the Chevrolet was $850. The Pontiac was a total loss.

Police said Fetters, who is recovering from his injuries, would be cited to appear in Auburn City Court at a later date.

Girls' 4-H Club Has Successful Year

The Workers Not Shirkers Girls' 4-H Club will complete its work for the year with a number of the girls exhibiting at the DeKalb County Fair.

At the county demonstration in July, the club was represented by Esther Fetters, senior member, and Ruth Washler, junior member. Esther placed second in the county. She demonstrated how to make a waste paper basket.

At the county judging in July several of the girls participated with the various projects. The final results gave a first placing to Mary Jane Baker in room improvement and Esther Fetters a second placing in food preparation. They represented DeKalb County at the district judging at Wabash.

At the local achievement day on August 2, the girls had a good exhibit and were highly praised by the judges. All the girls received blue or red ribbons which gave them first or second placings.

The club was represented in the county dress revue by Carol Baker in clothing I, Mary Jane Baker in clothing IV, Ruth Washler in clothing III, Esther Fetters in clothing V and Janet Jarrett in clothing VI. Carol Baker received a third placing for her apron, and Ruth Washler received a third placing for her print dress. Carol and Ruth appeared on a TV program over WINT on August 10 in connection with this dress revue.

Mary Jane Baker exhibited a cotton school dress at the state fair on which she received a third placing.

The club finished with a 100 per cent completion and with all the other requirements needed, qualified as an honor club.

At the close of their activities this year, the club had a picnic at Eckhart Park in Auburn and then went to the Garrett swimming pool for an enjoyable afternoon.

The club was entertained by the St. Joe Valley and Concord Jr. home demonstration clubs on a day in Fort Wayne during which they visited the new Eavey Market and South Gate Plaza Center where they enjoyed duncheon.

"People who throw dirt always lose ground."

The good old football season is about here. Some have called it "Autumnal Madness." Just this morning a 1956 football handbook and schedule came to our desk, so if you want to know what college team plays where and when come in and we'll look it up for you.

This is quite an interesting book, showing the various team formations. Also all the gyrations the "ump" goes through trying to show what the penalties are all about.

Did you ever sit so high and so far away from the field at a college game that you had to have the action relayed to you by a portable radio? You're wrong again! I am not going to try and sell you a portable radio, although it's a good idea.

This is it! We are to be headquarters for a fine line of binoculars and field glasses. With these glasses you can see the ball game, even pick out individual players and follow them through the plays.

You can be a "bird watcher" and help Councilman Miller with a pair of these glasses. Come in and see this new addition to our line of merchandise.

VOLUME LXXI | ST. JOE (DeKalb Co.). IND. | Thursday, September 27, 1956 | NUMBER 37

Around the Town

With the Editor

If anyone is looking for a good place to sleep, St. Joe is the spot this week, what with everybody at the fair.

You could have target practice on state road 1 evenings and never hit a thing. It really gets quiet, doesn't it?

Don Walters sent another letter during the past week. He will be transferred to another company but doesn't yet know which it will be. He is stationed at Fort Carson, Col., and expects to play on the post basketball team again this year.

A pretty good sized white dog must have thought he hit gold Wednesday noon as I brought out a pan full of bones to take home for the Mrs. to work on for soup at the Lions stand. He followed me to the car, then across the street to the shop with that look on his face that said, "I'm hungry."

He stayed hungry.

The outdoors is pretty, all right. And it's also pretty dry. This is a good time to be extra careful about fire hazards.

We had a fire hazard in our house last week but couldn't find out if it was Mike, Dave or Phil.

One morning the bathroom rug had some mysterious burns on it but there was complete innocence expressed by the two primary suspects. The other was asleep.

Kids generally reach the age when they just like to light matches, and sometimes they get more than the matches lit. Just a few years ago when the John Hayerstocks lived here, young Bill holed up in a closet and began having a good time with matches. He managed to get a portion of the contents of the closet ablaze, but fortunately the flames were discovered in time to put them out.

Well what do you know. A couple of subscribers on the mailing list down at Bloomington's I. U. campus must be kinda close to each other. One is the Ben Simpson family at D-111 Hoosier Courts. He was principal at Riverdale last year. The others are relates of mine, sister Marge and brother-in-law Phil Appleman at E-211 New Hoosier Courts. I suppose the "New" in the one address may mean quite a distance. We were down there last fall and it is quite a distance—from where you park your car to E-211, especially when you're carrying a load—— suitcases, etc.

—Wonder if they pass one another on the campus and don't know who they are?

Soil Bank Registration Due By Oct. 5

Soil bank applications for taking part in the 1957 wheat acreage reserve are now available, Ray W. Miller, chairman of the DeKalb County ASC Office has announced. Eligible producers have until October 5, 1956, to sign contracts under this phase of the soil bank.

The 1957 soil bank program will be similar to the program now in effect for 1956 as it relates to the production of wheat. The formula for determining payments, yield factors and the restrictions will be the same except that the minimum acreage allowable has been reduced for the 1957 program from 5 to 3 acres.

The soil bank act, passed earlier this year, provides a two-pronged attack on surpluses of corn, wheat and tobacco in Indiana, as well as additional crops in other parts of the U. S. Farmers are paid for setting aside an acreage of cropland, and placing this cropland in either an acreage reserve for one year or in the longer term of 3 to 10 years under the conservation reserve. Both programs are now in fact available.

Under the acreage reserve feature of the act, producers will be asked to set aside an amount of cropland suitable for the production of wheat. Not less than three acres and up to 50 percent of their allotment or 50 acres, whichever is larger, may be put in the 1957 wheat program. Payment will be paid according to an established yield at $1.20 per bushel for the number of eligible acres so contracted.

Mr. Miller urges all wheat growers who are interested in obtaining more specific information to visit the local ASC office at Auburn where competent assitance and advice will be offered as it refers to each producer's farm.

The list of exhibitors at the DeKalb County Fair produced a winner at the beginning of the week with the Sisters of the Skillet Home Demonstration Club of St. Joe taking first prize in booth competition.

Judging of the 36 home demonstration booths in the assembly room of the court house was completed ahead of the official opening of the fair last Tuesday evening. Mrs. Reah Butler, home agent in LaGrange County was the judge in the exhibit. The theme was "Years of Achievement."

President of the Sisters of the Skillet is Mrs. Gladys Akey. First prize was $35.

Second prize of $30 was awarded to the Friendship Club of Fairfield Township. Third place and $25 was awarded to the Jolly Janes of Butler. Progressive Homemakers of Auburn won fourth place and $20. The Bestyette club of Auburn took fifth prize of $15 and two clubs, Charm & Chatter of Auburn and the Never Idle Club of Smithfield Township tied for sixth.

Other clubs competing were Grant Township, Ener-Jets of Butler, Stafford Township, Country Charm Club, Waterloo Club, Sugar and Spice, Jacksonettes, Worthwhyle, Keyser Township, Franklin Township, Town & Country, Garrett Homemakers, Richland Township, Concord Jr. Club, Union Township, Model Home Club, Wilmington Township, Butler Township, Chatter Belles, St. Joe Valley, DoMor Club, Jackson Township, Corunna, Newville Township, Fairfield Township, Troy Township, Auburn Club, Smithfield Township and Spencer Township.

6-Way Tie Headlines Club's Memorial Shoot

A large crowd was in hand for the Dr Seth DeMuth Memorial Shoot held last Sunday at the St. Joe Valley Conservation Club grounds.

Ralph Johnson, chairman of the gun club, reported that a strong north to northwest wind took some targets as high as the tree tops, but in spite of this condition, the scores were unusually high. Only 3 scores were below 90 and six shooters tied for the championship trophy with scores of 97x100.

It took 75 extra targets to decide the winner. Robert Conrad finally emerged victorius with 24-25-24 to Virgil Holman's 24-25-22. The others in the tie dropped out in the first and second rounds.

Conrad missed only 5 targets out of 175 which is exceptional shooting on a windy day.

The next shoot will be held on October 28.

2nd ANNUAL CHILD EVANGELISM FALL CONFERENCE AT AUBURN

"Let Them Come" has been chosen as the theme for the second annual fall conference of the DeKalb County Child Evangelism Fellowship. Miss Frances Bennett, instructor of Child Evangelism at Moody Bible Institute, will be the guest speaker Monday, October 1, at the Nazarene Church in Auburn.

Miss Bennett has spent 57 years on the streets, in the homes, in rallies, telling children about the Lord Jesus Christ. She is nationally known as "Miss Child Evangelism." She is also one of the best "story tellers" of the Bible.

Three sessions starting at 9:30 a.m. and 1:30 and 7:30 p. m. will offer a wide variety of features and helps for those interested in working with children in the church. The evening program, in addition to Miss Bennett's talk, will feature the sound film strip "Bantu, Tales of the Jungle."

All are invited to attend these sessions.

DID MARTIN LUTHER "Go Far Enough?"

"Luther made a fine start," a man wrote recently, "but he didn't go far enough! Other denominations had to finish the job."

How about it?

Let's look at the facts. Take, for example, the central doctrine of Christianity: Salvation.

The medieval church taught that if a man strives desperately enough, if he engages in enough "good works," if he climbs part way up the ladder — then God will be willing to reach down and give him a helping hand.

But, returning to the New Testament, the Reformation Church learned that we are saved by grace alone! — that we can not even want salvation unless God first kindles our hearts, that we are utterly helpless by ourselves, that God lifts us up all the way, that we can contribute nothing, that Christ does it all.

In brief — medieval religion stressed human effort, but Lutheranism trusts solely in God's activity.

How could any church "go farther" than that?

In actual fact, most efforts to "go farther" have ended up closer to the Middle Ages.

For example: Whenever attention is shifted from the Atonement of Christ to a certain "mode of living" — then religion has become a human activity. Or: When the Real Presence of Christ in the Holy Communion is denied — then the Lord's Supper is turned into a human ceremony.

And thus, "liberal" Christianity is often the very closest to the medieval.

THIS IS WHERE TOMORROW STARTS

A new "inner car" gives you a NEW KIND of FORD for 1957!

Coming October 3rd.

On Wednesday, October 3rd, Ford Dealers throughout the United States will unveil a new kind of automobile!

Cars are involved in every American's life. News of a new kind of car is the biggest kind of news to millions of Americans.

The Big New Kind of Ford is that kind of news . . . a car totally new in design from crest to trunk lock.

This completely new automotive package will sell at the traditionally low Ford prices.

This makes possible a new high standard of such honest-to-goodness value that it actually increases the purchasing power of your automobile dollar.

When you see it, other cars will look out of date, because . . .

This is Where Tomorrow Starts . . . with a Big New Kind of Ford!

The New Kind of Ford is the fullest, most eloquent expression of Ford's special personality—the youthful grace, the whiplash action—and the reputation for durability known wherever there's a road.

To all this we have added true elegance—a kind of elegance never before seen in the low-price field. To make a car truly elegant, you must start deep-down inside.

The New Inner Ford

The Inner Ford—the car you cannot see—is a very remarkable structure. Its frame is actually a cradle. Side members extend almost the full body width; they serve not only as supporting members but as concealed side bumpers of immense strength.

The New Ford Body

The new Ford body is a triumph of engineering in steel. The doors close with the solid finality of a bank vault. Even the door-lock button has been moved up front—easier for you to reach, but out of the children's reach.

All these features were engineered to give you a solid new kind of comfort.

The New Ford Ride

The New Kind of Ford sits six people as no other low-priced car has ever sat them—six elbows wide in each seat, with deep space around each one of six knees. And above all that space, there's hat room to spare for all six passengers.

The 1957 Ford rides low, solid, with a firm, deep road-holding feel. Yet it's a light-hearted, flight-hearted ride—this car is responsive, nimble, agile, with a proud easy movement.

The New Ford Choice

Ford offers not only one, but two sizes of cars . . . each on its own extended wheelbase . . . each with its own body shell . . . each with its own styling.

First, the two Fairlane Series on a 118-inch wheelbase. The Fairlane 500's come in 5 body types, a four-door sedan, a two-door sedan, a two- and four-door Victoria with no center pillars, and a convertible coupe. The same body types (except for the convertible) are available in the Fairlane Series.

Second, two Custom Series mounted on the 116-inch wheelbase chassis. In the Custom 300 Series, a four-door and a two-door sedan are distinguished from the Custom models by more luxurious interiors and elaborate trim. The Custom Series also includes a Business Sedan.

Beyond all these, you also have your choice of five Station Wagons—the famous glamour cruisers that are the champions in this field!

The New Ford Look

That low, low cradle-span frame means a low, low car. The Fairlane 500 is only four feet eight inches from road to roof! The Custom is just over four feet nine inches!

The new Ford is not only low—but long. Ford gives you more than 17 feet of elegant length in the Fairlane Series, a shade less in the Custom. It's a nice kind of fun just to look at it. It's high-priced in every way except price.

The New Ford Performance

You can have up to 245 wonderful Thunderbird horsepower in any Ford model. There's a moderate—and really moderate—extra charge for this engine of 312 cubic inches with its 4-barrel carburetor.

For "Six" lovers, we've got the 144-hp Mileage Maker Six. Whether you choose Six or V-8, the going is great!

Here is where your own tomorrow starts

It starts at your Ford Dealer's showroom!

The cars will be there on Wednesday, October 3.

These are the best Fords of our lives.

They are the first symbols out of Detroit of the new automotive age that is beginning for you.

This is where tomorrow starts*—at your Ford Dealer's.

This is when your tomorrow starts*—October 3rd.

Come in and see us for the Big New Kind of Ford!

VOLUME LXXI — ST. JOE (DeKalb Co.). IND. — Thursday, October 4, 1956 — NUMBER 38

Around the Town

With the Editor

Frankie and Danny Kessler have the right idea. If they continue their good management ideas into adulthood, success will be theirs.

They are now having printed a short notice form which they will distribute to the subscribers on their paper route when circumstances interfere with the normal routine of their business. The notice says, "Dear subscriber, We will collect on ..... because of ..... Frank and Danny Kessler, Paper Boys."

Whenever something like the fair comes along, or maybe illness, the boys will notify their customers of a change in their collection day.

—Wise boys. They've taken a step that a lot of us adults forget about, telling people what's going on so there won't be any misunderstanding.

It was good to see a former St. Joe'er at the fair last week. Elton Howard, who operated the drug store and soda fountain here a few years back, stopped for lunch at the Lions stand while yours truly was frying (or trying) hamburgers. He had a big smile and a warm greeting.

Will someone relay a message to Ralph Sechler?? Tell him that a project to which he made a large contribution in the past has been completed. He bought a new latch for the front door of the News Office two years ago and I finally installed it Tuesday afternoon.

If St. Joe doesn't get a barber or a restaurant, it won't be because Blanche Cook didn't try to help.

I understand she recently inserted an ad in the Fort Wayne papers listing the Cook property for sale. But she started the ad off with something like "We need a restaurant and a barber" and then went on to describe her house which is for sale.

And do you know, because of that little ad, a barber was in town Monday looking the place over?

—You just never know.

Lora Leighty left a script and two copies of September, 1936, issues of the News a few weeks ago. The script was for the three-day "100 Years of Progress" celebration which the local Legion post sponsored. A lot of familiar names appear in the story of the pageant which included a big parade, soap box derby races, the play, band concert, etc.

Back in '36 the pageant included Miss Eunice Shilling as Miss St. Joe Valley. Her attendants were Louise Shockley, Fara Lee Walter, Doris Furnish, Mabel Furnish, Dorothy Keller, Virginia Poper, Dorothy Reas, Lola May Freeburn, Iris Wilmot, Gwenevere Jenkins, Pauline Donley and Iris Jackson.

Folowing the historical introduction, episode 1 featured John R. Leighty as a Jesuit priest. Derwood Ridgway appeared in episode 2 as Anthony Wayne with the script written by Roy Maxwell. Episode 3 told of the early settlers with Gertrude Borthwick authoring the script about the pioneers who settled in Concord, Newville and Spencer townships. Clyde Hart eppeared in episode 4 as Johnny Appleseed, followed by the story of the first church at Coburntown. Episode 6 was the first wedding in the St. Joe Valley, that of Nelson Ulm and Elvina Lockwood. The principals were portrayed by DuWayne Kinsey and Mrs. Fern Draggoo. Earl Kinsey was the preacher and Mark Morr was the fidler.

Episode 7 told of the first grist mill in Concord Township, James Widney, Derwood Ridgway, Cornelius Woodcox and C. C. Woodcox in this sketch. Otto Ginther was the circuit rider and Carl Perkins the country doctor in episode 8. Episode 9 concerned the Civil War and episode 10 completed the pageant with a showing of changes in transportation by Harry Kees.

The pageant committee was Mrs. F. R. Bowman, John R. Leighty, Leon H. Kees, Walter Baker, Mrs. Howard Krise, Clyde Hart, Mrs. C. C. Woodcox and Ralph Sechler. Pageant historian was John R. Leighty. Announcer was Leon H. Kees. Sponsors of the episodes were Mrs. C. C. Woodcox, John R. Leighty, Roy Maxwell, Guy Platter, Fred Hart, Walter Baker, Mrs. Howard Krise, Mrs. Howard Borthwick, Floyd Coburn, Clyde Hart and Harry Kees.

Some of the sidelights of the three-day affair were the contests and competition which produced these winners:

Fancy crochette: first, Ruby Kraft; second, Jane Randall.

Wearing knit: first, Eloise Bowman; second, Virginia Kinsey.

Cut work: first, Ruby Kraft; second, Lora Leighty.

Pillow cases: first, Floy Smith; second, Arminta Steward.

Aprons: first, Lora Leighty; second, Minnie Gee.

Pillows: first, Arminta Steward; second, Minnie Gee.

Spreads: first Ruby Kraft; second, Armanda Coburn.

Quilts: first, Minnie Gee; second, Ruby Kraft.

Bedroom set: first, Arminta Steward; second, Mable Erick.

Flower arrangement: first, Estelle Baker; second, Doris Yeiser.

Club exhibit: first, Ruth Keesler; second, Jean Goldsmith.

Pictures: first, Earl Kinsey; second, Anna Tustison.

Hooked rugs: first John Engle; second, Mrs. Frank Porter.

After the pageant Friday a concert was given by the high school band and DeKalb County Legion Band combined, under the direction of C. A. Woodcox and Joe Miser.

We'll have some more about the big event next week.

Diamonds In Indiana

Occasionally glacial boulders may be traced back to where they came from. Finland's largest copper mine was located by tracing the route of copper-bearing glacial boulders. If the trail were clear enough prospectors gladly would trace the route by which the glacier brought diamonds into the Old Northwest, as depicted on this map. Within recent times diamonds have been discovered in Brown and Morgan counties, and near Peru, Miami County, in 1949. An 11-carat diamond was found at a gravel digging near Dowagiac, Mich., in 1894. Two little girls picked up a 6-carat stone at Milford, Ohio, in 1897. A number of diamond finds occurred in Wisconsin, 1876-1893. It is believed that many other diamonds are found, but thought to be mere pebble curios.

Concert Series To Begin Tuesday

The bass-baritone voice of a young man with an unusual background and a spectacular rise to musical fame is to be heard in person next Tuesday evening, October 9, when Yi-Kwei Sze (pronounced E-Kway-Zee) opens the DeKalb Community Concert series in the auditorium of the new J. E. Ober school in Garrett.

The hundreds of persons who joined Community Concerts during membership week last March will make up the audience who will enjoy this remarkable young man as he sings to the accompaniment of his talented young wife, Nancy Lee Sze.

The youngest son of a Shanghai business man, Sze had his first contact with western music at a Presbyterian mission school with its hymns and school songs. His musical career began at the age of 17 as a violinist. But after a few voice lessons he quickly decided to concentrate on becoming a singer.

Beginning with the Japanese invasion his lot was a difficult one. But with narrow escapes under an assumed name and with forged papers, he finally made his way to free China's wartime capital of Chungking.

After a concert for the 14th American Air Force and other popular appearances, he was assisted by American GI's in his efforts to get to America where, since his dream came true in 1947, he has sung with the leading symphony orchestras and in recitals from coast to coast, getting rave notices in the metropolitan press.

Other dates in the concert series are January 14, pianist Herman Godes; March 5, Svetlova and her company with a dance program of unusual merit; and April 3, the Totenberg Ensemble consisting of nine instrumentalists.

Background Scripture: Genesis 1:1—2:3.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 104:24-33.

CREATION
Lesson for October 7, 1956

It is one of the tragedies of Christian history that the first book of the Bible, as well as the last, has been fought over, bitterly, from generation to generation. In spite of all the quarrels, however, (and there seems to be no hope of all Christians agree here), there are certain great truths in this magnificent prose-poem with which the Bible begins, which are agreed on by all Christians. Let us pick out three of these.

"In the Beginning, God--"

The first truth is that this vast universe did not merely happen. It was intended. It IS intended. God (so to speak) invented it. Why should anything be? is a thought that has occurred to countless people. Why is there something instead of nothing, anything at all instead of nothing? Is it just a happen-so? Did the universe make itself, as it were, like a dust-storm building up in the desert or an icicle dripping itself longer day by day? Was there some blind Necessity at the beginning of all things? Or maybe did the earth and all the universe exist forever without any beginning? Not at all. That the universe is here at all is because of God who planned it and brought it into being. How long ago this started, or how many changes have taken place since the first instant of time, makes no difference with the main point: namely, that the universe does not explain itself, did not cause itself but is what it is and as it is because God willed it. Furthermore, if God created it, including ourselves, he had a reason. We cannot conceive of God working blindly or at random or for no reason.

Order and Law

The more men study the universe, whether the great and immeasurable universe around us, in which our sun is no more than a mediocre star nowhere near the center of things, or the marvelous tiny universe discovered by the microscope — the more men study all this the more they discover that it is a universe of law. If the sun rises at all tomorrow, astronomers know precisely when it will rise. They can know it years beforehand. Men used to be surprised by eclipses. Now we can calculate the time of every eclipse that will take place, or that has taken place since before the time of man. Even that most unpredictable of things, the wind, can be forecast better than once it could. Men once had to take hurricanes as they came. Now they can be warned of them and their tracks are mostly known. Man in discovering such things is simply "thinking God's thoughts after him." As one astronomer remarked, the universe seems more like a great Thought than a great Machine. In these universal laws, in their regularity and dependability we can read the will of God. This does not mean that we understand everything — far from it. Mystery surrounds us still. But no science at all would be possible if we could not count on a world that "makes sense" from the smallest atom to the mightiest star.

God Created No Evil

The story-poem of Creation in Genesis ends with the joyful note—God saw all he had made, and it was very good. If anything God has created seems bad, it is either because we do not now how to use it, or we have barged in where we do not belong, or because we ourselves have made it bad. St. Thomas Aquinas once compared this world to a tool shop full of well-sharpened tools. It is not safe to turn a child or lunatic loose in there; but a master-workman will not get hurt. So as men are learning about the universe they are finding out how to use the materials that the Creator has set at our disposal. But much that is evil in the world is of our own making. Most dust storms, for example, are made by man's greed and stupidity to begin with, in digging up soil that was never meant for cultivation. The whole race of man now stands in terror of death, for though we have discovered how to harness the power in the atom —power our fathers knew was there but had no idea how to reach—we have put more effective thought into using it for destruction than for man's help. But all man's misuses of God's creation must not make us forget that when God first looked it over, he saw that it was good.

DO LUTHERANS BELIEVE THEIRS IS THE ONLY TRUE RELIGION?

Yes. But they do not believe that they are the only ones who have it.

Someone has aptly defined "true religion" as, "Accepting what God wants to give you." And Lutherans know that no one denomination has a monopoly on those who "accept what God wants to give."

But Lutherans also realize that again and again throughout history, men have tried to dilute that which God most wants to give: The Gospel of Christ.

And because the Gospel is the power through which God works in man, Lutherans know that any "watering down" of the Gospel is a blasphemy against God and a danger to human souls.

That is why Lutherans are not among those who say, "One church is the same as the next!" or, "It doesn't make much difference what you believe, just so you believe!"

If you drink strychnine, believing it to be cough syrup, it makes a great deal of difference.

And if you trust your own goodness, believing God to be satisfied with it — or, if you belittle God-on-a-cross, believing Him to be merely a fine moral example — that makes a great deal of difference, too. An eternal difference!

That is why both children and adults are thoroughly instructed in the faith before being received as Lutheran communicants. It does make a difference what you believe!

If you would like a chance to discuss this urgent question, fill in the coupon and mail it.

A cowboy wearing an enormous flashing gem was asked by an awestruck friend, "Is that diamond genuine?"

"If it ain't," the cowboy drawled, "I sure been beat out of a dollar and a half."

We cannot quite match the price that the cowboy paid for his gem but we do have the famous Princess diamond rings that offer the greatest value in the high quality field. The selection of diamonds for Princess rings requires the service of expert buyers who are thoroughly grounded with the fundamental knowledge necessary to recognize fine color, fine make and perfection.

Watch the national magazines for the advertising of the "Queen of Diamonds" rings and contest by Princess. We have 'em! Whether you want a diamond for $50.00, $500.00 or whatever amount, see us.

Here Today!

came the magic that made possible so wonderfully different a Ford. In the toughest on-the-road tests ever given to a car, this "Inner Ford" demonstrated that a '57 Ford rides you sweet and low . . . that it takes the bumps without a bobble, the curves without the pitch . . . and, that in power, it "takes nothing from nobody!" Nothing on wheels hurries, handles or holds up like a Ford!

A new kind of FORD with the mark of tomorrow

The Fairlane 500, finest Ford series, features five of the 19 longer, lower, beefier Fords for '57.

You're in for a thrill when you see this new knock-out named Ford! But save your superlatives till you drive it! That's where the fun really starts.

It's fun just knowing that others who see you wish they were you. For you're commanding the longest, lowest, heaviest, biggest car ever to sport such a low price tag. There's head room to spare for a new fall bonnet . . . stretch-out space for a "Daddy Longlegs."

You'll find that the tough and ready new "Inner Ford" is built to take the roughest road you'll care to travel. New outboard rear springs and ball-joint front suspension let Ford take the turns without the tilt. New swept-back control arms help take bounce out of bumps.

Best of all, Fords library-like quiet is built in. And the new "Inner Ford" is why. For never before in Ford's field has there been a body with so much extra bracing so firmly anchored to its foundation. And you can choose from three big Silver Anniversary V-8's with up to 245 horsepower. There's also a new Mileage Maker Six with 144 horsepower, the most modern Six in the industry.

You can pick your Ford tailored to your desires and your budget, too! Choose from nine Fairlane or Fairlane 500 models or from five Custom or Custom 300 models. Or take your pick from Ford's five longer, lower, new station wagons. Whichever model you select, you'll get a car that's been re-invented from the wheels up!

So there's the new kind of Ford. Big! Gracious! Spacious! A luxury car true—but one that any new-car buyer can easily afford. Come in! See what wonder-cars you can buy now at low Ford prices.

The Fairlane Fords for '57, like the Fairlane 500 models, have no equal . . . no counterpart, in the low-price field.

Riverdale School News

The faculty of Riverdale represents a wide range of subjects taught, places of training, places of current residence and interests. A few facts about them might read as follows:

Number of teachers, including principals, 25 (13 1-2 high school, 11 1-2 grades); married 21; single 4; teachers new this year 3 (Mrs. Harlan, Mr. Swaidner, Miss Woodruff); teachers returning this year after a lapse of duty at Riverdale 2 (Miss Reed and Mr. Smith); teachers who left Riverdale, Mrs. Cleland in Kokomo, not teaching this year, Mrs. Fleck teaching at Albion, Mrs. Kuhlman retired due to health, Mr. Simpson critic teacher at Indiana University High School, Mr. Yaste retired from teaching to accept position in business in Fort Wayne.

For their training many went to more than one college or university, Ball State Teacher's College 13, Indiana University campus or extension 7, Manchester College 3, St. Francis 3, Huntington College 2, Tri-State Normal 4, and one each to West Texas State College, Winona, Ohio State University, Bowling Green College, Findlay College, Indiana State Teachers College, Columbia University, University of Wyoming, and St. Mary's-of-the-Woods.

The teachers possess collectively 11 Bachelor of Science degrees, 5 Bachelor of Arts degrees and 6 teachers with Masters degrees or their equivalent in training. The average teacher in the corporation seems disposed to get his or her undergraduate training at Ball State and do graduate work at Indiana University Extension in Fort Wayne or on the campuses of Ball State or I. U. An extremely wide range of subjects can be taught by these faculty members, but in the upper grade levels the concentration seems to be found in the field of social studies, where majors or minors of undergraduate work are held by Mr. Buzzard, Mr. Smith, Mr. Stackhouse, Miss Reed, Mrs. Williams and Miss Woodruff.

Residences are not as widely scattered this year as were they last year. In the upper grades, there are three teachers living in each of the following locations: Auburn, Fort Wayne, St. Joe. Spencerville boasts two; one each live in Hicksville, RR Kendallville and Hudson.

LADIES LITERARY CLUB

The Ladies Literary Club met Wednesday, September 26, at the home of Mrs. Allen Haller.

Mrs. Maurice Kline, president, called the meeting to order. The collect and pledge to the flag were led by Mrs. Harold Baker.

The lessons presented were "Arizona's Highways" by Mrs. Lela Northrup and "Mental Health" by Mrs. Robert Musser. Both subjects were interesting and informative.

Mrs. Harold Baker was in charge of entertainment which consisted of a piano solo, "Sonatina," by Lichner, rendered by Marynelle Baker, and a question and answer game.

Thirteen members responded to roll call and Marynelle Baker was a guest.

After the business meeting, Mrs. Carl Carpenter gave the critic's report. The meeting adjourned and the hostess served light refreshments.

VOLUME LXXI ST. JOE (DeKalb Co.). IND. Thursday, October 11, 1956 NUMBER 39

Around the Town

With the Editor

Received a letter from Amos DeLong last week. He is now stationed at Okinawa. Amos says:

"Okinawa is sure a long way from the state of Indiana where I would rather be at the present time. I have only been here one week now and one typhoon has hit us and done a lot of damage to the place. You just about get it cleaned up and another one hits you then."

His address is: Harold DeLong HN-USN 9654261, H&S Co., 3rd Serv. Regt., 3rd Mar. Div. (Reinf.) F.M.F., c-o FPO, San Francisco, Cal.

Say, it began to look like the good old days were returning Saturday afternoon with all the horse flesh running around town (or pony flesh I should say). Terry Loucks, was riding his steed and stopped for a chat with Bibb Beebe and company who made a quick run into town with their pony and cart rig won at the county fair.

Looks like Ford and Vera Jackson were pretty smart leaving that rail in front of their store. You never can tell when it might spread and we'll have everybody going back to old dobbin for entertaining transportation. Then we'll need that hitching rail.

Mrs. Morr called to say that son Sammy and Lloyd Dixon were home last week end and they are now properly addressed as "PFC."

Last week we had some of the highlights of the pagesnt held in St. Joe twenty years ago. On Saturday of the big week-end here's what happened:

"Saturday morning saw some fine entries in the Soap Box Derby races. First prize went to Marcel Pugsley and Junior Curie; 2nd. prize, Wm. Monroe and Franklin Sechler; 3rd prize, Robert Ridgway and Robert Simanton. The two other entires were Wm. Mansfield and Albert Rowe, and Ned Keller and Hubert Bleeks.

"Foot race winners were Hubert Bleeks, first, and Jack Goodwin, second. Other participants were Robert Simanton, Robert Ridgway and Harold Shull.

"The foot race for 10 years and under was won by Maurice Shuff over Robert Simanto and three other boys.

"Opal Kinsay won the rope skipping contest over Beverly Wade and Mary Ann Quance in a 2½ minute record.

"The parade on Saturday afternon was the largest ever staged in the community, with a colorful display of floats and decorated cars from every part of The Valley, being led by the Drum and Bugle Corps of the American Legion Post of Waterloo.

"The parade was made of the following Valley entrants:

"Marshall, Dr. Baumgartner; Legion Band; Spencer Twp. 4-H Club; A.D. Perry and Alice Baker on horse back; Miss St. Joe Valley and Attendants; Concord Twp. school busses; Spencer Twp. schools representing first inhabitants of St. Joe Valley; St. Joe Church of Christ; St. Joe Lutheran S. S.; Dr. C. R. Price; Fire Truck; St. Joe News; International Harvester Co.; St. Joe Filling Station; Maxton Motors, line of 4 cars; Furnish Motor Sales; Kinsey Hardware Co.; Modern Motors, with 5 cars; Goldsmith's Home Store; St. Joe Flour Mill; St. Joe Valley Pickles; Merriwold Farms; Hurni's Store; Fisher's Meat Market; Leighty Orchards; Bicycle Section; Walter Baker, pony, buggy and twins; Ox drawn Buggy; Covered Wagon; Dick Shook, 1912 Regal car; Don Keller, leaping Lena.

"The judges were C. E. McClintock and H. E. Hart of Auburn with Clyde Willis of Waterloo. Their awards were as follows:

"Merchants, Ralph Sechler.

"Producers, Geo. Hart.

"Organizations, Lutheran S. S.

"Fantastic, Ox drawn Buggy.

"Bicycle, from Spencer Twp."

More next week.

News item.

"Murcia, Spain (UP). Jose Antonio Fernandez had a king-size case of caffeine nerves today.

"He won a bet by drinking 78 cups of coffee laced with brandy."

Wotta way to get ahead.

Homecoming At Mt. Pleasant Sunday

Homecoming Services will be held at the Mt. Pleasant E. U. B. Church on Sunday, October 14. Rev. Paul Eppley, treasurer of the Indiana North Conference of the Evangelical United Brethren Church will bring the message in both the morning and afternoon service.

Senior Play October 19-20

The Riverdale High School Senior Class will present at 8:15 p.m. CDT on Friday and Saturday evenings, October 19 and 20, the 3-act comedy, "Us Girls," under the direction of Mr. Hubert L. Stackhouset. Tickets went on sale this past week in the school community.

The play is set in a girls' school and deals with the attempt of two young men to attend the opening dance of the year. Unfortunately, Cutlass College for Women restricts the dance to girls only. Portraying Jim, also Jane Withers, will be Maynard Robinson; similarly, as Bill, also Gertrude Harringbone, will be Mike Emenhiser. Cast as the romantic interests of the two men are Mary Lou Trenary and Marilyn Smith. Their stumbling blocks, and the defendants of the manners and customs of Cutlass College are the Dean, Bonnie Guiff, and Mrs. Chesterton, Janice Carper. The school bookworm will be played by Shirley Coburn. Cast as Professor Chesterton, an unending source of trouble for his wife, is Charles Easley. The handful of representative college girls are played by Nina Hoover, Janet Jarrett and Shirley Noack. Hilda, the maid, is played by Shirley Smith. Prompting the cast will be Karen Holman; stage manager is Dennis Baker with Ed Ransom and Tom Powell. Cosponsors of the Senior Class are Mr. W. E. Swaldner and Mrs. Pugsley, the latter also assisting with make-up.

The audience will see, in addition to a "different" play, the first local use of "domino" sets as well as the new valence for the main stage drape.

Tickets may be purchased from any member of the Senior Class or may be reserved, if paid for by Wednesday next, by calling Maynard Robinson in St. Joe or Shirley Smith at Spencerville. Ticket prices are: all reserved (chair) seats 65c; all general admission (bleacher) seats, 40c. A special performance for the grade school will be given and will be announced through the grade school itself.

Of Boys and Guns

Fads come and go.

Right now a fad with some of the young men in the community seems to be the destruction of property with BB guns.

During the past summer there had been evidence of "hunting" within the limits of St. Joe, what with dead and injured birds lying on the streets and in yards. Now the hunting includes not only birds but also glass products, commonly known as windows and light bulbs.

It is not a simple thing to say "violators will be punished" when enacting an ordinance or putting a law into effect. There must be enforcement of the law to make it effective. Ours is a community without local law enforcement, so an ordinance prohibiting the use of BB guns and firearms within the corporate limits of the town is not practical, even though it may be desirable.

What can be done? Right now the only means of facing the situation is to call upon all parents once again to check on their offspring, especially this time if there is a BB gun or a "22" in the family. In at least one instance a friendly warning has apparently worn off and St. Joe proper is again being used as a hunting ground, which doesn't make its inhabitants too happy.

Members of the school board have requested that parents check on the use of guns by the younger members of the family not only because of the destruction of school property but also because of the possibility of physical injury to some innocent party. The danger from a ricocheting missile is often forgotten, as is the possibility of a BB going beyond the immediate target. Property damage is also of concern, particularly with the many windows shot or broken out at the gym at Spencerville and the several panes in the windows at the school in St. Joe which have the little round holes in evidence. Cracks radiate from the holes and the windows must be replaced. This item in the expense of school operation alone has accounted for over one hundred dollars in a year's time. Because of this the school board of necessity is placing the responsibility with the parents and will hold them liable should any young man be caught in willful destruction of school property.

Though there has not been any apparent damage to windows at the new fire house, the light bulbs in use there have been shot out. In another instance, an automobile standing idle while its owner is in service has had all of the windows broken because someone has used them for target practice.

A BB gun isn't had just because it's a gun. A boy isn't bad just because he is a boy. But put the two together and the boy will make bad use of the gun if he has not been told the why's, when's and where's for its use.

Does THE LUTHERAN CHURCH "Talk About Sin Too Much?"

"Why not talk about pleasant things? Every Sunday morning, you start out with confession," said one John Doe, when he had visited a Lutheran church a few times, "and I don't like it."

Most of us don't, of course — don't like to face the facts: That we are sinners in our deepest selves, sinners in the presence of a Holy God, sinners living on borrowed time — time that runs on as long as God permits but destined one day to be drawn up short by Eternity!

Such facts are pins in the balloon of human ego. They are not pleasant facts.

Nonetheless, they are facts. Sin is serious.

Sin is so serious that God had to come to earth to deal with it — come to earth, and be born in a cattle shed, and bear the reproach of the "righteous," and let Himself be nailed to a slab of wood and hanged up on a pole to die!

That serious is the situation of John Doe, who didn't "like" to hear about sin! — so serious that God saw no way out for John Doe except to go down Himself and get in the middle of the mess that John Doe has made of things and bleed a way out for him.

The joy of the Christian faith is known only to those who face up to its background: Sin is serious — man is hopeless without Christ.

That is why Lutheran faith and worship are joyous. If your life is missing such an inner joy, perhaps you are wondering why. A visit with Lutheran laymen could help you find the answer. Fill in the coupon, and mail it today.

The Bible Speaks

Background Scripture: Exodus 20:1-21.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 19:7-14.

WHY GOD SAYS NO!

Lesson for October 14, 1956

A question often asked about the Ten Commandments is this: Why are they all in the negative? It all seems to be "Don't, don't." Does God hang chains on us to hamper our freedom? Is God more interested in stopping us from what we want to do than in showing us what to do? Why the emphasis on the negative? Isn't Christian morality, right living before God, a positive thing? Can a set of prohibitions be a solid base for life today?

Don't Is a Useful Word

Let's look at this a little. For one thing, it must be remembered that the Ten Commandments, as they are called, were not invented by Moses or first revealed to him. We know that centuries before Moses, wise men were saying it already, and it is pretty safe to suppose that most people knew it—namely, that stealing and killing and adultery are wrong. The reason Moses gave the Ten Commandments was not that either he or God had just discovered them. These Commandments came out in their present form (or possibly a shorter form, enlarged later) for the benefit and guidance of a very primitive people, just out of slavery where they and their forefathers had been for generations. For people like that "Don't" is easier to understand than "Do." A little child can be saved from being hurt or killed just by learning the meaning of the little word NO. "Don't" is a useful word. It is simpler, too, to say "Don't" than "Do." Learning to do well takes time, and brains too. You don't have to learn to stop. You don't have to be a "brain" to stop doing wrong. So the Ten Commandments begin at the right end, the simple end. "Thou shalt not," or "Don't," in other words, is not the whole of what goodness means; but it is a good place to begin.

Under Control

Nowadays it is not popular to mention such words or ideas as discipline, self-control, temperance, or restraint; but these are good things in their place, and no life is good that ignores them. Doing what you want to when you feel like doing it without asking anybody is a small boy's dream, but it is no way for a grown man or woman to live. This is another reason why so many of the Ten Commandments begin with "Don't." Brakes say "No" to a car, and a car without brakes isn't safe for a minute. Stakes say "No" to sprawling vines, but the vines are the better for being tied up. Pruning shears say "No" to grapevines; but unpruned grapevines soon run down. Rails say "No" to train wheels; and when the wheels (so to speak) decide to go where they please, you have a wreck. "Doing what comes naturally" may be silly, sinful, even criminal. Impulses can be harmful and hateful. Instincts may be warped or exaggerated. The disciplined, self-controlled life is not a life of mere repression; but if there is no repression anywhere, if there is no response and obedience when God says "No," then life becomes a tangle like an untrimmed grape vine, a smash-up like a train that tries to cross a field without rails.

Every Don't Has a Do!

Every "don't" has a matching "do" of some kind. Thou shalt not steal means also, Thou shalt not waste property. Thou shalt conserve the earth's resources. Thou shalt respect property. When you see a farmer using intelligent methods to prevent or cure soil erosion, you may think about it, and he may not; but he is trying to prevent stealing or wasting the land on which future generations may depend. He is obeying the Eighth Commandment. But such a farmer shows that right living consists not merely in refusing to commit a certain small list of selected crimes; right living is not only not stealing land (for example) from the rising generation, right living includes also doing all one can to pass on to those who shall come after, and that shall have become—because wisely used—more fertile and fruitful than it was before. In the same way with all other commandments, every Don't! has a Do! Thou shalt not kill means not only committing no murder, shortening no life; it means contributing to life and health all we can, wherever we can. "Temperance" is not mere restriction, it is not life-denying; it is life-building.

This is where Tomorrow starts!

Groups Plan For Hallowe'en Parties Oct. 31

Preparations are under way in Spencerville and St. Joe for October 31 Halloween Parties at both places.

At Spencerville the newly-organized Community Club is making arrangements for the local party to be held in the Spencerville community building. A full evening of entertainment is planned. Included will be games for the children, prizes for outstanding costumes and refreshments. The party will be held at the gym in Spencerville.

Also to be included in the evening of fun is square dancing.

At St. Joe the local volunteer fire department is sponsoring a Halloween Party as it has in past years. Joe Robinson, Andy Monroe and Ray Moore are serving on the committee making initial arrangements for the party.

A parade will precede the party as in past years. Following the parade, the remainder of the evening's entertainment will be given at the gym in St. Joe. Refreshments will be served.

There will be the usual competition for prizes with winning costumes to be recognized in several categories.

Both parties will be held on Wednesday evening, October 31.

Vern Coburn Dies At Age 62

Funeral services for Vern E. Coburn, 62, a native and life long resident of DeKalb County, were held Monday afternoon at the Walter Funeral Home in Spencerville.

Mr. Coburn, a resident of St. Joe for 50 years, died Friday evening at the Dr. Norman M. Beatty Hospital at Westville. He had been admitted to the hospital 18 months ago.

Donald Foust, pastor of the St. Joe Church of Christ, officiated at the funeral services. Burial was in Alton Park Cemetery near St. Joe.

The 62-year-old bachelor was born in Newville Township on July 18, 1894, son of the late William W. Coburn and Amanda Davis Coburn. Until his illness, he was employed as a trackman by the B&O Railroad.

Mr. Coburn was a member of the St. Joe Church of Christ. He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Lena Meek, of St. Joe.

Weather Good - But Not Healthy

Despite the mild, pleasant weather of the past few weeks, illness has been much in evidence in the community. Children and adults alike have been struck particularly by the "flu" bug with many instances of sudden sickness reported. Several students in the local school have been absent from classes because of the illness. One of them, however, developed into a more serious condition last week when Peggy Chapman became ill Thursday afternoon, was rushed to an Auburn hospital, then to the St. Joseph Hospital in Fort Wayne. She was unconscious from the time of her seizure until Saturday night. At first it was feared that her illness was that of polio, but tests later indicated that her condition was due to what is commonly referred to as sleeping sickness. She was kept in isolation until early this week and has sufficiently recovered to be recuperating now at her home in St. Joe. She returned there from the hospital Wednesday afternoon.

Peggy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Chapman.

Rally Day This Sunday At Church of Christ

Donald Foust, pastor of the St. Joe Church of Christ, has announced that next Sunday, October 21, will be Rally Day for members of his congregation. The month of October is being observed as Loyalty Month with the suggestion that every member be in church each Lord's Day. Every member is urged to attend Sunday's service and bring guests.

There will be special musical features in the Church Bible School and the Worship Service. The junior choir will sing, directed by Mrs. Mildred Hanson. Elmer Koerner of Edgerton, Ohio, will teach the combined Bible School.

A pot luck dinner will be served at noon. At 1:30 p.m. there will be a special program with Roy Keorner conducting the song service. Bro. Mike Grange, minister from Bluffton, will come by airplane to play his guitar and sing and bring the message. Mike is often referred to as "Indiana's George Gobel."

Everyone will enjoy this hour together. All are welcome.

Republican Dinner To Precede Speech

Mrs. Virginia B. Caylor of Indianapolis, incumbent Republican candidate for reporter of the Indiana Supreme and Appellate courts, will be the principal speaker at a dinner rally Monday evening, October 22, at the Spencerville Lutheran Church.

The dinner meeing will be held at 6:30 p.m. in the basement of the church. Sponsoring the meeting is the Concord-Spencer-Newville Women's Republican Club headed by Mrs. Grace Laub of near Spencerville.

E. Ross Adair, Congressional Representative from the Fourth District and candidate for re-election in the November 6th balloting, will be present to share the speaker's platform with Mrs. Caylor and to meet citizens of the community who attend the meeting.

Tickets are available from Mrs. Laub, Mrs. Josephine Crowl and Mrs. Marian Furnish at Spencerville and from Mrs. Avis Staman and Mrs. Esther Haberkorn at St. Joe.

IS IT TRUE THAT THE LUTHERAN CHURCH PERMITS SMOKING AND DRINKING?

It is not true. The Lutheran Church does not permit anything. And it does not prohibit anything.

It does not pass laws — it proclaims Christ. It is not a legislature — it is a church. Its task is not to make rules and regulations—its business is to announce a Crucifixion and a Resurrection.

The Gospel is not a list of things we must do or not do — it is a report of the things that God has done.

Mighty things He has done! — Become incarnate in human flesh. Conquered man's ancient enemies: Sin, devil, death. Demonstrated the surety of resurrection. Set the whole of human existence in an eternal perspective. Called the race to fear Him, love Him, trust Him.

And dire is the need for that Gospel! — in a world that seems determined to destroy itself, a race bent upon annihilation, a society trapped and tormented by tension, frustration, anxiety.

By comparison, arguments about a cigarette or a glass of beer seem pretty trivial!

"So, whether you eat or drink, or whatever you do, do all to the glory of God," wrote St. Paul. And again, "And whatever you do, in word or deed, do everything in the Name of the Lord Jesus . . ."

That is why the Lutheran Church does not presume to permit or prohibit. Fear and love and trust in the Lord's Christ are far safer guides than any set of rules

Background Scripture: Deuteronomy 6.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 78:1-7.

HOME SCHOOL

Lesson for October 21, 1956

Not many people are born in a school-house. But most people in America move to some school-house before they are two weeks old. Because then they come home from the hospital and home is the greatest school in the world. Experts tell us that a child learns more before he is six than he ever learns afterward; but at the age of six he is only just starting to school, as the saying is. It's only a saying, because he has been learning every minute since he first blinked at the light, and most of this he learned right at home. Learning is not just what is printed in books. The child learns to understand and to speak his mother-tongue; he learns to walk and run and eat and play. He learns a little about how to get along with other people. Among the most important things he learns are what never gets into a book—prejudices, habits, attitudes, both good and bad.

Learning Religion At Home

If it is true that our relation to God is more important than any other relation of life, then it is true also that the religion learned in the home is more important than anything else learned there. Suppose a child's home-school teaches everything except religion, how much hope is there that religion will become real to him? There are 168 hours in every week. Take out 56 for sleeping (it would really be more for a child) and you have left 112 waking hours. Let us suppose that little Johnnie Doe, Jr., is sent off to a Sunday Schol by Mr. and Mrs. Doe, who take him and fetch him afterwards, but never, no never, go to Sunday School or church themselves. That makes one hour of religion per week, 111 hours of no-religion. How much of anything is a child going to learn if he has less than one per cent of his time to put on it? If all the religious homes of America stopped teaching religion, the churches and synagogues would soon fold up.

But Can Religion Be Taught?

At this point someone may catch us up. Can religion be taught? Isn't it "caught, not taught?" Quite so. The genuine spark is kindled only on the invisible altar of God. But in your car engine, the spark does not come to life in an empty chamber. There has to be there the right mixture of gasoline vapor and air. Without that, the sparks shine for a brief instant and go out — and nothing happens. When a gardener plants vegetables, he knows that if the seed is not fertile his work is useless. Everything depends upon a germ he did not and cannot create. But that does not give him leave to quit his job. The gardener's job is to prepare the seed-bed in which the living seed will sprout and not die. So the home prepares the seed-bed in which the living seed of God's grace can bring forth a harvest. Speaking without parables, the home can teach a great many things about religion which can't be learned by inspiration or absorption. The Bible is high among these: in the home begins the work of filling the storehouse of the mind with treasures from the Word of God.

"When Your Son Asks You-"

The great sixth chapter of Deuteronomy is perhaps one of the most often quoted chapters of the Bible. In it, fathers and mothers are commanded to be teachers. God knows that rabbis and priests and preachers are never enough. But we find in this chapter also (among many others) this further thought: Children will not always understand all they are taught. They will ask 'Why?" So, when (in the words of Deuteronomy) your son asks, "What is the meaning of the testimonies and the statutes and the ordinances . ." the father and mother are not to dodge such questions. There is nothing meaningless about true religion; on the contrary, religion discovers life's central meaning. True religion is not a set of "scruples" as an unsympathetic sociologist has put it,—not a collection of senseless "Don'ts." A great phrase in Deuteronomy put a great deal in a few words: true religion, all the commandments of God, everything we ought to believe and be and do, is "for our good always." But father and mother must learn that first before they can teach it.

What put the magic in the new kind of FORD?

The new Ford Fairlane 500 (118-inch wheelbase). Longer, lower, larger than many medium-priced cars, yet lower in price than most of them!

Here's what put the magic in the new kind of FORD!

It started with the "Inner Ford." When Ford planned this baby, they thought in terms of a car through-and-through new.

The wheels got smaller. This Ford is so new that even the wheels have changed. Now smaller and broader, they help you take off quickly.

The wheelbase got longer . . . so now you can choose between a Ford that's over 16 ft. long—or one over 17 ft. long!

The frame got wider. Side rails bow out to give a more stable, safer riding platform . . . a lower, sleeker silhouette.

The ride got smoother. With new suspension, new springing front and rear, the ride this new Ford gives is the smoothest ever.

The handling got easier. Poised and balanced like a panther, this car has swept-back front suspension that works its magic when you need it most.

The power got hotter. There's a wide range of Silver Anniversary V-8's to fit every horsepower need* . . . plus a new Mileage Maker Six.

"Six or V-8 the going is great"

The roof got lower. And it's designed to let you make the easy entries and graceful exits you've always known.

The body got quieter. It's the strongest body built for a low-priced car. No car in Ford's field has such generous sound-proofing.

The room got bigger. There's head room to spare for a tycoon-type hat. There's real stretch-out leg room, too.

The lines got sweeter. They have the Touch of Tomorrow. Each graceful contour says, "Let's go!"

The style got smarter. With this new-look Ford you have a car that belongs anywhere! All Fairlane models look like hardtops.

The value got greater . . . the price is still Ford-low.

The Riverdale P.-T. A. met at the gym in St. Joe on Tuesday evening, October 16.

President Virgil Smith presided. Mr. Joe Smith led the group in one verse of "America" after which Pastor Glenn Hall of the Newville Church of Christ offered devotions and prayer.

Seniors of the high school gave a short presentation from the play they will present this coming Friday and Saturday.

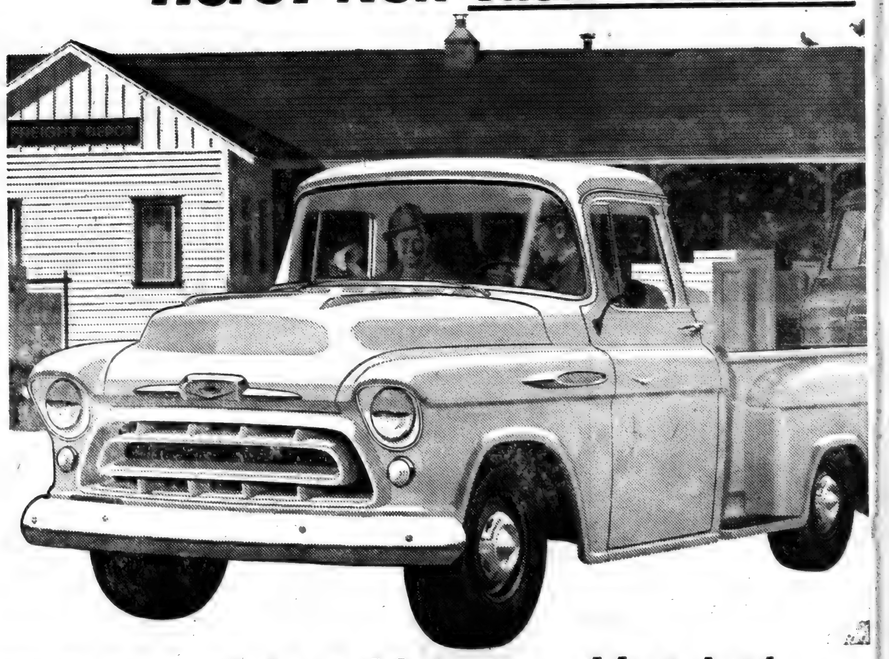
Here! New Task·Force 57



Performance-proved in a history-making test on the ALCAN Highway to Alaska

Here are the trucks that conquered the ALCAN Highway—one of the world's most challenging roads! Six new '57 Chevrolet trucks, heavily loaded with cargo, roared north from Dawson Creek, B. C., through 1,520 miles of mountains and mire, rain and hail—every conceivable natural roadblock—to Fairbanks, Alaska. Running around the clock, they made this tortuous trip—normally a 72-hour run—in less than 45 hours.

Like a carelessly unwound ribbon, the Alcan Highway twists and reels for 1,520 miles. It tumbles over towering mountains of awesome beauty and wanders through desolate Yukon forests.

It's the road where trucks grow old before their time. The road where gravel endlessly sledgehammers the life out of trucks. Where a fog of superfine dust chokes engines, and vicious ruts jolt and jar each chassis unit.

This is the road that was chosen to give the new '57 Chevrolet trucks a supreme test of stamina, performance and handling ease. The results of that test made hauling history!

Six new Chevrolet trucks—representing light-, medium- and heavy-duty models—traveled the length of the Alcan highway in less than 45 hours. They ran day and night—but this was no test of speed. The Chevrolet Alcan fleet made normal stops, and maintained safe and legal speeds all the way. As a special additional test during the run, two of the trucks went the entire distance without once having their engines stopped!

It's all down in the AAA record book. Never before has a new truck been so thoroughly proved. Come in and see how well these new Alcan champs measure up to your job.

Around the Town

With the Editor

Glen Akey stopped in at Jiggs' one evening last week for some information. While he was conversing with Ben Krafft, I noticed Glen's different combination of wearing apparel — his familiar brown work trousers and shirt — and blue suede shoes!

Glen says he got married in 'em and has to wear 'em out, so be careful when you're at his station. He doesn't mind the grease jobs and oil changes but don't step on his blue suede shoes!

Pastor Glenn Hall of the Newville Church of Christ was called upon to lead devotions and prayer at the October meeting of the Riverdale P.-T. A. As he was introduced he walked to the center of the gym remarking that he "feels so at home standing before you people. My, I feel so at home here, just as I do in my church on Sunday morning — with all these empty seats in the front rows!"

—He laughed with us.

With the recent scrap drive the Senior Class carried out, they found themselves the possessors of two out-dated pianos from the school, theirs to scrap as they saw fit. With the dismantling of the pianos for the precious metal contained therein, someone was reminded of Fred Ulm's first "piano lesson."

It seems that Fred had an upright sitting on his porch for some time before he got around to dismantling it. An acquaintance passed by the Ulm place as Fred struggled with the ivories and called out, "Whatcha doing, Fred?"

"Taking a piano lesson," was the reply.

The Junior Class bake sale was a success but not without some tedious hours of waiting, particularly on the part of Nina Kees. You know how it is with bake sales, business slows down a little bit, the gang gets restless, somebody suddenly says, "Let's go get - - - " etc. etc., and everybody takes off, everybody, that is, except the last one out, who is left to serve alone. Nina patiently served alone a few times at the recent sale, but she brought her radio to keep her company. The monotony of the long morning was broken on one occasion when The Fisherman, who else but Elwood Savage, walked by with a string of half a dozen beauties he had just caught down at the river. Seems like he had a 3 pound bass, a good sized pike, a nice channel catfish and a few others, all looking like whales to these old eyes.

We've read about what happened on Friday and Saturday at St. Joe Valley's Centennial in 1936. Now let's see what happened on Sunday:

"The Centennial came to an end on Sunday when all the churches of Concord, Spencer and Newville Townships held union services and a basket dinner at the Community Gymnasium. The co-operation that was manifest in the other features of the three days festivities was also evident in Sunday's services.

"Rev. J. N. Scholes, master of ceremonies for the Sunday services, made a brief summary of the true and false conceptions of Christian unity or the true state that is desired by all thinking Christians.

"Jeff Buss of Waterloo led an inspiring song service through all sessions, supplemented by quartettes, solos and duets from people from the surrounding country. The morning sermon, given by the Rev. L. E. Clayton of Spencerville, on the subject of 'A Religion That Satisfies,' was the voice of the hour in religious needs of our present generation.

"The basket dinner was a credit to the occasion and everyone seemed to do credit to this part of the program.

"The afternoon session was presided over by the Rev. C. J. Ferster, who introduced the speaker of the afternoon, J. Raymond Shutz, of North Manchester College. Prof. Shutz spoke on the subject, "Progress Through Patience."

"Roy Reidenbach, a spokesman for the American Legion, thanked the surrounding country for their patronizing support during the Centennial, saying that at no time did they find a person that refused to help in some way. The community in turn thanks the American Legion for the presentation of this clean, wholesome Centennial celebration.

"The celebration as a whole can be considered as an event in the history of the St. Joe Valley which was made as success only by the whole hearted co-operation of the various committees and citizens and organizations of The Valley.

"We will be seeing you in a hundred years."

Legion Promotes 'Get Out The Vote' Program

by Harvey Hull

The American Legion is making a gigantic effort to get out the vote this coming election. The Walter Whitehurst Post 283 of St. Joe believes that it is the patriotic duty of all eligible Americans to exercise their privilege in this free nation, earned for them by the blood of the thousands of Americans who died on the fields of battle through our 180 years of existence, that this country might be free and independent. Vote for the party or man of your choice, but VOTE, and help maintain our American way of life.

The Boy Scouts will also be on the job to help.

Specifically, our Post went on record at its last regular meeting to follow the Legion's national pattern by asking all homes in St. Joe, Spencerville and Newville on the eve of the election to have their porch lights turned on between the hours of 6 and 9 p.m. if the eligible voters within the houses are going to vote. If no light is on, a member of the local post or a Boy Scout will call at that home to find out the reason and try to persuade those in that home to vote.

"Why should I vote? My vote won't make any difference." We hear that so many times, but one vote can change destiny's course. Just one vote has changed the course of history.

Did you know that:

Back in the 1840's here in our own DeKalb County, a man was persuaded to take time out of a busy day to vote. He voted for a candidate for the state legislature who won by—just one vote! Later this legislator cast the deciding vote that sent Edward Hannegan to the United States Senate. Not long after Sen. Hanegan cast the decisive ballot that admitted Texas to the union. So, indirectly, this humble DeKalb County man's vote determined a major event in our country's history.

All Fort Wayne radio stations and WINT-TV and WKJG-TV are cooperating with the Legion in their effort. Harold Kryder of Leo, Harvey Hull of St. Joe and Mr. Gearheart of Garrett made a transcription on October 13 at radio station WGL, parts or all of which are being broadcast over WGL until election at either 12 noon or 5:45 p.m. during news broadcasts by Bruce Hickman.

Caution - 'Flu' May Be More Serious Disease

Numerous cases of infectious hepatitis in the community have brought some action to curb the spread of the infection.

Following extensive reports of what was believed to have been common intestinal flu, the illness in some cases has turned into a more serious ailment, causing at least one hospitalized case. The disease is considered a virus infection of the liver and can be detected at a certain stage of the illness when the patient becomes jaundiced.

No official word has been released as to the proportionate number of cases or the possibility of the disease reaching an epidemic stage. However, a few precautions have been taken, including the cancelling of two Hallowe'en parties at St. Mark's Lutheran Church in St. Joe and sending home of pupils in the grade school where hepatitis has been reported in their families.

Some difficulty is encountered in diagnosing the disease at first due to the similarity of its early symptoms to those of the aforementioned intestinal flu. However, the later symptoms of jaundice, with the yellow color showing not only in the skin but particularly in the eyeball, is a definite indication of the contagious disease.

Recovery from the disease is affected in varying degrees, some cases completely recovering in a matter of days with others requiring weeks and occasionally months for full recovery.

Homecoming, Rally Day At Coburntown

Homecoming and Rally Day will be observed Sunday, October 28, at the Coburntown Church of Christ.

The morning Bible School and worship service will be conducted at 9:30 a.m. and 10:30 a.m., respectively, with special numbers to be featured.

A basket dinner will be served at noon with rolls and drink furnished. Those attending should bring their own table service.

An afternoon meeting will be held at 2:00 p.m., also featuring special numbers. At 7:30 p.m. the service will be in charge of the young people with a panel discussion and film.

Comets Face Butler In Nov. 2 Season Opener

Coach Price Brookfield and his Riverdale basketball charges are going into the wind-up of pre-season training with the prospects for the coming season showing one disadvantage, present also last year. That is that though the schedule contains eight "home" games, none will be played at "home". With the local gym facilities inadequate for handling high school games under the consolidation plus the fact that the floor is small in size, the team is forced to seek playing grounds elsewhere, resulting in what may be considered a complete road schedule.

However, the team has been preparing for larger floors this year with an extensive program of roadwork to condition themselves for the fast breaks which last year were used so effectively on occasion against them.

Coach Brookfield has but two regulars from last year's varsity, but has promising material coming up which should provide a good starting five. The holdovers from last year's varsity are Phil Carpenter and Alva Warstler. Others were used on the varsity occasionally last year but not to any great extent.

The varsity includes the following (name, number, position and height):
Darwin Baker, Sr., 30, guard, 5' 7".
Phil Carpenter, Sr., 50, forward, 6'.
Larry Coplin, Jr., 33, center, 6' 1".
Jerry Dilley, Sr., 36, forward-guard, 5' 9".
Don Donat, Jr., 43, forward, 5' 10".
Charles Easley, Sr., 54, center, 6' 1½".
Ronnie Fisher, Sr., 34, guard-forward, 5' 11".
Gerald Lothamer, Jr., 53, guard, 5' 9".
John Smith, Sr., 40, guard, 5'-8".
Alva Warstler, Sr., 45, forward, 5' 10".

The Reserve Roster includes: Clarence Bry, Fr., f; Don Butler, Fr., c; Bob Clauser, So., g; Dale Dowden, So., g; Larry Friend, So., f; Bob Griggs, Jr., g; Gary Heyman, Fr., f; Jerry Heyman, Fr., f; Jim Hollabaugh, Fr., g; Phil Imler, So., c; Ralph Noragon, Fr., f; Alan Northrup, Fr., g; Don Rediger, Fr., f; Dick Robinson, So., f; Jim Smith, Jr., c-f; Wally Tustison, Jr., g; Jerry Vinson, Fr., g.

The Comets open the season on Friday, November 2, facing Butler on the Butler floor.

Virgin Islands — "2 votes for John Doe!"

Since the political conventions, we have wondered a bit about these islands and come up with this. On Jan. 25, 1917, the United States bought the Danish West Indies, comprised of the islands of St. Croix, St. Thomas and St. John and numerous smaller islands from Denmark for $25 million.

The U. S. established territorial government with an elective legislature and a governor appointed by the President. The islands were renamed Virgin Islands, the title first given them by Columbus.

We don't have any islands to sell but we have some islands in our stores with worthwhile gifts on them! I assume that you realize that Christmas is just around the corner. See these gifts, you'll be pleased to shop among them.

The Bible Speaks

Background scripture: Psalm 23.

Devotional reading: Ezekiel 34:11-16.

THE PATHS OF GOD

Lesson for October 28, 1956

With a poem, the best thing to do is not to listen to a professor analyzing it. This may be of some help if the poem is an obscure one. But where the words are simple, you don't need a professor. What you need to do is to listen to someone read it who knows how to read and who loves poetry, or to read it aloud to yourself, for poetry is not intended for the eye but for the ear. Let the poem itself speak to you. If it is not too long, let it literally become a part of you. That is to say, commit it to memory, file it in your little grey cells so that you will always be able to find it. Millions of people have done just this with what is perhaps the most widely loved poem in the world, the 23rd Psalm.

God the Shepherd

No commentary can improve on it, and this column does not pretend to do anything but set down a foot-note or two to an inspired masterpiece. The first footnote is on this picture of God as a Shepherd. One thing this brings out is the vast difference between God and ourselves. The shepherd can get along by himself, the sheep cannot. The sheep knows only what is just a few feet in front of him. He has a poor memory and very poor judgment. The Shepherd has to think ahead all the time. There are notions of religion that speak of God as the "man upstairs" and similar familiar expressions. There are notions about God that put him down on a sort of buddy-buddy basis with ourselves. How silly! Some people even think that if they just pray hard enough, that is, if they want something enough and keep nagging God long enough, he is bound to see it their way and let them have what they ask.

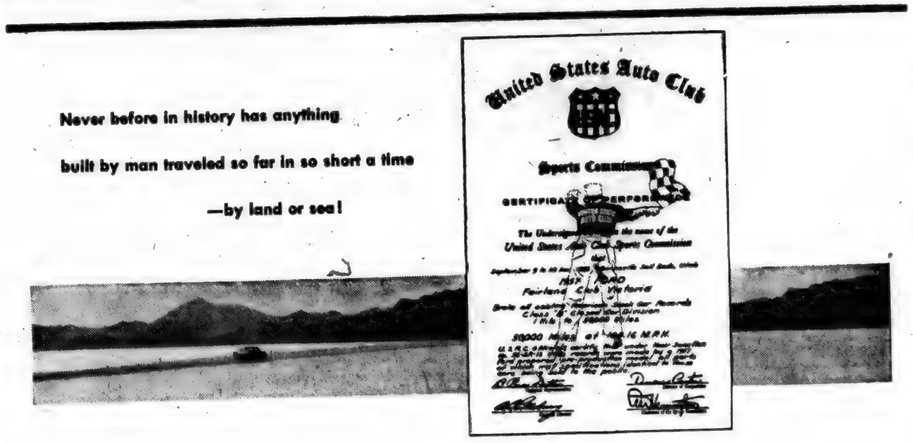
God Cares For Me

It has been found that one good way to read this Phalm is to read it aloud, emphasizing the personal pronouns. The Lord is MY Shepherd; I shall not want . . I shall fear no evil, for Thou are with ME . . Religion has to be in the first person singular or it isn't real. You can go all your life knowing this Shepherd Psalm by heart, and thinking what a lovely picture this is, of God the Shepherd of his people. But then one day you make the psalm your own, not in mind only but in heart——the Lord is MY Shepherd! — and then it simply comes alive. It helps, too, to remember the difference between a shepherd in David's time (and still, in that country) and a sheep-herder today. A farmer, in Kentucky, for instance, who raises sheep just has them in a big pasture well fenced in. He has to keep his eye on them, all right, but then he can go to town or do other things. In a big green pasture a sheep can't do itself too much damage. But in Palestine, with no big green pasture, only little narrow strips of green along creek beds in rocky ravines, with jackals and other animals always on the prowl on the wild unfenced hillsides, the shepherd simply has to be there protecting and guiding each sheep personally or they will be ruined. So God the Shepherd cares for me, individually, he protects me, fights for me, he does not intend that I should be lost.

The Paths of God

Some kinds of religion, even some kinds of the Christian religion, think of God as living in some sublime heaven, watching man as he toils along his low and winding trail. The picture in this beloved Psalm is quite different. The Shepherd travels with his sheep, from one pasture to another. When one stream or water hole dries up, the Shepherd knows where another is, and leads the flock there. So the Bible reveals to us a God who, hard as this may be to believe, actually shares our afflictions, is close beside us at every step. So the paths the flock of God follow are his paths, not because he laid they out but because they are the paths where he goes. They are not easy. The peace of God is not freedom from danger. The paths of God go by cliffs where falling rocks threaten; they lead to springs and streams that will die in summer's heat, they descend among the shadows of death, they are within sight of God's enemies and ours. But since they are God's paths, we walk secure, knowing His choice is always best.

Never before in history has anything built by man traveled so far in so short a time —by land or sea!



An announcement of decisive importance to anyone about to buy a new automobile

The most exhaustive endurance test ever given an automobile has just been completed by two stock '57 Fords—identical in every respect with cars now being offered by Ford Dealers.

Under the supervision of the United States Auto Club and the Federation Internationale de Automobile, each of these two '57 Fords traveled 50,000 miles in less than 20 days. Ford No. 1 averaged 108.16 mph for the entire run . . . Ford No. 2, over 107 mph. These averages include time for all pit stops.

In all, the '57 Ford smashed 458 national and international records.

This test was run on the Bonneville Salt Flats in Utah . . . it was the longest left turn in history.

A car, like a man, is known by its deeds, not words.

That is why, we at Ford, despite our confidence in our '57 cars, let their deeds of accomplishment speak for themselves.

Therefore, we engaged an independent engineering organization to test our '57 cars more thoroughly than any other cars have ever been tested before — in this country or abroad.

We provided them with '57 Fords—cars identical with those now offered by Ford Dealers. The rest we left up to them.

Here is what they did:

They took these cars to the Salt Flats at Bonneville, Utah.

Here, twelve of the world's greatest drivers took over.

In relays they drove these cars night and day for a distance greater than twice around the world . . . a distance equal to 5 years of normal driving.

Not in all history has a man-built machine traveled so far in so short a time—by land or sea!

But this was not a test of speed—but of endurance of the "Inner Ford." A trial to take the measure of Thunderbird Y-block V-8 power without qualification of any kind. A test of running gear—of brakes, of materials in body and chassis. Of steering and roadability, yes, and comfort, too!

A test, indeed, such as no other cars have ever undergone, let alone successfully concluded.

Surely they have told you, in decisive terms, that they are worth more when you buy . . . and when you sell!

Your Ford Dealer will gladly place at your disposal the new kind of Ford that means a new kind of value for your car-buying dollar—the greatest the world has ever seen.

Dates Given For Hunting Seasons

After a public hearing held in his office, Harley G. Hook, director of the Indiana Department of Conservation, issued a discretionary order declaring the open season for the killing of cock pheasants to run from November 10 to 20 inclusive. Omitting the two Sundays during these dates, this leaves the hunter 9 full days of pheasant hunting.

The order applies to all of Indiana except Franklin, Dearborn, Ohio and Switzerland counties where experimental work causes a closed season the year around.

Only one cock pheasant may be taken each day by the hunter and he can never have more than three in his possession. At no time is a hen pheasant to be killed.

Surveys made the department point to a substantial increase in the pheasant population over last year.

The season on squirrel opened August 15 and continued until October 13. On October 20 the season on ducks and geese opened, and will continue until December 28. Hunting deer with bow and arrow will come next, starting November 1 and continuing throughout the entire month.

On November 10 the season opens on pheasants, quail and rabbits. The season on pheasant closes November 20, quail December 20 and rabbits January 10. The open season on deer with shotgun slugs runs from December 3 to 8.

In bag limits, 5 squirrels per day are allowed, also 5 rabbits, 4 ducks, 5 geese, 1 cock pheasant and 10 quail.

In hunting deer the archer is allowed 1 deer of any age or either sex for the season, while the game hunter is allowed 1 male deer with at least 1 forked antler.

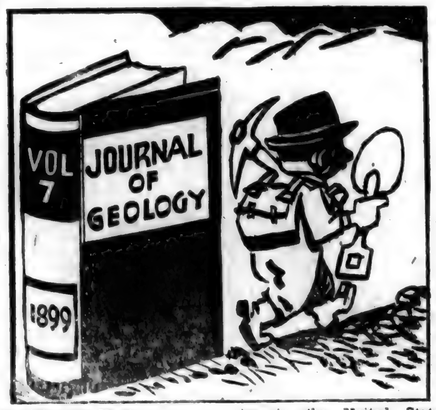
The Indiana Story No. 24



The Diamond Hunt

Somewhere during its advance toward Indiana, the glacier had gouged out the tops of diamond deposits. Clews to their probable locations were published in 1899 by the late Dr. William Herbert Hobbs, University of Michigan geologist. Treasure hunters studied the Hobbs map and pushed into Canada's northland, but their efforts were fruitless. Dr. Hobbs suggested that children living in or near glacial moraines in the United States might "use their keen eyes in search for the diamonds sown in the drift." A popular account of diamond discoveries in the Old Northwest is given in The Saturday Evening Post, issue of January 7, 1950. It states that "some highly reputable scientists believe that the world's richest undiscovered treasure lies buried somewhere on the North American continent."

He struck out 1330 times, a record in futility unapproached by any other player in the history of baseball. But that isn't what we remember about Babe Ruth. His 714 home runs cause us to forget the strikeouts.

Cy Young, perhaps the greatest pitcher of all time, accumulated 511 victories, a mark that never has been threatened. But what is generally forgotten is that Young actually lost almost as many games as he won.

One of the failingest men who ever lived was always trying experiments that were unsuccessful. Yet we never think of Thomas Edison as a failure.

At Fort Necessity during the French and Indian War, a young American officer surrendered to the enemy. But George Washington is never thought of as the man who surrendered to the French.

People would feel a lot less sensitive about failure if they remembered it just doesn't matter, except as a guide post for oneself. Success is a bright sun that obscures and makes ridiculously unimportant all the little shodawy flicks of failure!

We are going to keep on trying to please you! Hope we don't fail.

Riverdale School News

A Class Portrait Through the Eyes of a Teacher

by Hubert Stackhouse

Growth is said to be a natural and gradual process, one that affects all living things. By that standard, the Senior Class is very "living", for they are growing toward that place where they will be ready to leave the school and enter the community.

And how do they grow? They grow in responsibility. They are the stewards of activities that will send thousands of dollars coursing through their accounts, an appreciatable share of which they hope to retain. They are expected to, and in most instances do, set the standards of student leadership and reliability. They provide the bulk of the officers in the clubs they join; they are the executives of the school's two student-kept records, the yearbook and the school paper. On the average, theirs are the efforts that most determine the results of athletic contests.

A busier class than this the school has not. Before Christmas, they will have completed a scrap drive (the most successful in school history), will have submitted 50 percent of their yearbook to the publisher, will have begun sales of Riverdale decals and license plates, will have launched a salt water taffy sale, will have conducted a contribution "raffle" on turkeys for the holidays, will have their class play behind them, and though this were not enough, they will be seeking new ways to meet their Senior expenses (approximately $90 per senior for their trip and miscellaneous expenses).

They begin, despite the conflict of class and extra-curricular activities, to set the standards of application to work in the classroom. Through one agency or another, they come to realize that the end is now in sight. Less than 30 weeks remain and few realize this point better than do the Seniors. The distance to the end and Graduation, an unthought-upon span to them a few years ago, now becomes almost alarmingly short. The results of this sobering reality can be seen in the ebbing of the more obvious "kiddish" traits. There is now a somewhat grim attention to matters that would have, a year ago, been received in an attitude of whimsy or diffidence. They are, in a sense, the school's "old pros", but with a new attitude. Their subjects grow more difficult and technical. Their teachers expect more of them and forgive less (and have less to forgive in most cases). Gradually, the scent of the "world" creeps in on them. They have begun to think of the jobs they need upon their graduation or upon the training in college or business school with which they will cap their high school education. To be trite, they have not reached the "silver threads among the gold" stage yet, but they "are growing older."

From the teacher's point of view, the "spectacle" of this change is something less than startling, but none-the-less interesting, for in a greater or lesser degree, it is seen with every Senior Class in every school. Thus, in 170 days, sic transit Seniors.

The Indiana Story No. 25

Mr. Zero In Retreat

Old Man Zero's final invasion of Old Northwest was halted by warmer weather about 30,000 years ago. The boundary of the earliest clearly-defined invasion, the Illinoian, is so easily traced in southern Indiana that highway markers bring it to public attention. Eventually, with the onset of a milder climate, Mr. Zero headed back toward Labrador. And so, the icy curtain lifts. Lakes and rivers, forests and wild life appear. Before the glacier has quit the northern limits of the Great Lakes country, man himself will be venturing upon the wondrous scene. The melting of the ice mantle is another mighty chapter. The retreat is steady where ice is thin on the uplands, but the glacier will make many a valiant "last stand." We learn its story from moraines.

What is the Lutheran Teaching ON SIN?

"Thou shalt have no other gods . . ." says Scripture. And the Catechism, "We should fear, love and trust in God above all things."

God gave man existence as a trust. Man embezzles it for his own purposes. That is sin.

Sin is not mere dirt on the outside; it's cancer on the inside. Sin is not mere pox on the skin; it is the disease itself — deep, organic, mortal — self-interest instead of God-interest.

Sin is indifference to God. Sin is fractional surrender to Him. Sin is egotism in His presence. Sin is the twisted mind that tries to throw its own merit or its own rights in His face.

Sin is the idolatry of self.

Before the Eternal Throne, man's crime is not merely blasphemy or robbery or murder. It is treason! Man resists his God, declares "independence" from his Creator, withholds himself from his Lord.

That is why St. Paul had to conclude, "... there is none good, no, not one."

That is why Our Lord could not say, "Ye shall work hard to be good," but rather, "Ye must be born again." That radical is the disease—that radical must be the cure: Nothing less than a re-birth.

If you would like to consider God's answer to sin, fill in and mail the coupon. A team of Lutheran laymen will rejoice to tell you of the forgiveness awaiting you in Christ the Crucified.

Letters to the Editor

Sept. 24, 1956

Dear Ed Ted,

The enclosed letter was written by Carl while at his radar post at International Airport at Philadelphia. Carolyn sent it along in one of her letters. I requested permission to send it to you. Permission was granted, so here it is.

I don't claim to be a literary critic, but this descriptive letter paints in my mind a picture of beauty and activity, truly American. I suppose this is because I have visited the spot and can agree that from his vantage point, he can see all the activity of the airport, traffic on a 4 lane highway, the Schuylkill river, the Delaware river, an enormous bridge carrying the 4 lane highway across the Schuylkill, oil refineries, and the A. O. guns of the small base at which he is stationed. What is your opinion?

Bill
(William Hall
Fort Wayne)

(The letter is as follows:)

Dear Carrie,

I've gotten the urge to write what I see as I sit here on phone watch. It's fascinating to see all the activity going on around here. I'm sitting at the door of the van, facing south. I can see much of the airport, the river and the refinery S.W. of the airport. Shortly before dark, I realized suddenly that I can see a fair amount of New Jersey on the other bank of the Delaware. There is much to see. I'd like to be a poet to describe it all, the airliners coming (S.W. runway tonight) in, landing as if they were loaded with eggs, the little puff of smoke and the squeal of tires as they make initial contact with the concrete. Also the slow, rough idling and backfiring of the high-compression engines as the planes move down the runway, and then the sudden roar as the pilot applies power to the reversible-pitch props to stop. The planes turn and waddle off to the terminal, looking for all the world like a Greyhound bus coming peacefully down the highway. Then there are the little things to see, like the small plane that comes in on the wrong runway, suddenly realizes it, roars angrily, retracts landing gear hastily and makes a frantic effort to leave the vicinity, much like a small boy caught stealing apples. Then there is the early bird airliner that arrives at the end of the runway for take-off and sits there looking ridiculous as planes land one after the other.

They are working on one of the helicopters at Vertol's, directly south of where I sit. There is a reddish colored light burning on top of it and cranes and equipment sitting around it. Men are bustling about under it like little bugs.

Straight ahead I see two tall towers with red lights gleaming at their tops. They are far away on the Jersey bank. In the distant south west I see the great orange ball of flame from the refinery's waste gas stack in the air. Around the stack are the cat-crackers and large structures of the refinery proper, lighted by innumerable electric lights which impart a crystal-chandelier effect as they twinkle in the darkness. This alone is a rare sight and a pleasure to see. It is quite dark now. The planes aren't visible on the runway now, except for the large red lights above and below, the smaller wing-tip lights and occasionally the monster appearance of one coming toward me with its large landing lights burning brightly.

I've closed the door now. I have only the sounds of engines outside and mosquitoes inside (conservatively estimated at 500).

I've always wanted to describe this place and its terrific activity to you, as I see it, because of the loss of detail if I tell you only from memory. It's one of the most fascinating places I've seen when I consider that the area I wrote about seeing tonight constitutes about a fourth of the area I could see from the top of the van here. It's like a circus seat. Never a quiet moment. Someday I'll write about the rest of it, the ships on the Delaware, the big highway to the north and the sight of the big bridge at night. By the way, did you know that mosquitoes, like people, have different tones of voice. You ought to hear 500 holding a conversation at one time.

Love and goodnight,
Carl.
(Pvt. Carl Hauke)

Before entering military service, Carl (Mrs. Editor's brother) attended the G-E Apprentice School at Fort Wayne. —But this letter — sounds pretty good for a guy who for the past few years has been more concerned with descriptive geometry than descriptive writing. —Ed.

Tommy Thompson, Organist
Carlton Hotel
Rochester, Minn.

Oct. 13, 1956

Dear Ted:

Many thanks for sending us the copy of your paper with the article about Rochester. I've passed it around to almost everyone you mentioned in it, and shown it to lots of others, too, all enjoying it immensely.

Yes, we at the Carlton remember you and your fine wife very well. The Valparaiso that Henry's son is at is the one in Indiana. The place where you got the shoe leather sandwich must have been Barry's on the north edge of town.

If you had been here in the fall or winter you would have also mentioned that the town has many items of high class entertainment also, - a Community Concert series of five concerts, all grade A internationally known artists, the Minneapolis Symphony comes down for concerts three times each winter, plus many individual attractions such as Montonani, Wayne King, Spike Jones, etc. not to mention the local symphony orchestra and chorus which gives a monthly concert in the fall, winter and spring, and the Little Theatre group which presents several ambitious offerings in the cooler months.

This too may surprise you, the record dealers tell me they sell more classical records to the local people than any other kind - Elvis Presley included.

Thanks again for remembering us, and give my regards to your wife. Maybe we'll see you again one of these days.

Sincerely,
Tommy.

Maybe next time we'll be able to study more of your culture and less of your clinic, Tommy.

Say, those Community Concerts really get around, don't they? Our county's series began recently at Garett. —Ed.

Indiana Moraines

Retreat of the icy visitor from Labrador was the dominant feature of outdoor Indiana through thousands of years. Wherever the retreat paused for a time, the glacier pushed its debris forward into a long pile, as shown in the top sketch. These hills or ridges are called "moraines", and the map shows their wide distribution in central and northern Indiana. Where the retreat was continuous, the debris was deposited in an even "till plain." A feature of Indiana is the Tipton till plain extending from the Eel and Wabash rivers southward below Indianapolis. A moraine slope has ever been a favored site for a homestead (sketch A) and the sand and gravel in a moraine add to our state's natural wealth (sketch B, Miami County, based on Indiana Department of Conservation photograph).

Watch That Cotton-Pickin' Cornpicker

The cornpicking season is again at hand.

To urge farmers to practice the recommended rules for safe cornpicking operation, the National Safety Council, in cooperation with the Farm Equipment Institute, has prepared a series of cartoons designed to entertain readers, while at the same time carrying a message of safety to farmers. Each cartoon emphasizes that the operator of a corn picker should disengage the PTO (Power Take-Off) before leaving the tractor seat. Every farmer knows what the PTO is.

The series of five cartoons will appear in The News beginning with this issue and the accompanying safety message.

Our Rivers and Lakes

Most precious of the legacies of the Age of Ice, aside from our very soils, are the Great Lakes of North America. These symbols of blue magic enhance the security, prosperity and happiness of two nations - the United States and Canada - and they influence profoundly the future of Indiana. Our Inland lakes and storied rivers are also a legacy of the Age of Ice. The glacier has now receded from Indiana and our rivers and lakes - how they came to be - clamor for attention. Do you know that the earliest of the Great Lakes was Erie? And that Lake Erie was "born" in northeast Indiana? Of course, the Wabash and the Ohio rivers as we know them also came into existence with the retreat of the mighty glacier.

Letters to the Editor

October 24, 1956

Dear Ted,

Have been receiving the paper regularly and it certainly is appreciated. It certainly is good to get some of the old hometown news. It kind of makes a person forget where he's at for a minute.

It really isn't too bad here. The weather is sure funny here. It gets as high as 95 degrees during the day and drops to 45 and 50 degrees at night. Everyone here has a cold. The chow is pretty fair, but there isn't much of it. The most frequent complaint on the food is eggs and potatoes 7 days a week.

We just got in from the field. We were on a night problem in compass reading. It was 9:00 when we got in. Our platoon scored highest in the Company. We also won the ordinance inspection last week.

Well, Ted, it's getting late and I've got several things to do. You know, weapon to clean, shoes to shine, etc.

Will see you soon. Thanks again.

Sincerely yours,
Hank Markle

Dear Ted,

. . . Occasionally get a little homesick for St. Joe. Miss yelling "Hello Ted -- Mose, Jiggs, Bill, Don," or other ones as I used to do. Especially miss the Lion Club meetings.

We keep busy here and mostly as well as we can expect. Hope this may find you and yours O.K.

Give our best to any of our old friends.

Sincerely,
W. H. Zuber

Dear Ted,

We are all fine and enjoy living in Buckeye very much. We have made a lot of new friends here. We are both teaching in the S. S. and singing in the church choir, so we keep very busy.

Richard is in the 8th grade. Time flies. He hadn't started to school yet when we left.

Tell all our friends "hello" for us. If any of them come out this way, we'll be expecting them to visit us.

We were on a picnic yesterday with the Bill Moore family and visited with her mother, Cora Curie, of near St. Joe.

We live at 409 E. Eason Ave. in Buckeye, Ariz., just 32 miles west of Phoenix on U.S. 80.

As ever,
"The Moore's"
Mr. and Mrs. Ira Moore

Help Needed Saturday At Fire Hall

St. Joe Volunteer Firemen and anyone else willing to lend a helping hand are asked to come prepared with shovels Saturday morning as the department prepares to pour the concrete flooring in the new 3-stall fire house.

Work has progressed slowly but surely through the summer through the efforts of Fire Chief Roy Bowser and a few steady workers from the department. Volume manpower is now needed, according to Secretary Joe Robinson, and a call has been issued for assistance. A reminder has been sent out to all firemen about Saturday's need.

Saturday's work day is scheduled to begin at 8:00 a.m. bright and early, and it is hoped that there will be concrete evidence of a response—that's a joke, son.

Pastor Serves As Missioner In Ohio

The United Lutheran Church has embarked on a program emphasizing evangelism in the church. The program is being carried out in various districts of the synods week by week with pastors of all participating churches being called upon to serve as guest missioners in neighboring parishes. The local Lutheran churches will conduct their evangelism mission the early part of December with two ministers from other churches scheduled to lead the services. Meanwhile, Pastor Philip Barnhart has been called to serve as missioner for the mission to be held at Adamsville, Ohio, from November 4 through 9. Adamsville is a 4-church parish and will be served during the mission by two guest missioners, Pastor Barnhart and Pastor David T. Holland of Batesville.

Further information concerning the mission at St. Mark's and St. Peter's Lutheran churches in the local community will be forthcoming in future weeks. A series of informative advertisements is now being run in this paper concerning the beliefs of the Lutheran church as a pre-mission aid.

Perplexing Problem Pervades Polls

Hoosier voters will have an extra bit of balloting on their hands come Tuesday, November 6, when they not only cast votes for their choice as far as politics are concerned, but also voice their preference on the age-old question of "to daylight saving time or not to daylight saving time." The controversy has been kicked around long enough and often enough that Hoosiers probably will be able to give a definite idea as to what their wishes are. Of course, there is the possibility that 50 per cent will vote for daylight saving time and 50 per cent will vote against it, thus leaving the problem yet to be solved - and giving future generations the fun of arguing over it.

The Legion will offer car service to the polls as a contribution to the get-out-the-vote effort. Leon Kees has volunteered to be on call at the News Office next Tuesday. Any voters unable to get to the polls because of transportation difficulties are invited to call the News Office, dial 2625, and Mr. Kees will provide transportation to and from the polls.

On Monday night from 6 to 9 p.m., the Legion will conduct its porch-light canvass, calling on homes in St. Joe and Spencerville where porch lights are not turned on. No light will be taken as an indication that the occupants of that house do not plan to vote on Tuesday. The Legion will call on these homes, with the assistance of the Boy Scouts, and urge participation in the American privilege of free elections.

Polls will be open Tuesday from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Daylight Saving Time.

Club Meets Thursday

The fall and winter season of conservation club activities will get underway next Thursday evening when the St. Joe Valley Conservation Club conducts its November meeting.

The membership drive for 1957 will be held soon and members are urged to be present at the November 8 meeting. The meeting will be held at the Knights of Pythias Hall in St. Joe starting at 8 p.m.

The club has been participating with other conservation clubs in the area through the past months in frequent releasing of wild life at various parts of the county in a program of wildlife conservation directed by the state.

Glacial Floods

Under the assaults of warmer weather, the glacier continued its long retreat, and with the warmer weather came the rains in place of snow. Imagine the floods from melting ice and torrential rains during all that long period! For many centuries the melt waters of the retreating ice spilled south ward toward the Gulf of Mexico. This happened because the present outlet of the Great Lakes—the St. Lawrence River—was still blocked by the glacier. When you look at this map be sure to keep in mind that the areas shown in black were not all flooded in the same time.

Were we to get a glimpse into the future, our hearts would be so ravished with joy or so steeped in sorrow that we could never content ourselves with the daily tasks or appreciate the moderate emotions nor act the friendly part of our small existence.

Were we even to know the outcome of the impending election, some would be hilarious, others would be very unhappy.

Four years ago 39 states went one way and nine the other. Yet only eight years ago the results were almost exactly opposite. Four years ago the losing candidate had more votes than any other winning candidate in our history.

It is encouraging that so many of our citizens are exercising their franchise.

Are you entitled to vote? Then by all means vote! People in subjugated countries give their lives daily for this God given privilege which is yours. VOTE!

GLENN M. HEFFLEY

Democratic Candidate for STATE REPRESENTATIVE

DeKalb County, Indiana

General Election Nov. 6

Your Vote Sincerely Appreciated

Why look?

Let's check the record.

House Journal 1955.

State representative, two-year term, 61-day session (governor may call an extra session up to a maximum 40-day with extra compensation).

House financial expense 1941 - $45,381.70; 1957 - $194,630.99.

A DeKalb County state representative's take home pay 1941 - $683.20 and 1957 - $4,429.60 for a term of 61 days.

Abolition of state bureaus, boards and commissions? Only the names have been altered and take in more coverage!

Many bills are highly controversial. A further check shows in 1955, 591 bills were introduced, 200 bills enacted into law, that our present state representative had a record of not voting on 169 bills and 30 other House actions and was excused from only one roll call on Jan. 144, 1955.

Indiana school standards in the U.S. have gone down from 6th to 39th place.

Indiana and Puerto Rico are on par in U.S. at the bottom in road improvement.

When I am your state representative, I will represent no lobby on any committee or in the legislative halls in Indianapolis, and I will have no schools to sell the taxpayers of DeKalb County.

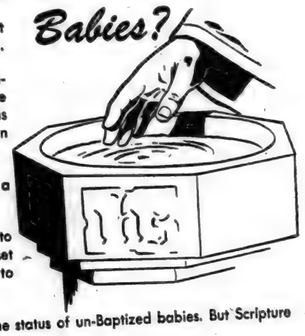
WHY DO LUTHERANS BAPTIZE Babies?



Because infant Baptism is the clearest demonstration of the sovereign grace of God.

In the Baptism of a baby, God gives Himself to one who is absolutely helpless, one who claims absolutely no merits, one who has absolutely nothing to offer, one who can only receive.

And that is the Christian religion in a nut-shell.

But the moment Baptism is denied to infants, human qualifications have been set forth, and God has been denied His right to give Himself to the unqualified.

The Holy Scriptures are silent about the status of un-Baptized babies. But Scripture is very, very clear on these points:

- Baptism is a sacrament—i.e., it is God at work. God gives, man receives.
- God saves by giving, man is saved by receiving. The whole Christian Gospel is sacramental—God coming down, not man climbing up.
- Baptism is a means of God's giving, the channel Christ has chosen for giving His kingdom to human beings.
- He wants infants, too, in His kingdom. "Let the children come to me, and do not hinder them . . . whoever does not receive the Kingdom like a child shall not enter it . . . Go therefore and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them . . ."

If you have un-Baptized children, be assured that the Lord Christ wants them, too, in His family. A team of Lutheran laymen would be happy to talk with you about His love for your—His—little ones.

SUFFERING FOR US

Lesson for November 4, 1956

In the days when a running man could overtake a carriage that was in no hurry, a Christian man named Philip was led to run up close to a very handsome carriage—they called it a chariot—in which sat a man reading aloud to himself. Something about the way he was reading made Philip, now jogging along beside the carriage, ask the rider a question. For the man was reading aloud from a book which is no doubt owned by every reader of this column, a book which to this very day outsells all others, every month of every year: the Bible. Philip didn't ask the man where he got the book, or what he thought of it, or what the book was. Philip asked, "Do you understand what you are reading?" The distinguished stranger admitted he did not. But he was so eager to find out that he invited this unknown pedestrian to ride with him. He was reading a chapter from Isaiah, the very same one that is our lesson scripture this week. It is all about "my servant," that is, God's servant. But who is this servant? The prophet himself, or somebody else? Could Philip please explain?

A Prophet Sees Christ

The book is 25 centuries old, the story of Philip about 19 centuries ago; but that chapter is still a favorite with Christians. The Church today gives essentially the same answer Philip gave: this is a prophecy about Jesus. Even those Christians who doubt whether the prophet originally set out to describe the historic Jesus of Nazareth agree that the picture fits Jesus remarkably well. Most of the Christian church says not only that, but Jesus is the only person the description does fit remarkably well. It is a fair question: Would the first Christians, such as Philip, have thought this to be a prophecy of Christ if Jesus had never thought so himself? Are we to say that Jesus was less bright than his followers? The beauty and power of this great chapter from Isaiah do not come from accuracy in details; it is pretty difficult to make all the details match exactly the facts of Jesus' life. Nevertheless, this chapter is more than beautiful in language and thought; it is powerful in giving us, in a few sentences, the central spirit and underlying intention of Jesus' life. It is this: What he endured and suffered, in life and in death, he suffered and endured not for himself alone but for others, for us.

Levels of Suffering

Suffering can be undergone on different levels, as it were. At lowest level there is mere pain, the kind known by animals. The beast does not think about it, animals around him do not; he simply suffers. At the next level there is pain suffered and resented, by human beings. Above this is pain which is suffered bravely, even defiantly, by a stoic ("I am the captain of my soul"). Above this again is pain which is borne with resignation not because it is necessary but because God wills it. On a still higher level is suffering which is offered to God as a sacrifice —all the sufferer may have to give. As high as this, if not higher, is suffering which is undergone for the sake of others, as a mother for her child. The suffering of Christ, the church believes, is on a plane even higher than all these, though it is like some that have been mentioned. For his sufferings were for men and women everywhere, always.

"He Poured Out His Soul"

The tragedy of Jesus, taken as a human tragedy alone, is saddening. "To what purpose was all this waste?"—we ask Judas' old question as the alabaster box pours forth its treasure. If we remember that this was not only a man but God, undergoing this tragic darkness shot with "lightning of his pain," we can understand a little better (but dimly, for the opaqueness of our selfish minds) what the suffering of Jesus meant and means. It was for us; he bore our griefs and carried our sorrows; he made himself an offering for sin. You remember the girl who said to her older sister, "Oh, sometimes I wish I could take all the miseries of the world and put them on my shoulders!"

And the older sister said, "Didn't you know Jesus did that, long ago?"

LYLE LEAS
Democratic Candidate for
JOINT STATE SENATOR
DeKalb, Steuben & LaGrange Counties
Is A Vote For Good Government

Your Democratic candidate for Joint Senator of DeKalb, LaGrange and Steuben counties has lived 23 years on Steuben and DeKalb County farms. Better than 65 percent of his present grocery business is transacted with farmers. Lyle Leas understands the interest and problems of farming. If he is elected, you can depend on his support of any progressive farm program.

Lyle Leas was born and educated in Salem Township, Steuben County. His integrity, progressive business methods and consistent participation in church and community affairs have been outstanding in all the communities where he has lived and done business for the past 45 years.

Your Democratic candidate for Joint Senator believes: a. Federal Aid to Public Schools, if needed, should be for construction ONLY; b. teachers' salaries should be comparable to the income of those with similar professional training and ability; and c. that Indiana teacher salary schedules are below those of neighboring states, resulting in a disastrous loss of qualified teachers.

Mr. Leas personally feels that we as laymen must take an active interest in government. Too many of our laws have been formulated by lawyers and not enough have been made by laymen who live closest to the situation and know better the everyday problems we all face. Lyle Leas wants to see our government run according to sound business principles.

News' Feature Writer Authors Second Book

Dr. Kenneth J. Foreman, whose Community Press Service column "The Bible Speaks" appears in this paper, is the author of a new book to be published by the YMCA's Association Press on November 1.

Called "Candles On the Glacier," the book's unusual subtitle explains it more fully: "warm thoughts for a cold, world, being Fables and Fantasies about Faith for the modern mind." It is a selection of 44 magazine articles from the hundreds which Dr. Foreman has written over the past 10 years, while teaching and writing the column with which readers of this paper are so familiar.

His book is written in an informal, conversational style. It develops what Dr. Foreman calls "modern parables" out of everyday happenings or objects, such as poison ivy, how the ocean looks, a horse race, water in a watch, or a grocery store. Many of the "conversations" deal directly with Bible themes and with imaginative additions to Bible stories like that in which Dr. Foreman guesses about what happened to Adam after the gate to Eden was barred.

"Candles On the Glacier" is Dr. Foreman's second book. His first, "This Day Forward: Thoughts About a Christian Marriage," was published in 1950. Although Dr. Foreman is a scholar and a professor of Theology in Louisville, all his writings reveal his rare ability to explain difficult ideas easily and interestingly to average men and women. He was brought up in the small New York State town of Fort Edward and now lives with his wife and son in Louisville.

VOLUME LXXI ST. JOE (DeKalb Co.). IND. Thursday, November 8, 1956 NUMBER 43

Indiana State Library

Around the Town

With the Editor

Richard Baker is now "PFC" I hear. His address is: PFC Richard E. Baker US55540620, Hq. Co., 1st B.N., 14th Inf., APO 25, San Francisco, Cal.

Incidently, the News wants to go out to any serviceman who wishes to receive it, free of charge. But I would appreciate being informed when a serviceman is discharged or when his address is changed. I found out last week that I have been sending a paper to a young man in service, only he's been out of service for 2 years! The postal service isn't always consistent, sometimes sending a notice of a serviceman's removal, sometimes not.

So, please keep the News posted on those service addresses.

It's interesting to note the difference in a person's attitude occassionally when it comes to business transactions. The News has sent out notices of subscription renewals in the past few weeks with amusing (?) results. Some folks have been receiving the News for years without paying, and now when they are asked for payment, they say "we don't want it, you never stopped the paper, we ain't gonna pay!"

It's the paper's fault, I guess, for considering its readers like sort of personal friends. There are times when all small town businesses are contacted by someone for a business favor in a personal way. But when it comes time to pay, after a certain length of time has transpired and no settlement has been made voluntarily, then it's "you shouldn't have done it that way."

There have been a few times when a little mention was made here about no bills being sent out but the subscriber can learn his expiration date from the numbers following his name on the address of his paper—the numbers represent the month and the year the subscription expires.

—And if he has been receiving the paper and he doesn't want it, say so. There are yet names on the mailing list put there before I took over, the people still receiving the paper and not wanting it—and also not telling me that they don't want it.

An unwanted News doesn't do the recipient any good — and vice verse.

John Mason and spouse have been racking their brains trying to solve the mystery of the "murder" mystery unfolded at their place Halloween night.

On Thursday morning, the morning after Halloween, John went out to do the chores at 5:30 and in the course of doing them, entered the milk house. He stopped short, for lying there in the milk house was the body of a woman, spattered with blood. He went back to the house to report his discovery and apparently in meantime, the route man came along, also entered the milk house, made the same discovery—and almost passed out. At least he was plenty white for a while.

The murdered woman turnout to be a dressmaker's dummy, outfitted and made up to look like the real McCoy, complete with a good dousing of ketchup for the proper effect. She was placed in the milk house evidently while the Mason family was enjoying the party in town. At last report John and Billie hadn't discovered the perpetrators of the crime.

John Coburn walked out of the grocery Saturday with a sizeable package of meat under arm and I asked about his doing the cooking. He said "Oh, I've given up a burnt offering now and then." He's chief cook and bottle washer now while the Mrs. recovers from her recent operation.

Mrs. Buckingham observed her 85th birthday this week and she wanted it announced in a space "this big" (about 5 by 8). Well, this space isn't quite that big, and we can't work in any big red letters right offhand. But this ought to be a good substitute, huh?

Phyllis Clauser noted that another birthday was observed this week, that of her father on Tuesday. She said he was "39."

—Happy birthday, Sonny.

—Come to think of it, she didn't say WHEN he was 39.

Concord To Serve Chicken 'Country Style' Nov. 17

The Ladies of Concord Methodist Church will serve a country-style chicken supper on Saturday night, November 17.

The menu will include roast chicken and dressing, mashed potatoes and gravy, string beans, cole slaw, cranberry sauce, pie and coffee.

Serving will begin at 5 p.m. The community is invited to enjoy this country-style supper of "good old home cookin'."

Heavy Vote Favors GOP Candidates

Voters turned out en masse Tuesday to register a Republican sweep of the county offices and help put Dwight D. Eisenhower back in the White House for a second term as the President of the United States.

The heavy vote was reflected in the lines of voters waiting to enter the polls at various periods during the day. This was also due, however, to the referendum on the adoption of a uniform time schedule for the state of Indiana. Some confusion was evident in the minds of the voters on this issue and they lingered in the voting booth longer than usual on this account.

The vote in the county resulted in a fairly uniform margin of victory for the Republicans except in the race for the office of Joint State Senator. The Democratic candidate, Lyle Leas, was defeated by incumbent Willis K. Batchelet by a margin of only 582 votes. The victory margin in other races ran from approximately 2500 to 3000 votes.

In the tri-township area of Concord, Newville and Spencer townships, voting went to the Republican side of the ledger with two exceptions, both in Newville Township. Voters in that precinct gave Mr. Leas a 83-76 margin and Lois Smith, Democratic candidate for treasurer, an 83-78 margin over Republican John C. Brown.

Tabulations of the three townships and the county totals are given on page five.

Basketball Season Tickets Now On Sale

Joe Smith, principal of Riverdale School Corporation, has announced that basketball fans may now obtain their season tickets for the Riverdale Comets' home games of the 1956-1957 basketball year.

Eight games are included in the price of the season tickets which sell for $3.50 for adults and $1.75 for students.

The first home game will be played Friday, November 16, when the locals face Wolf Lake at the Auburn gym. The remaining home games include Leo, Salem Center, Angola, Hicksville, Ashley, Avilla and Wolcottville.

Season tickets may be obtained at the principal's office.

Parents Go To School Next Thursday

Hundreds of thousands of parents of Hoosier school children will visit their sons' and daughters' classrooms next week, November 11 - 17, American Education Week.

President Eisenhower, in an official proclamation, has called upon the nation to set aside next week as "a week of dedication to education." This is the 36th year that an American president has proclaimed a special week for education.

The theme for the week-long observance is "Schools for a Strong America."

In Indiana the state's 900,000 pupils have invited mom and dad to come to school. For many a parent it will mean squeezing into lilliputian desks and bending over to pint-size fountains for a drink of water, but it will all be fun as the grown-ups relive their own childhood in a modern setting. Many will visit their children's classes to observe them at work and to meet their teachers.

At the Riverdale elementary school, principal Howard Hill has announced that parents are invited to visit the school on Thursday, November 15, from 7:30 p. m. to 9:00 p. m. Teachers will be happy to discuss school activities with parents, plus any particular difficulties or questions that may arise concerning the school.

Friday is a special day for teachers, designated for the first time as National Teachers Day.

Organization's First Effort A Success

The first project of the Spencerville Community Club was a Hallowe'en Get Together on Wednesday evening, October 31, at the Spencerville gym with about 300 attending.

The grand parade of the masked began about 8 p.m. with MC Dr. C. R. Baumgartner getting things under way. The judges, Miss Ida Reed, Roscoe Walter and Ray Overmyer, had a most difficult time, but selected Jerry Baker oldest, Jerry Markle smallest, Nancy Brown funniest, Diane Heston most original, Gwen Miller ugliest, and Ed Ludwig most sophisticated.

The entertainment committee with Mrs. Lois Akey as chairman had a full evening of fun well planned.

The refreshment committee with Mrs. Jean Moore as chairman served doughnuts, coffee and milk to all that came as well as hot dog sandwiches.

In all everyone had a fine time and it is planned to make the party an annual affair.

Butler Drops Comets, 51-41, In Opener

The Riverdale Comets ran hot and cold Friday evening at Butler, but the hot spells ran in front of and behind the warm period and they were defeated by the Windmills as a result by a 51-41 score.

Butler had a slim 8-7 lead at the end of the first quarter. It was extended to a 28-19 advantage at the half. As the second half opened Butler scored 10 straight points and romped to a 38-19 lead. The third quarter ended at 42-23.

It was in the final period that the locals threw a scare into their opponents. With 3 minutes remaining and trailing 47-31, the Comets suddenly came to life and pulled up to a 47-41 score. However Butler was able to play a possession game thereafter, with only little over a minute to go. They scored 2 free throws and a fielder to post the final margin.

The prelim also was taken by Butler, 39-33.

Arrested For Possession Of Narcotics

A DeKalb County resident is being held in the Bluffton jail awaiting trial for reckless driving and possession of narcotics. Frank Benavides, who resides a mile east and a mile north of Newville, was arrested Saturday night when his car was observed running an erratic course along the highway near Ossian. The absence of any odor of liquor prompted a further investigation which disclosed a supply of 100 marijuana cigarettes in the Benavides car, 50 pounds of marijuana at the Benavides home in the process of drying and an apparently well - tended patch of the weed growing between rows of corn in the family garden along the St. Joe River.

State police reported that they have received reports of "reefers" being peddled at a restaurant in Bluffton and in a foundry workers' section. An investigation is being made to determine if Benavides, a 45-year-old Mexican, is connected to these instances of narcotics marketing. The family moved to their present home in June from Harlan. The wife and 7 children were with Benavides at the time of his arrest.

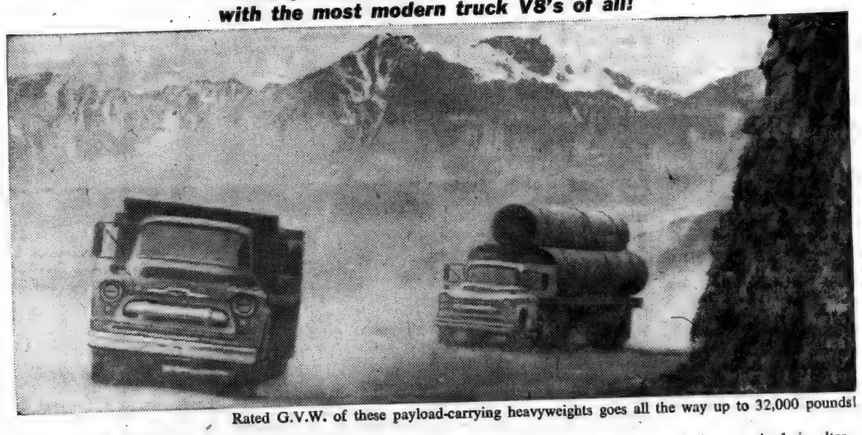
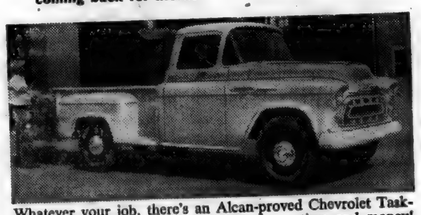
New Task-Force 57 Chevrolet Trucks!

They "flattened" Yukon mountains with the most modern truck V8's of all!



Rated G.V.W. of these payload-carrying heavyweights goes all the way up to 32,000 pounds!

New V8-powered '57 Chevrolet trucks, heavily loaded, made one of the world's toughest roads look easy! In a straight-through test run, they rolled over the famous ALCAN Highway to Alaska—in less than 45 hours (normally a 72-hour run). Here's proof-in-action of power that'll handle your toughest jobs—and keep coming back for more!



Whatever your job, there's an Alcan-proved Chevrolet Task-Force truck ready right now to save you time and money!

Six new Task-Force huskies made the run. And six ultra-modern Chevy engines proved their power and performance—with gas mileage up to 18.17 miles per gallon! Two of the engines were not stopped once, and they hummed along at peak efficiency the entire 1,520 miles!

Chevy's big V8's—including the new 283-cu.-in. Super Taskmaster—turned in top performance jobs. They hauled typical loads up and down towering grades and through washouts that sucked wheels into hub-deep mud. They roared on through miles of heavy dust that narrowed visibility to a few hundred feet. And in spite of the varying altitudes and temperatures, not a single truck was forced to drop out or turn back! Stop by and see them soon!

Alcan run supervised, certified by the AAA.

1956 CORN CROP HARVEST REPORT

Based on detailed information from DeKalb's Crop and Weather Observers.

Illinois is the center of corn production this year with an almost 100% "Excellent" crop. Yields decrease both east and west. West of Illinois low subsoil moisture and insufficient rainfall cut yields; east of Illinois, a late spring, excessive rain and a cool summer limited production. The national crop of [illegible] billion bushels will be the second largest ever. Illinois' expected acre yield of 66 bushels and total production of 586 million bushels will both be records.

Please excuse us if we sound like a broken record but so many have taken advantage of our repeated invitation to come in and look around that we are anxious for the rest of you to come in, too.

Just today, a lady came in, said she was having her car serviced and wanted to look around until it was ready. We let her alone, told her to call to one of us if she wanted to ask any questions. She seemed to have a good time, asked a few questions about the merchandise, then left to get her car.

If it was nearer Dec. 1, instead of only the first part of November, we'd tell you that we are all ready for the holiday season. Many of our customers are finding that out, however, and are leisurely making their gift selections now! May we see you?

WHAT DO LUTHERANS Really BELIEVE ABOUT THE LORD'S SUPPER?

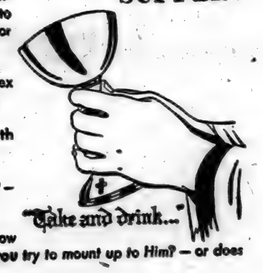
Just this: That it is the Lord's Supper.

He comes — all the way. He is present — personally. He gives — His Body and Blood. He says to each individually, "... given and shed for you for the forgiveness of sins."



You may not be interested in history's complex theological arguments about the Holy Sacrament.

But nonetheless, the questions that lie beneath all the controversies do concern you:

- Is the Supper merely a human ceremony? — or is Christ really present?
- Has the God of the Manger and Cross now contradicted Himself and demanded that you try to mount up to Him? — or does He continue to come down to you?
- Is the Holy Communion man at work appeasing God? — or is it God in action redeeming man?

If He is absent, if He no longer comes down to us, if He requires appeasing, then the end result is the same — whether men teach the Sacrament to be a repetition of Christ's sacrifice, or merely a "memorial" honoring His sacrifice: The Lord's Supper has become man's supper, something offered to God from man.

But Lutherans have always experienced the Blessed Sacrament to be in harmony with the Gospel: Christ offers Himself to man in Communion — just as throughout the Gospel God gives and man receives.

The Communion is "the closest that Heaven ever comes to earth," someone has said. If you would like to know more of the joy and peace which Lutherans find there, mail the coupon.

SISTERS OF THE SKILLET HOME DEMONS'N CLUB

The Sisters of the Skillet Home Demonstration Club was entertained at the home of Beverly Mansfield on October 25.

Gladys Akey, president, called the meeting to order and all repeated the club collect. Devotions were given by Jean Moore. Connie Hollabaugh gave the history of the song of the month, "The Old Oaken Bucket." Roll call was answered by 10 members, each telling why they liked autumn.

During the business meeting the president gave a report on the council meeting, the Muck Show and the coming events for the next year. The different leaders were appointed and the needs given for making trays in November. The Christmas Workshop was discussed and the members who were going to attend were given information about it.

The meeting was closed by singing the prayer song, and a social hour was enjoyed by all, with refreshments served by Paula Roberts and Beverly Mansfield.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Background Scripture: Micah 4:6.

Devotional Reading: Isaiah 1:11-17.

THIS IS IT

Lesson for November 11, 1956

Three questions are asked over and over again by people who take life seriously but are still groping for the answers. First, What is GOOD? Is it all together a matter of taste? Is there anything that is never good and anything that is always good, no matter what? Second, What does God want of us? What does it take to please him? Is there any simple ordinary way of knowing what God wants? Third, Why doesn't God speak to us as he used to do to the prophets of old? Why doesn't God, who knows all the answers, share his knowledge with us?

Country Preacher

Long ago a country preacher had these questions thrown up at him. His name was Micah. He was not a preacher in the regular sense, for he had no church, and in fact he had no connection with the regular official religion of his country. But he did speak and preach—so far as we know, only to his fellow villagers; but what he said was remembered. We have extracts from his sermons in what we call the Book of Micah, among the minor (that is, shorter) prophets of the Old Testament. Maybe he never preached a full-length formal sermon. Maybe he just stood or sat around in the market-place, and talked to any one who would listen. At any rate it is plain that he was asked much the same questions as those three just now mentioned. The country of Judah, in which Micah's small town of Moreshah was located, was either in a very prosperous condition or was running down — depending on where you lived. In the capital city of Jerusalem everything seemed to be booming. But in the farmlands and in the little villages it was a different story. Even in the cities there were some who suspected the boom would not last. There was a kind of revival of interest in religion going on, but it was confused. People had an idea they ought to be better, but what was "good"? They felt sure they ought to obey God more carefully; but what did God want, really? Why didn't God come right out and tell people what they would have to do to "get right" with him?

This Is It

If the answers to such questions as these were written on gold plates in a strange language and kept on top of a seven-mile mountain guarded by seven wise archangels, the roads to that mountain would be jammed, and people would pay the archangels big money to translate the mystic words of wisdom. But a country preacher talking in the simple words anybody ten years old can understand—? Yes, the people of that village already had the answers only they didn't realize it.

Why doesn't God speak? He has already spoken. Why don't we have prophets? We do have prophets, right there in your Bible. Yes, but they are hard to understand! Well, Micah says, it's not so hard to understand. What does the Lord require of you but to do justice, and to love kindness, and to walk humbly with your God? Oh, somebody in the crowd might say—old stuff! Yes, exactly. Amos the prophet spoke of Justice, and Hosea spoke of Love and Kindness, and Isaiah spoke of humility before God Most High. This is it, you don't need to write away to find out, this is it right here. What is Good, what God wants of us, God has already spoken. He does not change his mind.

Simple and Final

Looked at in one way, these three great resuirements of God are not simple. Justice—how easy to say, how hard to make sure what is really the just and fair thing in every action! Kindness — yes, but who knows what is the kind thing to do every time? Isn't what is just in one case perhaps unjust in another? Yes, to be sure; no commandment of God is going to save us from having to think. This is not so simple as to be automatic. Nevertheless this is simple in the main. We can see the lines along which the good life must be built. We always know: if it is not just, if it is not kind, then it is out of line with God's will. And all this is final, too; again not in the sense of saving us any further thought. But final in the sense that this is God's word. We can't now or ever get beyond or above—we can't graduate from—justice and kindness and humble reverence before God.

VOLUME LXXI ST. JOE (DeKalb Co.). IND. Thursday, November 15, 1956 NUMBER 44

Around the Town

With the Editor

It won't be long now.

Last Thursday the little white flakes fell for a few minutes in the day. Now this week we had a little snow, a little sleet, a little rain a little sunshine, a little snow, etc. So it looks like the same old seven months of winter and five months of bad weather.

The Mason "murder" mystery still remains unsolved with the culprits as yet anonymous—at least as far as the Masons are concerned.

Walter Stewart and Mrs. dropped in Saturday night to "pay up", thinking that the little piece last week was about them.

They said they had seen Lora Leighty recently and she remarked about not seeing the Stewarts' name in the paper for a while. Mrs. Stewart said there's so much going on in their family that it would take up a page. I supose a lot of others feel the same way — that there is too much to put in.

C'mon, everybody, let's have some "too much"!

Thanksgiving Season Services Given For Lutheran Parish

Special services for the season of Thanksgiving will be held in St. Peter's Lutheran Church at Spencerville and at St. Mark's Lutheran Church at St. Joe, Pastor Philip Barnhart announced today.

The special services will begin on Sunday, November 18, when Harvest Home Festival is observed in both churches at the morning services. At that time, people will bring the bounty of their fields to share with those who are less fortunate. Good used clothing will be brought to church to send overseas through Lutheran World Relief. Food which has been canned during the season will also be brought to the services and will be sent to Oesterlin Children's Home in Springfield, Ohio.

Pastor Barnhart will speak Sunday on "My Brother's Keeper."

On Wednesday evening, November 21, special Thanksgiving eve services for the parish will be held in St. Peter's at Spencerville at 8 p.m. The meditation will be on the subject, "The Fruit of God's Farm."

The week of services will close with a special Thanksgiving Missionary Service to be held in St. Peter's Sunday afternoon, November 25, at 3 p.m. Miss Esther Barnhart, missionary of the United Lutheran Church to Japan, and a sister of Pastor Barnhart, will speak on her work in the Foreign Mission Field in Japan. Following the service there will be a reception in the church basement.

Driver Suffers Multiple Injuries In Car Accident

Peter Schmucker, 34, of St. Joe, was injured Saturday evening in a one-car crash south of Spencerville. His condition early this week was listed as "fair."

Schmucker received multiple injuries, including a fractured pelvis, fractured ribs, concussion and possible skull fracture when his automobile failed to negotiate a curve .8 mile south of Spencerville on state road 1.

Trooper V. E. Osborn said the injured man, alone in the car at the time of the accident, was taken to the Parkview Memorial Hospital in Fort Wayne in the Walter ambulance from Spencerville.

Schmucker apparently was going too fast when his car went off the pavement on the right side, then swerved back across the highway to the left side before it plunged down an embankment. The automobile did not upset but the doors flew open and the driver was thrown out. The car was demolished.

Concord To Serve Chicken 'Country Style' Nov. 17

The Ladies of Concord Methodist Church will serve a country-style chicken supper on Saturday night, November 17.

The menu will include roast chicken and dressing, mashed potatoes and gravy, string beans, cole slaw, cranberry sauce, pie and coffee.

Serving will begin at 5 p.m. The community is invited to enjoy this country-style supper of "good old home cookin'."

Riverdale Loses Second Game By 56-46 Score

Waterloo put on an all-court press and threw up a zone defense Friday evening which confused the Riverdale Comets and the locals dropped their second basketball encounter by a 56-46 score.

The scoring started at a slow pace with the score tied through the first period. Phil Carpenter picked up 3 quick fouls and was removed from the game in the first period and sat out the second quarter.

Waterloo then found the range and ran up a 23-16 lead at the half.

Several times throughout the last half Riverdale would creep up to within a half dozen points and appear to be getting back into the game. But each time the Wildcats countered with their own rally and eliminated the threat.

The third quarter ended with the score standing at 43-31 for Waterloo. At one point in the final quarter Waterloo pulled out to a 52-37 lead with the Comets narrowing it to the final 10-point margin.

The reserve squad from Waterloo won the overtime prelim, 40-37. The Comet seconds blew a 4-point 34-30 lead in the last minute of play and then were outscored in the extra period.

Letters to the Editor

1319 West Fourth St.
Tyler, Texas
Nov. 6, 1956

Dear Mr. Haberkorn:

I wish to express my thanks to all my many friends in the vicinity of St. Joe, who have helped to make my shut-in days since last March 15 cheery and brighter. When one is over a thousand miles away, nothing makes anyone more happy than hearing from folks back home.

I spent four months in the hospital and convalescent home and am now at the home of my daughter. I have learned to walk on crutches and am giving up my wheelchair this week. The latter had been loaned to me by the American Legion Auxiliary here and was highly appreciated.

I wish I could write every one up there a personal note, but am not strong enough to do that, as I received as many as 73 cards in a single day while I was hospitalized. I plan to make scrapbooks of all my pretty cards.

People here were wonderful to this Yankee, too, remembering me with calls, cards, flowers, candy and other gifts.

My daughter, Marguerite, with whom I am staying and who was a former St. Joe High School teacher, recently returned from a wonderful trip around the world. She traveled 30,000 miles by plane, making 22 stops on four continents and on various islands. Her itinerary included several of the places where fighting is now going on and I'm thankful that she got home when she did. She described many of the places she visited as "powder kegs" and was even detained in Egypt.

Marguerite continues to win honors in the newspaper field, as the enclosed clipping shows, and I'm sure this will be of interest to her St. Joe friends. She wrote an interesting series of travelogues during her global trip, too.

The weather is still warm and sunny here, we have many pretty flowers, and folks are just beginning to harvest their pecans.

Members of my sewing club have sent me the St. Joe News each week and I thoroughly enjoy each issue.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Elizabeth Milliman

The clipping enclosed in Mrs. Milliman's letter is headlined, "Mrs. Hercules Wins 11 Awards." The awards included 5 first prizes, 3 second prizes and 3 third prizes in competition sponsored by the Texas Women's Press Association.

The first prize awards were for competition for daily newspapers in editorial writing, critical review, women's department Sunday section, in women's pages in daily newspopers over 2500 circulation, and in competition on interviews.

The second prizes were for a news story in a daily newspaper, a feature story in a daily newspaper and for a historical article.

The third prizes were for work in statewide competition on biographical articles, for work in a series of three articles on one subject and for publicity work in a daily newspaper.

Thanks for the news. —Ed.

Monday morning-

Mr. T. E. Haberkorn, Jr.
St. Joe, Indiana

Dear Ted -

We have appreciated you sending us the St. Joe News all through these years. Many of our friends in St. Joe, Concord and Spencerville are not "letter writing" people, so the News keeps us in contact with them, their interests and activities.

We have noticed with interest the consolidation of the schools and are happy that all went as well as it did - of course, we realize that much of the heartaches, disappointments and decisions didn't get into print - but nevertheless, it was a step forward.

We enjoy very much "Around the Town" with the editor - your sense of humor is delightful!

It is always nice to hear from our friends through your paper - keep plugging! Oh yes, am so glad that you got your door handle fixed - for I was one who had a hard time getting in - I didn't quite have the touch, I guess.

Most sincerely,

Rev. and Mrs. Gilford

The Gilfords enclosed an 8-page bulletin which their parish puts out once a month, showing the many activities of their churches.

Thanks for your encouragement and for taking time to write us. —Ed.

Muck Crop Show Has Local Winners

The Muck Crop Show at Auburn last week produced winners from the local community in competition in various contests.

The program presented during the show included contests in the preparation of potato salad in which Esther Fetters, 15, of St. Joe won second place. She was awarded a stainless steel set for four. The winner was Mary Lou Hickman of Wolf Lake.

Mrs. Lehr Wilder of Rl, St. Joe won a mixer for her prize winning preparation of a meal using frozen foods. She won first place. In the marketing section, the Wilder family was again well represented with Bob Wilder, a student at Riverdale High School, taking first place with a demonstration entitled, "Operating a Roadside Market."

Marie Ward of St. Joe was a recent winner in a contest sponsored by radio station WOWO. She won third place in the stalk division of the Little Red Barn Sunflower Contest. First place went to Ross Oberlin of Hamilton and second place to Ralph Snyder of R2, Butler. Mrs. Ward received an end table lamp and 5 gallons of house pant.

In the biggest head division A. A. Marker of Columbia City was the winner. Earl Watson of Andrews was second and Mrs. Mary Weicht of Butler tied for third with Mrs. Elizabeth Redman of Roanoke.

The awards were made Friday evening by Jay Gould at the contest headquarters in Auburn. The contest was a feature of the Muck Crop Show.

Preparations for the contest began last spring when Mr. Gould announced over his iLittle Red Barn program that he would send free sunflower seeds to anyone who requested them. The seed crop yield at the end of the summer was intended as feed for the wild bird-life of Indiana during the winter months. Only the tallest stalks and largest heads were destined for the contest.

The Muck Crop Show was a 3-day affair with participants convening at Auburn from all over northern Indiana.

Plans Made For April Convention

Plans were laid for the 1957 County Sunday School Convention at an executive committee meeting of the DeKalb County Sunday School Association held Friday night. The convention will be held at Auburn on April 26 and 27. Invited guest speakers and Sunday School specialists for the convention include Dr. Clate Risley, executive secretary of the National Sunday School Association, and Dr. Bob Parr, a Detroit, pastor, known widely for success in Sunday school work. Workshops are being organized covering a wide range of Sunday school work, and will be led by pastors and educators of the DeKalb County and Tri-State area.

In order to meet the growing demand for qualified Sunday school teachers, the DeKalb County Sunday School Association has adopted a 100-class hour standard including the following units: Bible, 48 hours; The Pupil, 10 hours; The teachers, 10 hours; The School, 10 hours; Personal Evangelism, 10 hours; and Supervised Service, 12 hours. The Association will encourage and assist pastors in organizing and carrying on classes to meet the requirements of this standard. A diploma in Christian Education will be awarded for the satisfactory completion of these courses.

A course on The Pupil is now being taught in Butler and other courses will be offered in different geographical areas of the county throughout each year. Persons desiring to earn the diploma in Christian Education may take the classes wherever and whenever they are offered.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

CHRISTIAN PERSONS
Lesson for November 18, 1956

Which is more important, what a person is or what he does? According to Jesus, what a person is, is the main thing. These two cannot be separated. On the one hand a person does what he does because he is the kind of person he is: on the other hand a person cannot be the kind of character Jesus describes, without doing. The ideal character, as Jesus draws it, is not to be grown in a hot-house nor in a cellar like mushrooms. An ideal person develops only in a world of persons. But let us see. Every one of what we call the eight "Beatitudes" or "Blessed's" needs very careful study. All one thin column can do is to call attention in a very general way to three facts about Christian persons as Jesus pictures them here. Perhaps no actual Christian ever fully matches the picture, the ideal; but the more a Christian resembles this description, the more these three facts will be true of him.

A Christian Is Happy

Again and again in reading the Bible we come to something that shows what nonsense it is to think of the Christian life, the God-pleasing life, as a sort of prison existence. God's requirements are not like chains, weights, handcuffs, barbed wire, electric fences. They are what makes life truly free and strong. When Jesus describes the ideal—God's ideal—character, in these Beatitudes, he begins every sentence with the word which though often translated "blessed" was the regular ordinary word for "happy." Some people get the whole business of what it means to be a Christian sadly twisted. They think: what a Christian has to do and be is not pleasant; but he grits his teeth and goes through with his hard task bravely, knowing that God will one day reward him for his life of martyrdom.

Not at all. According to Jesus, the ideal character is the one that finds real joy in becoming more and more like our Father in heaven. Your real athlete is the man who enjoys sports, not the man who goes out for athletics only so as to earn a "letter." Your real artist is the person who loves to paint or or write, not the man who wites or paints only because he has to, to make money. Your real cook is the man or woman who enjoys cooking, not the one who feels like a martyr over a kitchen range. So your real Christian is the one who is happy being one.

Christian Life Flows Outward

A second fact about the Christian life is that it is not self-centered but flows outward. It is not like a swamp into which streams flow without ever finding an outlet; it is more like a mountain lake, fed by fresh springs and kept fresh because its waters flow on in a sparkling river. A person cannot be truly good if he lives to himself and for himself. Consider how many of the Beatitudes could be true of a hermit living on an island apart from other people. Very few, if any. A selfish Christian is a contradiction in terms. "Love thy neighbor as thyself" is a commandment older than Christianity; but Christ himself approved it. "What do I get " is not the Christian's first question, but "How may I help?" This does not mean that good Christian is a kind of meddlesome Mattie, running around sticking his finger into other people's affairs. It does mean that in the countless human contacts which he has every day, as well as in his whole life-plan, he will not think of the world of men as merely an orange which is his to squeeze.

Out of Line?

Now a man from Mars might think that Christians would be the most popular people in the world. Everybody would love them and want them around. As a matter of fact, we have to remember that Jesus himself was bitterly hated and finally crucified. In the Beatitudes themselves there is the prediction that "all manner of evil" things will be said of Christ's followers. The simple ugly reason for this is that this is a world still mostly out of line with God, which in other words means out of line with Love. A true Christian wil always seem somewhat out of line with this world. If ALL men speak well of you, there must be something wrong with you.

DO LUTHERANS IDOLIZE A BOOK?

Do Lutherans accept the Holy Bible as the inspired Word of God? Resoundingly, "Yes!"

But: Are Lutherans "fundamentalists?" Or do they doubt the human mind's God-given task of inquiring into the Scriptures? Emphatically, "No!"

Lutherans resist with their whole beings any effort to substitute human intellect for the revealed Word. But they are in the forefront of the effort to make human intellect the servant of the Word.

Lutherans do not believe that the human mind can evolve religious truth. But they do believe that the mind is an instrument for receiving whatever knowledge of His mysteries God chooses to reveal.

Lutherans do not believe the Bible is the sum total of all possible human knowledge. But they do believe the Bible is the infallible Word in religion.

"In the beginning, God created..." That is a religious truth, accepted without reservation. But how He created — that may be a scientific question open for human inquiry.

Do Lutherans "worship the book?" Certainly not. "The Bible is the manger in which the Christ-child lies," said Martin Luther, "and we do not worship the manger, we worship the Christ!"

For four centuries, Lutheran scholarship has availed itself of every tool that can aid in understanding the message of Scripture. But this is its boundary: All Scripture is understood in the light of Christ — for He is the Word, made flesh.

If you would like to consider studying the Scriptures' message in a pastor's instruction class, fill in and mail the coupon.

Stock Show Opens Nov. 23 At Chicago

The International Amphitheatre at the Chicago Stockyards, the nation's largest show building, is being readied to house the continent's largest show. The 57th International Live Stock Exposition and Horse Show will be held there November 23 to December 1 and in a large area of the adjoining Stock Yards.

It is expected to attract more than 10,000 of the world's finest farm animals in competition for $100,000 in cash prizes and the coveted renown that prize winners attain. Greater emphasis will be placed this year on the Exposition's carcass competitions, wherein prime meat animals are judged alive and their carcasses then evaluated after slaughter.

The prize-winning carcasses will be on view to show visitors in a specially constructed Turbo-Chill refrigerated glass-enclosed trailer, and the champion carcasses of beef, pork and lamb will be auctioned as a feature of the Tuesday Horse Show, November 27, before an audience of 10,000.

Farm youth will be in the lime-light the first two days of the show. A national 4-H Live Stock Judging Contest will start the activities of the week on Friday, November 23, and the Junior Livestock Feeding Contest, where farm boys and girls will exhibit beef cattle and hogs of their own raising, will be held on November 24, as will the Exposition's Collegiate Live Stock Judging Contest in which agricultural college students match their skill in livestock judging.

Star feature of the horse show, scheduled for 14 performances, will be the world-famed Royal Canadian Mounted Police Musical Ride, consisting of 36 riders in scarlet coats on matching black horses. It will be the first time this famous precision riding event has ever appearing in Chicago.

New and spectacular jumping courses have been constructed this year which the management predicts will add much interest and color to each performance.

We have a few words we want to present to you today. South said of NOVELTY that it is the great parent of pleasure. Cowper said of VARIETY that it is the very spice of life, that gives it all its pleasure. And Bacon said nothing is pleasant that is not spiced with VARIETY.

Lemierre said of DISCOVERY that it is a profound mistake to think that everything has been discovered; as well as to think the horizon is the boundary of the world.

Beecher said of EXCITEMENT that it was as the rush of life, the vigor of earnest men and the conflict of realities which invigorate, cleanse and establish the truth.

We do not feel that we are infringing on Mr. Disney when we say that a trip thru our store is like a visit to adventureland. We are of the opinion that the NOVELTY and VARIETY of our selection of gifts that you'll DISCOVER here will create EXCITEMENT as great as that of any visitor to ADVENTURELAND.

It truly is an ADVENTURE to shop among the many, many gift items that you'll find in our store. May we see you?

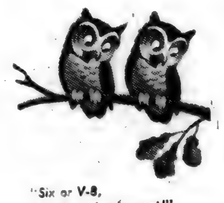
What puts the Mark of Tomorrow in the new kind of FORD?



"Six or V-8, the going is great!"

Here's what puts the Mark of Tomorrow in the new kind of Ford!

It's the sculptured look. You'll see it the moment you let your eyes wander over this fine car. In a '57 Ford you belong . . . anywhere.

It's the long, lean lines. There's a greyhound grace to the new Ford. No useless "fat," no showy "padding." Ford is as trim as a jet fighter.

It's the hardtop styling. Fairlane sedans have the hardtop look of Victorias! Superthin center pillars are smartly concealed to give hardtop beauty when doors are closed.

It's the freedom of choice. Colors? Fabrics? Accessories? Far more! Ford gives you a choice of two new, bigger sizes . . . longer, lower, roomier!

It's the ride that stays gentle. With a new frame that rides sweeter and lower, new springs, new suspension all around, even the rudest roads can't ruffle the poise of the new Ford.

It's the Thunderbird power. Ford celebrates its Silver Anniversary of V-8 leadership with the biggest selection of V-8's in Ford history.* In addition to all this Thunderbird GO, there's a new and more powerful Mileage Maker Six.

Just looking at this Fairlane Club Sedan is a special kind of fun!

It's the record-breaking performance. On the Salt Flats at Bonneville, Utah, a '57 Ford traveled 50,000 miles in less than 20 days . . . an average speed of 108.16 mph, including all pit stops! Another Ford averaged over 107 mph. Altogether, 458 national and international performance records were smashed as Ford rewrote the record book.

It's the big dollar value that lasts and lasts. Styled for tomorrow, a new Ford keeps its value longer. And wonder of wonders, all this extra strength, extra beauty, extra length is yours at low Ford prices!

*Included is a special 270-hp Thunderbird 312 Super V-8 engine available at extra cost. Also, an extra-high-performance Thunderbird 312 Super V-8 delivering up to 285 hp.

Wise man say:
"Don't wait for TOMORROW when you can get it today!"

Around the Town

With the Editor

Merwin Place kinda put me on the spot here this week with his Thanksgiving poem. But some folks knew he had written it and they're probably waiting to see it in print.

So I guess we better chance it and let you read it this week.

Jerry Dilley got into the Wolf Lake game Friday night and was rarin' to go. But the officials seemed to have other ideas. Jerry just coudn't do anything right, the way it seemed, and he picked up 3 fouls in no time.

While we were running up that 22 point lead in the last half, Wolf Lake couldn't hit the broad side of a barn. And that's when Jerry was having his troubles.

—And poor Mom in the stands suffering just as much as Jerry every time the whistle blew.

Don Donat fooled everybody on a fast break in that last quarter. He went sailing down the floor on the left side of the bucket and leaped into the air with that left hook of his flipping skyward. Everybody's eyes just naturally arched over toward the bucket—but the ball wasn't there. Don fooled 'em; when he leaped into the air, instead of shooting he fired a pass to Alva Warstler who was coming in unmolested from the other side of the bucket. He flipped the ball up, it bounced on the rim a couple of times and dropped through. The front row onlookers at the other end of the floor really whooped it up then.

—It was a dilly—the play, that is. 'Course, it was a Dilley on the floor, too, at the time, but thats' a different kind of Dilley. This here other dilly is the kind that you - - -

Speaking of Dilleys, I hear that John got out of bed on the wrong side one day, too, recently. He and Frank Sechler spotted a pheasant out near the pickle factory and both took a shot. The bird fell and as the two approached the spot where the bird lay, they made agreements as to who hit the bird, who would prepare it, who would eat it, etc. So Frank was all set for a big feast at the Dilleys when they stopped at the bird's landing place—only there wasn't any bird. It had scooted away.

Don't count your chickens, etc.

—Or - - -

Don't count your pheasants until they're ca(t)ched.

The hardware seems to be a popular after-hours spot every so often what with the visitors they have. Some more dropped in this week again. They came in through the skylight. —Say, couldn't we make someting out of that —skylight —dropped in—. Oh, well, anyhow, somebody said Herb ought to put up a sign asking the visitors to leave a list of their loot. Then it wouldn't be such a job squaring up on the insurance.

—Or is that too suggestive?

Since there aren't any ads in this week's issue, I'll inject this request here and now. A party interested in adding to a collection of old guns wants to buy muzzle loaders, underhammer pistols, etc. If you have any such antique guns to sell, call the News Office with the condition and price of the guns. I'll pass the information along to this collector, as requested.

Talk about hard knocks. Peg Chapman has had 'em. Rheumatic fever was giving her trouble, then she had sleeping sickness recently, and then this week she and a school mate collided as they were going in opposite directions thru a school door and she got knocked out from a bump on the head that raised a lump the size of a goose egg.

—But she always comes back smiling.

Fiction or fact—

Roy Bowser took son Jack out duck hunting one time to show his skill with a gun. Ducks were scarce but finally a lone duck flew overhead and the father took careful aim and fired. The duck kept right on going. Turning to Jack, Roy said, "Son, you've just witnessed a miracle. There flies a dead duck!"

A boy and his teenage girl friend were out driving one evening. They came to a quiet spot on a country lane and the car suddenly stopped.

"Out of gas," said the boy.

The girl nonchalantly opened her purse and pulled out a flask.

"Swell!" exclaimed the boy. "A bottle — scotch or bourbon?"

"Gas," replied the girl.

Our Mike says thanks to all those who sent cards and letters during his stay in the hospital, especially all his class mates who sent him a big fat envelope with all their letters.

That's right, no ads this week. Just our way of observing Thanksgiving.

Fatal Accident On Road 8 Takes One Life

Eugene Thimlar, 29, of R2, Waterloo, was killed instantly in a car crash early Tuesday on a curve near Newville. He became DeKalb County's fifteenth traffic fatality for the year 1956.

Mr. Thimlar died instantly of a crushed head, according to county coroner Dr. R. Perry Reynolds and deputy sheriff Dorsie Likens. They reported that the victim's head was plunged through the car door window on the driver's side as the car hit a culvert, and was crushed when the car rolled over.

A brother, Howard Thimlar, a passenger in the car, was shaken up but escaped with shock and bruises.

The accident occurred at 3:10 a.m. Tuesday 2 tenths of a mile west of Newville on a curve on state road 8. Mr. Thimlar, driving west on the state highway, lost control on the curve. The 1955 Chevrolet skidded out of control and left the pavement on the south side. It traveled for 33 feet before it struck a culvert. The impact upset the automobile and it rolled over one and one-half times before it came to rest on its left side 36 feet from the culvert.

Mr. Thimlar was a native of Milan Township, Allen County, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Thimlar of R1, St. Joe.

Survivors include the widow, Helen Rickets Thimlar; three children, Richard Eugene, 9, Roger Vance, 8, and Patricia Ann, 23 months; a sister, Mrs. Jack Tilghman of Auburn; another brother, Lester Thimlar of Butler.

Funeral services will be conducted Friday at 2 p.m. at the Newville E. U. B. Church. Rev. Carl Thompson, pastor of the church, will officiate and burial will be in Newville Cemetery.

Farm Bureau Dues Requested By Dec. 1

This request has been made in order to save much time and driving in collecting members' dues.

Comets Beat Wolf Lake, Lose At Leo

The Riverdale Comets posted their first win of the current season Friday night at Auburn when they easily downed the Wolf Lake Wolves by a 59-45 score.

Though the game began as a close contest, with the Comets holding a 16-13 first-quarter lead, and a 31-26 half-time margin, the last half became a run-away with the locals' lead running to as much as 22 points. Wolf Lake went for several minutes in the last quarter without scoring while the Comets were having a field day.

The preliminary was a heart-breaker with the Wolf Lake reserves taking a close 32-30 win from Riverdale. The Comets had possession of the ball during the last half minute of play. But working the ball around in attempting to set up a shot consumed time and the buzzer sounded just before Bob Clauser let fly a long looper that went through the mesh—too late.

On Tuesday night, the locals traveled to Leo where they absorbed a 63-63 licking from the Lions.

The reserve game was won also by Leo, 40-32.

Bloodmobile At Butler Dec. 3

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be located at Butler on Monday, December 3, from 10:-a.m. until 4:00 p.m. to receive blood from donors of DeKalb County. The unit will be situated at the Indiana-Michigan Electric Company office building on highway 6 just west of Butler.

The quota for collection at this Butler visit is 128 pints. This represents an increase because of an additional request for Civil Defense use.

Every blood donor is a special person. Less than 10 per cent of the population can meet the age and health standards. The human body is the only laboratory in which this precious commodity, blood, can be produced. Mrs. A. H. Sicard, Butler, chairman, stated this week that donors this year helped to supply the 300 bottles used in the hospitals in DeKalb County and the 166 bottles used by county residents in hospitals outside the county, making a total of 466.

50 new donors are needed every time the Bloodmobile visits the Butler center. Donors are urged to recruit others who are eligible to give blood.

Thieves Get $300 Loot At Hardware

Between $200 and $300 worth of merchandise and approximately $5 in cash were taken from the Amstutz Hardware & Furniture Co. last week end.

The burglary occurred sometime Sunday night or early Monday morning, according to State Police Detective Russell Huffman who investigated the break-in. Entry to the store was made by crawling up on the roof and breaking a skylight. After acquiring the merchandise and money, the burglars left the same way they entered.

Included in the stolen merchandise were guns, hardware, fishing tackle, ammunition and wrenches. The $5 in cash was taken from a cash box.

Firemen To Collect For M-D Fund

Members of the St. Joe Volunteer Fire Department will again support the 1956 March for Muscular Dystrophy and will actively work toward its success during off-duty hours.

Members of the department will help organize and direct volunteers in the house-to-house canvass on Thursday, December 6, for funds to support research sponsored by Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, Inc., into the crippling, muscle-wasting disease. More than 200,00 Americans are MD victims, most of them children in whom it is always fatal.

Greater public response to this year's "March" has been predicted by Joseph Robinson, local campaign chairman. "Fire fighters know the desperate need for research," he said, "and people in general are becoming more aware of the tragic loss of yong lives from muscular dystrophy. I know they will give as generously as they can to help wipe it out."

A Thought for Thanksgiving

As we observe this Thanksgiving season, we face a challenge that is nationally recognized every year at this particular season. That challenge is to do justice to our God and his teachings not for one but for every day. We say and hear said that we have much to be thankful for, that all the blessings that Americans enjoy have come from their God and that we should go to church more, do more things for the church, live more Christian lives. And as each Thanksgiving season passes, and for that matter the closely following Christmas season, we, human beings that we are, lose that pious attitude and fall back into the everyday existence that, due to popular belief, says—"It's all right to talk about living a good Christian life and treating your fellow man as you want to be treated, but in this hard cold world it just won't work."

If anyone really believes that righteous living will not work in business, in the home, in society, it is because that person has never really attempted to live that way and does not know the satisfaction and "peace of mind" that comes from living, or trying to live, a good life. It is easy to be drawn back into the ways of the world because of mistreatment. One may try to be a good fellow and find that he is "taken for a ride" now and then by his fellow man, and, as a result, give up on the Christian training we generally profess to believe in and resort to the tactics of the ruthless for self-protection. It must be recognized that this self-protection is not a protection at all but a confession of weakness.

We have instances in past history, long since past and not so long since past, of the attempts of individuals to replace God in the mind of man with their own countenance and their own ideals. And those same instances have yet to show a successful attempt - try as they might, they could not replace God. They failed because they had, as you and we have, the weaknesses that were born into the race and which we cannot discard. As long as man has the smallest imperfection, he cannot assume to replace the teachings which have been given to him by the Perfect. Man cannot attain perfection, but it is his challenge to try for that perfection.

Americans have a similar challenge to face in their continuing a belief in their form of government and propagating that form of government. It is a similar challenge because the foundation of our nation's system of government is the recognition of God and the God-given freedom of mankind. Ours is the only nation which goes hand in hand with the principles of a Christian life. Therefore, our constant realization should be, whether it is the Thanksgiving season, or Sunday morning, or the afternoon of Tuesday in the second week of July, that we have much to be thankful for, but that we have much to do to preserve our blessings. It should be our constant realization that we show our thanks by our everyday living according to God's principles PLUS our attendance in His house on His day.

There is a reported increase in church membership in this nation today. The number should be even greater. We cannot expect our nation to stay on the straight and narrow, adhering to its previous beliefs, if we do not continue to receive training from the Book of instructions of the One who gave us our free nation. Christian living is based on principles. Our nation is intended to exist on those same principles. We can learn to stick to them, hard and fast, come what may, only if we gain knowledge of the strength of those who have gone before in the name of Christian freedom. Because of them we in the United States today live in freedom. We have not achieved world peace. But if we in turn practice the same principles of Christian living and recognize the Author of those principles by our attendance in and support of our churches, we will be contributing to a peaceful world to be enjoyed by the generations of the future.

What better way to give thanks could be found?

Today is Thanksgiving Day, yes. But only one of three hundred and sixty-five days of Thanksgiving every year in these United States of America.

SHOULDN'T WE PRAY OR SOMETHING?

"Randy, stop that shouting! I'd like to have a little peace and quiet today."

"I was just playing with the dog, Dad. She likes me to romp with her."

"Well, then, go outside and romp. I want to take a nap."

Randy grabbed the dog by her collar and pulled her out the front door. He looked up at the snow just beginning to fall.

The boy and his dog played on the sidewalk but after a few minutes were back inside the house, thoroughly chilled and refreshed.

"Dad, what time are we going to have Thanksgiving dinner? I'm getting hungry."

"Well, we can eat anytime we want, but we're not exactly having Thanksgiving dinner. With your mother gone to Aunt Jo's, I hadn't planned on us having a big dinner."

"Oh, I see," Randy replied.

"How about a platter of ham and eggs, boy? That satisfy you?"

"It's all right," he said. Then he added, "Dad, did Mom have to go to Aunt Jo's?"

His father got up from the couch. "Well, you see, Aunt Jo has a new baby and she doesn't know much about babies. So your mother went to help for a few days. Mother's going to teach her all about feeding the baby and giving it a bath."

The father grabbed his son around the shoulder. "Now, how about you and me fixing some dinner?"

"O.K., Dad," the boy answered as they walked into the kitchen and began to rattle pots and pans trying to find the skillets.

"Shall we scramble them or fry them, Randy?"

"Oh, anyway you want, Dad. I don't much care. I like them both ways."

The father heated the grease and began frying the eggs. Then he put bread in the toaster and poured two glasses of milk. In a few minutes he said, "Well, we can eat. Sit down and get ready for a real feed."

The eggs were perfect. The whites were just beginning to brown and the yolks hadn't started to harden. The ham was fried well done just the way they both wanted it.

Randy's dad had just put a piece of ham in his mouth when Randy asked, "Aren't we going to pray or something?"

Dropping his fork his Dad answered, "Why yes, I guess so. You want to say it?"

"Well, I guess I can," Randy said. "I just thought we should pray or something on Thanksgiving."

Randy watched his father bow his head and he folded his own hands and began, "Father, thank you for our Thanksgiving meal. We are grateful that we can be together today, Dad and me. We wish Mother were here with us but bless her and Aunt Jo and Uncle John and their baby. And Dad and I thank you for such a wonderful day we're having together. Amen."

He started to eat without looking at his Dad. When he did look up he said, "What's the matter, Dad? I'm finished with the prayer."

His father said, "I just didn't realize that my boy could say such a wonderful Thanksgiving prayer. I guess I kind of forgot that this was a special day to be thankful. And I have a lot to be thankful for, If your mother were here, I'd like to tell her."

"Tell her what, Dad?"

"Oh, just tell her that I'm thankful for all the things she has taught you. I'm thankful that she gets up every Sunday morning and takes you to church, no matter how late we've stayed up on Saturday night."

"Well, Dad, everyone goes to church. That's nothing."

"No, Son, everyone doesn't go to church. It's a privilege that your mother has provided for you and I'm thankful for it. It has helped make you a son I'm proud of this Thanksgiving Day."

"Say, Dad, these eggs are getting cold. Let's eat."

—Jerre Willis, "The Lutheran," November 21, 1956.

Since 1951 the Christ Child's Festival has been presented at Fort Wayne by citizens interested in preserving the true significance of the Christmas season. Directors of the project recently published a brochure giving the history of the festival. In their words the Christ Child's Festival is described as follows:

"Glory to God in the Highest, Peace on earth to men of good will." . . . Christ is born!

This year, again, The Christ Child's Festival becomes a living memorial to the anniversary of Christ's Birth as the entire community, in and surrounding Fort Wayne, makes its annual pilgrimmage, bringing gifts of Music, Carpentry, Artistry and other innumerable evidences of Love.

Again, the mammoth Exhibition Hall of the Allen County Memorial Coliseum is made into a place of worshipful adoration—yet with an air of joyfulness which warms even the coldest heart. And for four days differences of all faiths are forgotten and Peace on Earth becomes a reality. Many who come to see the displays are so amazed at the Spirit of Cooperation that they are drawn to offer their services.

In 1951, a few people, deeply stirred by commercialism which had all but smothered evidences of the religious significance of the Christmas season, dedicated themselves to do what they could to not only bring back the name of Christ to Christmas but also to restore a measure of that Peace promised by the Angels that Holy Night.

With a feeling of great humbleness and led by the same Star of Hope which long ago led those travelers from the East through unchartered paths, modern Wise Men overcame seemingly insurmountable difficulties. Many times, the battle against intrenched materialism seemed futile, but on each occasion, overcoming Faith was rewarded by unmistakeable evidences that the great masses of people were tired of Godlessness. They were hungry to take part in a demonstration of Faith.

From the very beginning, three things were set as standards for accomplishment:

First,—The Festival shall belong to all people—no group however large or small may dominate—all faiths, schools, nationalities and organizations shall be permitted to participate.

Second,—Everything shall be free of the taint of commercialism. No charge for participation or admission. No member of the Planning Committee shall accept money. Everything shall be given as needed which, in turn, like an everwidening circle makes participants of contributors.

Nothing shall be advertised or exalted except the Christ.

Third,—There shall be a minimum of regulations. Each exhibtor shall be free to display his idea of Christmas—without the limiting feeling of competition.

These high standards have made the committee lean heavily on God for direction and have been given as the reason for the phenominal growth of the celebration.

Music by fine choirs and organists, resounds through the hall each evening. Wide-eyed children and adults view colorful Nativity scenes displayed by various churches, organizations and schools. Customs of other lands are portrayed by people able to greet their countrymen in their own languages, and authentic costumes bring a richness not often seen under one roof. There is no feeling of prejudice—only understanding of the oneness of people in God.

Scriptures of prophecy, birth and childhood of Christ are dramatically brought to life in one large section of booths by churches which have combined their talents in an unusual manner to give a sequence to the Story of Christ's Birth.

Thousands of cups of good coffee and delicious cookies, doubly blest by being given—and given again to the Multitudes by gracious hosts and hostesses, all lend a hospitable air to the Festival.

And so each year The Festival becomes an impressive Token of Faith and Hope to our community. Each one comes away with a renewed Faith in his fellowment and in the Power of God.

Under American capitalism the employees, the employers and the consuming public all have a stake in the uninterrupted production of every manufacturing plant. This point has been repeatedly emphasized in the 20 years in which our National Eudcation Program has been developing educational materials on the American way of life. Wealth is produced by taking a raw material and adding to its value through processing and service. But the production must be a profit-making operation or else the labor and energy expended will be a national waste.

The more wealth that is produced by our hundreds of thousands of manufacturing and processing plants, the higher will be the living standard of all Americans. Not only is this a theoretical premise; the statistics of our progress show it to be true. Therefore, when production—anywhere or to any degree—is halted, the economic welfare of all citizens is affected proportionally.

It seems apparent then that every American, whatever his or her occupation or calling, ought to be interested in maintaining harmony between employees and employers so that strikes and work stoppages will not occur and that a spirit of teamwork will continually increase our industrial productivity and, with it, our living standard. There are definite indications that public awareness in this realm of our economic life is spreading, improving. Perhaps the most dramatic instance of this fact is the changing attitude of John L. Lewis, the labor leader who for many years symbolized unrelenting strike-power in action, the power of a union to halt production.

In Washington, D.C., last month, Mr. Lewis presided over a convention of his United Mine Workers Union. He observed that there had not been a strike in the industry in six years. He reported that the union had just reached agreement, through negotiations with coal mine owners, on a new contract calling for wage increases. And he noted the UMW encouraged modernization and mechanization in the coal industry "in contradiction to miners' unions of other countries which opposed and fought modernization."

But the most significant revelation in the new Lewis attitude came when one of the UMW convention delegates, backed by a few other miners, objected to the new contract, arguing that the workday should be cut—without reducing wages. Mr. Lewis said the coal industry could not afford to take that step.

"The question of the six hour day is one of cost," he said. "I think if the convention wants it, it can get it in the next contract—with pay for six hours. When you reduce the day from eight to six hours without wage reduction it means a 25 per cent increase, at least, in production costs. The shorter day has been discussed with operators in past years. They claim that they are getting only 6.5 hous of productive time now as a national average, because of travel time and paid lunch periods. The costs must be considered from the competitive angle. There is competition with oil, gas and water power, and atomic energy in the future.

"These," said the labor leader with firmness, "are the facts of life we have to consider. If you want to stop eating so much and loaf more, we can get you the six hour day."

This is an attitude quite different to the one presented by Mr. Lewis just 10 years ago. It is an attitude accepting the fact that the workers welfare is tied up with the success of his industry, with production and productivity. The new attitude has undoubtedly been influenced by the fact that Mr. Lewis in recent years has become the head of a vast UMW enterprise with many investments—and with many of the problems of the industrial executive. Among the enterprises watched over by Mr. Lewis are a newly organized trans-Atlantic shipping company, one of the largest banks in Washington (controlled by the UMW), a $4 million investment in public utilities, and so forth. His present attitude is perfectly sound—with regard both to employer and employee.

John Lewis also feels that bigness in American industry is not necessarily bad. "Great consolidations of modern capital are taking place in the industry," he noted, "and they are highly beneficial, and in the modern sense are more efficient—better for the men who work in the mines."

—Dr. George S. Benson, Director, National Education Program, Searcy, Arkansas.

If HALF the ingenuity spent in finding excuses for not doing what we ought to do were spent in finding means to do what ought to be done, what a blessed difference it would make in our lives!

—From the "Coburn Courier," October 1956.

Riverdale School News

As this is published, the Thankgiving Vacation will be in progress. From the point of view of the student, one half of the vacations of the year will be past with this one. Vacations this year amount to Fair Day, Teacher's Convention, Thanksgiving, Christmas and Good Friday. Total days of elapsed time out for students will be 13 days of vacation this year. In a year that runs 37 weeks long, that leaves 177 days of school. This past Wednesday completed the second grading period, and as weeks go, a full one-third of the year. It's a good time to inquire of the student if he has accomplished a third of his year's work.

A noted improvement in the school in recent weeks has been the installation of a public address system. The amplifier formerly powering the speakers in the gymnasium now powers speakers in every room. From the principal's office announcements of general interest can be made.

The classes have been taking advantage of several fund raising propositions of late. The Seniors are currently finishing their yearbook subscription drive and concurrently preparing for their second deadline on yearbook material. They have been, for these two or three weeks past, selling salt water taffy.

The Juniors have a two-pronged concessions movement afoot, consisting of their usual noontime sales of ice cream and the products sold at home ball games. Since the last reporting of this column, they (as also the Sophomores and Freshmen) have picked up corn and opened corn fields. Among their future plans are the selection of the banquet site and the receipt of their class sweaters (expected immediately after the Thanksgiving Holiday). Junior sale of Christmas candy began on the 15th with an evening canvas of parts of the community. Pecan patties, chocolates, creams, anyone?

Both the Sophomores and the Freshmen have been doing the corn bit, and each class has participated or will take part in something new for classes: furnishing the food stand at an auction sale.

The 7th and 8th grades have completed their class parties, both roller skating affairs, and both of which were graced by the presence of the Principal (who even donned the skates himself).

Pep sessions have been going on in the noon hours preceding the ball games, and several new yells or yell-leader routines have made their appearance. This year's directresses of student enthusiasm are as follows: Varsity - Delores Davis, Reta Gerig and Shirley Noack; "B" team - Barbara Conley and Carroll Loucks; "C" team - Nila LaRowe, Mary Moore, Sharon Stark and Maxine Williams; 7th and 8th grade - Linda Lothamer and Dianne Mayer.

The school paper, Nice 'N Newsey, has raised its price to 10c per copy since it now prints 12 to 16 pages per issue. It has recently carried a series of personality and preference polls of the student body and faculty and has been enjoying a sell-out of available copies. The paper now belongs to the Student Press Service and exchanges copies with several different schools. Editors for the first three issues were Judy Koch, senior, and Mary Jane Baker, junior. Current editors, under the rotating editor system, are Marilyn Smith, senior, and Robert Wilder, junior.

The Beta Club is now recovering from its recent state convention. Twelve members of the club attended the two-day affair (7 on Friday, 5 additional on Saturday) along with sponsors, Miss Woodruff, Mr. Smith and Mr. Stackhouse. Mary Jane Baker was a nominee for state vice-president, but was defeated by a candidate from Fort Branch school. Mr. Stackhouse was re-elected to the State Council, the governing body of faculty members. Attending from the student body were: Marynard Robinson (Chief Convention Marshall), Karen Holman and Marilyn Smith (Convention Marshalls); Mary Jane Baker, Doris Dowden, Reta Gerig, Janice Carper, Robert Griggs, Charles Easley, Philip Carpenter, Robert Wilder and Wallace Tustison.

The Tri-Hi-Y held its Initiation Ceremony on Wednesday, the 14th, in the basement of the Christian Church. New members accepted in the organization at that time were: Phyllis Baker, Geraldine Bassett, Esther Fetters, Carol Flesher, Norma Timmerman.

The student body received a compliment from the principal on its sportsmanlike conduct at the Wolf Lake game, and a campaign is currently underway to stress the use of sportsmanship as a means of supporting the team.

Other than these things, the school is little busier than it ever is.

The boards of directors of the Home Telephone and Telegraph Company, Citizens Independent Telephone Company and General Telephone Company of Indiana, Inc., on Friday, November 16, all gave their final approval to a plan of merger whereby the Home Company and Citizens Company would be merged into General Telephone Company of Indiana, Inc. according to Mr. L. H. Meyer, president of all three telephone companies. The shareowners of the respective companies approved the merger on October 17, 1956. The merger is expected to become effective early in December when final authority is expected to be granted by certain regulatory authorities.

On Monday Mrs. Frank Shull and Joe visited Mrs. Calvin Hull and Dennis at Sherwood.

ARE WE THANKFUL?

When the frost gets on your window
And the snow is about knee deep,
Are you thankful for your furnace
When you waken from your sleep?
Then you journey to the toilet,
In your suit of B.V.D.'S.,
Are you thankful for your furnace?
As you should be, tell me please.
How well do I remember,
When I was a little lad,
We went out back to the toilet,
That was built by dear old Dad.
I can tell you, then, my brother,
It took almost a soldier bold,
To roll out of your nice warm bed,
And go out back in the cold.
There you held the seat of honour,
In that house so small, but square,
And your teeth murmured and chattered,
As you were sitting there.
Are we thankful, truly thankful,
For the changes time has made?
Not as thankful as we should be.
My dear Brother, I am afraid.

TWO SONS
Lesson for November 25, 1956

What does the word "prodigal" mean? Ask some Sunday school class that, and you may be surprised at how many bad guesses you hear. Actually the name simply means "wasteful." Jesus never named his parables; and sometimes the names the church has given them fit, and sometimes not. The parable of the "prodigal son" might be better named "The Two Prodigal Sons", or "The Forgiving Father."

Two Ways of Wasting

There are two ways of being prodigal or wasteful. One is to use up and destroy what might have been saved. If you let good farm machinery sit around in the rain till it rusts, you are wasting equipment. If you use expensive butter for a job a little bacon grease will do just as well, you are wasting the butter. If you are a general and order a useless assault in which thousands of men needlessly lose their lives, you are wasting human life. All these wasteful acts, great and small, are done in the same way, essentially by throwing away or spoiling what might have been saved and used. Another way of wasting is just not to use what is there to use, something which if you do not use now you will never have the chance to use again. An example of this is water power. The river flows on its way, developing so many horsepower with every mile; if these are not used today, tomorrow the horsepower—today's horsepower—will be gone. You waste water power not by destroying it but by failing to use it.

The Younger Son

Now in Jesus' famous parable, the two sons were both wasters, but in opposite ways. Take the younger one: Give me . . . he said, and off he went. A young fortune was in his hands; but he threw it away, he was through with it, he was through, "period," in no time. There was something else he wasted: his father's love and confidence. He virtually treated his father as if he were already dead. This younger son is, of course, the type of the reckless sinner who wastes his health, strength, character, perhaps money, too, the sort of man who is called a "wastrel," or waster. The time, life, strength that such a man wastes cannot be brought back again. You could go down to Skid Row or to the nearest hospital for drug addicts and convert them every one; but you could never give them back the "years the locusts have eaten." God forgives such men, as the father in Jesus story forgave the younger prodigal; but just as the father in that story could not recall from the four winds the wasted fortune and the wasted years, so not even God ever turns the clock or the calendar back.

The Older Son

But that older boy—he too was a waster. Only he wasted in the other way, not by destroying but by not using. There seems to be something deeply sad in the father's simple saying: "Son, you are always with me, and all that is mine is yours." This was true—and yet the son had made it untrue. "You are always with me"—so near, and yet so far away. None of the father's spirit had penetrated the boy's mind. He was physically at home yet spiritually a stranger. He, too, in a different way, had lived like an orphan. Every day there was open to him a father's heart, a father's sympathy, a father's wealth; but he never took it. If for the younger boy there was waste-by-destruction, for the older there was waste-by-neglect. Did the father forgive this son, too? The story does not say. The impression most people get is perhaps what Jesus intended to suggest: The father was ready to forgive each son; but the younger son was forgiven, because he had "come to himself," he had confessed his wrong. The older son was not (so far as the story takes us) forgiven, because he did not seem to be conscious of having done anything wrong. Of course, he was the type of the Pharisees; but the Pharisees are not dead. In the church and out there are correct, respectable citizens who know nothing of God's love for their lost brothers, and so have never known the God they officially call "Father." God will forgive such a man too; but perhaps he seldom does, for such a man seldom thinks he needs it.

With the Editor

Mrs. Griggs says she wants notice given that she did not NOT go to the hospital to have a baby. It was virus pneumonia that sent her there.

My, how things do get started at the pickle factory.

Birthdays were flying this week.

Ted Voirol was in getting his car serviced and noted that there were five birthdays in the Voirol household this month. And Harold Yeiser was commenting on his turning sixteen (times two) this week. And Jim Moore celebrated his on Monday, I believe.

While your doing some Christmas shopping at Jackson's in the next week or so, ask Vera how easy it is for an editor to get in the dog house.

—It's easy. I can do it without even trying.

Mrs. Miller: "If your mother has a package delivered C.O.D., what do the initials mean?"

Mike White: "Call On Daddy."

John Crothers marked his retirement from the postal service this week by trying his hand at poetry. And it comes out pretty good --

I have finally finished my one big chore
Of carrying the mail thirty years and more,
And now I am going to take a rest
Until I decide just what is best
For a fellow to do when he has no job
And doesn't think it right to steal or rob.

There is one thing that I must do
And that is to say to not just a few
But to all the patrons along the route
That I have served, year in, year out,
That I thank them truly, for so many things
For the joy that service to others brings.

You gave me employment all those years
You paid my wages, so I had no fears.
You trusted me with your business affairs,
Told me some secrets, and some of your cares,
Wept with joy when I brought good news,
Cussed me out when you had the blues.

Now all these things are in the past,
But I hope the memories shall ever last,
And I shall ever grateful be
For the things my friends have done for me.

—John Crothers.

McMaken: "Tell 'em all you know, Andy, it won't take very long."

Monroe: "I'll tem 'em all we both know; it won't take any longer."

There sure is a lot of sickness making the rounds these days. The hepatitis bug keeps popping up in varying degrees and you don't know whether to be overly concerned or not. Loretta Musser says that Richard has it now, and I hear one of the Nusbaums has it. These in addition to several other cases in the past couple of months.

There are other things, too, like the chicken pox which visited Billy Brookfield last week —and other cases in addition. And just plain colds, putting the Don Knop family on the blink and ours, too.

But things could be worse if we look around—but not much worse for the Rev. Weber family at Spencerville. After suffering the loss of their son by drowning this summer, they experience more ill fortune in the form of an auto accident. On the way south for the Thanksgiving season, they were involved in an accident which put Mrs. Weber in the hospital for several days with five cracked ribs, the Rev. in with a bad cut on his arm and the babies laid up with bruises. Their car was demolished. Now there is the hospital expense, a 450-mile ambulance fee, help to find for the family while the pastor attends school, and related problems.

—And preachers aren't paid that kind of money.

The Indiana Story No. 29

The Wabash Is Born!

The storied Wabash, in its course as we know it today, was born in the Age of Ice. Before the time of the glacier, it had a source along the western Indiana border, below Lafayette, and flowed much as it does now into the Ohio. In turn, the Ohio had a source southwestward of Cincinnati. The great river of Indiana before the Age of Ice was the Teays, originating in the Carolinas and emptying into the Gulf of Mexico embayment near present St. Louis, Mo. This map shows how the Wabash we know had an origin as a route of escape for glacial melt water which formed a great pool - the first "Lake Erie" - between the edge of the retreating ice and a morraine deposited at the site of Fort Wayne. The ancient spillway was several miles in width and may be studied today.

DO LUTHERANS WORSHIP

MARTIN LUTHER?

Assuredly not! The question deserves a serious answer only because it is sometimes asked sincerely — although naively!

Lutherans worship One God — Father, Son and Holy Ghost — Him, and none other. No saints. No intermediaries. No angels or archangels. Not Mary, not John, not Peter, not Abraham or Isaac or Jacob — and not Luther.

St. Paul called himself "chief" of sinners. Luther considered himself the same. Isn't it inconceivable that people influenced by such men would ever "worship" the men themselves? or "venerate" them? or "invoke" them? or "canonize" them? or give any human being any share of the glory that is due to God alone?

How, then, do Lutherans think of Luther?

Like many other servants of the Most High, Luther was chosen, prepared and guided by the Holy Spirit for a specific task.

And because of the urgency and the immensity of Luther's task, God granted to him a special profoundness of insight into the Gospel.

Luther was a giant of religious faith and insight. But that is reason to praise not Luther but God. Luther was a giant only because God needed and produced a giant.

That is why today few if any religious writers outside of Scripture are studied throughout the world as widely as Luther. For the past half-century, a veritable "Luther renaissance" has engrossed scholars of every denomination. Most of today's leading theologians in every Protestant church reflect many of Luther's insights.

And Luther would be the first to cry, "To God alone be glory."

The second grading period cards were sent home this past Wednesday, and accordingly, upon their return, the principal will announce the Honor Roll and Honorable Mention List for the period. To make the Roll this year, a student must have a 2.5 average (2 A's, 2 B's); the List, average of B in all subjects. The List and Roll are figured on the Friday afternoon following the release of the cards, and so, to be eligible for the honors, the student must return the card by that time.

The onset of colder weather brings two things immediately to mind. A considerable difference can be noted in room temperatures and ventilation since last winter's weather-stripping of the windows. With the colder weather, an increase in colds and respiratory diseases could be expected. Parents should insist that the student be warmly dressed going to and from school.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank every one who visited me and sent all the beautiful cards. Also those who helped my family during my recent stay in the hospital.

TWO GIRLS, A CHEVY AND A RECORD!

meaningful achievement

automobile performance

Most automobile performance records are pretty difficult to relate to the kind of day-in, day-out driving most of us do. Running at safe and legal speeds, a '57 Chevrolet recently chalked up an important new coast-to-coast record on the road. And the way it set this record is even more important than the record itself!

A new '57 Chevrolet recently proved it has the qualities most people look for in a car—and proved it on the roads you travel. It set a new record of less than 57 hours for the run from New York to Los Angeles (certified by NASCAR). It was a strictly stock, V8-powered Chevy. It was driven by two young ladies.

When you consider that all the driving was done by 98-pound Betty Skelton and her friend Caroline Russ, the true significance of this record run becomes apparent. It's a tribute to Chevrolet's great-hearted V8 engine and solid road-worthiness that it could travel day and night for 2,913 miles at safe and legal speeds—and better the existing record for the trip by more than three hours. And when a pair of young ladies step into a car and drive it round the clock to a new transcontinental record, you know that car is easy to drive. Come try a Chevy.

We are glad that there is a time of year when we are called by presidential proclamation to give thanks to our gracious God. We are so prone to forget all His goodness and mercies toward us.

Many of the blessings which He gives us ravel out for want of hemming because of our unthankfulness. The blessings that are purchased through prayer are kept through gratefulness and praise.

Plutarch said that the worship most acceptable to God comes from a thankful and cheerful heart.

Lillo has said that when thankfulness o'erflows the swelling heart, and breathes in free and uncorrupted praise for benefits received, propitious Heaven takes such acknowledgement as fragrant incense and doubles all its blessings.

The apostle Paul said to the Corinthians, "Thanks be unto God who giveth us the victory through Jesus Christ, our Lord."

It's All Electric!
The New
Diehl Jewelry Store
in Butler
GRAND OPENING
Friday & Saturday Nov. 30 & Dec. 1
103 South Broadway

It's Butler's first all-electric business establishment .... the new Diehl's Jewelry Store!

The all-electric building provides space for both the Jewelry Store and an upstairs residence.

Leland Diehl, owner of the store, selected electricity as the sole service to his building because of its many plus advantages.

Electric heating provides the modern, two-story building with a heating system that is completely automatic, assures an even level of heat, is free from drafts and dust, and provides additional space for merchandise displays.

Three types of electric heat are utilized in the building:

1. ELECTRIC CEILING CABLE .... for general heating purposes in the store and upstairs residence.
2. ELECTRIC BASEBOARD UNITS .... under display windows.
3. INDUSTRIAL FORCED AIR HEATING UNITS .... in the storeroom.

More and more commercial and industrial buildings are being built today with the all-electric feature. The many construction savings are just one of the plus advantages. Electric resistance heating and the all-electric heat pump, which both heats and cools with electricity, offer many advantages for such buildings.

Bloodmobile At Butler Dec. 3

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be located at Butler on Monday, December 3, from 10:-a.m. until 4:00 p.m. to receive blood from donors of DeKalb County. The unit will be situated at the Indiana-Michigan Electric Company office building on highway 6 just west of Butler.

The quota for collection at this Butler visit is 128 pints. This represents an increase because of an additional request for Civil Defense use.

Every blood donor is a special person. Less than 10 per cent of the population can meet the age and health standards. The human body is the only laboratory in which this precious commodity, blood, can be produced. Mrs. A. H. Sicard, Butler, chairman, stated this week that donors this year helped to supply the 300 bottles used in the Hospitals in DeKalb County and the 166 bottles used by county residents in hospitals outside the county, making a total of 466.

50 new donors are needed every time the Bloodmobile visits the Butler center. Donors are urged to recruit others who are eligible to give blood.

'Twas the day after Christmas and all through the homes whole families were happy with new telephones.

In the workroom for Dad.
The kitchen for Mom.
Sis in her room...
the den is for Tom.

In colors of red—and bright Christmas green, they're a pleasure to talk on,
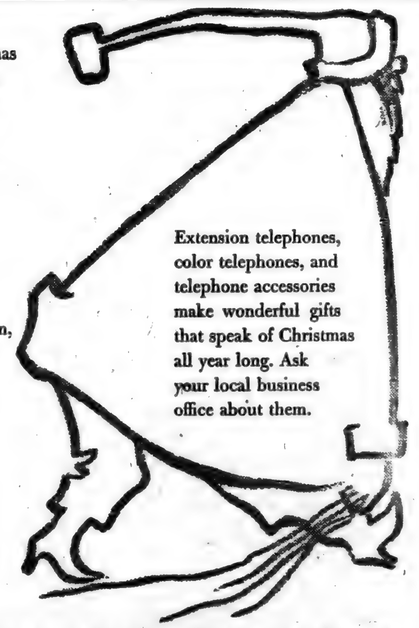
a joy to be seen.



Extension telephones, color telephones, and telephone accessories make wonderful gifts that speak of Christmas all year long. Ask your local business office about them.

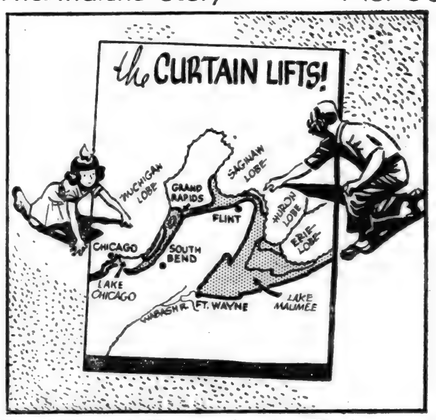
The Indiana Story No. 30



Lakes Maumee and Chicago

How long was the ice in retreat from Indiana? Some students believe the retreat began 30 thousand years ago, and continued for 20 thousand years, except for intervals when the glacier would push briefly forward again. This map shows the various ice lobes after the ice had withdrawn from Indiana. The black area denotes melt waters flowing toward the Gulf of Mexico. Lake Maumee no longer spills down the Wabash. Instead, a new and lower outlet has been uncovered by way of Flint and Grand Rapids to Lake Chicago and the Illinois River valley. As the drawing indicates, "The Curtain Lifts" is probably the most absorbing chapter in the story of the Age of Ice in Indiana. Youngsters and their elders of every county can enjoy the story together!

The St. Joe News

Indiana State Library

VOLUME LXXI ST. JOE (DeKalb Co.). IND. Thursday, December 6, 1956 NUMBER 47

Around the Town

With the Editor

Merwin Place took up the pen and ink again during the past week and composed a fitting response to John Crothers' mail carrier's farewell.

Here 'tis--

FOR OUR RETIRED MAIL CARRIER

John, we are glad you are able to retire,
With nothing to do but sit by the fire.
I am sure, John, before the winter is through,
That your wife, Ella, will find a job for you.
Now, you don't know how we will miss you,
When it is time for the mail to go through.
We could set our watch when you would go,
If it had stopped or was running slow.
Through rain and mud and sleet and snow,
Each and every day we have seen you go.
You brought us our letters and papers, too,
And sometimes you brought us bills that were due.
Some days a check you brought and then it was clear,
How we would pay some bills that were getting near.
The messages you brought some days gave us the blues,
And each week you brought us "The St. Joe News".
Now we want to thank you for everything you have done.
Much happiness to you, from each and every one.

—Merwin J. Place, in behalf of all rural mail patrons.

Everytime I go past the St. Joe Church of Christ these days it makes me sick—sick to think that we St. Joe'ers don't get up enough gumption or whatever it is to get a long range program of street improvement started around here. Just a little thing like the curbing the church members installed this past summer has improved the appearance of the church a hundred percent in my estimation. There isn't any reason why we can't at least have the main street uniformly curbed and paved as a starter in improving the place where we live.

There's infectious hepatitis making the rounds. I wish there were some infectious curbitis that would give the fever to enough people to go to the town board and say "We're ready to co-operate in a program of steady community improvement. Let's go!"

We ain't gonna have somethin' if we ain't gonna put out somethin' — or we'll end up havin' nothin'.

Take a drive past the Church of Christ and see that neat appearance the curb gives to the property. Then drive down the main street, squint a little bit to blur that dirty look, and imagine that curbing running along both sides as you drive through.

—Like I said, it makes me sick.

Comets Lose 1, Win 1

The Comets from Riverdale were downed by Garrett by a 46-36 score before the local lads came up with a close 40-36 win over the sfalling Hamilton Marines.

Hamilton threw a scare into Riverdale fans in the last quarter as a 10-point Comet lead was whittled by trading foul shots for field goals. Riverdale couldn't connect on their charity tosses as they saw their 10 point lead dwindle. But a couple of free throws in the waning moments of the game kept victory out of reach of their opponents.

Illness Not So Widespread As Rumored

Inspection by the acting county health officer plus investigation of rumored cases of hepatitis in the grade school at Spencerville this week established that there is cause for concern but that the situation is not as ominous as has been rumored. Dr. Harland Hippensteel, Jr., of Auburn, acting DeKalb County Health Officer, inspected the school at Spencerville early this week and recommended the common precautionary health measure of keeping the hands clean. He also recommended "shots" for students in class rooms where hepatitis has occured.

Howard Hill, elementary school principal, reported that there were five cases of hepatitis in the lower grades as of the first of this week. There had been rumors of cases of the disease numbering in the "teens" but these were proven unfounded. There are, however, several cases of chicken pox reported, these on the increase in the last week. Fourteen cases of chicken pox were known early this week.

Mr. Hill commented that the record of school attendance for this year shows no greater incidence of absenteeism due to illness than the record of last year.

The health officer urged that children having chicken pox be kept out of school until all indications or markings of the illness have disappeared.

Though there have been several cases of hepatitis in the school in the past several months, 11 in all, the situation is not considered to be of epidemic proportions. Due caution should be taken, however, at symptoms commonly associated with intestinal flu. Hepatitis is similar to the "flu" in early stages and watch should be kept for the tell-tale yellow color in the eyes and skin.

Saint Lawrence Seaway

The St. Lawrence Seaway! Construction has started on this historic project for opening the heartland of North America to the commerce of the world. This map shows the lakes in profile (top) and the various sites where enlarging and deepening of locks, building of dams and dredging of channels are required. Lake port developments in Indiana, as proposed by the state in its request for federal assistance, are not shown on this map. Can you identify the lake levels on the profile drawing? Superior is highest above sea level. Michigan, Huron and Erie are shown at the same level, although Erie is actually somewhat lower. Then comes Ontario, whence the waters drop by stages to ocean level.

IN ALL THINGS, GOD

Lesson for December 9, 1956

There is far too much in the famous eighth chapter of Romans to think about in the small space of one column. So one sentence from it will be quite enough food for thought: "We know that in everything God works for good with those who love him." (Rom. 8:28). Readers familiar with the old King James translation (made in 1611) will notice that the new translation is different. The old version read: "We know that all things work together for good to them that love God". . . Which translation is right? The letter to the Romans was written in Greek, of course. We do not have the original letter, but we have discovered some Greek copies of it in manuscripts much earlier than any that were known back in 1611. The oldest and best of these have exactly what the Revised Standard Version accurately translates: Not THINGS but GOD is the subject of the sentence—it is God who works for good in everything, it is not things that work for good.

"In Everything, God. . ."

Christians who take the Bible seriously do not believe in a faraway God. It is quite true, as the Psalm writer said, there is no getting away from God. The wildest dream of the most fanciful space-fiction writer might come true, but on the last lost planet God would still be there. God is in all space and in all time, too. However old the universe may be, God is older still. But the God revealed in the Bible is not one who set the universe going as a man winds a watch and then lets it run. God is in all things, and all things are in God. This is not so hard to believe. What does call for a rugged faith is the Bible belief that God is in things we find painful and bad, not in good things alone. If we do not believe this, then we are always haunted by the fear — What if the evil in the world is too much for God? What if eventually he is overwhelmed by a universe he cannot control? What if God's intentions are better than his abilities? Have no fear. God's Word assures us. God is not on vacation, he is at work in everything, small and great, in pain and in delight.

"God Works for Good"

The Bible writers never say that all things are good. Some things are good. Some things are bad, some things are just the opposite of what they ought to be. This raises a most difficult problem, the problem of evil. No one knows the answer to it; but the Bible never takes the short-cut of denying that evil exists. What the Bible does say is that even in evil things God is at work for good. Joseph, son of Jacob, as a boy was sold into Egypt as a slave by his criminal brothers. That was not a good thing. Years later, however, the man Joseph said to his brothers, "You meant it for evil, but God meant it for good." If it had not been for that wicked act (and some others besides) the family of Joseph would have perished of starvation. History is full of illustrations of the ways in which God brings good out of evil. Tyranny and cruelty are not good things; yet if George III had been a more enlightened and just king, the American colonists might never have thought of achieving freedom. The "World Wars" were terrible things; but they did rid the world of some tyrannies. Many events in our personal lives which were frustrating or tragic have been seen in later years to have been part of God's wise plan. After all, what kind of God would our God be if he could not bring good out of evil?

"With Those Who Love Him"

The new and better translation of this great sentence from St. Paul brings out another point which Paul's Greek suggests: God is at work. WITH those who love him. He works for them, to be sure, but that is not the main point here. God's work is never a substitute for the work of those who love him. Loving God is no excuse for not serving him. Loving God is not mere sentiment, a sort of warm glow, a happy feeling about the "man upstairs." Love of God, like love of neighbor, is a serious thing. It calls for devotion, hard work, even sacrifice. To go back to the story of Joseph, God brought good out of evil; but suppose Joseph himself had been lazy, selfish and careless? God's work calls for many partners—not sidewalk superintendents, not slaves, but partners in the everlasting Love.

Butler District I&M Leads In Use Of Electricity

William Nimmo (left), Butler District Manager of Indiana & Michigan Electric Company, and Thomas Haynes, I&M residential sales representative, discuss with Mrs. Norman Brenneke of near Woodburn, the electric ceiling-type heating cable that was recently installed in the Brenneke home. Mrs. Brenneke is holding her two-year-old daughter, Sandra. The popularity of electric home heating has been an important factor in making the Butler area the leader in I&M's two-state territory in the use of electricity by residential customers.

Residential customers of Indiana & Michigan Electric Co. in the Butler area now are using more electricity than any district in the utility's two-state area, and have an annual consumption 72 per cent above the national average, William R. Nimmo, I&M's Butler District manager, announced recently.

Residential customers in the district now use an average of 5,032 kilowatthours annually, Mr. Nimmo said, an increase of 447 kilowatthours in the past 12 months. The current national average for residential customers of privately - owned utilities is 2,879 kilowatthours annually.

I&M serves 5,425 residential customers in its Butler District, including the communities of St. Joe, Spencerville, Butler, Woodburn, Leo, Harlan, Grabill, Hamilton and Cedarville and surrounding rural areas.

A steady rise in the standard of living and the desire for more leisure living have been important factors in the constantly increasing kilowatthour consumption of electricity in the area, Mr. Nimmo explained. Housewives are adding more and more electric appliances to their homes to lighten their work loads and add hours of free time to every week.

A high saturation of air conditioning in homes in the district also has contributed to the district's record annual kilowatthour usage.

The Indiana Story No. 32

Hooslers Ahoy!

Around the rim of North America's "Inland Sea" the builders of a great international dream are gathering. As the work progresses Hoosier engineers and workmen will surely meet the challenge to Indiana's destiny. Plans for creating a deep water port at an obscure site known as Burns Ditch near Gary are under serious study. Inadequate harbor sites at Chicago lend importance to the proposal. And when the day comes for Indiana folk to sail from their own shore across the world's horizons, will they recall that all these wonders are possible because in the long, long ago a visitor came to the Old Northwest from far off Labrador? Goodbye, Mr. Zero! You've done a swell job!

The End.

Letters to the Editor

4408 Cole Ave.

December 3, 1956

Dear Editor,

Having read every issue of the "News" for the past six months, thanks to my good friends Marge and Dave Morgan of Spencerville, I now consider myself enough of a regular reader to write to the editor.

The "News" is much akin to the weekly newspaper of the Massachusetts town of my boyhood days but we were singularly lacking in the homey philosophy of poet Merwin J. Place. I thoroughly enjoy all of his poems but his "Are We Thankful" was priceless.

With his permission I would like to send the clipping to my hometown paper hoping that they will print it so that others may enjoy it as much as I have. Full credit will be given to Mr. Place and the St. Joe News.

Very truly yours,
Carl E. Meehan

Mr. Place has another of his poems in this issue of The News, though he hesitated presenting it for fear it sounded as if he were "looking for sympathy." However, those from whom death has taken a loved one will understand his words fully. For those who have not yet had such an experience, this understanding is in the future.

Your letter is very welcome. Rest assured that you need not read The News another six months before being "entitled" to drop us another line. —Ed.

Changes For Farmers In S.S. Law

Some of the recent changes in the Social Security law have an important meaning to farmers in this area, Christian H. W. Luecke, manager of the Fort Wayne Social Security office, revealed recently.

Some of these changes went into effect immediately and others will take effect in 1957.

Farm rental income can now count toward Social Security credits if the farm owner participates materially in the actual production work or management of the farm. Previously, this could not be used for Social Security credits. Also, farmers with gross farm self-employment income of $600 to $1800 per year may choose to report two-thirds of the amount on their annual tax return instead of the more complicated method of accounting for all farm expenses. Previously, this was one-half instead of two-thirds. Both these changes go into effect with the 1956 taxable year.

Beginning with January 1957, farm workers will be covered if they earn as much as $150 in cash during the year or if they work on at least 20 days during the year for an one employer and they are paid on a time-rate basis. Previously they were covered if they earned as much as $100 in cash wages in work for any one employer.

Anyone wishing more information should call at or write to the Social Security office at 717 Fulton Street in Fort Wayne.

CHAMBER ISSUES TAX CALENDAR

Operators of large trucks are the chief "losers" and farmers the "winners" as a result of new tax laws enacted in 1956, it is indicated in the 1957 tax calendar just published by the Indiana State Chamber of Commerce.

The 1957 calendar lists 287 reminders of dates when some 58 types of federal, state and local taxes and fees fall due during the year for Indiana businessmen and other citizens.

Truck operators, under a federal law approved last June in connection with the expanded national highway program, currently are making their first payments of a new "use" tax on trucks with taxable gross weight of over 26,000 pounds. Next August, the tax for the fiscal year beginning July 1 will be due.

Another 1956 act of Congress, passed in April, gives farmers a refund of the 3-cents-a-gallon federal tax paid on gasoline and other motor fuels used on farms for farming purposes. In 1956, refunds were payable on fuel used during the first six months. The first full year's refunds - for the period July 1, 1956, to June 30, 1957 - can be applied for by farmers next July.

There are no changes in state taxes or taxpaying dates for 1957 as compared with 1956. State tax laws will be subject to possible revision, however, by the Legislature which convenes January 10, it was pointed out by Jack E. Reich, State Chamber executive vice-president.

A copy of the tax calendar is posted in the News Office.

WHAT WOULD YOU DO

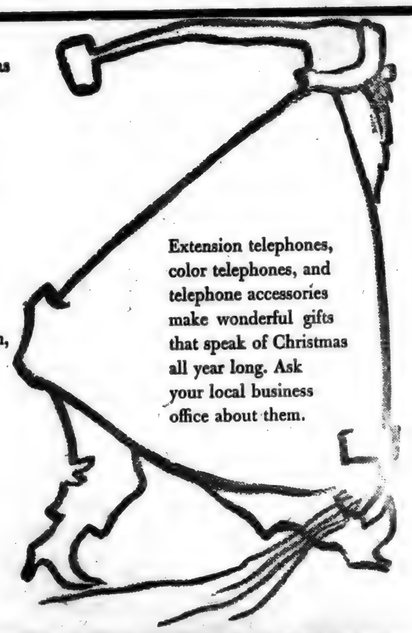
What would you do, when you feel blue?
When you come in, with no wife to talk to.
And everything echoes, and your shoes they squeak,
And the muscles in your legs begin to feel weak.
I imagine you would do the same as I.
Sit down on a chair and have a good cry.
And then you would ask the Saviour above,
To be your companion, with all his love.
He is the best resort that I know
When a fellow is blue, and feeling low.

—Merwin Place

'Twas the day after Christmas and all through the homes whole families were happy with new telephones.

In the workroom for Dad. The kitchen for Mom. Sis in her room... the den is for Tom.

In colors of red—and bright Christmas green, they're a pleasure to talk on, a joy to be seen.



Extension telephones, color telephones, and telephone accessories make wonderful gifts that speak of Christmas all year long. Ask your local business office about them.

Locals Beat Salem, 63-39

Riverdale won its third victory of the current basketball season Friday night as they downed the Salem Center Cardinals by a 63-39 score.

The final score is not indicative of the scoring pattern of the entire game, however. In the first quarter the Cardinals kept pace with the Comets as an 11-all score went up to end the period. The second quarter continued at a low-scoring pace with Riverdale pulling to a 21-17 lead.

Hitting three consecutive shots to open the third quarter, Riverdale widened their lead and headed Salem by 35-27 at the three-quarter mark.

The locals then outscored their opponents 28 to 12 in the last quarter for the win.

The Riverdale reserves won the prelim, 47-22.

WAY OF LOVE

Lesson for December 16, 1956

There are many ways of living in this world. There is the way of ruthless pride, with the motto: "The world is my orange and I intend to squeeze it." There is the way of the fool, who never thinks beyond today and is always surprised to discover that what he sowed came up and what he didn't plant did not come up. There is the way of the lazy man who can't be bothered, and who always takes the easiest way no matter what. There is even the way of hate, the way of bitterness and suspicion, going always downhill among dead trees without leaf or fruit. Everybody knows that these are none of them Christian ways. Even those who are not Christians know that the way of Christ is the way of live.

Other Ways of Love

But what is the Christian way of love? There are more ways than one to use the word "love." There are ways of love, so called, which are not the Christian way. For instance, there is something called love, which consists really of fondness for things or people that are lovable. For example, a young woman stands at an altar and promises to take a man "for better for worse, for richer for poorer, in sickness and in health." But she does not really hear the vow she makes. And if the man turns out to be poorer or worse than she thought, she looks up a divorce lawyer. The way of Christian love does not demand loveableness first; on the contrary, Christian love can make an unlovely and unloving person lovable. Some love is all for one's own benefit; "I love you" can mean no more than "I want you for my exclusive use." Christian love "does not insist on its own way." It does not ask, "What can you do for me?" but "What may I do for you?"

Blessing the Universe

Another way of love, sometimes mistaken for the Christian way, is no better than sheer sloppy sentimentality. Sometimes it consist in a vague feeling that everything is very nice in a very happy world. A minister once preached on the text, "Ye that love the Lord, hate evil." After the sermon a lady told him she didn't like that sermon at all. She had been brought up to believe that love was always right and hate always wrong. Love is always right, yes; but that does not mean we can feel free to love what is evil. If we love the good, we shall not love what destroys good. Sometimes this substitute for Christian love takes the form of a general feeling of good will toward the world in general. A well-known American wrote shortly before his death, "I bless the universe." Now it is certainly better to bless the universe than to curse it. But blessing the universe seems a curious sort of thing to do. Are you really blessing all of it, sir? Cholera and polio, stars and atoms and typhoons and germs, criminal and judge, saints and sinners, miracles and murderers? We have to be careful that we don't love the universe in such a way that whatever happens seems exactly right!

The Christian Way

The Christian way of love is not totally different from these other ways; but it is vitally different. It is inspired by God in the first place and it mirrors his love. It goes beyond the lovable, it is more than an exchange of love. It even goes out to one's enemies. American history gives us two striking illsutrations of the actual power of love, in two men on opposite sides of the American civil war. The two enemies, as they once were, are now honored more perhaps than any other two in that tragic conflict: Lincoln and Lee. Each was a man who could do nothing else but stand by his convictions and fight even when other men were ready to give up. Their love was not the child of indifference, selfishness or cowardice. But it was Lincoln who coined the phrase "charity toward all and malice toward none"—and he meant every word of it. It was Lee who later as president of a college refused to let any one in his presence speak evil of his former enemies. It is not the meh who are the best haters, but those who show what Christian love is, who have greatest power over the hearts of mankind.

There is hardly anything in the world that some man cannot make a little worse and sell a little cheaper, and the people who consider only the price are this man's lawful prey.

We do not claim to have the cheapest items we can get for you to select your gift items from. But we do want to convince you that we have assembled the finest gift wares we have ever had in our stores. Also, that the price range is the wildest, starting at $1 and ranging up to the ceiling! We believe that one look through our many stocks will convince you as it did a lady this week when she said, "I sure know where to do all of my Christmas shopping this year."

We are confident that you cannot see all the fine merchandise that we have in one visit, so we invite you to come in again and again.

To receive a gift is truly a pleasure, but isn't the giver receiving the treasure?

Warning Issued To Minors

DeKalb County authorities have issued a warning to teenagers that apprehensions for violations involving illegal possession or consumption of intoxicants will result in severe punishment.

The warning was issued after numerous complaints had been received of area minors drinking beer in Ohio taverns and transporting the intoxicants back into Indiana. Area police, including state police, report that drinking by minors has been a contributory factor in several traffic accidents in the area.

Authorities pointed out that Ohio law permits persons 18 years of age and older to purchase and consume beer. It is illegal for minors to purchase beer in Ohio and transport it into Indiana where the law requires that a person be 21 to purchase or have in his possession intoxicants.

Judge Harold D. Stump has warned that violations brought to the attention of his court will be dealt with severely. He joined with police in asking the cooperation of parents and young people in curbing the dangerous practice.

CONCORD JR. HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB

The Concord Junior Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Billie Mason for its December meeting with Lorraine Murphy as co-hostess.

The meeting was opened by the vice-president, Ruth Coburn, leading the club collect.

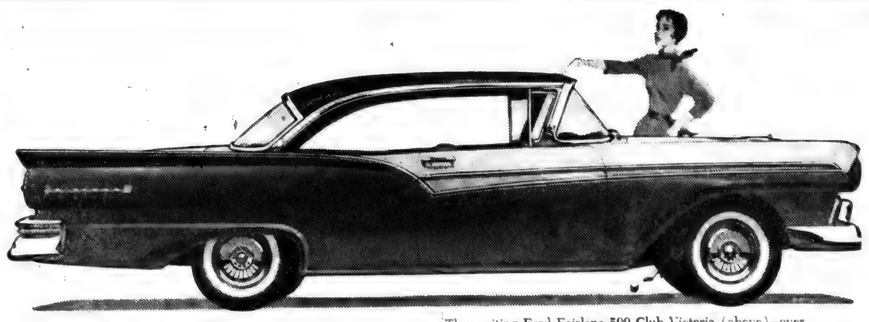
Devotions were given by Norma Diederich. History of the song of the month was given by Coralee Holman. All joined in sing "O Little Town of Bethlehem."

Response to roll call was "a favorite Bible verse" and was answered by 22 members and one visitor, Evelyn Walters.

Business session followed with the report from the secretary. The meeting closed with the club prayer.

The social hour consisted of the last birthday auction of the year and exchanging Christmas gifts to learn who members' secret pals for the year had been.

The January meeting will be at the home of Coralee Holman.



The exciting Ford Fairlane 500 Club Victoria (above)—over 17 feet long—is one of two new, bigger Ford sizes this year.

If you think it looks new... wait till you drive it!

...For there's where Ford's newness really pays off
...in melting mountains...in smoothing the bumps
...in straightening the curves

You can see that Ford's longer, lower Sculptured Look makes other cars look downright old-fashioned. But the part you can't see—the new "Inner Ford"—is what shows its stuff when you drive a Ford. It's revolutionary from the wheels up! And it feels it.

Ford's wider frame lets you sit sweet and low. And Ford's new front suspension, rear springs and new easy handling are part of the scheme to make you think every road is cloud-smooth.

The magic touch of the new Ford power plants makes mountains disappear. What looks like uphill feels like downhill. You get this surging power in a wide choice of Silver Anniversary V-8 engines. Or choose Ford's Mileage Maker Six, the most powerful Six in the low-price field.

There's magic in Ford's price tag, too! You won't believe this big new Ford is still priced Ford-low. But it is. Come in and test its magic. It's a real "Wizard of Ah-h-h-h's!"

A wise man spends half of his time minding his own business and devotes the other half to letting other people's alone!

Our business is good. In fact we like our own merchandise so well that we not only have to supply the general pubilc but all the employes, too.

Thought you'd be interested in a few typical experiences we've had with customers in the last day or so.

One lady from Butler after buying a pair of decorative pillows remarked that she had not been able to find anything similar at the low price of $3.95.

A Kendallville couple who recently had us carpet their home were in need of a low cabinet TV set for under a picture window. Mr. D. said, "Let us look at Ort's; they should have what we want, let's go over there." Well, they came and saw what they wanted and it was delivered the same day.

Two local couples (sisters) saw the Hi Fi sets they wanted and bought them.

Another lady came in for her repaired toaster, bought a birthstone ring and shopped for a portable radio.

One lady just came in to look around, as so many do. When she found the Bible display, she was delighted with the selection and bought one.

Why don't you come in and look around? You may find just what you've been looking for.

Around the Town

With the Editor

Dorothy Vendrely called to ask where her item went to—the one she sent in a couple of weeks ago. It got put in the job work pile with her job order and was forgotten. It shouldn't be since she recently went on a trip to New York City with Miss Rita Tomkins of Essex, England. They attended several Broadway plays and were guests, along with Herb Shriner, on the Will Rogers, Jr., "Good Morning" TV show.

Merwin Place has another of his literary efforts ready for this week, in time for the Christmas season. It appeared in the Coburntown Church bulletin for their Christmas program last Sunday evening.

"A Merry Christmas"

A Merry Christmas to every one,
And may you have a lot of fun.

May you have a lot to eat,
With lots of dainties, nice and sweet.

I hope the presents that you find,
Will be just the ones you had in mind.

And may you remember on Christmas Day
Christ was born in a manger, far away.

May He be with you, in all that you do,
Until the Christmas season is through.

The Joe Yastes, who now live at 904 N. 11th in Decatur, sent a Christmas card last week with the request that its contents be passed along to the community. Their card says:

"To the friendly folk of St. Joe and Spencerville—Happy Christmas Day! Happy every day! Enough good wishes come with this to last till next year's December. From one who could never forget all of you so nice to remember! And thanks to all who sent cards while I was in the hospital last summer. Joe and Phyllis Yaste and children."

This week the old linotype went "bang" and the boys at the Butler Record-Herald helped out with the typesetting. Because it's late, the News doesn't have the Sunday school lesson included.

I hope things are back to normal next week.

Juveniles Admit Series Of Break-Ins

Four boys from the St. Joe community and another from near Auburn, all ranging in age from 13 to 16 years, will be brought before Judge Walter D. Stump in juvenile court Saturday morning for a hearing in connection with 11 burglaries in the St. Joe-Spencerville area. The break-ins included 4 at the Riverdale high school, 2 at the grade school, 2 at Holsom Dairy and one each at Amstutz Hardware, Fisher's Corner Market and a farm home.

Two of the boys left Monday after questioning and were picked up in Prattsville, Michigan Monday night where they had traveled by motorcycle. The mother of one of the boys had informed police of their departure and possible destination. The boys were detained by the DeKalb County Sheriff until Saturday's hearing. The other three were released in parents' custody.

No sizable amount of loot was reported in the burglaries, the break-ins bringing small amounts of change, and merchandise, except in the hardware instance which brought the boys between $200 and $300. They were traced through a check stolen at the high school. One of them forged a signature on a check for $7 and cashed it a a grocery near Auburn.

Newville Home Demonstration Club

The Newville Home Demonstration Club held its December meeting at Mrs. Lois Guiff's home, with potluck dinner being served. The co-hostesses were Kathryn Krieg and Edna Mickelson.

The meeting opened by the president, Kathryn Krieg, reading a poem.

The opening song was the song of the month, "O Little Town of Bethlehem."

Devotions were given by Mildred Welsh followed by other Christmas songs. Roll was answered by 28 members, three guests and four children being present.

The secretary and treasurer's reports were given. The new officers were also called upon to give reports from the officers training school.

Story of "Christmas of other Nations" was read by Leta Schafer, followed by Dorothy Meek and Cynthia Sipe reading Christmas stories. Then came the highlights of the day, to receive our Christmas gifts to find out who had been our secret pals. We also drew our secret pal for the coming year.

Barber Shop Re-Opens In St. Joe

The menfolk in the St. Joe area need not go long with that shaggy look for want of a barber. With the efforts of promotion for local welfare bearing fruit during the past week, the barber shop has reopened and is ready to serve the community.

The new proprietor is Ed Hammerle of Fort Wayne who reports that he has been barbering for nine years. He comes to the community as a result of an "advertisement" in the Fort Wayne papers explaining the need for a barber in St. Joe, the idea carried out by Mose Yeiser and Bill Sible.

Ed has indicated that he will be open daily except Sunday from 9:00 a. m. to 8 p. m. Wednesday hours will be 8:00 a. m. to 4 p. m. The shop will be closed from noon to 1 p. m. for the lunch hour.

The barber shop closed last spring when Les Meek suffered a stroke. It was opened again several weeks later only to close again this fall.

Mr. Hammerle is married. He and his wife plan to make their home in St. Joe as soon as suitable living quarters can be obtained.

Luth'n Pastor Accepts New Call

Pastor Philip Barnhart of the Spencerville-St. Joe Lutheran parish has accepted a call to serve the Adams Lutheran Church at Batesville, Indiana. Pastor Barnhart anounced his decision at the regular services of the Spencerville and St. Joe Lutheran churches last Sunday morning.

The church at Batesville has been without a minister for three years. It is approximately the size of the two local Lutheran churches combined. The resignation will be effective January 14, 1957. Pastor Barnhart will deliver his final sermons at Spencerville and St. Joe on Sunday, January 13. He has served the local parish for two years and seven months, having been ordained in May of 1954 and assuming duties in the local churches upon his graduation.

Pastor Barnhart, his wife, Jeanette, and their son will move to Batesville on January 14 to begin serving the congregation of Adams Lutheran church.

Boys Invited To Scout Party

Frank Sechler, Scoutmaster of the Boy Scout troop at St. Joe, has announced that a Christmas party will be held by the troop on Monday afternoon, December 24, from 1:30 to 3:30 p. m. at the Lutheran Church in St. Joe. Mothers of the Scouts, headed by Mrs. Loretta Musser and Mrs. Gretchen Noragon, will assist the Scouts in putting on the party for all boys in the St. Joe community between the ages of 8 and 11 years. Boys in this age group are invited to attend, as are their mothers.

Included in the program for the afternoon will be demonstrations and explanations of the Scouting program followed by games.

Mr. Sechler revealed that Scout activity in the area recently included the appointment of Mr. Joe Smith as neighborhood commissioner, having jurisdiction over Boy Scout and Cub Scout activity in the St. Joe-Spencerville area.

A charter review for the St. Joe troop was held this week with members of the sponsoring American Legion Post. The troop year showed 15 Scouts at the beginning of activity, and with those dropping out and new boys coming in, the troop ended the year with the same number of boys, 15. Goals accomplished during the past year were reviewed and new goals for the forthcoming year were established.

Bud Schockley, troop committee chairman, conducted the meeting. Other members of the committee are Walter Ervin, Bob Hablawetz and Bill Sible.

Carl Perkins Elected To Head Fair

Carl E. Perkins of west of St. Joe has been elected president of the DeKalb County Free Fall Fair Association. His election came at a meeting of the association held last Friday night in the assembly room of the court house at Auburn. Mr. Perkins replaces Lloyd K. (Tim) Mason of near Corunna who served as president for three years.

Mr. Perkins assumes his new duties as president with several years of experience in fair work to his credit. He has served as a director, superintendent of the swine department and member of the auditing committee.

Directors of the fair are Orla Willenar, Franklin Township; George Dilley, Smithfield; DeLoy Thornburg, Wilmington; Ray Carnahan, Jackson; Clayton Hartman, Richland; Wilbur Beree, Newville; Washington Teeters, Grant; Russell Shumaker, Ashley; and John R. Linton, Jackson.

Other officers are Hal Hoham, first vice-president; Franklin Bartels, second vice president; Ralph Wible, secretary and concessionnaire; Harry Provines, recording secretary; and Lloyd Hoodelmeir, treasurer.

The financial report from the 1956 edition of the fair showed a profit of $2,736.52. Total recepits were $18,835.40 with disbursements totaling, $16,538.63.

From All of Us

The weather may not promise a White Christmas and the moisture may be falling as rain, but that does not dampen the enthusiasm with which the businessmen in the area send their greetings to the community. One need only to start on a tour in these last few days before December 25 to find cheery wishes coming for instance, from Cy and Norma Gustin and Marion Harris out at the St. Joe Locker. They would probably be echoed by "Butch" and Mildred Dunten at Dunten's Market in St. Joe and the boys at Spencerville Shell Service, Glenn Akey, Kenny Akey, L. L. Akey and John Smith. While at Spencerville for a sandwich, we might hear a chorus of "Merry Christmas" from Margaret Chaney, Rose Tieman, Roy and Izetta Chaney, Barbara Coplin, Phyllis Blauser, and Shirley Smith at Chaney's Restaurant.

Another big chorus of season's greeting would rise from the halls of Holsom Dairy as we hear from Maurice and Violet Kline and sons, Jim and Jerry, Ted Crow, Dewey White, Don Knop, Donald Romine, Ray Overmyer, Wayne Church, Melvin Herschberger, Kenny Walters, Marion Rediger, Janet Stark and Annabel Crow. A new voice might be detected from the barber shop as Ed Hammerle expresses his Christmas greeting to the community. At the elevator at Spencerville we would hear from Joe Pesch, Virginia Laux, Dan Ransom, Larry Jack and John Shull. The well-drillers would want in on the affair, so well-wishes (no pun intended) would come from Lester Pugsley and his crew, Foster Gee and Hayden Ankney, and from Derwood Ridgway, Kenny Ridgway and Joe Freeburn.

Ford and Vera Jackson and Hubert Hudson at Jackson's Clothing Store are not to be outdone in the matter of sending good wishes, and they would be joined by their "neighbors" at Jiggs' Motor Service—Ralph Keeler, Ben Krafft and Jerry Dilley. From Keller's Garage we have best wishes from Don Keller, likewise from Ray Foltz at his repair shop. Merl Furnish between haircuts is sure to extend a Merry Christmas to callers, and then we might hear from the fuel distributors in the area, Joe and Fara Lee Baidinger, Maurice and Janice Hollabaugh and Roy and Alice Reidenbach, as they extend season's greeting. A stop at Ritenour's Welding Shop is sure to bring a warm wish for your happiness from Milt Ritenour. Another chorus might then be forthcoming from Myers Elevator where we would hear the best wishes of Cliff and Gertrude Billow, Harold Baker and Harold Hose. Roy and Jack Bowser and Joe Foltz from the Roy I. Bowser Store are among this large group who bring their Christmas greetings.

Clauser's Trading Post might be able to try some four part harmony in their singing the joys of the season as we hear from Warren and Eva Clauser, Phyllis Clauser, Irene Robinson, Nellie Moore, Victoria Means, Bob Clauser and Jerry Vinson. Harry and Dick Loucks and C. A. Harris out at D.&H. Salvage would want to have their greetings included along with all the others. At Yeiser's Standard Service, best wishes for a Merry Christmas are a sure thing from Mose and Harold Yeiser and Jim Moore. Herb and Edna Amstuts and Jerry Baker at the hardware would extend their very best wishes at this Christmas season, as would the crew at the post office, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Storer, Madonna Wade and Jerry Baker.

By this time we might be getting a little dizzy at this quick whirl through the community, but we couldn't pass by Fisher's Corner Market without hearing a greeting from Lynn and Lois Fisher. And since this all started with a suggestion in The News, we might end up with one more voice added to the above chorus, that of the Editor as he, too, wishes all a Merry Christmas.

Services Begin Dec. 30 At Mt. Pleasant

The Mt. Pleasant Evangelical United Brethren Church located on the Auburn-Butler Road has secured the help of the Reverend Dean Fetterhoff from Flora, Indiana, as the evangelists for a series of Evangelistic Services to be held from December 30 thru January 11. These services will be held every night and will start at 7:30 p. m.

The Rev. Fetterhoff is a member of the Brethren Crusade team of the Grace Brethren Church in which churches he has been holding services throughout Pennsylvania, Ohio and other Eastern States. He is an accomplished song leader, musician and evangelist. It is felt that no one in the community can afford to miss these services, so start planning now on attending each one of the nights.

There will be a lively song service, with special music and songs each night, plus good sound gospel preaching.

The public is invited to worship with the congregation regardless of church affiliation or whether you even have one; for the Master said, "Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, (all peoples,) baptising them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost; teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world. Amen." Matt. 28:19-20.

Put Christ In Christmas

Let's put Christ back into Christmas,
Back where He belongs.
Let's celebrate this Christmas
With prayer and sacred songs.
Let's read again the story
Of the Saviour's holy birth,
And then remind ourselves anew
Just why He came to earth.

Let's gather in the children
And tell them that He died,
That Santa Claus is just a myth,
'Tis Jesus crucified.
Let's take our stand this Christmas,
Tell it out o'er all the earth.
That Christmas Day is set aside
To celebrate His birth.

Let's put Christ back in Christmas;
We'll have joy we've never known,
If we let the blessed Son of God
Share Christmas in our home.
Let's be ready, then, and watching,
For it may be Christmas Day
That he shall choose to come again,
To take His Bride away.
